

SHORT NOTE ABOUT THE BOOK

This book on Swami Ramalingam is in two volumes. It is the outcome of a comprehensive study of his Tamil works in the comparative background of the yoga literature of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother and that of Tirumoolar. The author, who is an inmate of Sri Aurobindo Ashram, presents in the first volume the Swami's integral realisation of the Divine, and the transformation of his nature and body into their deathless states of glorious perfection. The Swami has left behind a record of the full details of his divinised deathless body which are not to be found anywhere else, in any other spiritual literature of the East or the West. He sacrificed his deathless body, by dematerialisation in 1874, for the universal manifestation of the divine Light of supreme Grace directly on the earth, and with a view to enter into all the physical bodies universally and fix its deathless substances and powers into the earth-nature for the benefit of a divine evolution of the earthly life. The second volume contains the text and English translations in prose, of a number of his poems (Arut Paa), especially of his last works, and the transliteration into Sanskrit (in Roman script), of his rare and unparalleled works about the many gradations of worlds and planes (Tatva lokas and Kāraṇāteeta lokas with text and notes). The book sees the light of the day in the New Supramental Age.

AUTHOR'S PREFACE AND INTRODUCTION

I am greatly happy to present this book to the reader in two volumes in the auspicious and sacred year 1980, though it was written with the intention of publishing it in 1974, which was the centenary year of Swami Ramalingam's sacrifice of his deathless physical body for a divine and world-purpose, a sacrifice by way of dematerialisation of the body, which is usually referred to as Siddhi in the known circles. Swami Ramalingam, popularly known as Vallalar, the great Benevolent and Munificent, lived a short span of an eventful life for fifty one years only (1823—1874), but he has left behind him a vast yoga literature in Tamil in the form of poems and lyrics called 'Arutpa', besides a considerable volume of prose works, letters, public notices, records of speeches and teachings of upadesha.

The first volume is concerned mainly with a comparative study of his works with those of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother and with Tirumantram of Tirumoolar, and my findings and inferences here and there are based on such a study. The second volume contains a large selection of his Tamil poems and lyrics and their English renderings. It also contains transliteration of his texts of the rarest kind without a second, such as "Tatva lokas", "Karanateeta lokas" etc., into the Sanskrit language but put into Roman characters with markings for sankritic pronunciation. Explanatory notes and translations of some parts of the said texts have also been given in English. In the translations and interpretations of technical terms, the same meaning has been consistently adopted for a particular term except when it occurs along with qualifying words. A number of charts have been drawn and presented in the two volumes, correlating the gradations of the worlds and also the technical terms occurring in the different texts of the Swami and also in the background of the yoga literature of Sri Aurobindo and Tirumoolar. I may say that the book as a whole presents an exhaustive and comprehensive study of the Swami's main last works which may be rightly classified as a supramental yoga literature.

Though ironically enough the Swami was short-lived from an outer superficial view of his earthly life, he had attained the crowning achievement of transformation of his physical body into its deathless state and eventually sacrificed it, after living for about a year or two the great blissful life of a physical deathless body, by way of dematerialisation in an hour when the God of Vast Grace-Light was concretely present at his place and that for the collective fulfilment of the divine and world purposes—(1) in order to bring to stay on the earth the stable manifestation and direct rule of “Arut Perum Joti Andavar”, the supreme Being of the death-conquering Vast Grace-Light and more especially the concentration of Light at his place Vadalur, as a representative place of the earth, and (2) in order to make possible through such a manifestation an evolutionary progress of the earthly life as a whole and in the mind, life and body of men as seen by him in his visions which included a vision of the golden plane of the earth and the states of perfect matter and more particularly to bring about true love, true compassion, true knowledge, true goodness and true action in the life of men which shall not be subjected any more to quick deaths and waste of consciousness in all the stages and ways of life and (3) in order to make also possible the resurrection of the dead into bodily life and transformation of even the aged into youth which are to take place as general phenomena of the earth-nature at some time or other and as indications of the divine Manifestation and (4) finally also with a concurrent view to enter into all the physical bodies universally by means of his deathless body, evidently by and through its dematerialisation. In effect, his dematerialisation had a two-pronged drive in as much as it was meant not only to bring about the divine Manifestation but also its transforming results in the body of men and even in the aged. Thus his dematerialisation is unique and distinguished as it took place as above said after his attainment of a deathless and sleepless and ever indestructible physical truth-body and it was by way of sacrifice for a collective fulfilment; and in that context the deathless substances and powers of his body, and its golden Truth-Light should have been evidently fixed in the earth-nature and even in the Inconscient. Other cases of dematerialisation do not prove any achievement of a completed transformation, much less of a deathless body, nor a collective purpose and in such cases, according to Tirumoolar, the substance of the body on its dematerialisation goes up into Param, the Heaven.

It is quite evident from the Swami's writings that the Supramental Age had started right in his times and there is a clear unbroken continuity of the Mission of the Supreme Divine in regard to the manifestation of the divine light on the earth, in as much as Sri Aurobindo and the Mother came upon the scene of earthly life quickly following him, as it were, both in time and place, and even settled in Pondicherry quite in the vicinity of the Swami's place of fulfilment and sacrifice i. e. Vadalur in Tamil Nadu in India. The Mother brought down the supramental Light into an universal manifestation in 1956, though Sri Aurobindo had to sacrifice his body in 1950 for the same cause.

The comparative study necessarily involves the consideration of (a) the gradations of planes and worlds leading to the Truth-world of supermind, its poises and sessions, and the Worlds of Satcitananda beyond (b) transformation in the inner and outer nature of mind, life and body and (c) the vision of collective evolution and fulfilment and the effective participation towards its fulfilment. The Swami had the divine call in him as an embodiment of the earth and as its representative and he felt and declared himself to be the instrument of the Divine for the progressive universal manifestation of the Supreme Being of the Vast Grace-Light for the benefit and joy of the whole world and applied himself towards its fulfilment.

Transformation of the body as is proved in the Swami's case has its various stages until it leads to the attainment of a triple deathless body capable of an adaptability to live in the conditions of the earth eternally or as long as one's soul freely chooses to live. The Swami attained the triple deathless body of Suddha deha the divinised material physical body, Pranava deha the transformed subtle body, and Jnana deha the causal body of Knowledge. His deathless and indestructible body felt its divinity and it was fully conscious of the Divine. The Swami declared that he gave to the Lord his life, substance and body and the Lord in return gave him His Grace, His Life, His Substance and His body here on the earth itself. The sin qua non of a deathless transformation of body is the full and final emergence of the Truth-conscious Knowledge-Body (Jnana deha) into the physical and this effectively deals with the contagion due to the impact and inter-change of the forces of the surrounding impure bodies of others, and also the problem of the unregenerate forces of the universal Subconscious. Once it emerged it brought about a quick transformation, a simultaneous transformation of all parts and cells of the body in a natural and spontaneous way. Joti Agaval poem gives a direct evidence of such changes.

His physical body had become wholly pure, light, fragrant, radio-active, luminous, agile and mobile, supple and plastic and yet adaptable to the earthly life by retaining its transformed physicality and form—a divinised body so supple and pliant that the elements of nature, from the gross matter to the powerful radio-active cosmic rays, and even the instruments of weapon would pass through it without obstruction and resistance and hence without harm. It had the power to self-create all substances including those of the body and also the power to transform one substance into another, iron into gold etc. The Swami affirmed that his physical body was so much filled and surcharged with the divine Light of Consciousness-Force (Arut Cit Jothi) that the god and power of death and darkness had to flee away from him lest he (god of death) should be dissolved by its Light. He observed further that the deathless state of his luminous body was maintained by the Dance of the supreme and universal Lord in the Heaven of Vast Truth-World. His body was divinised also by the frequent bodily embrace of the Divine Lord with his, both in the Truth-world and on the earth. The Swami went so far as to say that the deathless state of perfection of his body had a collective evolutionary influence on the earthly life itself.

The Swami not merely refers to his transformed and divinised body as a deathless body but also as an eternally indestructible physical truth-body of an eternal purity and with progressive change or growth even after attaining its deathlessness. It is implied therefore that it could remain intact in its transformed state without disintegration and decomposition even if soul were to depart from it [i. e., in the event of a purely technical death]; but he dematerialised it in the Divine Presence for a collective world-purpose. He called his deathless, indestructible, and ever prospering body a special gift of the divine Grace “ Arul Siddhi ” and hence without the necessity of maintaining or defending its deathlessness by a personal force of Tapas—which Tirumoolar perhaps had to apply in his case, a case of what Sri Aurobindo would call “ a Yoga-Siddhi ”.

It is clearly seen that in the overall pattern of fulfilment of the divine Mission in regard to the universal Manifestation of the divine Light Swami Ramalingam, Sri Aurobindo and The Mother, have played their respective special and significant roles in the broad lines of action intended by the Supreme Divine for each of them. All of them have promised to come again to enrich the new evolutionary life. Hail victory to these mighty Spiritual Masters and Founders of the new Age of Truth-evolution. Jai Jai Auro-Ramalingam-Ma. Swami Ramalingam has assured that he would come again in body when the God of Vast Grace-Light manifests and rules on the earth and that he [the Swami] would give deathlessness of body to those who are purified and prepared, and states of purity to the unprepared.

Swami Ramalingam has distinguished Arut Joti the Grace-Light from Arut Perum Joti the Vast Grace-Light, and both from the Supreme Being of Vast Grace-Light. Again he distinguishes Grace-Light in its role as the guiding Light during the period of Sadhana or spiritual discipline and its role after the realisation in regard to the transformation of nature and body into their deathless states of perfection. He refers to the divine Light also as Satya Joti, the Truth-Light. He calls it Joti Yut Joti, Light within Light, Light of the Supreme Being within the vast Grace-Light. The Mother considers the Grace-Light as one activity of the Supramental Light. Sri Aurobindo came to believe in the later part of his life that a few Yogis had achieved supramental transformation as a personal Siddhi maintained by Yoga-Siddhi and not as dharma of nature. However what the Swami attained was an ever-pure, ever-growing and ever-prospering, eternal, deathless and indestructible, sleepless and shadowless physical body. It had become a truth-conscious vast or enlarged golden physical truth-body full of Truth-Light, Amrita and blissful impulsions of energies and it was meant by the Divine for a collective purpose and fulfilment, evidently to fix its substances and powers in the earth-nature ; he called it a spontaneous and natural gift of “ Arul Siddhi ” or “ Grace-Siddhi ”. His eternal body implied an essential permanence of a limitless golden deathless physical existence (other than the subtle-physical) as well as a practical permanence of a golden deathless physical material body which was coextensive with the said limitless physical existence.

What the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram experienced in 1969 and 1970 and named it as “ The Superman Consciousness ” is identifiable with the Swami’s dematerialised Consciousness, because the Swami, by dematerialisation of his deathless body in the Presence of the Divine at his place, wanted to enter into all the physical bodies universally. Further, it came with its shadowless golden Light along with compassion and smiling benevolence and directly entered into the physical body of the Mother who was then undergoing the transformation of her body. The Mother observed that it has the power to infiltrate into all the bodies. Our inference that the dematerialised substances of his deathless body should have entered into the Inconscient also is largely supported by the hour-long, rare and wonderful vision which Gangadharan of the said Ashram had on 14—1—1978 in regard to the dematerialisation of the Swami’s body. Gangadharan saw the Swami’s golden body being burnt by the Flame of divine Grace-Light, and its sub-atomic and radiating luminous white substances (or ash) pervaded into the entire universe and the farther pure Worlds of Consciousness and also into the earth and its matter and into the Inconscient. Finally, he had also the vision of the Swami’s golden Light of Truth-knowledge and Grace similarly pervading everywhere and into all the physical forms and objects including his body and also into the Inconscient. The details of the vision as given by Gangadharan is published in Appendix IV (e) of the book (Vol.I) and I am thankful to him for his contribution to the book, of his spiritual experiences and visions.

The book was written not as a thesis, but as a part of my spiritual discipline. The ringing words of truth of the Swami’s poems and Sri Aurobindo’s and Mother’s works have sustained me to the very end in making a patient comparative study. Where meanings were not clear, I had to wait till one day in a silent hour of concentration they became clear. The special help of the Ashram divine atmosphere was always there to guide me at each stage. Besides, there were also some inner glimpses from time to time. On the first of January 1969, I had my first prosperity day, when I felt in my heart for half an hour the concrete presence of the Mother soon after receiving my prosperity articles. I came to know later that it was also the day of descent of the "Superman Consciousness." At another time when my heart was almost moved with feelings of sorrow when considering the dematerialisation of the Swami after attaining a deathless body and after promising so much about the advent of the Light, the answer came from within the depth of my heart. I heard, "Swami Ramalingam dematerialised in the Inconscient." It solved many problems. When keenly inquisitive to know the nature of the Swami's revolving legs mentioned in his Joti Agaval poem, I had the experience once when my own legs revolved quickly. It was a subtle-physical experience but felt concretely as in the physical body. It does not suggest any transformation in my body, though it came to give me a taste of the experience for a short time. Later in 1972 when once walking in the Dharma Shala dining Hall at Vadalur, I felt the Swami's big form and presence in my body and felt concretely that He Himself was walking in my body. His inner spiritual presence was also felt in the depth of my heart for some time at Siddhivalagam, Mettukuppam village near Vadalur. The wonderful atmosphere here at the Swami's place is so subtle and fine that it operates from the subconscious levels also and enters into us, which is clearly indicated as for example, when my body and nerves got harmonised and their tiresomeness removed quickly and that my sleep naturally and effortlessly got reduced in time and the tamas of sleep was changed into a sort of awareness and the body as a whole felt better in health in spite of reduced hours of sleep for three consecutive days. Others too have such experiences in the Swami's premises at Siddhi Valagam. There is an atmosphere of Amrita—the people say so. Our body too absorbs something of its deathless forces which get indirectly translated in the rejection and reduction of tamas and sleep of body. For this it is better to keep the body pure by vegetarian food. Our Ashram too has its characteristic force of action on the body, in harmonising the body and nerves and removing their tiresomeness and the body absorbs its forces which we indirectly come to know particularly when we go out of Pondicherry, because the body then is clearly felt to shed off or throw out the absorbed forces. Such wonderful places are really the special gifts of the Divine to the people of the earth and they only speak of His Glory. The reader may not give importance to these subjective experiences nor read the book through this subjective colouring. My findings in the book are placed on an objective footing.

I am grateful and whole heartedly thankful to Gangadharan of Sri Aurobindo Ashram for contributing to this book at my request his experiences of the Truth-World and an account of his most recent and rare vision of the dematerialisation of Swami Ramalingam's living body. They are given in the Appendix iv (e) of Vol I and would illumine greatly on the obscure process of the Swami's unique sacrifice of dematerialisation and also possibly on the nature of "the shadowless golden Light of Superman Consciousness" which the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram experienced during 1969 and 1970.

I offer my heart-felt sweet thanks to Sri N. Mahalingam, President of Ramalinga Mission, Madras, for coming forward, with a benevolent catholic spirit and a spiritual outlook free from institutionalism, to give his active and unreserved help in all the ways needed for getting the book published in the right time and that through an appropriate channel. His intense zeal and ardour for propagating the divine Light itself in the form of a lit-up light as the central and essential object of common worship for all religions and spiritual schools, but without interfering in their respective modes of worship of symbolical forms or of their founders, is highly commendable and it is gathering its strength towards the fulfilment, because all religions and schools of spiritual discipline commonly believe and accept the Light as the Goal.

My thanks and gratitude are also offered to Swami Siddha Narahari of Siddhashram, Madurai and Dr. Su. Pa. Annamalai, Tamil Professor and Principal of Tyagaraja College, Madurai, and author of Swami Ramalingam's biography, for their encouraging help in the matter of publication.

I am also thankful to Sri R. Srinivasan, Prosperity Department of the Ashram, and to Sri P. V. Raghava Raju, Dy. Director, Chief Engineer's Office, Hyderabad, a long time devotee of the Ashram as well as of the Swami, for helping me with some fitting quotations and references from Sri Aurobindo's and Mother's vast literature. The latter's help in this respect opened in me clues to a possible connection and even identity between the so called Superman Consciousness and the Swami's dematerialised consciousness.

Monsieur Alain Grandcolas of the Ashram transliterated the Mantra of Arut Perum Joti into French. Sri Sai Vara Prasad typed almost the whole of the manuscript in a spirit of dedicated devotional free service of love. The commendable services of the staff of Ramalinga Mission, Madras deserve my heart-felt thanks. Sri Naik Gulab Bhai Maganlal and his son Rajanikant of the Ashram have taken photos of the Swami's Shrines at Vadalur and Mettukuppam. I also acknowledge with thanks the courtesy of Vadalur Devasthanams for allowing them to be published. Sri Ranjan Kulkarni, artist of the Ashram, gave a good design of the picture for the cover page. My heart-felt thanks are due to all and each of them for their help and service.

My respectful thanks are offered to Sri V. A. Devendran, M. A., B. O. L., Professor of Hindi American College, Madurai for transliterating into Roman Sanskrit the whole text of “Tatva lokas and Karanateeta lokas” of the Swami, I also thank Sri R. Subramanyam of the French Institute of Indology, Pondicherry and Sri Jaleshwar of the Ashram for their help in this respect.

I am particularly thankful to Sri Arabinda Basu, Director Sri Aurobindo Research Academy and Professor of Philosophy of Sri Aurobindo International Centre of Education, Pondicherry, for encouraging me to do this comparative study and also for making me participate in a Seminar on the “Swami’s Yoga” held at the Madurai University in February 1972.

I am profoundly thankful to the University of Madras and its respectable Vice-Chancellor Sri. N. D. Sundaravadivelu and his successors in office, namely, Sri Malcolm D. Adiseshiah and Sri G. R. Damodaran, for publishing the first edition of the book—which is at once an act of glorious homage of love and dedicated service to Bhagvan Cidambaram Ramalingam, a Master-Yogi of the Supramental Age, and which serves also to commemorate His Siddhi Day of Sacrifice of His deathless body on 30—1—1874 for the cause of evolution of the earthly life into a life divine.

My thanks are also offered to Sri C. K. Kumarasamy, the Registrar of the University, for his ready help and co-operation in all matters concerning the publication. I also extend my heart-felt thanks to Dr. V. Jayadevan and Dr. N. Veezhinathan of the University for their patient proof-reading services.

My thanks and appreciation are extended to the Printers namely, Avvai Achchuk Koodam, Madras, and N. I. A. Press, Pollachi for bringing out the book in a good get up.

2. "Sivāya Nama Ōm ... Sivāya Nama Ōm
Sivaya Nama Ōm ... Nama Sivāya"— Ibid TM 912

The above are the most secret and integral Bija and Nama mantras of the ancient Thirumoolar for realisation of soul, self and the Divine and for the integration, through the five vowels and their centres or chakras, of the three bodies — the physical, subtle and the soul's luminous causal — and for transformation of nature and the physical body. Kooththē (கூத்தே) is the Dance or Truth - vibration of the Divine in the Truth - World of Supermind. Note the change of long vowel Ī (ई, ऐ) into the short I (इ, उ) in the fourth line.

“Sivāya Nama Ōm...” leads one’s consciousness upwards, “Sivaya Nama Ōm,” inwards, and “Nama Sivāya” downwards. The chant of the Siva mantra as a whole acts to integrate the three bodies with a powerful concentration at a particular centre like the heart or the mid forehead. Similarly the chant of the three lines of the powerful vowels (Bija mantras) beginning with “Kooththē” as in TM 912 integrates the whole adhara (psycho-physical system) with all its main centres (chakras) as well as with the three bodies. The chant of the said Bija mantras i.e., the five long vowels, Ī—Ū—Ā—Ē—Ōm (ॐ—ॐ—ॐ—ॐ—ॐ) at first evoke and open the five main centres. Thus, a slow and repeated chant (say 20-30 times or more) of Ī (ॐ, ई) activates and opens the navel centre (Nabhi); Ū (ॐ, ऊ) the heart centre (Anahata); Ā (ॐ, आ) the spinal base or sex centre (Mooladhara); Ē (ॐ, ए) the throat centre (visuddhi); Ō (ॐ, ओ) the mid fore-head centre (Ajna), and when Ō is chanted with m i.e., as Ōm or rather as Ō...m...(ॐम्, ॐम्) it reaches and strikes at the top of head (Sahasrara), and then reverberates reaching down finally the Mooladhara. (It is seen that the corresponding short vowels I—U—A—E—O ॐ—ॐ—ॐ—ॐ—ॐ touch the same centres but into their inner depth). The Bija and Nama mantras either separately or in their combined form as in TM 912 are meant for the people of all age-groups including the youths and the householders.

ARUT PERUNJŌTHI MANTRA AND INTEGRAL MANTRAS

On the basis of the said Siva mantras (TM 912) of Tirumoolar and 'Arut Perunjōthi' mantra of Swami Ramalingam which are the integral mantras for an integral realisation of the Divine and transformation of nature and body, the following Nama (Name) mantras of the Supreme Divine have been revealed to the author in their integral form. Here, the name of Siva or Rama or Krishna stands, not for any overmental god of the Religions, nor exclusively for an Avatar of that name, but for the all-inclusive Supreme Divine, one with the Divine Shakti too. In the meditative chant of the above said two-line mantras, as well as the following, the first line gives the upward consciousness, the first part of the second line the inward and its last part the downward, though however, the mantra as a whole gives a powerful cumulative effect of concentration generally in the whole system or at a particular centre like the heart or the mid fore-head or the top head. "...Jai Rām" gives the upward consciousness, "Jai Rāma.." the inward, and "Jaya Rāma.." the downward; "Sree.." upwards, "Sri" inwards; "Ōm," according to the context and drive of the preceeding words, upwards or inwards or downwards. However, one need not or may not necessarily watch and observe each time these changes, especially when chanting an integral mantra with the loving and joyful remembrance of the Divine, and also hearing the same simultaneously for the purpose of concentration.

1. Sree..Rām Jai Rām..Jai Jai Rāma Ō..m..
Sri Rāma Jai Rāma. Jaya Jaya Rāma Ō..m..
2. Sree..Mā Jai Mā..Jai Jai Mā Ō..m..
Srimayi Jaimayi..Jaya Jaya Mā Ō..m..
3. Sree..Krishna Sree..Krishna Krishnāya Nama Ō..m..
Hari Krishna Hari Krishna..Krishna Krishna Nama Ō..m..

Each of the said three mantras and the Siva mantras (TM 912) of Tirumoolar has been found effective and powerful by Sri Gangadharaṇ of Sri Aurobindo Ashram, giving him the following experience. In the Great Silence that ensued after the meditative chant—the vocal chant followed by the mental for about an hour,—deep Peace and Light surrounded him and Omkara sound was heard, and his physical body joined in its essence with his pure white subtle body which in turn joined with his soul's luminous body. The process of integration takes place in the heart centre, first the physical body (i.e., its essence) rising up to the head and then coming down to the feet and back to the heart centre to complete its integration with the subtle body. Similarly the subtle body joins with the luminous body. Then, his integrated luminous body, along with his spiritual consciousness of soul as united with the Self, ascended to the vast Truth-world of Supermind, after passing through the several overhead planes and the Void. Gangadharan experienced the pure white Light of Grace in the Truth-world, and at a lower level therein he saw directly in the lower Ponnambalam the Golden Truth-world of Golden Light, the Siva-Sakti Dance in their blissful and luminous Truth-Physical Bodies and also their circumgyrating dance in bodily union, and then he returned in his integrated luminous body to the earth. Now the three bodies became distinct to enter into his system (adhara); At first the physical entered with a great inrush of the transforming "Golden Red Light" into all the cells of the physical body, then followed by the entry of the subtle along with the luminous, accompanied by a similar rush of the "Golden Light" into the whole adhara. His room was also filled with the Golden Light.

At the beginning of the chant of the respective Mantras, Gangadharan felt for a while the Presence of Thirumoolar, Swami Ramdoss of Kanhangad (Mangalore), The Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram, Sri Krishna, as the case may be when taking up each mantra on a different day in the order of Siva mantra, Ram mantra, Mā mantra, Krishna mantra, respectively. In the case of Krishna mantra, the vision broke out with the scene of battlefield in which Sri Krishna was seen preaching to Arjuna and this vision disappeared and was soon replaced by Sri Aurobindo appearing in His benign luminous Golden Form. Later, during the ascent of Gangadharan to the Truth-world, Sri Aurobindo was replaced by the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram especially at a stage in the ascent when an obstructing golden Dome was opened by Her with a stroke of golden hammer and as a result Golden Light rushed downwards to the earth whereas Gangadharan ascended into the Truth-World receiving the golden light in his body also. By chant of each of the above said mantras the experience as given in the preceeding para repeated itself.

4. Sree..Aravinda Sree..Aravinda Aravindāya Nama Ō..m..
Sri Aravinda Sri Aravinda..Mirra Aravinda Nama Ō..m..

By chant of this integral mantra, Gangadharan felt Light and Omkara Sound surrounding him, and his adhara (the psycho-physical system) blossomed in all the centres(chakras). Sri Aurobindo and the Mother appeared for a while in their luminous golden Forms of Grace. Then his deep soul-consciousness joined with the Self and ascended to the Truth-world, and he felt the Divine Presence everywhere. Even during the ascent, the Golden Light was seen flowing down from above and spreading everywhere. In the summit of the Truth-World he experienced the vast and pure white Light of Grace. When he was identified with it, he heard an immortal sound which made him wake up with open eyes. The vibrations of the experience continued for a long time and were tangibly felt in the body.

5. Arut Perunjōthi..Arut Perunjōthi
Thanip Perung Karuṇai..Arut Perunjōthi

By the meditative chant of this universally appealing direct mantra of the Divine as Supreme Light of Grace, Gangadharan had the most powerful and integral experience in which the vast Light of Supreme Grace linked the Truth-world of Supermind with the whole universal manifestation (visva darshan) and the vast nether Realm of the Inconscient Darkness. The graceful Presence of Swami Ramalingam was felt for a while during the chant. Then, Gangadharan was surrounded by the white Light of Grace and Omkara Sound and Bliss. His soul-consciousness joined with the Self and ascended to the Truth-world of Supermind, seeing the pure white Light of Grace everywhere on his way. In the ascent into the Truth-World he entered into the Golden Truth-world of Golden Light (Ponnambalam proper) and then reached the summit Truth-world (Cit Ambalam) of the pure white Light of Supreme Grace (Arut Perunjōthi). He became identified with the Supreme Divine of the vast Grace-Light and experienced the whole universal manifestation in its formless form and as an expression of Supreme Compassion (Thanip Perung-Karuṇai). Then, by a power of the Grace-Shakti he came down into the Golden Truth-World and saw Siva-Sakti Dance in their subtle or formless form of union, and after descending through several planes, came back to the earth which appeared illumined by Golden Red Light.

His soul-consciousness entered back into the physical body through Brahmarandhra, the hole in the top head. But before so entering, "Golden Red Light" rushed into his physical body filling up all its cells, and then "Golden Light" similarly entered into his whole adhara. His whole body appeared luminous in golden red, and even the roots of hair shone likewise. An indescribable Bliss overwhelmed the depth of his heart. Now the Golden Light rushed into the vast nether Realm of the Inconscient Darkness and pervaded it making it luminous Golden. Then, the Inconscient was filled up with the White Light of Grace, and with it, came the tangible experience of micro-atomic, luminous and conscious white particles of Substance radiating Light—the same particles as were seen before by Gangadharan in 1978 in his rare vision of dematerialisation of the luminous golden, transformed-living-body of Swami Ramalingam (see the Appendix in Volume I)—and there was also the experience of the Supreme Divine inhabiting it with Love and Grace and Compassion. This revealed concretely that the Supreme Divine of Vast Grace-Light (Arut Perunjōthi Āndavar) has become the Inconscient Darkness for the play of a slow evolutionary Manifestation. Gangadharan heard a blissful Sound of Grace, hitherto unheard of ever before. He sensed too a Fragrance of Grace. After two hours of continuous experience he woke up with eyes open. This is by far the most powerful and wonderful integral experience he ever had. The vibrations of the Presence of the Supreme Divine with the Light of Supreme Grace were felt concretely and tangibly in the physical cells of the body too and it continued for long long hours. He felt his heartfelt gratitude to Arut Perunjōthi Āndavar for providing him this supreme experience.

The Supreme Divine is inherent in and inseparable from the Vast Light of Supreme Grace, though the Grace-Light is fully manifest above, but hidden below in the nether Darkness, and involved and indirectly present in our earthly life and body and Matter. Arut Perunjōthi mantra can evoke its Grace to act in any condition and situation.

The author is whole heartedly thankful with gratitude to Gangadharan for his graceful humility and catholic readiness to accept and do these mantras one by one at his specific request. The above is given here with his knowledge and approval. Some other devotees also had integration of the three bodies at the psychic level, though without the ascent, but resulting in the experience of the concrete and tangible Presence of Swami Ramdoss or Sri Aurobindo or the Mother, deep within the heart, and also in the whole body, according to the chant of integral mantra chosen. One devotee by name T.R. Jawaharlal of Madurai who is open to the influence of the above said Super Yogis, got such an aforesaid Presence of Sri Aurobindo, and then of the Mother, by the chant of Siva mantra (TM 912) of Tirumoolar. Another devotee by name P.V. Raghava Raju of Hyderabad who was doing particularly the said Siva mantra, got a progressive integration and harmonisation of his adhara and its various contres, enabling his spiritual consciousness to rise to the overhead planes of consciousness and bring down into his adhara more and more of the blissful impulses of a higher and higher consciousness. These integral mantras are meant for practice by the people of all age-groups including the youths and the householders, and that in any posture, sitting, lying or walking.

It is readily seen that if an integral mantra at the best can give supramental transformation of body, "Arut Perunjōthi" mantra is all the more necessary for transformation of the body into its deathless state, because the Light of Grace invades and illumines the Inconscient Darkness which is the strong fortress of the dark power or god of death. This mantra, received directly from the Divine by Swami Ramalingam and soon given by him to the disciples and devotees in his last days when he had already attained the deathless transformation of his body — that is, before dematerialising it in 1874 in sacrifice for the universal manifestation of the divine Grace-Light directly on the earth—has an immense significance and value for the humanity which is seeking for an individual as well as a collective evolution of its earthly life of Ignorance into a divine life of Bliss and Knowledge, and for the unity of the world and mankind.

MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE OF GRACE—LIGHT¹

Grace-Light ... Oh ! I liked it very much in his letter² Grace-Light. That, that is what is working, you know : the work that is being done through this (the body), it is absolutely like that, it is absolutely like a Grace-Light. I liked it very much. It is absolutely this.

Well, it is a light that has many degrees, and in the most material, it is lightly it must be the supramental force³ because it is lightly golden, lightly rosy (you know this light) but very very pale. There is one (gesture pointing to a higher strata) which is white like milk, opaque — that is very strong. There is one (gesture pointing very high) which is white ... which is a light that is transparent. That, that is something interesting : a drop of it on the hostile forces, it dissolves them. They melt like this (twinkling of the eye). I said all this to Sri Aurobindo, and he confirmed it absolutely. It is essentially the Grace in its state ... (gesture pointing very high) supreme. It is a Light, it has no colour, you see, it is transparent, and this light (I experienced it, and I say this because I know) : one puts it on a hostile being and ... it dissolves like this. It is extraordinary ... and then, under its aspect which we could call benevolent (that is the Grace which succours, and which helps, and which cures), it is white like milk. And if I want an action absolutely material (but this is recent — it is only recently since the coming of this new consciousness)⁴ so in its action that is physical on the physical, it becomes slightly coloured : it is luminous. It is golden with rosy inside but it is not rosy (Mother takes a hibiscus flower near her) it is like this.

The Mother's remarks on Grace-Light have appeared under 11th and 22nd July 1970 in volume XI of L' Agenda De Mere as published in 1981. The above passage has been translated from French—By courtesy to the Institut De Recherches Evolutives, Paris.

1. The author of this book has given the title to the above passage and also the foot notes 2 to 4.

2. See Appendix III (a) to III (f) of this book (Volume I). The author as an inmate of Sri Aurobindo Ashram and as a disciple of the Mother, sent to Her his letter dated 4—7—1970 through Satprem of the Ashram with a covering letter to him—regarding the body-transformation of Swami Ramalingam by the power of divine Love and Grace-Light, as revealed in the Swami's poem "Joti Agaval". A true and faithful translation of the relevant part of the poem was done in simple and good English for a ready understanding of the matter and it was also sent to the Mother. However, the Swami was wrongly reported to the Mother to have died, though instead he had dematerialised his transformed body and disappeared in 1874.

3. See Appendix III (e) : Mother's remarks on Grace-Light, as originally passed on to the author by Satprem on 12—7—70 are the same as given in the L' Agenda on 22—7—70, and end with the words ... Supramental consciousness or the Grace-Light as Swami Ramalingam says. Subsequently on 28—7—70 the last part in italics was dropped out and instead the Mother's words, "Grace-Light is ... one activity of the supramental" were added: The modified remarks are as given in Appendix III (e).

4. Superman consciousness since 1—1—1969.

I

*(BK 7—5)

This poem in book seven describes Swami Ramalingam's first direct and integral vision of the Divine as manifest in the world of Truth-Knowledge, the Supermind. This vision breaks forth within him in his young age because of the contact of his soul's consciousness with the supreme Divine. This vision receded back later but he was guided all along by Arul Joti the Grace-Light. He also observes in his "Peru Vinnappam" (prose p. 127) that he received the true knowledge of the oneness of the God of Vast Grace-Light since about the beginning of his youth. However the Swami in the last decade of his life directly ascended through the characteristic pillar of Light into Suddha Siva Veli, the world of pure Truth-Consciousness, the Supermind (See ch.II-Vol. I)

The Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram has observed that when one realises one's soul he can even immediately have a clear vision of the Supermind though not its realisation. "If as a result of numerous efforts on your part, you come into contact with your psychic being (i.e., the realisation of soul) there the door is opened wide. Through the psychic you can have immediately a fine clear vision of what the supramental is (i.e. Satya Jnana Veli, the world of Truth-Consciousness), a vision only, not a realisation" (Vide "Bulletin"-Feb 1960). From this it can be concluded that the said supramental vision of the Swami took place in his inmost soul. The integrality of the vision of supermind is evident in stzs. 19, 22 & 43. Stz. 19 refers to the triple poise of supermind that He (the supreme Divine) became Himself (as the Universal Divine)—(1st poise); He became Myself-Himself (2nd poise); I became my true individual self (3rd poise).

Sri Aurobindo writing on the Vaishnava Saint Nammālwār has observed that the said Saint had a direct perception of the Divine in the solar realm of Supermind itself. "In his great work known as "Tiru Voymoḷi" (the sacred Utterance) which contains more than a thousand stanzas he has touched all the phases of the life divine and given expression to all forms of spiritual experience.

* Book 7-poem 5 of Thiru Arutpa of Swami Ramalingam as published in the edition of Balakrishna Pillai.

The pure and passionless Reason, the direct perception in the high solar realm of Truth itself, the ecstatic and sometimes poignant love that leaps into being at the vision of the "Beauty of God's face", the final Triumph where unity is achieved and "I and my Father are one", all these are uttered in his simple and flowing lines with a strength that is full of tenderness and truth"— (Vol. 17 "Hour of God" centenary edition of Sri Aurobindo's works; See also our translation of Nammalwar hymns in ch. XIII in Vol. I).

Stanza 4 and 22 of "Mahadeva mālai" of Swami Ramalingam agrees in spirit and substance with Nammalwar's last hymns (10-10-4).

"O cool and supreme Void of Heaven (Pāḷ the positive Void) yonder above!

O Thou supreme who art in the void as the Good Light of Heaven!

O Thou who art within the Light and has become Brahma and Rudra!"

NOTE: Pāḷ means Sky, Heaven, Void. But it is not the negative void of the Buddhist or monist schools which is experienced as empty. But here it is the positive void in which the divine Light of Consciousness-Force emerges. In this context Pāḷ is the Supramental Sky or Heaven of Truth-conscious Light. It may be also spoken of as the void in which the divine Light manifests.

உம்பர் அம் தண்பாழே ஓ அதனுள் மிசை நீயே ஓ

Compare with Swami Ramalingam

"O Supreme who art in the Mauna Vyoma the Void or Sky of Silence!"
"O Flame (Sun) in the Sky of Heaven! O infinitely Vast Light within the Flame! O Supreme the infinite and eternal Divine who art within the Light!" (Mahadeva Malai stz. 4, 22); See for more details ch. XIII of Vol-I on Nammālwar).

— மகாதேவமாலை பா. 4, 22.

Now we shall consider some important stanzas of the Swami's poem Mahadevamālai".

“O Supreme and Universal Divine! Thou hast become the Universal All-Existence, the beings of the respective worlds, the light of soul in the beings, the Eye of Truth-Consciousness with the harmony of vision, movement and goal, the Sky or Space of Truth-Consciousness (Cidākāśa) assuming the nature of the infinity of the Supreme Being (Paramākāśa). Thou hast become the incomparable and illimitable Bliss of Wisdom. O Supreme who hast become the manifest Nature of Satcitananda (Saticitananda-maya).”

NOTE: The all-consisting, all-indwelling and all-pervading Nature of the Supreme Divine in the harmonious Sky of Truth-Consciousness (i.e. Cidākāśa the Supermind) is referred to. Paramākāśa the spaceless infinite is within Cidākāśa the space infinite of Truth-Consciousness. Each implies the other (see also stz. 43). The Supreme Truth has become the universal Truth, the manifest Satcitananda.

“O Supreme and Universal Divine! Thou hast become the manifest Sat the Being of Truth that has uniquely pervaded all the worlds (i.e., the self-extension of the Divine Being as the Universe). Thou hast become the Delight in and of the experience of yogis, the unshakable depth of Peace, the pure Vision of the Knowledge of Grace and the intensity of inseparable Bliss of manifestation (Nibiḍa Ānanda). Thou hast become the manifestation of the luminous Consciousness - Force (Viḷakkam) in Meethānam (மீதானம் the High-seated World i.e., the Supermind). Thou hast become in manifestation Parā Param (i.e., the Heaven farther beyond Param i.e. the apprehending supere mind which is beyond Param the tertiary or lower supermind) and Cit Param (the Heaven of Truth-Consciousness the Comprehending Supermind or Supermind proper) and art the blissful Lord seated within the heart of Thy lovers”.

NOTE: Param generally means a heaven and in its special significance the Supermind particularly the tertiary supermind. Parā Param refers to the farther Heaven i.e., the apprehending supermind. Param Param the Heaven above Heaven i.e., the highest Heaven which is the Comprehending Supermind. This is also called by the Tamil people as Cit Podu or Cit Param, Cit Sabha or Cit Ambalam. (See also stz. 17 which mentions Param, Parā Param and Param Param). In the above stanza the Universal manifestation of Sat, Cit (Consciousness-Force) and Ananda உண்மை, விளக்கம், இன்பம் is referred to.

Thou hast become the true truth of Suddha Adwaita (i.e., the true and pure unity of Truth-Knowledge which is the unity of one and many i.e. as realised in the world of Supermind) and the true truth of Samarasa Suddha Adwaita (the absolute integrality and unity of Truth in the summit-supermind).

Thou art the sole foundation without which nothing can be upheld or supported; Thou art the eternal Existence, the Consciousness beyond comparison; Thou hast become the Mother bringing forth and manifesting by Grace the Universal All-Existence; Thou hast become the Father, the beautiful Guru or Preceptor and the Lord”.

“O Superme and Universal Divine who has become senses, instruments of mind and all things (i.e., tatvas), the nature-purusha, the heaven of time (Kala Param in the subliminal range), the boundless Vyoma (the wide space of spiritualised mind.), Param (the spiritual Mind Range), Paramparam as seizing in its possession the whole universe (i.e., the global overmind), Upashanta Mauna state of intense Peace and Silence (the overmind gnosis range), the farther state of deep and intense Peace and Silence (Maha Mauna state i.e., another level in overmind gnosis range), the endless or limitless “Thou State”, “Tat State” and the unifying “Asi State” and the “Ateeta State” of farthest Transcendence (i.e., Supermind proper)”.

NOTE: (a) The nature-purusha (Iyal Purusha இயல் புருடன்) means the instrumental being in nature such as Mano purusha, Pranamaya purusha and Annamaya purusha, the mental being, vital being and physical being or collectively together as the jeeva in regard to mind, life and body but as distinguished from soul and self.

(b) The terms “Thou”, “Tat”, “Asi” refer to the Maha Vakya “Tat Twam Asi” “That Thou art”. “That” is the infinity of the common Self, “Thou” the state of individual soul and “Asi” the state of manifestation in which That and Thou (self and soul) are unified in the threshold of Supramental Vastness, a realm of unity.

(c) In the above stanza ‘the endless or limitless Thou state’ of soul signifies not merely the psychic being or soul within the deep heart realised as such as a first step of spiritual experience, but the universalised soul or universalised individual. Therefore according to the order of experiences narrated in the stanza, “antamil Twam” the endless Thou state of soul as the universalised individual is realised in the overmind gnosis. The self state and the universalised soul state (Tat Pada and Twam Pada) join to form the Asi state (ஒன்றும் அசிபதம்) which is the state of amsa sanatana of the Gita (or Guru Turya state of Grace according to the swami) in which one becomes a centre of the supreme and universal

Divine and this opens into the Supramental Vastness of unity. So, Asi state is the state of transition into the said Vast Realm of Truth-Knowledge. Ateeta state of Transcendence beyond Asi state signifies the planes or sessions of supermind proper including its summit session as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka beyond. It is called here simply as “Asi Pada Ateeta”. When the states beyond a certain state are not proposed to be explained in detail, the word “Ateeta” is used. The context in which ‘ateeta’ is used is important to arrive at its fuller significance. See chart 4 A in Vol I.

d) See chart 1, in vol. I for the lower and higher significances of the terms Param, Parāparam and Paramparam see also stz. 17 following:

“O Supreme and Universal Divine! Thou hast become as Thyself, Thou hast become as myself. Thou art the immutable and featureless State of purity beyond manifestation. Thou art the self-aware Conscious Being in the pure infinity of Self-existence (Tanmaya Tat Param). Thou hast become the upholder of the manifestation (Tatastha தடத்தமாய்) and the inherent and natural essence of all (Swarupa Sahaja). Thou hast become the consciousness of Knowledge of the firm and stable world of Truth-Consciousness (Cinmaya Cit Param). O all-pervading infinite Truth of Existence with the flaming Light of Consciousness-Force (Cit jwalitha Akhanda Sivam). O eternal supreme Divine of Silence beyond mind and words”.

NOTE: In the opening lines the Swami says, “the supreme Divine has become Himself, become myself”. This refers to the comprehending and apprehending poises of Supermind. In the latter poise the Divine becomes the jivatman, the individual self in manifestation.

The Divine is spoken of in Its or His supreme state of existence as Tat Param and in its state of universal manifestation of Truth-knowledge through its consciousness Force as Cit Param. Both are inseparable in the supermind. They are referred to in other poems as the biune Infinite (Ubhaya Veli). However Tat Param and Cit param are also taken by convention to signify respectively the summit poise of supermind as opening into Ananda Loka beyond, and the comprehending supermind proper.

Thou hast become all the crores of religions and Param as the wish-fulfilling transcendent Heaven of divine Riches i.e. the tertiary Supermind (வான் கற்பகமாகிப் பரமாகி) beyond the reach of religions and beyond it (பரமமாகி) going into the higher level Thou hast become Parā Param (the Heaven farther beyond i.e., Apprehending Supermind) and Param Param (the farthest Heaven i.e. Comprehending Supermind).

NOTE: (1) “அல்ல” or “அல்லா” signifies not a rigid negation or denial, but a transcending state of affair. See stz. 13 of the poem 10-II-2 “Tirucitram-bala Deiva Mani Malai”.

(2) “Parā Param” means the Heaven farther beyond Param the tertiary supermind. So it means apprehending supermind. “Parā param” is to be distinguished from “Parāparam” (i.e., para apra the border heaven between the higher and lower) which as a connected single world means overmind gnosis-See Chart I Vol-I.

NOTE: In this stanza the nature of the supramental Sky of Truth-Knowledge is referred to as the Infinity within the Vastness or Space of Silence, see also stz 1. This refers to the biune infinite or Ubhaya Veli or Ubhyāmbaram constituted of Tat Parama Veli (Paramākāśa) and Cit Para Veli (Cidākāśa) (See stz. 10-II-2-2) the spaceless infinity of Being and the Universal Space of Consciousness of Knowledge. O omnipresent Sivam! O Supreme Truth! O Divine Being of supreme Peace!”.

NOTE: The triple plane seen in vision by Agamas refers to the triple plane of the Truth-World of Supermind.

Thou hast given into my hands the unique Grace-Light which Thou held in Thy Hands” (12-1-572). This early event indicates an assurance from the Lord that the Swami would realise the infinitely Vast Grace Light of Truth-Consciousness of the Truth-World, the Super-mind and that he would realise it not only in his inner being but also in the outer nature of mind, life and body. Joti Agaval poem serves to show the land mark of such an achievement.

Thou came in a divine form of body which could revive even a withered tree into sprouting and stood in front of me who was in ignorance; with joy and overflowing compassion Thou showed me Thy beaming Face, opened the hand-bag of sacred ashes and gave the ashes to those who were present there but Thou gave me into my hand a fragrant flower of Grace. I do not know Thy will of Grace (i.e., Thy purpose of giving me the flower)”.

NOTE: The Golden Lord of the Truth-World gave the Swami a beautiful luminous red flower of Grace. The above stanzas indicate that the Lord gave it to him rather as an assurance of his physical bodily transformation. Red flower, according to Sri Aurobindo, is a symbol indicating receptivity or openness of the body for a physical transformation.

According to stanza I, which is not quoted herein, the Lord tells the Swami that He had already given him before the sacred ash once (possibly in his last birth). So the Lord gives him now a luminous red flower.

“She is Vimalā (விமலை) the Pure Shakti who upholds and supports the whole universe in and by Her self-existent Light. She is Tat Parā (தற்பரை) the supreme self-existent Goddess, Ambarā (அம்பரை) the Shakti of the beautiful Sky of Knowledge, Mā Cidambarā (சிதம்பரை) the Shakti of the supreme and Vast Sky of Truth-Consciousness. She is Cit-Shakti the supreme Consciousness-Force. O Lord who makes the play of Bliss in the ever-existing excellent Golden World of Knowledge (Pon Mani Podu) making the heart of Thy great consort of Love and will (Siva Kama Valli) rejoice in happiness! By Her will She has made Thee possess and rule my being since my tender age. Becoming conscious of the Nature of Thy great Compassion I sing Thy glory in joy and out of a melting heart of ove. This is the mark of Thy Grace. O Lord of my soul!”

NOTE: “Parai” as the Shakti of the supreme and universal Divine is distinguished in this stanza by her several names in Tamil such as Tat Parai, Amparai, Cidamparai Cit-Shakti etc. “Parai” is more commonly used (11-22-2, 10) to denote the overmental Maha Shakti (See Tatva Lokas item 101). But in the above stanza it is used in the context to signify the Supramental Shakti by adding the qualifying words.

“O Jnana Sambandhar, my noble Sat Guru! Thou hast told me (by inspiration) that if one gets the experience of self (uyir anubhavam), that, will form the basis in which the higher experience of grace (Arul anubhavam) will come and in that defectless and noble experience will arise in turn the experience of Suddha Siva anubhavam. O Jnana Sambandhar, who as a child of tender age of three years took in happily the milk of Knowledge given by the supreme Shakti (Sivai), and fostered and developed the path of Truth”.

NOTE; The Swami in his young age took the well-known Thiru Jnana Sambandhar of the middle ages into his heart as the Guru. Jnana Sambandhar was guiding him from within, until the Swami got the divine Grace-Light as the Inner Guide and Guru. This poem is an early one when the Swami had not much advanced in his spiritual path, though by that time he had realised his soul within and self above (in spiritual mind) by the grace of his chosen Guru Jnana Sambandhar.

“Uyir anubhavam” in the context means self-realisation (i.e., Cosmic self in spiritual mind) and here includes also the psychic realisation of soul within. “Arul anubhavam” refers to the experience of a first state of Grace which is a state of transition into the Truth-World i.e., a state experienced beyond Paranada (i.e., in Paranadanta) which is beyond the overmind called Parampara. “Suddha Siva Anubhavam” refers to the transcendent or supreme and universal Truth in and by which the Divine is revealed and with whom one gets identified. This is the supramental Truth-knowledge.

“O my Sat Guru! O Siddha Purusha! O Treasure! O Jnana Sambandhar of the famous place Seerkali. Thou had instructed me thus : ‘Transcend each of the states of tatvas (principles of lower manifestation) and reach the unique Paranada state where you will realise the same or common Self (i.e., the Self which is the same in all ஒத்த தன்மயம்) without your being (நீ இன்றி i.e., without the individuality of your self or soul). This is called Uyir anubhavam.” “O Guru! Thou hast made me realise myself in me (i.e., the Self as existing in myself), in the said plane of consciousness.”

NOTE: Paranada state here referred to may not necessarily be the highest Paranada (i.e., as in the range of Overmind Gnosis) which is beyond the states of Para Siva and Parā Shakti (overmind Lord and overmental Maha Shakti), but its lower poise which may possibly correspond with one overhead level of experience in the Spiritual Mind range i.e., the spiritual Higher Mind. The terminology used in the stanzas of this poem might not be strictly taken as used by the Swami himself but as passed on to him into his inner being by Saint Jnana Sambandhar. However we try to find correspondence with Swami’s terminology as also with Sri Aurobindo’s. The above stanza indicates that the Swami who had already the psychic realisation of his soul now had his cosmic self-realisation by the grace of the Guru of his heart namely Jnana Sambandhar. The pure Self, or the featureless Brahman may be also realised in the highest level of Paranada as an exclusive experience as much as in its lower level or levels and this lower level seems to be more properly indicated by this stanza, because this is followed by the experience of the true individual self (in Paranādānta beyond the highest level or state of Paranada) as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine. For Paranada (see charts 4, 4B, 5 & 6 in ch. III-Part II; see also subhead “State of Grace” under the 12th level in ch. III - Part I in Vol. I).

“O my Sat Guru! O Jnana Sambandhar! Thou hast revealed to me by words thus: “In the realm beyond the unique Paranada (i.e., beyond the highest level or state of Paranada or in Paranadanta, above the Overmind Gnosis), it is the experience of Grace (Arul anubhavam) which makes your being (your true individual self) become the fearless eternal and infinite Self-existence and also one with Parampara the global universe within and without (பரம்பரத்து உட்புறமாகி i.e., universalisation of the individual) and gives a blissful state beyond description of words.”

NOTE: This stanza refers to the state of Grace (Guru Turya state of Grace) which is a first state of Grace by which the individual self becomes a centre of the supreme Self and the Universal Existence (i.e., a centre of the supreme and universal Divine on the eve of transition to the Vast Truth-World called Peru Veli)

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages:

“But there can be many formulations of overmind consciousness and experience; for the overmind has a great plasticity and is a field of multiple possibilities. In place of an uncentred and unplaced diffusion there may be the sense of the universe in oneself or as oneself: but there too this self is not the ego; it is an extension of a free and pure essential self-consciousness or it is an identification with the All, — the extension or the identification constituting a cosmic being, a universal individual ... But with a strong influence or full action of the overmind a very integral sense of governance, a complete supporting or overruling presence and direction of the cosmic Self or the Ishwara can come in and become normal; or a special centre may be revealed or created overtopping and dominating the physical instrument, individual in fact of existence, but impersonal in feeling and recognised by a free cognition as something instrumental to the action of a Transcendent and Universal Being. In the transition towards the supermind this centralising action tends towards the discovery of a true individual replacing the dead ego, a being who is in his essence one with the supreme Self, one with the universe in extension and yet a cosmic centre and circumference of the specialised action of the Infinite"—

“O pure and noble Sat Guru! O Jnana Sambandhar! Thou hast said to me in my inner being thus: “If in the self-existent and ever manifest Vastness (Peru Veli), one becomes the immanent (உள்ளதாய், உள்ளதாய்) and omnipresent Whole Existence முற்றும் உள்ளதாய் which is the equal concentration of self-extension (நள்ளதாய்), and identifies with it within oneself (முற்றும் உள்ள அதுவாய், முற்றும் உள்ளதுவாய்) as Mine and Myself (i.e. எனதாய் நானதாய் subjectively as one's being and in the closest intimate objectivity as one's possession), as His and Himself (தனதாய் தானதாய் i.e. as the ineffable Being, the divine Lord, and as His Universal manifestation), and going farther beyond which is indescribable and yet farther beyond, one experiences the supreme Void i.e., Positive Void (வெறுவெளி Veru Veli, the eternal spaceless infinite) it is called “Siva anubhavam”, the experience of Sivam the supreme Being (beyond even the Truth-World).

NOTE: From the above stanzas of the poem, it is evident that the Swami had not realised at the time he composed it (or at the time of the said inner intimations from Jnana Sambandhar), any higher states of experience than the Cosmic self or at best the pure self (i.e. exclusive realisation of the self) which is here spoken of rather in the words of Jnana Sambandhar as “Uyir anubhavam”. Possibly this was the Swami's state of experience before he got the vision of the world of Truth-Knowledge as described in poem “Mahādēvā Mālai”. Until the Grace - Light became the inner Guru, the Swami received inner intimations and guidances from Jnana Sambandhar in regard to attaining higher levels of experience. It may not be proper to study Swami's highest experience exclusively with reference to this early poem i.e. in the light of his intimations from Jnana Sambandhar, because the Swami's later realisations evidently transcend those of Jnana Sambandhar (See Vol-I ch. XIII). Besides, there is the difficulty in correlating their terminologies. Further the Swami wholly omits to mention him in his later writings. Besides, the words received from inner inspiration are also liable to be mixed up with lesser truth of a mental nature as he was not at that time wholly established in the Truth-Consciousness beyond Mind, nor he had even the vision of the Truth-World nor possessed the guiding Grace-Light at that time. However we have tried to give as faithful a translation of the said stanzas of this poem as possible.

The above stanza i.e., stz. 5 suggests that “Siva anubhavam” or “Suddha Siva anubhavam” is beyond “Arul anubhavam” (See also stz. 2) and it gives the integration of Self-poise and God-poise (எனதாய் தனதாய், நானதாய் தானதாய் as I-He and as Mine-His i.e. subjective - objective relationship of unity) in the Vast world of equal concentration (i.e. Truth-World) which is the whole and integral Existence. Here it refers to the apprehending poise or session of Supermind. Beyond it and yet farther beyond it i.e., beyond the two sessions namely the apprehending and Comprehending supermind one is led to the supreme and positive Void i.e., the Absolute Veru Veli, the eternal Spaceless Infinite, the Sivam. Tirumoolar, Sri Aurobindo and the Swami observe from experience that the Knowledge of Truth-Consciousness emerges in and from Veru Veli the supreme Void. Further the “becoming as Myself as Himself நானதாய் தானதாய்” seems to reccho the latter experience of the Swamy as நானாகித் தானாகி, “The Divine became Myself became Himself” in Por Sabha, the apprehending Supermind. Veru Veli herein spoken of is not the empty negative Void of the Buddhist school or of the Monistic school, but it is the supreme Void from which the Vast Truth-world, the true universal manifestation as Knowledge-play or Knowledge-will emerges. It contains secretly the Vast Truth-Space and through it all other spaces but yet transcends all spaces (See 1-VI-3-8; 1-V-2-30; 1-V-3-14; 11-22-10).

On the above basis, one may be led to infer that Jnana Sambandhar too had the realisation and possession of the Truth-World though its planes are not distinguished here. But his own works of Thevaram do not give a positive and definite pointer to such a conclusion; however it cannot be gainsaid that he had not merely the vision of it, but also an entry into the supramental Vastness and the first or initial integral experience of God, world and soul and self resulting from the emergence of his true individual self “amsa sanatana” as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine i.e., resulting from the Guru Turya state or anubhava here referred to as “arul anubhavam”—an experience corresponding to that mentioned by Swami Ramalingam in his “Karanateeta lokas” under items 1 to 3 of the closing items 1 to 16 of the said chapter (see Ch. V under S.No. 109 of this Vol.)

“Devotees madly seeking after Peru Veli, the Vastness of the Truth-World which is beyond Mind and all the instrumentations that arise from out of the womb of the Void of Darkness (கருவெளி Karu Veli the Sub-conscious and Inconscious Darkness) got stuck up in Guru Veli, the Over-mind Space of heaven. But O Thou, who hail from Vāthāvur (the native place of the saint), got unified in that very pure and supreme Space of Universal Form i.e., the supramental Vast Space) which is praised by the Vedas.”

NOTE: “Thani Uru Veli”, the supreme space of Form (i.e., the supermind) is also referred to in stz. 1-V-4-10. This is to be distinguished from Uru Veli the subliminal space (11-36-20). Vāthavur is a village near Madurai where saint Manickavasagar was born. He dissolved his body by a process of dematerialisation. He was considered to have become one with the Vast Space of Truth. He had a physical transformation of his body too.

But, O Lord of beautiful Vathavur! Thou attained successively a form of Love, a form of Grace and finally a form of Bliss.”

NOTE: Love leads to a state of Grace and Grace gives Bliss. Love and Grace are primary spiritual determinations or forms of Bliss itself. These forms of Love, Grace and Bliss (Uruvam உருவம்) here spoken of may not be mistaken with Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha which are moulds of body (Vadivam வடிவம்) or rather the transformed integral triple deathless body referred to by Swami Ramalingam in his poem “Suddha Siva Nilai” (12-29). Swami Ramalingam refers also in another poem 11-27 about his own experience of the Divine in the forms of Bliss, Grace and Love when He entered into his heart of Love. இன்புருவாகி அருளொடும் விளங்கி ...அன்பெனும் குடிசை நுழைந்தனன் (11-27-1). In “Mahādēva Mālai” poem, Grace is spoken of as arising from Bliss (7-5-35) and in “Nataraja Patimalai poem it is said to arise from the manifestation of Sateitananda (11-1-16). அருளருவி வழிந்து வழிந்து ஒழுக ஒங்கும் ஆனந்தத்தனி மலையே (7-5-35). இயற்கையே உண்மையாய் இயற்கையே அறிவாய் இயற்கையே இன்பமாகி அவ்வையின் அனாதியே பாசமிலதாய்ச் சுத்த அருளாகி ... (11-1-16)

“Thus the forms (உருவம்) of Bliss, Grace and Love referred to in the stanza under consideration have no direct relevance to the transformation of the physical body, subtle body and knowledge body. The stanza only means that the said saint realised Bliss through Love and Grace.

“O King who art praised by men of great Tapas as Guru! Thou hast composed in Thy works “Thiruvāchagam” a chapter called “Tiru Andap Pakuti” which is praised by the world as the Veda on the Universal Form. Condescend to reveal the significance of Thy word therein “The Lord has made me exist as a being” என்னையும் இருப்பதாக்கினன் (i.e., the saint realised his true individual self as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine என்னையும் ஒருவன் ஆக்கி 3-179; 4-129).

NOTE: The Swami realised later the very truth of the saint's words (see 1-1-14-5 என்னையும் ஒருவன் என உணரும் எனது தலைவ சரணமே). But the above said passage indicates that at the time Swami Ramalingam composed this song of praise on the saint Manickavasagar, he (the former) had not realised or got established in the Truth-Consciousness nor undergone supramental transformation much less physical transformation at that time. He had not then realised himself as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine.

At this time of the period, the Swami has sung in glory of the well-known four saints of Tamil Nadu of the middle ages namely Jnana Sambandhar, Manickavasagar, Appar and Sundarar. From the Swami's early writings it appears that he took Jnana Sambandhar as the guru of his heart in the early years till he was guided by Grace-Light; but when he got established in the integral Truth-Consciousness of the Truth-World, he found himself to have transcended the experiences and realisations of not only the said four saints but of also many others.

In book of Upadesha under item 36 (p. 36) the Swami observes that the Vedas and Agamas and the philosophers and saints and Mahans in the past had at the most reached up to Guru Turya State only (i.e., a transition state into Supermind the Suddha Siva State), and the realisation of Suddha Siva State proper is possible only in the Suddha Sanmarga.

Further the Swami attained the unique transformation and perfection of a deathless physical body. The spiritual literature of Jnana Sambandhar and Manickavasagar have been amply dealt with in Vol. I under the chapters XIII and XVI.

“O men! In Tiru Cittrambalam (i.e., in a supreme session of the world of Truth-Consciousness i.e., Comprehending Supermind) the supreme and universal Divine is verily one and gives Light to all the first-born gods or powers of being (Shaktar அகர நிலை சத்தர்), to all the goddesses or executive energies of becoming (Shaktis) who are seated in or besides them (the gods), to all the different kinds of worlds formed by them (i.e., by the gods and the goddesses) and to all the bodies and formations of nature-parts of beings in those worlds, to all the states or goals of existence, to all the evolving beings or souls, (Jeevas or Uyir) in the forefront of manifestation who progress by opening themselves to Love (இகரம் உறும் உயிர்), to all the instruments and faculties of nature in them, to all the substances and things, to all the states of experience, to all the kinds of liberation and (finally) to all the kinds of siddhis or states and powers of Knowledge and Perfection which are the crowning fulfilment சிகர முதல் சித்திகள்.

NOTE: The Swami refers to the first creation in which the souls failed to reach the supreme God for want of proper effort on their own part due to the impurity of obscuring ego in them and that a second creation was provided by the Divine for an evolutionary growth of the souls to shed off the obscurity of ego by stages through a series of births and deaths (Vide Prose: “Jeeva Karuniam” p. 106). The first is the descent of souls and also of the gods by involution into Ignorance. The souls reached the last state of the involution when they sank into the Inconscient Darkness. The second is the ascent of souls, by evolution, from out of the Inconscient and this is based on Love to which the souls shall open themselves.

The Swami in an early prose works writes thus:

“In the first creation brought forth by the Grace of the Divine the bound souls due to their ancient impurity of ego failed to take necessary effort to follow the predetermined laws for reaching the divine Nature of Bliss; so (by inference) it is provable that there occurred a second creation in which the said souls have come to take many many bodies and ways of enjoyment (i.e., in and by evolution through a series of births and deaths) because of the different kinds of efforts made by their ancient and impure ego-consciousness (i.e., to evolve themselves through different experiences and enjoyments of life). — (“Jeeva Karunyam” — p. 106).

The Swami knows about the dark void of the Inconscient Darkness (Mahapasha Andhakara) in which the souls were lying in a state of swoon until they got lifted up and led into the cycle of evolution (See “Peru Vinnappam” Prose p. 123).

The said state of swoon would give an idea of the failure of the first creation and the logic for the starting of the second, the evolutionary.

According to Sri Aurobindo the souls who lived once in the Home of Truth Consciousness and Bliss, got attracted by the Shadow of the Divine and descended into an involution of progressive Ignorance until they fell down into the Inconscient Darkness. This is called the descent of involution (corresponding to the said first creation referred to by the Swami) in which gods who are without the principle of soul also came into existence as typical beings with their fixed characters and abodes in their respective worlds. The second creation is the ascent of evolution in which the souls are helped to get from out of the darkness of the Inconscient in which they had sunk, and to get evolved progressively through a series of births until they could reach their present level of evolutionary growth as human beings with a body, life and mind, and beyond it further they shall begin to go through a more divine or supramental evolution which would lead them to a true and perfect blissful life with the powers of transformation and perfection transforming the nature of the mind, life and body so as to provide them with a luminous mind, a life of faultless energies, and a deathless physical body.

The swami in the above stanza of the poem refers to the first-born gods and goddesses in the first creation அகர நிலை சத்தர், சத்திகள் (i.e., by the descent of involution), and to the evolving souls in the second creation இகரம் உறும் உயிர் (i.e., by the ascent of evolution based on Love to which souls can open themselves) and to their highest evolution into a crowning perfection, with a perfect nature and powers of Truth-Knowledge and perfection, called the crowning Siddhi (சிகர முதல் சித்தி).

"Once in the immortal boundlessness of Self
In a vast of Truth and Consciousness and Light
The soul looked out from its felicity . . .
It saw the Eternal, lived in the Infinite.
Then, curious of a shadow thrown by Truth,
It strained towards some otherness of self,
It was drawn to an unknown Face peering through night.
It sensed a negative infinity,
A void supernal whose immense excess
Imitating God and everlasting Time.
Offered a ground for Nature's adverse birth
And Matter's rigid hard unconsciousness
Harbouring the brilliance of a transient soul
That lights up birth and death and ignorant life".

("Savitri" — Bk6 — cto 2 — p. 514-515)

"The space, containing all the lower spaces from the colourful physical etherial space upto the space of Prakriti the Primordial Nature, becomes into the space of Maha Mauna or great Silence in which thoughts are received (i.e., the spiritual Higher Mind Space or generally the Spiritual Mind Space in which Truth-thoughts are received) which then becomes into the harmonising or synthesising Para Veli further beyond (i.e., Para Turya Veli or overmind Space) which in turn becomes into the true biune infinite (Iyal Ubhaya Veli) constituted of the integral unity of both Tat Parama Veli (the spaceless infinity of the supreme Being) and the concentrated Cit Para Veli (the infinitely universal Vastness or Vast Space of the Consciousness - Force)—the biune infinite which is the Vast Heaven of Truth-Knowledge (Peru Veli), becoming (at its high source) the Bliss-Heaven or Bliss - infinity of Grace, (Arul Inbaveli) which is verily the firm by founded, true and supreme infinity of the manifest Sat (Tani Iyarkai Unmai Veli i.e., the supreme Truth - infinity of the infinite and eternal Being). It is Tiru Cittrambalam (i.e., The supreme summit session of Truth-Consciousness or Comprehending Supermind) where the supreme and universal Divine is verily one”.

NOTE:.. In this stanza Sat is said to have manifested and contained the supreme and universal Space of Truth-Consciousness. All the gradations of spaces are said to be held by this Vast Space of Truth-conscious Knowledge (Peru Veli) which is contained by the spaceless infinity within it. In other words The Vast Heaven of Truth (Peru Veli) is verily the biune infinite (Uphaya Veli) constituted of Tat Parama Veli and Cit Para Veli (the nfinity of the supreme Being and the infinitely Vast Space or universal Vastness of Truth - Consciousness). Both are inseparable, biunely one, and they are revealed as such in the planes of Supermind.

Infinity of Existence or of the divine Being as containing the infinitely Vast universal Space of Truth - knowledge is the normal experience. They are spoken of as Veli within Veli or Supreme Veli (Thani Veli) within Peru Veli, or Veru Veli within Veli (I-V-2-30; I-VI-3-8; I-V-3-14). Each implies the other. However it is in the summit supermind that one can possess all the poises of supermind, the whole of the integral Truth - Consciousness, by entering into and possessing or becoming the spaceless infinite of Being which is within the space infinite of Truth - Consciousness, or the supreme Light of Being which is within the Truth - Conscious Light, or the supreme Bliss which is within the manifest Bliss of Truth - Consciousness, (I-V-2-30; I-V-3-15; 12-I-476; 11-21-3). This is clearly brought out also by Tirumoolar in his Tirumantram TM 123 and 124. The infinitely Vast space of Truth - Conscious Knowledge (Peru Veli) within which is the spaceless infinity of Existence (sat) is spoken of at its highest source (i.e., in the summit supermind as opening into Ananda Loka beyond) as the Grace - Space of Bliss or Bliss - infinity of Grace (Arul Inba Veli). Tirumoolar calls it as “Per Inbattu Arul Veli” the Grace - Space of supreme Bliss held in Bliss (TM. 123). Now Grace is a manifestation of Bliss and Space a manifestation of Sat. So Grace - Space of Bliss or Bliss - infinity of Grace is also called by the Swami as the supreme infinity of the manifest Sat (Thani Iyarkai unmai veli). This is the experience in Tiru Cittrambalam, the supreme session of the supermind. Now we quote Tirumantrams 123 and 124.

“The Supreme Divine has given me the realisation of His Feet of Play as in the Truth-world of Knowledge (Tiru Manru, the apprehending supermind). He has given me too the Grace - Space of the supreme Bliss or Bliss-infinity of Grace (i.e., the comprehending or summit supermind).”—TM 123.

Now in the next Mantra Tirumoolar explains this high realisation as “the state where the supreme Grace - Space of Bliss, which is the vast universal Space, is contained by the spaceless infinity within it (i.e., manifest Sat is contained by the original Sat), the manifest Bliss by the original Bliss within it, and the manifest Light by the supreme Light within it, (i.e., manifest cit is contained by the original cit, Light being a self-determination of Cit), and those who have realised this state are verily known as Siva Siddhars” -- TM 124. (See for Tamil Text under stz. 4 following). See also notes on stz. 4 of this poem and notes on stzs. 11-22-10 and also notes in ch. V (S. no. 109 of this vol.) under the head “Peru Veli: Vyapaka Vyapya and Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya”. Compare also with Sri Aurobindo’s “Double-infinite”.

“Behind that immeasurable extension (i.e., Cit Para Veli) the gnostic consciousness is always aware of a spaceless inner infinite (i.e., Tat Para Veli). It is through this double infinite (i.e., Ubhaya Veli) that we shall arrive at the essential being of Sachidananda, the highest self of our own being and the totality of our cosmic existence” - (Sri Aurobindo’s “Synthesis of Yoga” - p. 561; corresponding words of the Swami are inserted within brackets).

“The gnostic Purusha has normally the consciousness of itself as infinite, normally too the consciousness of containing the world in itself and exceeding it”—Synthesis of yoga p. 558.

In stanza 7, the supreme and universal Space is said to have pervaded all the beings and substances, all the worlds and bodies and things. In stz. 8, the Sat of the foundational unity (i.e., Sat as the supreme and universal Being) is mentioned (ஓர் தரு சத்மாத்திரம்) and this becomes the manifest Sat (called Iyarkai Unnmai) taking the form of space and substance of beings and worlds. (Stz. 2).

“The conscious force of manifestation, bringing out the manifesting forces of nature such as the physical nature, modes of Prakriti the primordial nature, and the nature of tatvas etc., becomes into the purer or more directly operating conscious force of Nature or Shakti called Parai (i.e., of the Spiritual Mind Range) which then becomes into the stable or permanent conscious force of Nature or Shakti called Parāparai (i.e., of the overmind gnosis) which becomes in turn into the great Will (or divine Desire) in the inner and outer levels of existence, which is the pure and infinitely Vast Conscious-Force of Truth (Suddha Peru Viḷakkam சுத்த விளக்கமதாம் பெரு விளக்கம்) and which (at its high source of summit supermind) becomes the Consciousness-Force of supreme Cit of Manifestation (Iyarkai Viḷakkam இயற்கை விளக்கம்) manifesting all in harmony in Tiru Cittrambalam (a supreme session of supermind) where the supreme and Universal Lord is verily one”.

NOTE: In this stanza the lower Nature and the nature of tatvas, and the cosmic and overmind Maha Shaktis are realised as forms of the manifest Consciousness-Force of Brahman (i.e., of the manifest Cit called Iyarkai Viḷakkam இயற்கை விளக்கம்) as manifest in the summit poise of Truth-World. Elsewhere the Swami refers to the manifestation of Conscious Force as “Cittu” (சித்து என்னும் விளக்கம்). In stz. 9 the supreme Cit of Consciousness-Force (உரவு உறு சித் மாத்நிரம்) is referred to.

“The joy of manifestation, manifesting the pleasure of the dominating senses, happiness of the instruments and faculties of mind, pleasures of the material world, and joy of the vital life etc., becomes into the ever-lasting soul's joy which (successively) becomes into the happy felicity of the consciousness of knowledge, the true self-existent and permanent (static) Bliss of the liberated self in self-knowledge, which bliss in turn becomes into the matchless dynamic delight of Sat by realisation of the Self with Cosmic Consciousness (நடம் பெறு நிரதிசய இன்பம்) and leads into a highest Bliss, the all-ruling Bliss of enjoyment of the infinitely Vast World of Knowledge-Will, (Jnāna Siddhi Perum Bhōga Nādu) twchich (at its high source of the summit supermind) becomes the firmly based Bliss of Manifestation in Tiru Cittrambalam (a supreme session of Truth-Consciousness) where the supreme and Universal Lord is verily one”.

NOTE: In stzs. 2 to 4, Peru Veli, Peru Villakkam and Perum Bhoga Inbam i.e., the supramental Vastness of Space, Conscious-Force and Bliss in the lower and greater supermind (i.e. in its tertiary and apprehending planes) are subtly distinguished from their respective high sources, as in the summit supermind namely Iyarkai Unmai, Iyarkai Villakkam and Iyarkai Inbam i.e., the manifest Sat, manifest Cit and manifest Bliss which are founded on the original Truths of Sat, Cit and Ananda (stzs. 8, 9 and 10). Tirumoolar in his Tirumantram refers to the summit supermind in Mantras 123 and 124 as “Per Inbattu Arul Veli”, the supreme Grace-Space of Bliss where, as the Vast universal Grace-Space it is contained by the spaceless infinity within it (i. e. Manifest Sat is contained by the original Sat), the Manifest Bliss by the original Bliss within it, and the Manifest Light by the supreme Light within it (i.e. Manifest Cit is contained by the original Cit, Light being a self-determination or self-formation of Cit). Those who have realised this state are known as Siva Siddhars.”

Though stzs. 2 to 4 refer to manifestation of the Divine as the manifest Sat, Cit and Inbam respectively, each implies the other two principles also. Now coming more particularly to stanza 4 we find that all and everything are realised as forms of ‘Inbam’ the manifest Bliss (இயற்கை இன்பம்) of the Brahman as manifest in the Truth-World. This stanza has to be distinguished from stz. 10 where also all and everything are described as forms of Ananda which term signifies the integrally manifest triune Satcitananda. Thus the supreme or first session of supermind is clearly indicated in stz. 10 because the three principles of Sat, Cit and Ananda integrate as the manifest Satcitanands. (Iyanra or Iyal Satcitananda இயன்ற சச்சிதானந்தம், அதாவது இயற்கை உண்மை இயற்கை விளக்கம் இயற்கை இன்பம், அல்லது இயல் உண்மை அறிவு இன்பம்.). Stanza 10 also refers to the supreme Ananda of Brahman as Suddha Sivananda, i.e. the one indivisible Satcitananda.

In regard to the Truth-World as a term of the unity of the Divine in His Being, Knowledge, Will and Bliss referred to in the above stanza 4 (Jnana Siddhi Perum Bhoga Nadu Arasu Inbam Deivam Onru), we give the following quotations from Sri Aurobindo :

“In the gnosis, Sachidananda gathers up the light of his unseizable existence and pours it out on the soul in the shape and power of a divine knowledge, a divine will and a divine bliss of existence” - “The Synthesis of Yoga” - p. 553).

“In Supermind being, consciousness of knowledge and consciousness of will are not divided as they seem to be in our mental operations; they are a trinity, one movement with three effective aspects. Each has its own effect. Being gives the effect of substance, consciousness the effect of knowledge, of the self-guiding and shaping idea, of comprehension and apprehension, will gives the effect of self-fulfilling force. But the idea is only the light of the reality illumining itself: it is not mental thought nor imagination, but effective self-awareness, It is Real Idea” (“Life Divine” p. 121).

“O men! It is the one Divine of Tiru Cittrambalam (the sky of divine Truth-Consciousness in its Comprehending session) who is all-Constituting, all-possessing and all-achieving and yet transcends beyond all (i.e., He is the All and yet beyond the Universal All-existence). He is the one Divine who is beyond the grasp of the mind of knowledge, beyond the description of words and sense, and beyond any measurement by whatever dimension firmly known but becomes identified wholly as Itself or Himself in self-identity (அது அதுவாய்) with those mighty souls who have crossed into the (true) Transcendence and, if they begin to regard Him by mind, eludes them too by becoming the subtlest of the subtle, the largest of the large and the smallest of the small which atom too cannot reach and enter in."

NOTE: In this stanza, the Swami gives the nature of the integral experience of the Divine as in the Comprehending Supermind which is all-constituting, all-possessing and all-achieving and yet at once beyond the universal All-Existence. Sri Aurobindo too describes thus:

"this first and primary poise of the supermind is an equal self-extension of Sachidananda all-comprehending, all-possessing and all-constituting" (Sri Aurobindo's "Life Divine" p. 135).

Stz. 6 mentions the all-comprehending Knowledge of Truth-Consciousness. Stanza 7 also mentions the all-constituting, all-containing and all-pervading and all-achieving Nature of the Truth-Consciousness.

"He has become the tireless great knowledge, then the knowledge of that knowledge—the inner knowledge— then further the Knowledge within the said inner knowledge, which is of the Nature of the supreme sleepless Truth-Knowledge of the manifestation (இயற்கை உண்மைத் தனி அறிவு i. e., all-Comprehending Knowledge of Truth-Consciousness). He is the support of all the existing phenomenal or mentally constructed artificial knowledge (i.e., objective knowledge), the basic support that removes sorrows and sufferings, the foundation of that basic support; and in the farthest state of Transcendence (i.e., in the summit supermind), He has become the Suddha Siva State, the pure and supreme State of Truth-Consciousness. O men! In the high-seated Cittrambalam the supreme and universal Divine has become verily One and as the All".

NOTE: In this stanza all and everything are realised as the forms of an all-comprehending supreme knowledge as manifest in the Truth-World (இயற்கை உண்மைத் தனி அறிவு). In stz. 3, all are realised as forms of Consciousness-Force of Truth. In stz. 9, Cit the supreme and original Consciousness-Force is referred to உரவு உறு சித் மாத்திரம்.

(i.e., all-constituting), the all-containing continent or container containing all that could be contained and yet having room or space to contain still more and illimitably, (i.e., all-containing or all-possessing), the Transcendent infinite Vastness transcending all the finite spaces, (i.e., the supramental Vastness, the transcendent and universal Vastness) and, the Supreme infinity (Thani Veli) of the transcendent and universal Vastness (i.e., the spaceless infinity containing the Vast space of Truth) in the farthest beyond (i.e., in the summit supermind) which is the luminous Sky of Tiru Cittrambalam where the supreme and universal Divine is verily One”.

NOTE: This stanza mentions again as in stanza 5, the all-becoming, all-pervading, all-containing and all-achieving Nature of the One Divine of the Truth-World.

“He is the one Divine Being in and as the forms of tatvas, the principles and powers of existence, from the five elements namely earth, water, fire, air, ether upto the principle of nada, in and as the cause of tatvas, the first causal source of that cause (i. e., the overmind source), the final cause of the said causal source (i. e. the world of Truth, the Supermind), the foundation of the said final cause which is the supreme integral and eternal Truth-Consciousness (i.e., summit supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka beyond), beyond all gunas and yet the becoming of all gunas of the consciousness-force (Nirguna Citguna); He is verily the foundational unity of Sat the supreme Existence in Tiru Cittrambalam (the supreme session of Truth-Consciousness) where He is verily one”.

NOTE: Sat Matra is not here the static and exclusive principle of Existence, but the supreme and universal Sat of unity which is at once Nirguna and Cit guna of Truth-Consciousness. (“Poorana Nitya Satya Nirguna Citguna Sat Matra”).

Sat the Divine existence is here referred to as the Unity of the all-constituting basic Substance in and of all tatvas or principles. Sat has become the spaceless Infinite containing Peru Veli the Vast Space of Truth-Knowledge and through It all the spaces (see stanza 2). It has become the all-pervading infinity of Being filling all the worlds, beings and things (see stz. 7). Thus, Sat has become the beings, space and substance of the worlds. It is the One, the Omnipresent, and exceeds them and the universe.

“O men! It is one and the same supremé Divine of Tiru Cittrambalam the supreme session of Truth-Consciousness which is verily the supreme Force of Cit possessing all-comprehending Knowledge based on divine Self-Knowledge (உரவு உறு சித்; உரவு-வலிமை, அறிவு uravu uru cit matra the supreme Consciousness-Force) and is verily the supreme Light of the infinitely vast universal Light—the vast universal Light (i.e., the supramental Light) which is all-pervading and without beginning nor end and fills and unites all the inmost, inner, outer and outer-most levels of the innumerable multitudes of existences, beings, bodies and worlds and all other objects and things and the luminous bodies such as sun, moon and stars, all of which are one small part or aspect of His Supreme Existence”.

NOTES: (1) In this stanza the Light of Light (elsewhere referred to as Light within Light “Joti yut Joti”) i.e., the supreme Light of Being within the Vast Universal Light of Knowledge is referred to. The Supreme Light of the Supreme Being (Tat Joti) within the manifest universal Light of Consciousness - Force (Cit Joti) integrally constitute what is known as the Supramental Light (Cidambara Joti). One implies the other. Tat Joti implies Cit Joti and vice versa. They are inseparable.

(2) Cit matra referred to in this stanza is not here the static and exclusive principle of consciousness, but the supreme and universal Consciousness - Force (uravu uru citmatra or cin matra உரவு உறு சித் மாத்திரம் அல்லது சின் மாத்திரம்) as manifest in the Truth-world. This Consciousness - Force (stz. 9) has become in manifestation the Truth - Consciousness of Knowledge (stz. 6) and the Conscious Force or Will of Knowledge (stz. 3). “Uravu” signifies not only Knowledge but also Force of Knowledge.

“The strong ananda of the senses, the ananda of tatvas, the ananda of the orderly discipline of yoga, the invaluable ananda of knowledge (Jnanānādam), the ananda of the boon-receiving soul (anma ananda), the infinite ananda of the Brahman (in self-knowledge), the (harmonising) unity of ananda (Eka ananda) which along with the ananda of Peace (Śānta ananda) makes the (overhead) ascent possible, the non-dual Ananda of Unity (Adwaitananda), the manifestation of the triune Satcitananda (Iyanra or Iyal Satcitananda இயன்ற சச்சிதானந்தம் அல்லது இயல் சுத் சித் ஆனந்தம், அதாவது இயற்கை உண்மை இயற்கை விளக்கம் இயற்கை இன்பம், அல்லது இயல் உண்மை அறிவு இன்பம்) i.e., as the manifest Universal Satcitananda of the Truth-World, the Suddha Sivananda the pure and supreme Ananda of the Supreme Being (i.e., the one indivisible Satcitananda within the one triune manifest and harmonious Satcitananda) having its source in Samarasa Ananda Sabha the supreme summit-session of Truth Consciousness (as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above) where the Supreme and Universal Divine is verily one”.

NOTES: In this stanza all and everything are experienced as forms of manifestation of Ananda which here implies the triune Satcitananda (Iyanra or Iyal Satcitananda).

The Swami refers to the triune Satcitananda by the simple term of Ananda which is to be distinguished from "Inbam", (see stz. 3) which signifies Bliss as one principle of manifestation.

"The non-dual unity of Ananda (Adwaitananda)" referred to in the above stanza has got its special significance because of the context. It means a unity of Ananda which is neither one nor two, but in between one and two, as one-in-one and Two-in-one of the supramental Truth-world.

Further in stz. 10, Suddha Sivananda, the Supreme Ananda of the supreme Being (i.e., the one indivisible Satcitananda) is also mentioned and this has to be distinguished from the universally manifest triune Satcitananda (Iyanra or Iyal Satcitananda). Thus the Swami refers to the Supreme session of the Truth world where the one and indivisible Satcitananda becomes and contains in itself the triunely manifest Satcitananda. The Swami calls this highest session as Samarasa Ananda Sabha or Suddha Sivananda Sabha. Stz. 10 clearly establishes the Swami's integral realisation of the Truth-Consciousness at its highest source.

According to stz. 10, the Swami experiences the whole universal manifestation by becoming one with the Supreme Being. Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passage:

"For the supramental knowledge is the play of a Supreme Light But to command or wholly possess it we must first enter into and become the being of the Supreme Light" - (Synthesis of Yoga, p. 561 - 562)

“He is by Nature, free from the binding attachments, beyond gunas or qualities, beyond tatvas or principles and powers of existence, beyond the phenomena of artificiality, beyond birth and death and modifications, beyond and free from defects, imperfections and evil, beyond desire and demand due to attraction by sense of wonder and beyond desirelessness as well. He is verily the Truth that has become Truth மெய்யே மெய் யாகி the omnipresent and all-pervasive Bliss of existence (i.e., as universal self-extension in Bliss.). O men! In Suddha Sivananda Sabha the pure and supreme session of the supreme Bliss of Truth-Consciousness (i.e. Summit Supermind) which gives a life of Bliss, the Supreme and Universal Divine is verily one”.

NOTE: In this stanza Swami Ramalingam describes the summit supermind as a session or poise where the infinite and eternal Truth of Reality, the one indivisible Satcitananda, has become the Truth of the triune Satcitananda in universal self-extension or manifestation. This is spoken of as Truth becoming Truth மெய்யே மெய்யாகி. So this session is the summit supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above. In stz. 10, it is spoken of as Samarasa Ananda Sabha of Suddha Sivananda, the session of absolute integral Harmony of the pure and supreme Truth of Satcitananda.

“He is neither one nor two (i.e., not limited to oneness nor to twoness or manyness) but has become one-two (i.e., state between one and two namely as one-in-one and two-in-one or many-in-one, i.e., the states of comprehending and apprehending supermind. cf: Swami's terms ஒன்றில் ஒன்று, ஒன்றின் இரண்டு “one-in-one, two of one” — Joti Agaval stz. 438). He is not form nor formlessness (i.e., not limited to form nor to formlessness) but is form-formlessness. He was in the past, is in the present and will exist for ever. He is without beginning and end. He is the unique God of Vast Light. He ever manifests in the inner intelligence and the outer mind as flaming Light. He is not this or that (i.e. He is not limited to any particular being or thing). He is everything. He is the All (all beings and things). yet He is not the All (i.e. He is the All and yet transcends allness). He is the One and as the All. In Tiru Citrambalam (i.e., in the Supreme World or session of Truth - Consciousness) the supreme and universal Divine is verily One”.

NOTE: This stanza explains the nature of the supramental Divine who possess the unity of All-existence. The supramental Divine is distinguished here from the absolute unity of the infinite and eternal Satcitananda, the indivisible one, as well as from the lower existence of the cosmic Ignorance which is a field of duality or twoness. But Supermind the Sky or world of Truth-Consciousness (Tiru Citrambalam) links up the two existences by occupying a middle position as one-two, i.e., having states of existence between one and two, i.e., as one-in-one and two-in-one, as in Cit Sabha and Por Sabha, the comprehending and apprehending sessions of Supermind.

TIRU CITTRAMBALA (OR CIT AMBALA) DEIVA MAṆI MĀLAI (Bk 10-II-2)

Summary of the poem and comparison :

This poem gives the Swami's first established experience or realisation of the world of Truth-Consciousness. It is one and the same Divine that is experienced, i.e., the Divine who has become integrally manifest in Tiru Cittrambalam the Comprehending supermind or supermind proper. Stanzas 1,5,6,7 & 13 more clearly refer to the comprehending supermind proper i.e., Tiru Cittrambalam in which the Divine is realised in its integral poise as all-constituting, all-containing or all-possessing, all-achieving and all-comprehending.

Stanzas 2,3, & 4 give the experience of One and the same Divine of Tiru Cittrambalam the Comprehending Supermind in as much as the entire manifestation of the worlds, beings and tatvas or principles are experienced as the manifest Sat of the Brahman (இயற்கை உண்மை) in the form of supreme and universal space (இயற்கை உண்மை வெளி), as the manifest Cit of the Brahman (இயற்கை விளக்கம்) in the form of Conscious Force or Shakti, and as the manifest Ananda of the Brahman which is called "Inbam" (இயற்கை இன்பம்).

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages:

"But to a supermind cognition these three (i.e., Sat, Cit and Ananda) are always an inseparable Trinity, even though one can stand in front of the others and manifest its own spiritual determinates; for each has its primal aspects or its inherent self-formations, but all of these together are original to the triune Absolute"—("Life Divine"—p 286).

"Obviously, these three poises (i.e. Comprehending, apprehending and tertiary poises of Supermind) would be only different ways of dealing with the same Truth; the Truth of existence enjoyed would be the same, the way of enjoying it or rather the poise of the soul in enjoying it would be different" — ("Life Divine" — p 137).

Again stanzas 8, 9 and 10 give the experience of One and the same Divine of Tiru Cittrambalam as in the Comprehending supermind proper in as much as the whole and entire manifestation of the worlds, beings and things are experienced as the Sat of the foundational unity (ஓர் தரு சத் மாத்திரம்) as the Cit of Consciousness—Force (உரவு உறு சித் மாத்திரம்) and as the Ananda of the Brahman i.e., as the triune Satcitananda in manifestation (இயன்ற சச்சிதானந்தம்).

Stanza 10 also refers to the supreme Ananda of the supreme Being called Suddha Sivananda which is the supreme Satcitananda, the one and indivisible Brahman (சுத்த சிவானந்தம்; சுத்த சிவானந்த ஊற்றமதாம் சமரச ஆனந்த சபை).

Thus stanzas 8, 9 and 10 refer to the Swami's integral experience of the one indivisible and supreme Satcitananda which issues forth into an universal self-extension and manifestation as the triune Satcitananda. So this experience is characteristic of the summit session of supermind where the Satcitananda is integral in its supreme Poise of Tat Param becoming at the same time the universal manifestation of triune Satcitananda in itself. This is again emphasised in stz. 12 by a short and simple statement that Truth has become truth. This session is called Samarasa Ananda Sabha or Suddha Sivananda Sabha in stzs. 10 & 12.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages:

“For the Supramental Knowledge is the play of a supreme light;... But to command or wholly possess it we must first enter into and become the being of the Supreme Light, our consciousness must be transformed into that consciousness, its principle and power of self-awareness and all-awareness by identity must be the very stuff of our existence” — The Synthesis of Yoga— p. 561—562).

“Supermind is the vast self-extension of the Brahman that contains and develops. By the Idea it develops the triune principle of existence, consciousness and bliss out of their indivisible unity. It differentiates them, but it does not divide. It establishes a Trinity, not arriving like the Mind from the three to the One, but manifesting the three out of the One—for it manifests and develops—and yet maintaining them in the unity—for it knows and contains. By the differentiation it is able to bring forward one or other of them as the effective Deity which contains the others involved or explicit in itself and this process it makes the foundation of all other differentiation” (Life Divine, p. 120).

The Unity of the manifestation is spoken of in all the stanzas and more particularly in stanzas 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12 & 13. The summit Supermind which leads and open into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above, is called Samarasa Ananda Sabha or Suddha Sivananda Sabha (see stanzas 10 & 12) or Samarasa Satya Sabha (Joti Agaval stz. 777) and in the summit supermind the Divine is described integrally both as Suddha Sivananda, and as the manifest triune Satcitananda சுத்த சிவானந்தம், இயன்ற சச்சிதானந்தம் — stz. 10, i.e., as supreme Satcitananda and as the manifest universal Satchitananda), as the Truth of the Supreme Reality becoming the Truth of manifestation, மெய்யே மெய்யாகி (stz. 12, i.e. as Supreme Truth and as the manifest Truth), as the One and as the All (stz. 13 யாவும் ஒன்று தாம் ஆகி), and at once as Nirguna and as Citguna (stz. 8), and as Light of Light or Light within Light, i.e. Supreme Light of Being within the manifest Light of Cit (stz. 9).

The above poem may be also understood in the back-ground of the Swami's "Satya Jnana Vinnappam" (an address of prayer to the Lord of Truth-Consciousness) where he describes the Knowledge-Powers, as in the lower and higher gradations of the supramental world அடி நிலை ஞான சித்தி முடி நிலை ஞான சித்தி, (i.e., within the range of its lower field Adi Nilai or the tertiary supermind called Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha and in its higher or greater field Mudi Nilai i.e., the second poise which is the apprehending supermind or the greater Supermind or Por Sabha proper) by which the Divine is experienced, that is to say, whatever is experienced of the Divine as Knowledge by identity of beings and things (Jnana proper i.e., as Atma Jnana and Tatva jnana), as Knowledge by vision (Yoga Jnana), and as Knowledge by intuition and inspiration of ideas, feelings, sense and words etc. fulfilling in inspired arts, sciences and actions (Karma Jnana), is so experienced in identity with Sat or Cit or Ananda of the Divine as the case may be அது அதுவாய் நிறைந்தும் அது அதுவாய் விளங்கியும் அது அதுவாய் இனித்தும் and in the higher reaches, (i.e., in the higher level of apprehending supermind) as combinations of Sat, Cit and Ananda அதீதமாகிக் கலந்தும்.

In the Suddha Jnana State (i.e., of the Comprehending Supermind or Cit Sabha சுத்த ஞான சித்தி நிலை) the three principles of Sat, Cit and Ananda and all these states of Knowledge by identity, by vision and by intuitive inspiration and actions integrate in and as the triune principle of Satcitananda in manifestation (இவை அனைத்துமாகி ஒருமித்தும்) which is based on the supreme unity of the one indivisible Satcitananda, and in the Samarasa Suddha Jnana State (i.e., in the summit supermind as opening into the Ananda Loka above சமரச சுத்த ஞான சித்தி நிலை) there is an absolute integration of all the poises and states of the Divine and one enters into and possess or become the one indivisible infinite and eternal Satcitananda as containing all and yet transcending all.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages:

"The gnostic (vijnānamaya) being is in its character a truth-consciousness, a centre and circumference of the truth-vision of things, a massed movement or subtle body of gnosis. Its action is a self-fulfilling and radiating action of the truth-power of things according to the inner law of their deepest truest self and nature" - The synthesis of Yoga, p. 557-558.

"The gnostic purusha has normally the consciousness of itself as infinite, normally too the Consciousness of containing the world in itself and exceeding it ..." The synthesis of Yoga — p. 558.

"Here the one thing that is always and constantly present, that which one has grown to and in which one lives always, is infinite being and all that is, is seen, felt, known, existed in as only substance of the one being; (அது அதுவாய் நிறைந்தும் identity with Sat); it is infinite consciousness and all that is conscious and acts and moves is seen, felt, received, known, lived in as self-experience and energy of the one being (அது அதுவாய் விளங்கியும் identity with Cit); it is infinite Ananda and all that feels and is felt, is seen and felt and known, received and lived in as forms of the one Ananda (அது அதுவாய் இனித்தும் identity with Ananda). Every thing else is only manifestation and circumstance of this one truth of our existence. This is no longer merely the seeing or knowing, but the very condition of the self in all and all in the self, God in all and all in God and all seen as God (இவை அனைத்துமாகி ஒருமித்தும் அதீதமாகித் தனித்தும் வயங்குகின்ற கடவுளே identity with Sat-Cit-Ananda) and that condition is now not a thing offered to the reflecting spiritualised mind but held and lived by an integral, always present, always active realisation in the supramental nature" (the synthesis of Yoga — p. 939. Swami's corresponding words are shown within brackets).

அடிநிலைக் கரும ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும் முடிநிலைக் கரும ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும் அடிநிலையோக ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும் முடிநிலையோக ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும் அடிநிலைத் தத்துவ ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும் முடிநிலைத் தத்துவ ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும், சுத்த ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும், சமரச சுத்த ஞான சித்தி அனுபவங்களினும், அது அதுவாகி நிறைந்தும் அது அதுவாகி விளங்கியும் அது அதுவாகி இனித்தும், ஆங்காங்கு அதீதமாகிக் கலந்தும், இவை அனைத்துமாகி ஒருமித்தும், அதீதாதீதமாகித் தனித்தும் வயங்குகின்ற பெருங்கருணைப் பெரும் பதியாய் கடவுளே.

“O Supreme Divine! O Lord of infinite Compassion!. Thou art the One who is experienced in identity as the infinite Being, as Consciousness - Force, as Bliss அது அதுவாகி நிறைந்தும், அது அதுவாகி விளங்கியும், அது அதுவாகி இனித்தும் and here and there (i.e., in the respective gradations of the Truth - World i.e., in the lower and higher Por Sabha) as a combination of these (i.e., among the three principles of Satcitananda) and in the farther gradation (i.e. in Cit Sabha the comprehending supermind) even as the integral unity of being, consciousness-force and bliss (i.e. as the triune Satcitananda) ஆங்காங்கு அதீதமாகிக் கலந்தும் இவையனைத்துமாகி ஒருமித்தும் and in the farthest (i.e. Samarasa Satya Sabha or Suddha Sivananda Sabha the summit Supermind) as the Supreme beyond all descriptions அதீதாதீதமாகித் தனித்தும், such experiences of identity being had in and by the Knowledge-Powers called Karma Jnana Siddhi, Yoga Jnana Siddhi, Tatva Jnana Siddhi and Anma Jnana Siddhi (the last two siddhis, i.e., Knowledge of beings, and Knowledge of things or tatvas the principles come more properly under Jnana Siddhi proper) realised correspondingly both in the lower and higher gradations (i.e., of the World of Truth-Knowledge, the Supermind in its tertiary and apprehending poises, i.e. Por Sabha, Lower and Higher Adi Nilai and Mudi Nilai அடிநிலையும் முடிநிலையும்; பொன்னம் பலமும் ஆணிப் பொன்னம்பலமும்; பொற்சபையும் பெரிய பொற்சபையும் - See Chart III in Vol. I) and in and by the Knowledge-Powers called “Suddha Jnana Siddhi”, the pure Knowledge-Power proper (i.e., in Cit Sabha the Comprehending Supermind of Suddha Jnana) and “Samarasa Suddha Jnana Siddhi”, the integral and pure Knowledge-Power, (i.e., in Suddha Sivananda Sabha the summit of Supermind, as opening into Ananda Loka above, where is obtained the integral possession of all the poises or gradations of Supermind giving also the highest and absolute integration of all Siddhis). Thou art one and the same Divine who art the Cause—essential, instrumental and operative—of and for all the great godheads and the great goddesses, gods and their female energies (deva-s and devi-s, shakti-s and shaktar-s, moorti-s and moortar-s), male powers of being and their female executive energies, all seekers and the realised, all beings, all principles of existence tatvas, all substances and objects, all qualities, all actions, all experiences, and all other things and yet art beyond all these. If this is the graceful Nature of Thy Divine Presence of Being in manifestation இயற்கைத் திருவருட் சமூகம் இருந்த வண்ணம் thus known, how can Thy Supreme State of Existence இயற்கை திருவண்ணம் be known at all! be known at all! O Supreme Being of infinite Compassion! ... I affirm in salutation to Thee my privilege to express to the best of my capacity, knowledge, thought and words of prayer on the otherwise inexpressible Nature of Thy Presence and Supreme state of Existence" - (Satya Jnana Vinnappam Prose, p. 133-134).

The following quotations from Sri Aurobindo aptly illumine the above passage of the Swami. For the sake of a clearer understanding Swami's words are shown in brackets.

"A Supramental consciousness must be fundamentally a Truth-Consciousness (Satya Jnana), a direct and inherent awareness of the truth of being (Atma Jnana) and the truth of things (Tatva Jnana)..... The evolved gnostic being (i.e., the supramental being) would have entered into this truth-consciousness of the Infinite and Universal and it would be that which determine for him and in him all his individual seeing (Yoga Jnana) and action (Karma Jnana). His would be a consciousness of universal identity and a consequent or rather inherent Truth-Knowledge (i.e. Jnana proper with Atma Jnana of beings and Tatva Jnana of things), Truth-sight (Yoga Jnana), Truth-feeling, Truth-will, Truth-sense and Truth-dynamis of action (Karma Jnana by and through intuition and inspiration of idea, thought, feeling, will, sense, word, etc., of Truth urging and fulfilling into actions of Truth) implied in his identity with the One or spontaneously arising from his identity with the All... For in the gnostic Truth-Consciousness of a supramental being there must be a truth of relation of all the parts and movements of the being"—(Life Divine—American Edition, p. 891).

EXPLANATORY NOTE ON (STZ. 11 OF 10—II—2): ON COMMON DETAILS OF EACH TATVA :

We reproduce here the stanza 11 of the Poem and give the following explanatory note thereon.

“O men! It is one and the same Divine of the blissful Suddha Sivananda Sabha (the supreme summit-session of the pure and supreme Ananda of Truth-Consciousness) who has become Himself all the instruments and faculties, sub-instruments and sub-faculties (of knowledge and action) and the causal and over-causal instrumentations of knowledge and action (kāraṇa, adhikarāṇa) with their constituents or composing elements (மிகுத்த உறுப்பு) and the long process of time and all other predetermined things (in the chain of cause and effect) for the purpose of manifesting the essential form and mould of substances for all the predetermined beings and things, (பொருள்களுக்கும் வடிவம் swarupa) the many qualities and features of form and nature (Rupa and swabhava and guna), the many functions of consciousness such as penetrating within and returning with the contents of what is penetrated புகுதலும் புகுத்தலுறலும். He also transcends beyond all these (i.e., chain of cause and effect, instrumentations and faculties etc.)”.

In this stanza the Swami explains in short the fundamental creative process of causation (i.e., the chain of cause and effect), through the efficient, instrumental and effectuating causes or causal sources of knowledge and action, showing the imperatives, possibilities and actualities of the original predetermined truth or truths (வகுத்த உண்மை, சாத்யங்கள், சாதனைகள்) of beings and things and tatvas in their form, essential form and essential nature (rupa Swarupa Swabhava) and modes of conscious penetration into other beings and things for a spontaneous knowledge and action (புகுதல் புகுத்தலுறல்).

There is an elaboration by the Swami for each tatva or category of principle or truth in his book of Vyakhyana under the Chapter of “The gradations of Tatva Lokas” (See Chapter I under S.No. 99 and Chart 20) giving all the necessary details, development and workings of the tatva within the field of the overmind Power, which are given below, though its pure and supramental development and working is dealt with under another Chapter, i.e. “Kāranāteeta Loka” (see Chapter V under S.No. 109) the super-causal world (Cf: “Tatva Tatvika Layōdaya Suddha Jnāna Pratyāksha loka”, p. 138 Book of Vyakhyana). The details are: its rūpa, swarūpa, swabhāva, i.e., form, essential form and essential nature; scope and field of its pervading extension and immanence, Vyāpaka and Vyāpti; general and special characteristics, guṇa and viśeṣha; its letter of seed-sound, varṇa; the will of its operative truth, bhāva; its special or particular manifestation (viśeṣha) due to the higher and purer forces proper to the higher worlds, Paratva பரத்துவ i.e., the Summit Overmind range; its lower and general manifestations (Sāmānya) due to the counterparts of the said higher and purer forces as operating in the Overmind and Spiritual Mind and through them in the lower worlds, அபரத்துவ aparatva; its instrumental causes, general and special, நிமித்த காரணங்கள் (adhishtāna nimitta and adhishtāna nimitta viśēsha) for its possibilities of development (Sādhya) and actualities (Sādhaka or Sādhana) in the triple ways of manifestation namely udbhava, adhikāra and laya, i.e., the creation, maintenance and dissolution or involution (birth, operative function and the return) with the further processes of development under each of the said three ways until finally it gets actualised or is helped and inspired and impelled towards actualisation (Upakāra Prēraka) in the lower world of terrestrial nature. The said further processes are (1) Adhikaraṇa, (2) Karaṇa, (3) Kāla, (4) Kanma, i.e. Karma (or kalā), (5) Upakāra and finally (6) Upakāra Prēraka—i.e., (i) higher instrumentation and (ii) ordinary instrumentation for the purpose of knowledge and action, i.e., source and springs of thought, feelings and actions, (iii) time factor (iv) motive force of executive action, (v) helping force towards actualisation, Upakāra Shakti துணைக் காரணம் and (vi) the actualisation towards which it is so inspired and helped, Upakāra Prēraka Shakti. Each process and development from rupa, swarupa and svabhava stages upto Upakara Prēraka stage or actualisation of a tatva, is termed as a form of shakti or energy.

Thus, taking into consideration both the chapters “Tatva Lokas” and “Karanateeta Lokas”, we see a gradation from the imperative predetermined truth of a thing or principle (tatva வகுத்த உண்மை Vagutta unmai) in its fundamental or original form and essence and nature (rupa, svarupa, svabhava as manifested in the Truth-World, cf: “Tatva Tatvika layodaya Suddha Jnana Pratyaksha Loka” — See closing item No. 4 in “Karanateeta Loka”) upto the stage of passing towards or into actualisation in the conditions of physical world through a number of possibilities in the intervening stages in which the higher and purer forces and their counterparts respectively operate in and through the higher and lower worlds, Para and apara (i.e., in the summit overmind range on the one hand (Para) and below it in the overmind and spiritual mind ranges, and through them in the cosmic, subliminal, subconscious and physical worlds on the other (apara).

Sri Aurobindo points out the significance of the power and act of penetration and returning with the contents of what is penetrated புகுதல் புகுத்தலுறல் in regard to the subliminal or inner being of man ("Life Divine, p. 480). However, it may be noted that this power is derived in its origin from the world of the Supermind (Life Divine, p. 488-489)

"But more important is the power of the subliminal to enter into a direct contact of consciousness with other consciousness or with objects... even by a close envelopment and intimate penetration புகுதல் and a return with what is enveloped or penetrated புகுத்தலுறல் ... It is by these means (புகுதல் புகுத்தலுறல் முதற் பலவாம் செயல்கள்) that the inner being achieves an immediate, intimate and accurate spontaneous knowledge of persons, of objects, of the occult and to us intangible energies of World-Nature that surrounds us and impinges upon our own personality, physicality, mind-force and life-force" (Life Divine, p. 480).

"But when the subject draws a little back from itself as object, then certain tertiary powers of Spiritual Knowledge, of knowledge by identity (i.e., the supramental knowledge) take their first origin. There is a spiritual intimate vision, a spiritual pervasive entry and penetration (புகுதல்), a spiritual feeling in which one sees all as oneself, feels all as oneself, contacts all as oneself. There is a power of spiritual perception of the object and all that it contains or is perceived in an enveloping and pervading identity (புகுத்தலுறல்), the identity itself constituting the perception" (Life Divine, p. 488).

We can enter into possession of our whole conscious mental being and life being and arrive at a ¹close intimacy of direct ¹penetrating and enveloping contact with the total movements of our mental and vital energy; we ²meet clearly and closely and are — but more freely and understandingly — all the ²becomings of ourself, the whole self-expression of the Purusha on the present levels of our nature. But also there is or can be along with this intimacy of knowledge a detached observation... All the movements of the surface being can be seen with a complete detachment, but also with a direct sight in the consciousness by which the self-delusions and mistakes of self of the outer consciousness can be dispelled; there is a keener mental vision, a clearer and more accurate mental feeling of our subjective becoming, a vision which at once knows, commands and controls the whole nature" — (Life Divine, p. 478).

The following passages of Sri Aurobindo are quoted below and corresponding terms of the Swami (drawn from the Chapters on Tatva Lokas, Karanateeta Lokas & Vinnappam) are also indicated here and there for an easier and closer understanding. Sri Aurobindo speaks of the truths of form, quality and "soul or essence" of things, objects and principles and also of truth of soul and spirit as held and possessed in knowledge by supramental reason (vide "Synthesis of Yoga", Chapter 21, p. 936—940).

A) "The supramental reason is of the nature of a spiritual, direct, self-luminous, ¹ self-acting will and intelligence, not mental, mānasa buddhi, but supramental, vijnāna buddhi. It acts by the same four powers as the Intuitive Mind, but these powers are here active in an initial fullness of body...And of these four the discrimination here is hardly recognisable as a separate power, but is constantly inherent in the three others and is their own determination of the scope and relations of their knowledge. There are three elevations in this reason one in which the action of what we may call a supramental ² intuition gives the ³ form and the ⁴ predominant character, one in which a rapid supramental ⁵ inspiration and one in which a large supramental ⁶ revelation leads and imparts the ⁷ general character, and each of these raises us to a more concentrated substance and a higher light, sufficiency and scope of the ⁸ truth will and the truth knowledge".

"The work of the supramental reason covers and goes beyond all that is done by the mental reason but it starts from the other end and has a corresponding operation. The essential ¹ truths of self and the spirit and the ² principle of things are not to the spiritual reason abstract ideas or subtle unsubstantial experiences to which it arrives by a sort of overleaping of limits, but a constant reality and the natural background of all its ideation and experience. It does not like the mind arrive at, but discloses directly both the ³ general and total and the ⁴ particular truths of being and consciousness, of spiritual and other sensation and Ananda and of force and action,—reality and phenomenon and symbol, ⁵ actuality and ⁶ possibility and eventuality ⁷ that which is determined and ⁸ that which determines, and all with a self-luminous evidence. It formulates and arranges the ⁹ relations of thought and thought, of ¹⁰ force and force, of ¹¹ action and action and of ¹² all these with each other and throws them into a convincing and ¹³ luminous harmony. It includes the data of sense, but gives to them another meaning in the light of what is behind them, and treats them only as outermost indications: the inner truth is known to a greater sense which it already possesses. And it is not dependent on them alone even in their own field of objects or limited by their range. It has a spiritual sense and sensation of its own and it takes and relates to that the data too of a sixth sense, the inner mind sense. And it takes also the illuminations and the living symbols and images familiar to the psychic experience and relates these too to the truths of the self and spirit” — The Synthesis of Yoga, p. 936—938.

NOTE: Only approximately corresponding terms of the Swami are indicated below in foot-note for the above numbered words and phrases, more for the purpose of a clear understanding than as a strict proof here of a particular plane or level of experience.

In the chapter “the Gradations of Karanateeta Loka” in the Book of Vyakhyana the abovesaid worlds or Tatva lokas, from the Bhuta loka upto Parā shakti, Para Siva and Paranāda lokas are mentioned again as in the chapter “Tatva Lokas” but now in their totality as realms of “Vyāpya Vyāpaka” (the overmental universe extending into the infinity of existence) and as taken up beyond Paranadanta and held by the integral Truth-World in its triple poise or session in the pure Transcendence called “Vyāpaka Vyāpya”, i.e., the Infinity of the Divine Being manifesting and containing the Universal Space of All-Existence.

In “Peru Vinnappam”, Vide Prose p. 123—124, the Swami puts the purification, development and functioning of all the tatvas into four stages

3 & 4 Poorana bodha... Samvēda Samavāya, and Suddha Samvēda...Poorvottara Paryanta for each tatva (see Chapter V Karanateeta lokas) 5 Tatva Anubhava or Sādhana (i. e. A to D herein below) and in the highest state of purification and transformation one arrives at ultimately to a fundamental four-fold Knowledge (I to IV herein below) which are (I) Atma Jnana and Tatva Jnana, i.e. Knowledge by identity (i.e., அனுபவித்தல்) of beings and things, which is indicated here in the text as “anubhava or experiencing” (II) knowledge by vision (Yoga Jnana that arises naturally as a result out of the first) which is indicated here in the text as அனுபவிப்பித்தல், “causing to experience” (by vision), (III) knowledge by intuition of idea, thought and sense, feelings etc., which is indicated here in the text as அறிதல் “Knowing” (by intuition) and (IV) Knowledge by intuitive inspiration (Karma Jnana) resulting from Knowledge by intuition and fulfilling further by inspired words, arts, sciences and actions which is indicated here in the text as அறிவித்தல் “causing to know” (by inspiration) This is attained through the four functions of Tatvas (not necessarily connected with the same order of the four-fold Knowledge), through (A) the Paratva functions of the high method of purification by rejection of impurities and causing happiness thereby, and transformatory purification (by selection and substitution of the good for what is rejected) and making way for the experience of Bliss thereby, (B) through the intermediate functions of (i) harmonisation (of tatvas and parts of being), (ii) will to control, reject and select, and (iii) knowledge (of the secret sources of thought, feelings and actions) இயைபு இச்சை அறிவு (i to iii) which are needed in dealing with the seven fold processes of (a) time, (b) preparation toward, fitness (through the needed unavoidable or selective experiences), (c) willing or aspiring (d) knowing and selecting, (e) controlling and managing—(f) finding and suitably dealing with the causal source of thoughts, feelings and actions and (g) finally executing in (time according to the knowledge and will and experiences)—possibly these are the positive counterparts of the seven fold principles of “Vidya Tatva” in Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta schools namely Kāla, niyati, raga, vidya, purusha and maya and Kalā—(C) through the mental instruments and faculties (Sukshma Karanas) of thought-mind, reasoning intellect, decisive will and individualised mind operated through the more subtle and inner mental sources, (atisukshma karanas), and through the play of the triple gunas (Tamas, Rajas and Satwa) of inertia, kinesis, calm and clarified consciousness, (D) and finally through the senses of knowledge and action with their inner and outer sense organs dealing with the five elements and sub-elements and the physical body and its inner and outer physical organs constituted of the several kinds of the physical bodily constituents (the Swami mentions several kinds in each constituent namely skin, nerves, bones, blood muscles, semen and lymph and brain matter) — all these means and instruments and faculties, qualities and functions having their proper places of existence and seats of operation. The whole of the passage has to be read and understood also in its supramental sense and significance, because the Swami relates these details in regard to his personal ādhara, and its evolution through birth when he as a soul was lifted up in a second of time by supra causal action (atikārana kriyā) from the most obscure darkness of the Inconscient (Mahā Pāśa Andhakāra) where it was lying in a state of swoon for a very long indeterminable period of time, and put into a supra-causal form of body (atikārana paguti uruvu supramental body), then into a causal form of body (Kārana Paguti uruvu, overmental body) by a causal action, then further into a over-subtle form of body (atisukshma Paguti uruvu, spiritual mental body) by a over-subtle action (ati sukshma kriya), yet further into a subtle form of body (sukshma Paguti uruvu, subliminal body) by a subtle action (sukshma kriya) and again in its turn into a subtle-physical form of body (bhuta uruvu) by the action of Paratva Shakti and Shaktar (i.e., the higher gods and goddesses) and finally in a second of time into the physical material body (bhautika vadivu) by the action of Aparatva Shakti and Shaktar (i.e., the lower powers and energies of the physical world)—all these processes and stages of soul's entry into the various levels and forms of body being executed with a perfection by the over-ruling Grace of the Supreme Lord of Truth-Consciousness and Bliss (Satya Jñānānanda Tani Talamai Kadavul).

NOTE: The said six bodies or forms of body may be also taken to mean 1) a supra-causal body of supreme Bliss (ati kārana paguti uru), 2) a causal body of Truth-Knowledge (i.e., supramental body (Kārana Paguti uru), 3) a over-subtle body i.e., overmental body (ati sukshma uru), 4) a subtle body i.e., subliminal body (sūkshma uru), 5) a subtle-physical body (bhuta uru) and 6) the gross material physical body (bhautika vadivu). This sense seems proper, in as much as the Swami in most of his songs refers to the supramental body of Truth-Knowledge as “Kārana dēha”.

Quotations of Sri Aurobindo are again continued on the subject.

C) "Creation would then be a self-manifestation: it would be an ordered deploying of the infinite possibilities of the Infinite. But every possibility implies a truth of being behind it, a reality in the Existent; for without that supporting truth there could not be any possibles. In manifestation a fundamental reality of the Existent would appear to our cognition as a fundamental spiritual aspect of the Divine Absolute; out of it would emerge all its possible manifestations, its innate dynamisms: these again must create or rather bring out of a non-manifest latency their own significant ¹ forms, expressive ² powers, native ³ processes; their ⁴ own being would develop their ⁵ own becoming, svarupa, svabhava. This then would be the complete process of creation: but in our mind we do not see the complete process, we see only possibilities that determine themselves into actualities and though we infer or conjecture, we are not sure of a necessity, a ⁶ predetermining truth, an ⁷ imperative behind them which capacitates the possibilities, decides the actualities. Our mind is an observer of actuals, an inventor or discoverer of possibilities, but not a seer of the occult imperatives that necessitate the movements and forms of a creation: for in the front of universal existence there are only forces determining results by some balance of the meeting of their powers, the ⁸ original Determinant or determinants, if it or they exist, are veiled from us by our ignorance. But to the supramental Truth-Consciousness these imperatives would be apparent, would be the very stuff of its seeing and experiences: in the supramental creative process the ⁹ imperatives, the nexus of ¹⁰ possibilities, the ¹¹ resultant actualities would be a single whole, an indivisible movement; the possibilities and actualities would carry in themselves the inevitability of their originating imperative, — all their results, all their creation would be the body of the Truth which they manifest in predetermined significant ¹ forms and ² powers of the All-Existence” — THE LIFE DIVINE — p. 285.

D) “The Infinite is one in a multiplicity and its action is only seizable by a supreme Reason which regards all and acts as a one-awareness that observes itself in difference and respects its own differences, so that each ¹ thing and each ² being has its ³ form of essential being and its ⁴ form of dynamic nature, svarupa, svadharma, and all are respected in the total working. The knowledge and action of the Infinite is one in an unbound variability a total, infinitely plastic yet harmonious diversity of action” — The Life Divine — p. 301.

E) “The finite is a frontal aspect and a self-determination of the Infinite; no finite can exist in itself and by itself, it exists by the Infinite and because it is of one essence with the Infinite. For by the Infinite we do not mean solely an ⁵ illimitable self-extension in Space and Time, but ⁶ something that is also spaceless and timeless, a ⁷ self-existent Indefinable and Illimitable which can express itself in the infinitesimal as well as in the vast, in a second of time, in a point of space, in a passing circumstance ... When we see with the inner vision and sense and not with the physical eye a tree or other object, what we become aware of is an infinite one Reality constituting the tree or object, pervading its every atom and molecule, forming them out of itself, building the whole nature, process of becoming, operation of indwelling energy; all of these are itself, are this infinite, this Reality: we see it ⁸ extending indivisibly and uniting all objects so that none is really separate from it or quite separate from other objects. “It stands” says the Gita “undivided in beings and yet as if divided”. Thus, each object is that Infinite and one in essential being with all other objects that are also ⁹ forms and ¹⁰ names — powers, numens — of the Infinite” — The Life Divine, p. 306-307.

 (திருச்சிற்றம்பல தெய்வ மணிமாலை பா—11)

O men! It is one ⁷ and the same Divine of the blissful Suddha Sivananda Sabha (the supreme summit session of the pure and supreme Ananda of Truth-Consciousness) who has become Himself all the instruments and faculties, sub-instruments and sub-faculties (of knowledge and action), and the causal and ⁵ over-causal instrumentations of knowledge and action (Kāraṇa, adhikaraṇa) with their constituents or composing elements (மிகுத்த உறுப்பு) and the long process of time and all other predetermined things (in the chain of cause and effect for the purpose of manifesting) the ³ essential form and mould of substances for all the predetermined ² beings and ¹ things, (பொருள்களுக்கும் வடிவம் swarupa) the many ⁴ qualities and the features of form and ⁶ nature (rupa and swabhava and guna), the many functions of consciousness such as penetrating within and returning with the contents of what is penetrated புகுதலும், புகுத்தலுறலும். He also ⁶ transcends beyond all these (i.e. chain of cause and effect, instrumentations and faculties, and time etc.) (Book 10—II—2—11)

NOTE: Compare the above stanza of the Swami with the foregoing two passages of Sri Aurobindo in regard to marked items 1 to 7; for item 8 see chapter on “Karanateeta Lokas” — cf: “Suddha Samvēda ... Rūpa Swarupa Swabhāva Vyāpya Vyāpakādi Poorvottara Paryanta”— thus detailing 34 aspects for each tatva under the chapter “Tatva Lokas” 9. Rupa 10. Varṇa.

F) “A quality is the character of a power of conscious being; or we may say that the consciousness of being expressing what is in it makes the power it brings out recognisable by a native stamp on it which we call quality or character. Courage as a quality is such a power of being, it is a certain character of my consciousness expressing a formulated force of my being, bringing out or creating a definite kind of force of my nature in action. So too the power of a drug to cure is its property, a special force of being native to the herb or mineral from which it is produced, and this speciality is determined by the Real-Idea concealed in the involved consciousness which dwells in the plant or mineral ; the idea brings out in it what was there at the root of its manifestation and has now come out thus empowered as the force of its being" — The Life Divine, p. 303.

G) "All qualities, properties, features are such powers of conscious being thus put forth from itself by the Absolute ; It has everything within It, It has the free power to put all forth" — The Life Divine, p. 303.

H) "Form may be said to be the innate body, the inevitable self-revelation of the formless, and this is true not only of external shapes, but of the unseen formations of mind and life which we seize only by our thought and those sensible forms of which only the subtle grasp of the inner consciousness can become aware" — The Life Divine, p. 306.

I) "Name in its deeper sense is not the word by which we describe the object, but the total of power, quality, character of the reality which a form of things embodies and which we try to sum up by a designating sound, a knowable name, Nomen. Nomen in this sense, we might say, is Numen ; the secret Names of the Gods are their power, quality, character of being caught up by the consciousness and made conceivable. The Infinite is nameless, but in that namelessness all possible names, Numens of the gods, the names and forms of all realities, are already envisaged and prefigured, because they are there latent and inherent in the All-Existence" — The Life Divine, p. 306.

J) "For a larger mental being is there within us, a larger inner vital being, even a larger inner subtle-physical being other than our surface body-consciousness, and by entering into this or becoming it identifying our selves with it, we can observe the springs of our thoughts and feelings, the sources and motives of our action, the operative energies that build up our surface personality. For we discover and can know the inner being that secretly thinks and perceives in us, the vital being that secretly feels and acts upon life through us, the subtle-physical being that secretly receives and responds to the contacts of things through our body and its organs ... but here within we find the separate sources of our mental, our vital and our physical energisms and can see clearly the pure operations, the distinct powers, the composing elements of each and their interplay in a clear light of self-vision ... But while on the surface their action is mixed together, confused and conflicting, here in our depths they can be seen and worked upon in their independent and separate nature and action and a harmonisation of them by the mental being in us, leader of the life and body, — or, better, by the central psychic entity — is not so difficult, provided we have the right psychic and mental will in the endeavour ... Moreover, we find in this inner or subliminal being the means of directly distinguishing between what rises from within and what comes to us from outside, from others or from universal Nature, and it becomes possible to exercise a control, a choice, a power of willed reception, rejection and selection, a clear power of self-building and harmonisation" — The Life Divine, p. 477—478.

“I have taken to the Journey to find and worship the Divine Feet of the Lord who plays in the equable Diamond World of Light and Knowledge. I do not know the path I trod before. I do not know what awaits for me. Shall I get into (unknown and untrodden) path of the wild forest or into the (known and beaten) track of the plains of the country? Will my legs get tired (in the wearsome journey) or be free from tire-someness? Shall I be led into the high world of Bliss or into the abyss of darkness? Whether I shall be helped by Viveka the power of discrimination or shall I be haunted with the fear as of a hunter (in a dangerous forest)? Shall I ever happen to meet the divine Feet of unity? I do not know The Will of the Divine Lord nor what awaits for me”.

NOTE: The Swami has not given the headings for most of his poems. The titles have been given by the later editors of his poems.

O infinitely Vast Light of Grace who playeth in the greater Golden World of Knowledge (பெரிய பொற்சபை Peria Por Sabha the greater Golden World or Golden World proper i.e. the greater Supermind or apprehending supermind) where Thou are biune with Parai, the Shakti of the Truth-World (i.e. as Ardhanāreeshwara)! O my good Father who rightly belong to my being! O Munificent Lord! Condescend to hear the words of Thy humble servant”.

NOTE: “Peria Por Sabha” indicates apprehending supermind, the greater Golden World of Knowledge. The Golden World in its lower range signifies the tertiary Supermind. So, in some stanzas Ponnambalam and Āṇip Ponnambalam may signify the tertiary and apprehending poises of Supermind respectively.

Unless so distinguished the word “Ponnambalam” or Por Sabha generally signifies the apprehending supermind itself. Pon Mēdai, the Golden Platform and Pon Mādam the Golden Terrace specifically refer to the tertiary supermind (see stz. 11-36-14, 15, 77); so too Maṇi Mēdai, the Diamond Platform or Platform of Diamond Light of Knowledge, and Maṇi Mādam the Diamond Terrace or terrace of diamond Light of Knowledge (11-26-1, 5). The Terrace and the Platform over the Terrace are experienced in the tertiary supermind (1-1-43-3)

If Thou think of making my words faulty in utterance especially after this unity I shall verily sue Thee (in Thy court of Law). O Lord who bear a greater compassion than that of a mother, Thou hast become my Father! Further, Thou art the Soul of my soul and have filled it with Thyself. O Lord who playeth in Mani Podu the permanent and equally self-extended Diamond World of Knowledge! O great Treasure of Compassion! Show me Thy Grace, removing the anxiety of my mind”.

NOTE: The Swami in this poem of his early writings repents for some words uttered to the Lord in an unguarded moment of anger when he was impatient with the shaktis or forces of Tatvas because they had not yet come entirely under his ruling mastery, even though he himself had surrendered to the Divine and was under His rule. He entreats the Lord not to take those words to his Heart, as his own aspiration for the Lord was sincere, and that the said words were uttered not with a sense of guilty conscience or under pretext and that even so it would befit Him as the Lord of Grace to pardon him in His Greatness. “ By the Grace-Light (Arut Joti) I shall realise my self in the high yonder Heaven into which the unifying Thought of Thy remembrance leads me ; and there in the world of Truth-Knowledge (Manru) I shall find the Lord of Vast Grace-Light (Arut Perum Joti Nathan) playing in Knowledge, and who is the Ambrosia of the Omnipotent Will of Knowledge. Becoming the nature of the Omnipotent Will of Knowledge, I shall play here in this world. O my heart ! do not fear any more ”.

NOTE: The above song is an aspiration of the Swami to realise the Lord of Vast Grace Light (Arut Perum Joti Nathan) in the world of Truth-Knowledge by the help of Grace-Light (Arut Joti) which was always guiding him within. Thus Arut Joti and Arut Perum Joti are distinguished. The latter is the infinitely Vast Grace Light as manifest in the Truth-World whereas the former is operating in the terrestrial field as the activity of the latter and guiding the fit persons from within (See also notes under Stz. 11—40—3 (1)). Further the Supreme Divine within the infinitely Vast Grace-Light is aspired for. So when the realisation of the supreme and universal Divine Being within the Vast-Grace-Light is achieved it should indicate necessarily an integral realisation of the Truth-World. Elsewhere the Swami calls Him as “Arut Perum Joti Andavar”, or “Akhandā Pooranānanda Arut Perum Joti Kadavul” the Supreme and Universal blissful Divine of the Vast Grace-Light (see “Peru Vinnappam”, prose, p. 123)

“O Nataraja of Arut Perum Joti, the dynamic Lord of Vast Grace-Light! O Treasure of the Path of Purity, Truth and Goodness (Suddha Siva Sanmarga Nidhi)! O Supreme Felicity! O Eternal Happiness and Good! O Flood of infinite and intimate Compassion! O overflowing Amrita that has transformed all the parts of my being into Thy sweet Self-Nature (என் இயல்...தன் இயல் தன்...மயமதாக்கியே தித்தித்து) by flooding me with the Amrita in my natural body of flesh and bone, in my heart, in my love and compassion, in my life and in my soul, in my qualities of nature, in my tongue and in my sweet-natured speech, in my ears and in the sense of music and hearing, in the pupils of my eyes and in their light, in the states of my experience and in my natural intelligence and in the inner intuitive knowledge”.

NOTE: The above passage throws light on the nature of transformation of mind, life, senses and body which Swami Ramalingam had by the flooding of the Amrita of Bliss of the Truth-conscious Vast Gracc-Light.

In the book of oral Teachings (Upadesha, as recorded by his direct disciples) Vallalar Swami Ramalingam explains the concept of Nataraja the supreme and Universal Divine, and His play both on the universal (anda) and individual (pinda) levels. In the individual there are four levels of one's being; soul is the inmost; jeeva the inner, mind the inner-outer, body and the sense organs such as eyes etc., the outer, the jeeva having its counter parts in the inner-outer and outer levels also. So too, there are four corresponding levels in the anda or universal manifestation represented symbolically by Agni, Sun, Moon and Stars. Paramākāśa or Supreme Space or Sky of Ether, the Space of Truth-Knowledge (Supermind) is the Causal source of manifestation of the universe. Spiritual Light of Paramākāśa is called Jnana Sabhai or Cit Sabhai. The Light within that Light is the Divine Being called Natarāja, the dynamic Lord of Knowledge-Play or Knowledge-Will; the vibration of this inner Light of Light is the divine Dance Jnāna Ākāśa Natanam or play of the Divine Being, i. e., the blissful dance or vibration of the Will of Nataraja. By derivation, the space or sky of spiritual Light in the individual is the soul called rather identically as "Jnana Sabhai" or "Cit Sabhai", but in a derivative sense. The Divine within the soul is the Nataraja. The movement or vibration of the Divine in the soul is the play or dance of Nataraja in the individual soul.

The manifestation in the universe and in the individual takes place in the stages of cause, cause-effect and effect (Vide Upadesha, p. 15-16 & 70). The four levels of the manifestation in the individual and the universal (pinda and anda) belong to the chain of cause and effect in its various stages. The universal causal source is the Paramakasa (supermind); the intermediary, i. e., cause-effect stage is the sarvayoni or Nada Bindu (i. e., the Sabda Brahman or overmind).

Thus, Nataraja herein referred to is not to be taken as the equivalent image seen in the temples which at best may serve to represent the symbolical form of the great Lord in His dancing pose. The Swami explains Nataraja as the Supreme Lord of Knowledge - Play; He is the Light of Knowledge-Dynamism or Knowledge-Will both in His universal and individual manifestations.

Compare the following passages of Sri Aurobindo in regard to the Swami's description of divine Light within Light and the play of Will within that Light.

“The last step of the ascension would be the surpassing of Overmind itself or its return into its own still greater origin, its conversion into the supramental light of the Divine Gnosis. For there in the supramental Light is the seat of the Divine Truth-Consciousness that has native in it...the power to organise the works of a Truth” — (The Synthesis of Yoga, p. 168, 1955 edition).

Thus we see that the supramental Light, the divine Truth-Consciousness and the power for works, correspond respectively with the Swami's three terms namely Light of Jnana Sabha, God or Nataraja as the supreme Light of Being within that Light, and His or Its Will which is a movement of the play of the said Light within Light.

காரணத்தாலுள்ள இடம் பிண்டத்தில் புருவமத்தி, அண்டத்தில் பரமாகாசம். மேல் குறித்த அகமாகிய ஆன்ம பிரகாசமே ஞானசபை. அந்த பிரகாசத்திற்குள்ளிருக்கும் பிரகாசம் கடவுள். அந்த உள்ளொளியின் அசைவு நடம். இது தான் ஞானகாச நடனமென்றும் அசைவுற்றதே நடராஜரென்றும் சொல்லுகின்றது' (உபதேசம் ப. 16, — குறிப்பு 1, அண்டத்தின் அகத்தையும் குறிக்கும்)

We quote below another passage of Sri Aurobindo with corresponding words of the Swami given by us in brackets.

“In the plane of the gnosis (Jnana Sabhai) the infinite is at once our normal consciousness of being...Behind that immeasurable extension the gnostic consciousness is always aware of a spaceless inner infinite. It is through this double infinite (i.e., in the Swami's words Ubhaya Veli or Ubhaya Ambaram the biune infinite or Joti yut Joti the Light within Light) that we shall arrive at the essential being of Sachidananda (i.e., Nataraja the Divine Being) the highest self of our being and the totality of our cosmic existence. For the supramental Knowledge is the play (Jnana Akasa Natanam) of a supreme Light...But to command or wholly possess it, we must first enter into and become the BEING of the Supreme Light (i.e., Nataraja the Supreme Being of Play)” — Sri Aurobindo's Synthesis of Yoga, p. 561-562.

“The Veda describes the Vijnana plane as Rtam, Satyam, Bṛhat. The Light, Truth, Vast the same triple idea differently expressed. Rtam is the action of the divine Knowledge, Will and Joy in the lines of the truth, the play of the truth-consciousness. Satyam is the truth of being which so acts, the dynamic essence of the truth-consciousness. Bṛhat is the infinity of Sachidananda out of which the other two proceed and in which they are founded.” — Sri Aurobindo's Synthesis of Yoga, p. 555.

In the above passage Rtam, the play, Satyam the Truth of Being and Bṛhat the infinity, respectively signify in the Swami's terminology Jnana Akasa Natanam, Nataraja and Paramākāśa or in other words the Play of the Light within Light in the supreme and infinite Sky of Truth-Knowledge.

“O Sivam the Supreme Truth which makes the play of Knowledge in Cit Sabha of Cidambaram, (Comprehending session of Supermind) the session of origin of Universal manifestation in Knowledge by the Consciousness—Force in the Sky or Heaven of Truth-Consciousness! Thou hast become the manifestations of Nature—the phenomenal matter from material atom to mountain, the nucleus or womb of body, life, the life that enters within life (i.e. Soul within life), consciousness (i.e., mental consciousness), Consciousness within consciousness, the supporting light of the inner consciousness, Light of light, Ambaram the Sky or Space (i.e., overmind Space), Cidambaram, the Sky or Space of Truth-Consciousness with Its Por Sabha, the Golden World of Knowledge which gives the good Nature (i.e., transforms one's nature into the Divine Nature) and the high Cit Sabha (or Cit Sabha as harmoniously manifest in the Por Sabha) Thou hast given me the sanction and the Word of Thy Will directing me to perform siddhis, the (miraculous) acts of divine Knowledge and Perfection. O Guru who by Grace has evolved me into Knowledge by transformation of nature தேற்றி! O Life of Truth-Consciousness which with. Its Nature has made me live in excellence (i.e., by a transformation of my nature). O Boon of my life! O All-powerful Nataraja, the dynamic supreme Lord of play in the excellent diamond world of Truth—Knowledge or the world of diamond Light of Truth-Knowledge (i.e. Por Sabha, the apprehending Supermind)”.

NOTE: Cidambaram is the transcendent and universal Sky or Heaven of Truth-Consciousness, the Supermind. Cit Sabha is the Comprehending session of the said Truth-World. It is called Sudda Jnana Nilai. Por Sabha is the apprehending session of the Truth-World. It is called Mudi Nilai (the top state)—(see “Satya Jnana Vinnappam”, prose p. 133). Its subsidiary plane or session is called Adi Nilai (the lower state) which corresponds with the tertiary poise of Supermind. In the above stanza, the manifestation of the universe has been described in an ascending order from matter to Supermind with its main sessions namely Por Sabha and Cit Sabha.

In the above stanza Cit Sabha is said to be manifest in Por Sabha also. According to Sri Aurobindo (see Life Divine, Ch. “Triple Status of Supermind”), it is evident that in the apprehending Supermind (i.e. Por Sabha) the soul can by its comprehending action of consciousness enjoy its unity of oneness with the Divine and by its apprehending or projecting frontal action of consciousness enjoy its relations of a free difference in unity with the Divine. So practically the experience of Unity which is characteristic of the Cit Sabha can be also had in the Por Sabha itself when one is said to have become the Divine Lord within oneself (Tānāki) “The Divine Light that made me become Myself. (then) Himself within me.” “The Light which in Compassion made me become Himself so as to rule.” “என்னுள் நானாகித் தானாகி நண்ணிய ஜோதி”; “நானே தானாகி ஆளத் தயவு செய் ஜோதி” (1-V-3-30,32). So in the above stanza Cit Sabha is also spoken of to be in Por Sabha itself in a practical way. However, if one is to ascend and enter into Cit Sabha itself, then in an absolute and utter unity with the Divine by self-identity, the soul becomes as the One, as the one Universal All-existence, as the Divine (Tatmaya or Thanmaya) and it does not feel its individual existence so as to enter into a differential relation with the Divine which it enjoys in Por Sabha along with a basic oneness with the Divine as of Cit Sabha. (See also notes on stzs 11-28-5 and 10).

Elsewhere, in other poems which are quoted below, the Swami mentions his experience of utter unity of oneness in self-identity with the Supreme and universal Divine of the Cit Sabha in the very Cit Sabha itself. That is to say, one becomes in self-identity as the Divine (Tatmaya or Tanmaya) when one does not feel his individuality any more.

“I realised a state of Truth which is neither one nor two (i.e., the state of one-in-one) and without any thing else to confront as an object for comparison” (See Keertan “Pandhu Adal”, stz. 7).

“ O Supreme Divine who has become the very supreme Nature as Sat-Cit-Ananda (of the universal manifestation), the omnipotent all-effectuating Power of Will and the all-possessing Lord possessing all the worlds, beings, substances and things and has become by the (said) manifest Satcitananda the beginningless Grace of Purity without stain (Suddha Arul), and the Vast Grace-Light to make the play of Grace (Arul Natam) and manifest the Law and Path of Grace (Arul Neri) in the infinite Vastness of Grace (Arul Veli). Thou art the supreme Divine who dispels the distress; Thou art the Truth-Vision and Fulness of Compassion. O Eye! O Goal! Thou hast entered into my love and bring me up. O ripe Fruit! Thou hast lit the lamp of Light in me and abide within me to rule, dispensing with the ignorant rounds of action. O King! O Nataraja, dynamic Player of the universal movement of Knowledge, dwelling in the fully evolved "Vijnānakalar" who is established in Truth-Consciousness!"

NOTE: In this stanza the Supreme Divine (i.e. the one indivisible Satcitananda) is said to have become the all-containing, all-indwelling and all-achieving omnipotent supreme Nature as the triune Satcitananda (Sat-Cit-Ananda) in the Vastness of universal manifestation. Thus the supramental Divine of Cit Sabha, the Comprehending Supermind, is indicated. The Swami realises also that this Lord of dynamic play or manifestation of Grace is the same one who abides within his soul. The nature of Arut Perum Joti and its source are also explained.

In the philosophy of Saiva Siddhanta, "Vijnānākalar" is the first of three types of beings in the order of purity and has only the impurity of ego to shed off. He is free from the other impurities of maya (i.e. lower maya) and karma (i.e. lower modes of action). He represents rather the first stage of the fall of the soul from the Divine getting the separate consciousness of ego, or the first evolutionary stage of psychic realisation of soul in the heart, but before realising the self above the head and in which case a shade of ego still remains to be cleared off, though free from egoistic selfishness. He is transparent enough to receive the grace of the Divine more easily and more directly. The other types of beings are Pralayākalar and Sakalar. Sakalar are the ordinary jeevas or men bound with all the three impurities of ego, lower maya and lower rounds of ignorant action, i.e. ānavam, māyā and karma; Pralayākalar are bound with the impurities of ego and lower maya only. However, it may be understood that the three defects should necessarily be there in varying degrees in the said three kinds of beings, though stress seems to be laid on one or more (as the case may be) of the still persisting or resisting defects in the course of evolution. Further according to the Swami, as explained in his "Upadesha" there is a permutation of the three defects in both the conditions of evolving purity and unevolved impurity (Pakkuva and apakkuva or Suddha and asuddha) thus giving rise to 18 orders of defects and correspondingly there would be the classification of beings which include plant, animal, piśācha and naraka (i.e. vital beings of the lower vital world) and the vital beings of the vital world proper and men (Vide "Upadesha", p. 98, 79, 28 "Three kinds of beings" and "Ānavam, Māyā and Karma").

Here in the above stanza the fully evolved and pure "Vijnānakalar" is referred to with the qualifying words "as being poised in Truth-Consciousness". Thus, the qualifying word "மெய்க்ஞான நிலை நின்ற" in regard to விஞ்ஞான கலர் (Vijnānakalar) gives a supramental significance which far exceeds the connotation given to the word "Vijnānakalar" in Saiva Siddhanta system of philosophy. From his upadesha it is seen that the Swami, has introduced a distinction in the orders of evolving purity or pakva and unevolving impurity or apakva and also permutation of the three defects on the basis of pakva and apakva, which are not found in the traditional school of Saiva Siddhanta. However, the Swami drops out in his later writings the usage of the term "Vijnānakalar" even with such qualifying words as would give a supramental significance, possibly because an element of negative or lesser sense may invariably get introduced because of its long usage in Saiva Siddhanta.

"ego, maya and karma are the three defects. They again get classified as pakva and apakva, pure and impure (i.e. the evolving purity and unevolving or much obscurely involved impurity) permuting into 18 kinds. By differentiation of karma in the presence of Grace-Shakti seven types of beings arose in the creation (i.e. devas, men, Naraka beings, animals, birds, reptiles, and plants). Both pure ego and pure maya lead to a differentiation of Vijnānakalar. (i.e. among them). The impure maya impure karma and impure ego form the beings of the lower vital world (Naraka and Pisacha) and the vital beings of the vital world proper. Purer maya and impure karma combine to form jeevas, i.e. men. Impure karma, impure ego in impure karma, impure maya in impure karma form the plant life" (Upadesha, p. 28).

O My true Father who has united with me and possessed me as Thy Son and bestowed on me the boon of deathless Immortality!.” (See also stzs. of Joti Agawal 43, 63, 657, 45-47, 145, 446-447, 745, 784-786).

NOTE: Elsewhere the Swami observes that one who is poised in the Truth-Consciousness has the power to see all the worlds as small atoms and all the atoms as large worlds. (See Chapter VIII subhead “Transformation under Jeevakarunyam Prose”). The boon of immortality includes physical immortality of body (Iṣavā Varam, Alīā Varam).

“The true Education is the education of deathlessness of body. The true Knowledge is the Self-Knowledge of the one Sivam (the supreme Reality of Satcitananda). The true, supreme and integral Power of Strength (Poorana Vallabha) is the mastery over the five impurities. The true Action or function is the act that self-creates or brings forth all substances of whatever kind by realising substances such as the substance of non-inflamable or non-burning gas etc. The true Bliss is the wonderful attainment of all the said four truths together integrally by the whole and full Goodness of the all-achieving Conscious-Power (Cittu) so as to bring the whole world into an all-embracing supreme Love; O Guru! Thou hast said that this is the tradition of Suddha Sanmarga which you have found upon this eternal truth of Bliss. O supreme! even before I could give my triple body (for transformation into perfection), Thou showered on me Thy Grace and upraised or perfected me by It. O Lord Nataraja, the One Divine who plays in Cit Sabha”.

NOTE: The five impurities are Ego, Māyā of Ignorance, Karma the lower mode of action, Māyēyam, the operative functionings of Māyā, and Tirodhana the original veiling Power. The non-burning gas or air is one of the five divinely evolved or transformed and divinised substances which constitute a deathless body and they are (1) deathless etherial substance; (2) non-burning gas or air; (3) non-flowing water or liquid, (4) soundless fire and (5) non-obstructing (plastic or supple) matter சாகாத்தலை, வேகாக்கால், போகாதபுனல், ஒலியாதகனல், இடியாத புவி. These divinised physical substances constitute the formula as it were of the Science of deathlessness of body. The education of deathlessness of body does not here mean a mental education. It is the training of the physical body into its deathless state (see I-V-10-97,38).

Thou gave me too the Knowledge of the non-flowing Water or Liquid...”

NOTE: These are the divine substances or divinised physical elements of ether, air, liquid, etc., that go to make a deathless body. The other two divinised elements, namely fire or heat (heat-giving substance) and earth or its solid substance are also implied. The stanza suggests distinguishing features of deathlessness of body because of the distinctions in non-burning gas or air. This seems to suggest that in regard to those who attain deathlessness of body, each deathless body will be characteristically different or differently constituted, though there may be a general base of deathless substance such as deathless etherial substance.

NOTE: Cit Sabha as possessed by the heart of love here seems to indicate Cit Sabha of the soul i.e. sky or space of the soul as realised in the depth of the Ajna centre. Soul may be realised either in the depth of the heart or in the depth of Ajna centre but as possessed by heart of love. Ajna centre is derivatively called cit sabha of the soul, as it is derived from the original and Pure Cit Sabha (Suddha Cit Sabha), the comprehending supermind proper. The context has to be kept in view to understand the greater or lesser significance of the term.

Condescend to hear my words of prayer even if it be without obeisance to Thy Feet. Make this body of pain and sufferings become a deathless physical body full of Divine Riches here in this world itself and in this very life!".

NOTE: These stanzas bring out the nature of the Por Sabha where the Supreme Divine becomes the Oversoul or Over Lord of all souls. So this is the apprehending Supermind. It is described invariably as a world of Harmony. Elsewhere, the Swami observes that in Por Sabha or Pon Ambalam the Divine "became myself, became Himself" (i. e., became My self-Himself நானாகித் தானாகி see 11-20-5)." The Light that made me become Myself (then) become Himself within Me" (I-V-3-30).

FURTHER NOTE: In the closing line of the ten stanzas of the above poem, the Swami prays for a deathless physical body so as to exist here in this world of life itself and he makes it clear that what he aspired for was a naturally deathless body or a spontaneously deathless physical body of nature, endowed with the divine Riches, full of divine Light and eternal Purity with Power to live or capable of living for ever. Thus, it is seen that body's deathlessness will be maintained by its own natural dharma because of its Supramental transformation by the Truth-Light of Grace, though it is done in a particular body and though it may have its impact on the immediate physical atmosphere and surroundings (and possibly also on other bodies that come close to it) though not on an universal scale. The Swami would call this dharma of body's deathlessness as a case of Arul Siddhi or Perfection by divine Grace. The Swami describes Dharma as the Natural Quality or Swabhava, as the Nature of the Spirit or the Divine, as the Grace-Shakti (Arul Shakti or the Supramental Shakti), as Grace-Space (Arul Veli or the Supramental Vastness). “One who is one with this Dharma, will not have death of body” தர்மத்தோடு கூடியவன் தேக நஷ்டத்தை அடையமாட்டான் — (See items 21, 59, & 60 on “the meaning of Dharma” in UPADESHA, p. 25 & 75). Once deathlessness of body is achieved there is no necessity of maintaining it by a power of one's own personal effort or tapas or by what Sri Aurobindo would call as yoga-siddhi. In poem 11-7-5, Swami again observes that the body aspired for by him is a Natural Physical Body attained by transformation in this earthly life இந்த உடம்பே இயற்கை உடம்பாக. He affirms in stz. 12-44-1 that he got an ever deathless Physical Body of the Nature i.e., a physical body of deathless Nature for all times. எந்நாளும் இவ்வுடம்பே இறவாத இயற்கை பெற்றேன். “O Supreme King manifest in Cit Sabha! O Diamond Light over the Summit-Mind (Citta Sikha Mani)! O Lord of the beautiful play of Knowledge! I am languished and tired of repeated deaths (in the past lives). Enough of this. I aspire to enjoy for ever Poorana Siva Bhoga, the integral Life of overflowing Bliss brought about by and through Thy Union with me in the inner and outer levels of my being and by Thy feeding of me with the sweet blissful Amrita of Grace so as to transform this body into a true divinised Natural Body or a Body of Divine Physical Nature இந்த உடம்பே இயற்கை உடம்பாக. No more may Thou take me to be like the men of Ignorance who deceive themselves by the hope that they would reach the Goal (somehow) through repeated births and deaths. O Lord! Shower Thy grace upon me and open now the great divine Door and embrace me”.

NOTE: The true divinised natural body implies that it shall be a deathless body which is natural to the physicality of the earth-nature and able to live in the midst and environment of its physical natural conditions. In stz. 12-44-1 the Swami declares that he got his very physical body transformed into a body of deathless nature for ever. எந்நாளும் இவ்வுடம்பே இறவாத இயற்கை பெற்றேன்.

“O Supreme and universal Lord of Truth-play of Wisdom! O Lord of the Summit Intelligence! This is the divinely opportune moment for the opening of the doors of the Heaven (i.e., the Supramental Heaven) for showing me Thy Great and Supreme Light and feeding me by Thy Ambrosia and for entering into an eternal union with me and in the physicality of my body, the sweetness of my life, the feelings of my heart, the thoughts of my mind and the consciousness of my intelligence. O Lord! Condescend to come upon the earth and make Thy play of Grace in a New Time-Manifestation which contains the Purity of Power to transform the whole world into the best of form உருத்தகவு (i.e., perfection of form by a new evolution of mind, heart, life and body) by making an eternally inseparable (direct) union with the world and by transcending or overcoming the earthly time-manifestation (i.e., the present tardy earthly manifestation in Ignorance).

NOTE: This is an early song of the Swami in which he calls the Supramental Lord to manifest on the earth for the purpose of the collective transformation of the earthly life. See also song 11-11-11 in which he refers to an invitation for the collective manifestation. In a later song 12-25-5, he declares that he is the Lord's instrument for manifestation of the vast Grace-Light on the earth.

The above early song also suggests the Swami's aspiration to play in Grace and with the purity of his transformed nature, in the said New Time-Manifestation for the evolution of the world till it reaches its perfection.

“I have come to know truly that the shrine of my evolving heart is verily Jnana Siddhipuram, the field of the play of powers of Knowledge and Perfection. Thou came the other day and showed me Thy Form of Beauty to the joy of my eyes and consoled me saying “do not grieve”. O Lord Munificent who manifest Thy Grace! I await to see Thee come today. Until I see Thee, I shall not even mingle with the Wise Men of Tapas. I swear upon Thee. O Lord of Vast Grace - Light !.”

NOTE : In the other stanzas also of this poem, we get a glimpse of the Swami's intensity of aspiration in seeking the Lord of divine Truth-Light. He swears upon the Lord of Vast Grace-Light that he will not brook any delay even for a second of time and, that till he sees and realises Him, he would forsake or avoid to take tasty and different kinds of menu made of the six tastes, and even the rare type of the finest food, to sleep even on mat, to speak with others in desire, to have interview with those who come to see him in love, to join even with the wise men of Tapas and to wear again the cloth that has slipped from his body.

“O Master who have condescended to transform my faults into virtues of perfection! I am surrendered to Thee. I have shed off my anxieties. I worship Thee with joy and with tender eyes full of sweet tears. The vacillating and dissipating doubts of mind have come to an end. O supreme and universal Lord! Thou have become Thyself (i.e. the supreme transcendental Truth has become in Itself as the universal Manifestation) to play by Thy lotus Feet the blissful manifestation of the universe. Having become Thyself, Thou become myself. O Lord! Condescend to receive my faultless garland of songs in Thy Praise. This is the opportune moment for Thee to come to the world so as to be recognised by all the people of the world with wonderful amazement.

NOTE : This is an early song of Swami Ramalingam in which he clearly invites the supreme and universal Lord for His direct and collective manifestation on the earth for the sake of all the people. He invites the Lord in song 11 - 7 - 10 to transform the earthly world.

Open the door so that I may partake of the cool Ambrosia of Bliss to have an excelling immortal Life — the Ambrosia which is found above the seven states or realms”.

NOTE: The seven states or realms are the three Para states of Spiritual Mind, i. e. Para jagrata, Para swapna and Para susupti — Spiritual Higher Mind, Illumined Mind and Intuitive Mind, and the three Siva States of Overmind, i. e. Siva jagrata, Siva swapna and Siva susupti — Selective Overmind, Global Overmind and Summit Overmind, and the last the Siva Turya state (or Guru Turya state) which is the state of transition into the Suddha Siva State of Supermind.

NOTE: The Lord is addressed by the name Jnana Deha. This suggests at once that He is not merely Knowledge but also the possessor and giver of the supramental Knowledge-Body that finally transforms the physical body into its deathless state when Jnana-Deha fully emerges into the physical body.

“O Eternal Life that makes the play of Grace in Cittrambalam! O Vast Light of Supreme Grace! O Supreme Truth within the Light! Thou hast bestowed on me Grace by hearing my supplications of prayer made in conscious Knowledge. O Lord! Now grant that this very physical moveable body may become for ever an indestructible body of Grace.”

NOTE: 1) This stanza and the stanza 9 give the sense in which the Swami uses the name “Arut Perum Joti” the infinitely Vast Grace-Light. (See also poem 11-21). Thus, we see that Arut Perum Joti or Per Arut Joti is the Vast Light of Supreme Grace which is the infinitely Vast Grace-Light manifesting in Cittrambalam, the Comprehending Supermind. Within that Light is the supreme Reality or the supreme Divine Being (stzs 5 and 9). Elsewhere in poem (11-21) the Light manifesting in Cittrambalam is described as the Unique Vast Light manifesting Grace (11-21-8). The Light is also described in that poem as Joti yut Joti “the Light within Light”, (11-21-2 & 3). In the keertan “Siva Siva Joti”, (1—V—3—15) this is referred to as “Per Arut Joti yut Joti” பேர் அருட் ஜோதியுட் ஜோதி the supreme Light of the supreme Being within the Vast Grace-Light, i.e. the Light of Supreme Being within the Vast Grace-Light of Consciousness Force, i.e. Tat Joti within Cit Joti or within Cit Param Joti, in other words, Supreme Divine Being or Supreme Light of His being within Cit Joti or within Cit Param Joti. Cit Joti or Cit Param Joti is identifiable as Arut Perum Joti or Arut Perum Cit Joti (12-21-14). (See stanza 11-40-3 (1) and also Joti Agaval (12-1-132 and 133). Thus supreme Light of the Divine Being and the Vast Grace-Light of Consciousness-Force, though distinguished, are yet inseparable as one within the other. Each implies the other.

2) These stanzas also indicate the Swami's aspiration for a naturally deathless physical body of the Truth-nature so as to live in the physical conditions of the earth.

“Tat Joti, the Light of supreme Reality; Satya Joti (Truth-Light) of my being; Cit Joti (Light of Consciousness-Force) of unique or pre-eminent Lordship; Deepaka Joti (Flame of Light) that burns in Manru (the apprehending world of Truth-Knowledge); the Good Light in my mind or consciousness (Citta); Jñāna Nal Nātaka Joti, the good and effective Light of Knowledge-play or Knowledge-Will; the benevolent Golden Light (Por Joti); Ananda Poorana Joti, the integral Light of Satchitananda; O My Lord of Purity!”.

NOTE: In this poem (see stzs 2 & 9) the Swami mentions the Nature of the Light which has transformed his body into a deathless golden body of Light. He gives the various names of the Light to show its integral Nature. In particular he calls it as Satya Joti, or Truth-Light which is also the Light of his soul என்னுயிர்ச் சத்தியஜோதி. The Truth-Light is verily Grace and Bliss. இன்னருள் மெய்ச்சோதி. The Mother, Sri Aurobindo Ashram has remarked that Grace-Light is ‘one activity of the Supramental Light’ and we may note that Supramental Light is the Truth-Light (Satya Joti) which is at once the (Light of the supreme Being (Tat Joti) and the Light of the Consciousness of Knowledge (Cit Joti). Further the order of the names given in Stz. 2 seems to suggest the nature of the Supramental Light as in the sessions of the Supermind, i.e., Cit Sabha and Por Sabha. Its integral Nature is again emphasised as “Ananda Poorana Joti”.

“O Supreme Lord whose Nature cannot be known ! O Shambhu who gives all things ! O Refuge of the pure-hearted who have shed off their impurities and become integrated in their inner and outer being and are free from the meanness of (limiting) religions ! O firmly seated Truth-Life that has changed or transformed the rigid or harsh mind into a mind of goodness ! O Truth that plays the Golden Play of Knowledge in the equable Golden World (Kanak Podu Natam) along with the play of equable Consciousness of Self-Knowledge (Jnana Podu Natam) ! .

NOTE: In the Golden World of Knowledge, i. e. the apprehending Supermind, the supreme and universal Divine has the Self-poise of Knowledge and the poise of Conscious Force bringing forth the souls into a frontal or subjective-objective manifestation. Therefore, the soul in the apprehending supermind or Por Sabha can by its Comprehending action of Consciousness enjoy its unity with the Divine (i. e., Jnana Podu Natam or Self-poise) and also by a frontal or projecting action of subjective-objective Consciousness enjoy simultaneously its relations of “ a free difference in unity ” with the Divine (See SA : “Life Divine” - “Triple Status of Supermind”, p. 136). In many songs, the Swami refers invariably to the play of Cit Sabha and Por Sabha together, or speaks of one and the same supreme and universal Divine as the Lord of the Cit Sabha as well as of the Por Sabha. The characteristic experience of the Cit Sabha as a world of unity, the one-in-one without differentiation or confrontation, which is experienced in its own realm or plane proper is also given in some of the songs.

In regard to Por Sabha see also stz. (11-20-5), and stzs. 47, 52 and 446-447 of Joti Agaval poem (Book 12-1). Sri Aurobindo refers to Por Sabha as “a golden country” where the Mighty Mother keeps her measureless house and holds the eternal Child upon her knees, as “a gold supernal sun of timeless truth”, and as “some gold Infinite’s apocalypse” — Savitri p 741, 300 and 318. See quotations from Savitri under stzs. 446-447 of Joti Agaval poem.

NOTE: Here the Divine enters into an union with the soul which is at once a oneness, a subjective-objective difference of blissful intimacy of relationship in unity and a more objective mutuality in union as of Master and servant — கண்டான் களித்தான் கலந்திருந்தான். The last stanza also gives this triple experience.

“He is my Consciousness, the Bliss of my Consciousness, the supreme state of the Truth of the Being in my Self-Knowledge. Hail His permanent cloth-flag to live long! Hail His Lotus Feet who hast wedded Siva Kama Sundari, the beautiful Shakti of Love and Truth-Will!”.

NOTE : As in stz. 8, here too the triple experience of an objective mutuality, subjective-objective intimacy of differential relationship and finally the Unity, is indicated by the opening lines of the stanza.

“It is He, the God of Grace-Light who has possessed me and rules; He is the Lord of Bliss who plays blissfully in the yonder Ambalam the Supramental Sky of Truth-Knowledge. He is the Divine Being who is praised by all the Vedas, the sacred books of spiritual Knowledge, seeking after the Truth. He is the God of the Path and Truth of Bōdhānta, God of the high Path and Truth of Nadānta; He is the Supreme Being who fulfils my will according to the will of my aspiration. He is the Lord who rejoices in the inspired songs of Knowledge I compose and transforms me into His Nature சிவமாக்கும். Verily He is one and the same Divine who is manifest and abides in Cit Sabha also. (i.e., the psychic field of soul)”.

NOTE: Cit Sabha generally indicates the summit or comprehending supermind. But here in the context, it signifies the psychic field or the soul's field of manifestation which is also concerned with the transformation of nature. According to Swami Ramalingam, the soul can be realised at the Ajna centre or in the depth of heart, as most of his songs suggest. However for the purpose of sadhana, he advised the disciples to realise the soul by concentrating at the Ajna with the feeling of compassion and love of the heart. Where needed, He distinguished Cit Sabha the psychic centre (or the soul's field) from the comprehending Supermind which he specifically calls “Suddha Cit Sabha”. As the soul's flame or spark is derived from the Supermind, the centre or field of soul is derivatively called Cit Sabha.

“He is the Lord of my soul in the lotus of my heart who blesses me with His Grace. He is the Light in the apple of my eyes. He is the Supreme Divine who has blessed me with the unity of His Being with mine and kept on my head His Golden Feet. He is the unfailing Lord (fulfilling our will and aspiration). He is the Lord who does not bring in difficulties of obstruction. He is inseparably one with us. He is the Knowledge. He is my beloved Lord of Love who is seated in the Knowledge of that Knowledge, or in the Consciousness of that Knowledge. He is the excellent Truth of the supreme State. Verily He is one and the same Divine who is manifest and abides also in Cit Sabha, the psychic field of the soul”.

NOTE: The heart or the Ajna centre of the individual is considered as the sky and seat of his soul. The supreme and universal Lord of supreme Cit Sabha, the supreme supramental Sky of Truth-Consciousness, abides in the soul also. Soul may be first realised in the heart or at the ajna according to one's evolutionary trend of development.

“He is the Lord who sanctioned and directed me to play according to the will of my aspiration and brought me forth into manifestation. He is the Lord who bestowed on me the all-achieving omnipotent Will of Knowledge itself. He is the supreme and universal Lord who plays in Ponnambalam the Golden World of Love and Knowledge (i.e., the apprehending Supermind) where, having become myself (or a myself among other selves), He becomes Himself and thus enters into union with me (and with each of us). He is the supreme Godhead who has manifested as a result of my worship. He is the Lord who plays (by way of Inspiration) in the hymns or songs forming the core or heart of Vedas. He is the Lord who has made the world recognise me as a wise man with the Strength and Power of Knowledge. Verily He is one and the same Divine who is manifest and abides also in Cit Sabha the psychic field of the soul”.

NOTE: The supreme and universal Lord becomes Jeevatman like myself and returns to Himself or in other words He becomes myself and vice versa i.e. Having become myself He becomes (or makes me become) Himself. Thus there is a simultaneous movement of self-issuing as myself and self-returning as Himself. It is a state of the closest intimacy of subjective-objective differentiation held in unity as Myself-Himself. This process applies to all other souls. This is the characteristic manifestation of the Divine in Por Sabha proper, the apprehending supermind.

“He is the unique Lord who has given me the boon or gift of a deathless body. He is the Lord who has kept me apart in the Sanmarga Sabha (i.e., kept me objectively separate from Him but yet held in a sort of closely connecting stream of consciousness so as to be drawn again for a mutual embracing union; Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha is the tertiary supermind -- see also stzs. 12-42-96, 97). He is the Lord who has come into my being and possession by a supreme Love. He is the Lord whom men of great Tapas (i.e., in concentration of will, energy and aspiration) pray in worship. He is the divine Being who has lifted me up into the supreme State of an unreachable height (i.e., unreachable by one's own effort). He is the Lord who sweetens my heart as and when I remember Him. He is the universal Lord who has directed me to bring into a creative manifestation all the worlds from the world of matter and physical body onwards. Verily He is one and the same Divine who is manifest and abides also in Cit Sabha, "the psychic field of the soul".

NOTE: Sanmarga Sabha, i.e., Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha here refers to the tertiary poise of supermind where the Lord draws the soul objectively apart from Himself and again unites with it for a mutual enjoyment of play (see 12-16-5). "Sanmarga Sangha", i.e., Samarasa Suddha Satya Sanmarga Sangha is the Swami's movement of Brotherhood or Association for propagating the spiritual discipline and way of life so as to realise the Truth-Consciousness, Satya Jnana. Sanmarga Sangha and Sanmarga Sabha have to be distinguished for our understanding. Further the Swami also uses the term "Samarasa Sanmarga" according to the context meaning as the Path/or State of Truth-Consciousness (see 12-42-93,95 for the latter sense). It is like the word Yoga which means according to the context discipline and way of Truth or the goal and its realisation. In particular "Samarasa Sanmarga Nilai" means the realised State of Truth-Consciousness.

"He is verily the Supreme Divine of Truth-Consciousness Satya (mām), Deiva(m). He is the Being who knows not any hurdle or resistance (i.e., who overcomes all impediments). He is the supreme divine Being in whose Presence all shaktis, the conscious powers of His Being, come into manifestation. He is the eternal Self-Existent; He is the base and support that has founded all states of existence in His supreme and universal Space of Grace (Aru! Veli, the Supramental Vastness of Grace). He is the Lord who responds to or can be caught up in the net of devotional love. He is the Lord who has given me all the divine Riches or Gifts and kept me in the immortal State. He is the Divine Being who gives the power to perform all siddhis, the divinely willed and inspired actions of perfect Knowledge including divine miracles. He is the Truth of Siddhanta. He is one and the same Divine who is manifest and abides also in Cit Sabha, the psychic field of the soul".

NOTE : The Swami has referred to the Supreme Divine Being as 'Deivam' in each line of this poem, signifying the integral State of divine Existence at once Personal, Impersonal and beyond Both. But we had to necessarily come down to translate "Deivam" in a human language as "He", though implying always the Supreme Integral Divine, i.e., the integrated Transcendental, Universal and Individual Divine. This poem serves for us as the quintessence of prayer to the Supreme Divine, not only for the realisation of the Divine in the Supreme State but also for transformation of our nature, namely, our mind, life and body.

“Many crores and crores of worlds have their place of existence in the unending Expanse of the universe of which even a portion is difficult to limit. The manifold groups of closely knit-up worlds are only the result as it were, of the outer manifestation of the Supreme Divine, from a divided croreth part of an atom of His inseparable Substance (i.e., a crore times divided part), when the biune Feet of the Lord plays in the Golden Sky of Knowledge (Por Podu).

of Light, (then) the static Brahman (தடையுரு பிரமம் i.e., the resulting experience at the Sahasrara or Nada Centre governed by the principle of Nada or Sound, but here signifying Para Nada), the high Parā Shakti and the well-known Para Siva (i.e., overmental cosmic Maha Shakti and the Overlord in the overmind Gnosis or summit Overmind) — these (high truths of manifestation) I come to know to be not more than a dust particle at the tip of the nail of the last toe of the left leg of the Supreme Dancer who plays incessantly in Tiru Citrambalam (which is without confrontation or differentiation). Further I saw and realised the State of the divine biune Feet (i.e., the experience of Por Sabha, the apprehending supermind which is a poise of differentiation in unity).

NOTE: In the context of this song, Bindu and Nada signify the higher or true Parabindu and Paranada of the overmind gnosis at the communicating border of supermind. So too the five godheads are the five principles of overmind gnosis representing its five planes namely gnostic, ananda, tapo, cit and sat planes of summit overmind. Parā Shakti and Para Siva are the total over-ruling Shakti and Overlord of overmind gnosis.

“The much impeded principles or gods of Brahmā, Vishnu, Rudra, Mahēshwara and Sadāsiva impeded by the thick obscurity of impurity and Ignorance (i.e., in the lower worlds), the other impeded principles of Bindu the point of Light that spreads into the heaven, Pranava Brahman the heaven of the Sound of “Om” (i.e. Overmind proper), Parai the Cosmic Shakti (of overmind), Paramparan the cosmic Lord (of the overmind)— these (lesser truths of manifestation) I come to know to be not more than a dust particle at the outer edge of the sandal of the Divine Feet who plays in the equable Truth-World of the Diamond Light of Knowledge (Sudar Mani Podu — i.e. the apprehending Supermind) so as to remove all dangers. I glorify the state of the biune Feet of the supreme and universal Lord”.

NOTE: In regard to the nature of the divine Feet playing in the Truth-World, it appears that the Swami as a poet has employed beautiful imagery or symbolism (in stzs. 2 and 3) which becomes for him the very essence of the truth of experience.

In stz. 2, the Swami refers to the five Godheads, Bindu and static Brahman, Parā Shakti and Para Siva as being born from or as amounting to a particle of Substance of the divine Supermind or Tiru Citram-balam. So Parā Shakti and Para Siva here in the context refer to the universal Maha Shakti and Overlord of the overmind Gnosis but, as helping or mediating the transit or passage into supermind. The overmind gnosis is in contact and communication with the supermind above.

In stz. 3, the same gods and principles are again referred to but now as loaded with impurity of Ignorance and hence as functioning in the lower world. Thus, in this context Parai and Paramparan refer to the cosmic Shakti and cosmic Lord of the overmind proper (i.e. global overmind which is below the said overmind gnosis) as ruling in their own realms subject to cosmic Knowledge-Ignorance, and bindu, nada and five gods are derived from them. Therefore the gods and principles in the lower hierarchy are not in direct contact or communication with the supermind.

The two stanzas together seem to point out the nature of the overmind in its higher and lower functions, acting in the one case as a passage leading into or in communication with the Supermind beyond, and in the other as a veil of Ignorance obscuring the Knowledge of overmind gnosis and the farther Truth-Knowledge of Supermind. There is an hierarchical order of the same nine principles from level to level in the descent. The five gods of the five Physical elements are in the lowest order, full of impurities and obscurities of the Ignorance. Bindu represents Ajna centre and Nada the Sahasrara.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages:

"..... an Overmind that covers as with the wide wings of some creative Oversoul this whole lower hemisphere of Knowledge-Ignorance, links it with that greater Truth-Consciousness while yet at the same time with its brilliant golden Lid it veils the face of the greater Truth from our sight, intervening with its flood of infinite possibilities as at once an obstacle and a passage in our seeking of the spiritual law of our existence, its highest aim, its secret Reality. This then is the occult link we were looking for; this is the Power that at once connects and divides the supreme Knowledge and the cosmic Ignorance"—Life Divine, p. 255.

"And still we can recognise at once in the Overmind the original cosmic Maya, not a Maya of Ignorance but a Maya of Knowledge, yet a Power which has made the Ignorance possible even inevitable. For if each principle loosed into action must follow its independent line and carry out its complete consequences, the principle of separation must also be allowed its complete course and arrive at its absolute consequence; this is the inevitable descent, facilis descensus, which Consciousness, once it admits the separative principle, follows till it enters by obscuring infinitesimal fragmentation, tucchyēṇa, into the material Inconscience — the Inconscient Ocean of the Rig V. da, — and if the One is born from that by its own greatness, it is still at first concealed by a fragmentary separative existence and consciousness which is ours and in which we have to piece things together to arrive at a whole" — Life Divine, p. 260-261.

"There is a golden mountain. It is the summit sky or firmament of Sagunānta (the summit or end of the created universe, i. e., the global overmind with the golden sky of gnostic overmind above). Beyond above is the firm or stable pillar of light. It is in the end-realm of Maha Bindu, or Para Bindu (Ma Baindava Anta — possibly referring to that part of summit overmind forming the range from golden gnostic overmind upto and including cit-tapo overmind). Beyond above in the end-realm of Paranāda (Paranāda, refers to summit overmind at its highest, i. e., Sat overmind and its end-realm Paranādānta leading or opening into the Supermind, into its tertiary session) is the light of my self or the creeper of my light என் வணச் சோதிக் கொடி அ—து நானாகி (i. e., there I found or realised the light of my true individual self as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine). Beyond above, I or the light of myself embraced or united with the state of the biune lotus Feet of the Divine (i. e., biune oneness of the Divine, the two-in-one of the apprehending supermind or Por Sabha) as the Light of the Divine, as the Light of His Lotus Feet. தன் வணம் மணக்கும் ஒளி மலராக அ—து "நானாகித்தானாகி" —"

NOTE : The above stanza and the other stanzas of this poem are a clear expression of the ascent into supermind. In the stage of transition into supermind the Swami realises in Paranādānta his true individual self (see also “Karanateeta Loka” Ch. V under S. No. 109) which develops into the two-fold supramental knowledge of the Divine Self and of the universal manifestation. He realises his own self as becoming a centre of the supreme and universal Divine and hence becoming Him the Divine, his own light of self as becoming the Light of the Divine. Thus, in Por Sabha, the apprehending supermind, the Swami realises the Divine in His biune oneness which is indicated as the state of the divine biune Feet (Tiruvadi Nilai). Elsewhere in 11-20-5, the Swami expresses that in Pon Ambalam or Por Sabha, the supreme Divine “became myself and having become myself He became Himself” (i. e. He became myself and made me become Himself.) நண்ணிய பொன் அம்பலத்தே நடம் புரியும் தெய்வம் நானாகித் தானாகி நண்ணுகின்ற தெய்வம்.

According to the last stanza of this poem (11-22-10) again the same experience of the state of the biune divine Feet in Por Sabha results or develops but now out of the supreme Void (Veru Veli or Vetta Veli). Out of the void a beautiful form of the Lord emerges to give him the bliss of experience in the Por Sabha.

of matter upto the golden sky of Heaven and in the outer and the inner, in the heights and depths (above and below) and in all the closely linked up sides and surroundings and directions of all levels of existence and in all these worlds”.

NOTE : Stanzas 2 and 3 of this poem indicate that in respect of the biune feet of the Divine Dancer in Ponnambalam the apprehending supermind, one foot is poised in the inner unity of the Divine self-poise which has its roots in Cittrambalam the Comprehending Supermind, and the other foot in a frontal or projecting poise of a subjective-objective manifestation.

“The supreme and universal divine Feet of the Lord makes the play of Bliss in Por Podu the Golden World of Knowledge, removing the veil of Ignorance. He emerged out of the Supreme Void as a beautiful Form so as to give Bliss cancelling the imperfections—the Void (Veru Veli) that is spoken of generally by the world as the vacant Void, the Void that is ineffable and beyond the farthest realm of Parai, the Cosmic (Maha) Shakti who has her pure range (Suddha Nilai or Spiritual Mind range) and also Her farthest range (ateeta state, i.e. overmind Gnosis) further beyond”.

NOTE: 1) Parā Shakti or Parai has her causal realm in overmind Gnosis and effectual realm in overmind and below. See items 101 and 102 of the chapter “Tatva Lokas” in regard to Parā Shakti and Para Siva.

2) Veru Veli or Vetta Veru Veli signifies the spaceless infinit as distinguished from the Vastness of Universal Space, the supramental Vastness or Peru Veli. Veru Veli contains Peru Veli and is inherently within it which forms all spaces. (வெளிக்குள் வெளியாம் மருந்து எல்லா வெளியும் கடந்து விளங்கு மருந்து 1 — V — 2 — 30). The emergence of the beautiful Form of Bliss from out of the Veru Veli indicates the emergence of the blissful beautiful Light from the supreme spaceless infinite and this is the nature of experience in the summit supermind. (See also Tirumoolar Tirumantra 2462). The divine dancing feet of Por Sabha refers to the experience in the session of apprehending supermind.

The “so called empty void” (Veru Veli) is not really empty according to the Swami, as the Divine manifests in it as the beautiful Light of Truth-conscious Knowledge. The Swami would prefer to call it “Suddha Veru Veli or Mei Veru Veli”. Sri Aurobindo would call it the positive void. This void is to be distinguished from the lesser voids that may come into one’s experience before realising the Truth-World of Supermind (Jnana Peru Veli). We quote Sri Aurobindo, “All who go out of universe consciousness do not necessarily go into Para Brahman. Some go into un-differentiated Nature (Avyakta Prakriti), some lose themselves in God, (i. e. the Personal God), some Pass into a dark state of non-recognition of universe (Asat, Sunya), some into a luminous state of non-recognition of universe—Pure un-differentiated Atman, Pure Sat or Existence Basis of universe (i.e. exclusive absolutist experience)—some into a temporary state of deep sleep (susupti) in the impersonal principles of Ananda Cit or Sat” (from “the Hour of God”).

The Swami in his keertans observes that the excellent and powerful Light of the Vast Space of Knowledge (Peru Veli) extends into Vetta Veli the spaceless Infinite (1 — V — 3 — 14) வீறும் பெருவெளி ஜோதி மேலும் வெட்ட வெளியில் விளங்கிய ஜோதி. Vetta Veli or Veru Veli contains Peru Veli the Vast Space of Truth-Knowledge and through it all other spaces (1 — VI — 3 — 8). வெளியே எவ்வெளியும் அடங்குகின்ற வெறு வெளியே. It is within Jnana Peru Veli. The Light manifesting in Vetta Veli or Veru Veli is called Tat Joti or Tat Para Joti, and the Light manifesting in Peru Veli is called Cit Joti or Cit Param Joti or Arut Perum Cit Joti or Arut Perum Joti. Just as Veruveli the Spaceless Infinite is said to be within Peruveli the Space Infinite or Vast universal Space of Truth-Knowledge, so too Tat Joti is spoken of as within Cit Joti or Arut Perum Joti. They are integral and inseparable, the one within the other and containing the other. It is called “Joti yut Joti, the Light within Light”. Each implies the other. It is called the double infinite by Sri Aurobindo, Ubhayambaram or Ubhaya Veli by Swami Ramalingam and Tirumoolar. See Swami’s Keertan:

“O supreme Bliss of Ambrosia which is verily Veli within Veli the “spaceless infinite within space infinite” and transcends all spaces. It is the “Light within Light” and has become all lights”. வெளிக்குள் வெளியாம் மருந்து எல்லா வெளியும் கடந்து விளங்கு மருந்து. ஒளிக்குள் ஒளியாம் மருந்து எல்லா ஒளியும் தாளுகிய உண்மை மருந்து (1 — V — 2 — 30). This is the biune inseparable nature of the supramental Light or supramental Heaven revealed in the Truth-World. Again Veru Veli corresponds with "Tat Para Veli", and Peru Veli with "Cit Para Veli". See 10-II-2-2 Tat Para Veli is also spoken of as Thani Veli, Sukhateeta Veli, Suddha Siva Veli, Satcitananda Thani Para Veli, Thani Porul Veli, Suddha or Mei Veru Veli (the Veru Veli of Truth and Purity) — See Joti Agaval stzs. (36, 37, 25, 31, 14, 476). However to possess the whole of Truth-Consciousness in all its poises, one shall enter into and possess or become Tat Para Veli (or Tat Joti) and that happens in the summit poise of Supermind.

In a simpler context, the supreme Reality or the Divine Being is described to be the Player within the Light which is in the Heaven or Sky of Truth. வானாகி வான் நடுவே மன்னும் ஒளியாகி அதில் தான் ஆடு வானாகி (11-40-71-1); பெருவெளியே பெருவெளியில் பெருஞ் சோதி மயமே பெருஞ்சோதி மய நடுவே பிறங்கு தனிப் பொருளே (11-36-20). Also see opening para of "Peru Vinnappam". He has become the Heaven, the eternal Light of the Heaven and the Player within the Light.

Again coming to the Veru Veli spoken of in the stanza under consideration we have to point out that it is the supreme Void or the positive Void in and from which and in harmony with it arises the manifestation of the true universe one with the Divine, not the illusory or a lesser manifestation. It is the supreme spaceless infinite (Veru Veli) in which universal space of Truth-Consciousness arises. It is not the empty Void or the spaceless infinite which is experienced in the ranges of spiritual mind or overmind as an exclusive absolute experience of the Buddhist school or even of the school of Monism. In such schools, if at all, the universe is felt and experienced therein, it is dissociated and remains separate from the spaceless experience, and in the extremity of dissociation, is felt even illusory. Here in this stanza it is said that in and from the supreme Void, the Divine takes a beautiful form in Por Sabha the apprehending supermind which is the second poise of Truth-Consciousness.

“I have realised the infinite and great Lord of the Home of Supreme Knowledge-Power (Uttara Jnana Siddhi Ma Puram Perum Pati), the Light of Knowledge in the Supreme Sky of Truth-Consciousness (Uttara Jnana Cidambara Joti), the Truth, the unique Consciousness, the One in the dynamic play of excellent Truth-Knowledge (i. e. dynamic Knowledge-Will, Uttara Jnana Natam), the Founder and Teacher of the Path of purity, truth and the right of Supreme Truth-Knowledge (Uttara Jnana Suddha Sanmarga), praised universally by all”.

NOTE: Swami Ramalingam also designated Vadalur the place of his final settlement symbolically, by the same name of “Uttara Jnana Cidambaram” (the World or Space of Supreme Truth-Knowledge), as he got his highest realisation of the Vast Grace-Light of Truth-Consciousness in that place which is in Tamil Nadu near the ancient temple-city of Cidambaram which is distinguished by the Swami as “Poorva Jnana Cidambaram” where he, as a child of 5 months old, had the vision of the spaceless infinite (Veli) and smiled before Nataraja, the deity of the shrine.

In regard to the Light of Truth-Consciousness, compare with Sri Aurobindo's lines in “Savitri”;

“Once in the immortal boundlessness of Self,
 In a vast of Truth and Consciousness and Light
 The soul looked out from its felicity.
 It felt the Spirit's interminable bliss,
 It knew itself deathless, timeless, spaceless, one,
 It saw the Eternal, lived in the Infinite”

(Savitri, Bk 6 — cto 2, p. 514 — 515)

“Our greater self of Knowledge waits for us,
 A supreme light in the truth-conscious Vast:
 It sees from summits beyond thinking mind,
 It moves in a splendid air transcending life.
 It shall descend and make earth's life divine”.

(Savitri, Bk 7 — cto 2, p. 550)

“There is a plan in the Mother’s deep world-whim.
To evoke a person in the impersonal Void,
With the Truth-Light strike earth’s massive roots of trance,
Wake a dumb self in the inconscient depths...
And the world manifest the unveiled Divine”

(Savitri, Bk 1 — cto 4 — p. 83).

“Whereas the gods of heaven namely Brahmas, Vishnus, and others are doing great Tapas of concentrated aspiration and will for a long time praying the Sweet Blissful Lord who is on a blissful bed of flower in Maṇi Mādam, the Diamond Terrace or the high-seated Terrace of Diamond Light of Knowledge (i.e. tertiary supermind), praying to take them there to His Lotus Feet by crossing through the white-crystal Hall (பளிக்கு அறை — பளிங்கு மண்டபம் i.e. the summit overmind in the range of Cit-tapo and Sat Overmind which are realms of white) and while they are anxiously waiting still for the hour of fulfilment, O Lord, Thou hast come by Thy own will into my hut where I live and hast not only fed me with the good Ambrosia but also joyfully entered into the flesh of my body as well as into the secret chamber of my heart of love”.

NOTE: In this stanza, the tertiary supermind is referred to as Maṇi Mādam, the Diamond Terrace, which is realised by crossing over the white crystal hall of summit overmind. In the Terrace there is a divine Platform (Peetam or Mēdai cf: Deiva Maṇi Peetam in the Tejomaya Mādam தேசறும் அம் மாட நடு தெய்வமணி பீடம் 1—1—43—3). Here the platform is spoken of as a blissful couch of flower-bed. In the other stanzas of the same poem, it is mentioned as Mei Jnana Maṇi Mēdai, the Diamond Platform of Truth-Knowledge, Satya Mā Mēdai, the great Platform of Truth, Peru Veli Maṇi Mēdai, the Diamond Platform in the Vastness of Heaven, Arul Veli Medai, the Platform in the Vast Heaven of Grace, Vella Veli Ma Medai the great Platform in the Pure Transcendence (stzs. 3, 4, 5, 6, and 9). See also stanzas 14 & 15 of "Arul Villakka Malai" where "Maṇi Mēdai and Pon Mēdai — the Diamond Platform and Golden Platform" are referred to as an experience in the tertiary supermind. In stz. 77 of the said poem there is also reference to the Pon Mādam, the Golden Terrace. See notes under stzs 14 & 15 of that poem (11 — 36).

The Divine Feet of the Lord of the Supramental World have entered into the earth and visited the Swami's place and united with his heart and mind and body of flesh.

The white-crystal Hall refers to the summit overmind in the range of Cit-Tapo and Sat Overmind. This seems to correspond with what Sri Aurobindo describes in his poem "The Island Sun" as "the silver bar".

"I have sailed the golden ocean
And crossed the silver bar;
I have reached the Sun of Knowledge

(The Island Sun, 'Last Poems', p. 33).

FURTHER NOTE: In this poem 11-26 entitled as "Tiruvadi Pugālchi" or "the glory of the divine Feet", the divine Feet (Tiruvadigal திருவடிகள்) are said to have descended down into the Swami's place and entered into in his inner and outer being and his body of flesh and are referred to as the Feet that have the source and seat of existence in the Mei Jnana Maṇi mēdai or Peru Veli Maṇi Mēdai, the Diamond Platform of the Truth-Conscious Vast Heaven, i. e., the tertiary supermind. In the poem 11—22 entitled as "Tiruvadi Nilai" திருவடி நிலை, "the State of the Divine Feet" or the state of the biune Feet of the Divine i. e. biune oneness or the "Two-in-one" state of the divine Feet refers to the apprehending supermind. Thus, in the one case Tiruvadigal திருவடிகள் the divine Feet (in the plural meaning two Feet) signify the tertiary poise of supermind and, in the other, the state of the biune divine Feet திருவடி அல்லது திருவடி நிலை (in the singular meaning biune one) indicates the apprehending supermind.

The Tamil word "maṇi" generally signifies the nine kinds of gems but more specially refers to diamond. "Maṇi" has other meanings also—beauty, excellence, luminosity etc.

“The golden Grace in Mani Manṛu the diamond world or sky of the diamond Light of Knowledge (i. e. in the apprehending supermind, the Por Sabha) which the Vedas and Agamas praise finding it difficult to measure its fineness of purity, the golden Power of Supreme Will, the precious golden Lord who is rarely realised and who performs the five universal functions, the golden Lord of utter purity or fineness who rules and possesses my being, the golden green Lord of par excellence, the golden red Lord, the golden Truth that manifests in the Sky of the Consciousness of Knowledge (Sivamaya (mām) Ponnai or Pon Ayyah in Jnana Cidambaram), the golden Lord who has entered into air, fire, ether, etc— Him I saw, I ripened in Him, I became blissfully one with Him (in self-identity)”.

NOTE: Mani Manṛu the diamond World of Knowledge or the World of Diamond Light of Knowledge refers to the apprehending supermind. It is the same as Por Sabha. Stzs.1,4 and 5 describe the Lord of the Golden Sabha (Kanka Sabha Pati) which is the apprehending supermind wherein the triple experience of the Divine by a seeing (i. e. mutuality), a ripening (i. e. fusion), and a oneness arise, that is to say, the Union with the Divine in Por Sabha, the apprehending supermind, gives rise to a triple experience of a mutuality, a fusion and a oneness which is referred to by Sri Aurobindo in his “Life Divine” under the chapter “the Eternal and the Individual”. In the Chapter “Triple Status of Supermind”, Sri Aurobindo refers to the triple experience of the soul in apprehending supermind where it can enjoy its unity with the One and with all soul-forms (cf: “Tatpara Kooththan—TM”; “Kalandhen—SR”) and also enjoy its relations of a free difference in unity with The One and with all its forms (cf: “Sambandha Kooththan—TM”; “Kanindhēn”—SR) and also enjoy its individual movement (cf: “Sevaka Kooththan—TM”. “Kanden—SR”). This triple experience is referred to by Tirumoolar as a triple play or dance of the Divine in Por Sabha, as the Sevaka Kooththu, Sambhanda Kooththu and Tatpara Kooththu—triple play in mutuality of service, in fusion of intimate relationship and in a oneness of identity (TM: 2742).

Swami Ramalingam also observes in another stanza elsewhere (11-19) that verily the divine Lord Himself also saw him, became blissful (i.e. by a ripened sweetness of fusion or fused relationship with him), and became one with him (in self-identity). கண்டான் களித்தான் கலந்திருந்தான். The stanza is quoted below:

“The Lord of the equal Truth-World which the ancient four Vedas and Agamas seek, gladly took me into his possession as His servant or as an instrument of His service (Adimai or Sevaka); He did not look into my faults but overlooked or forgave them, He saw me (i.e. in mutuality of an objective unity), He became blissful, (i.e. ripened in me into a sweetness of fused subjective-objective unity of relationship with me), He became one with me (in self-identity)"—11-19-8 Also, we quote below Sri Aurobindo's poems for a comparison:

"All Nature is taught in radiant ways to move,
 All beings are in myself embraced.
 O fiery boundless Heart of joy and love,
 How art thou beating in a mortal's breast!...
 My body thy vessel is and only serves
 As a living wine-cup of Thy ecstasy.....
 I am a centre of Thy golden Light
 And I its vast and vague circumference,
 Thou art my soul great, luminous and white
 And Thine my mind and will and glowing sense.
 Thy spirit's infinite breath I feel in me;
 My life is a throb of Thy eternity".

(Bliss of Identity — Last Poems — p.28).

"I have become a foam-white sea of bliss,
 I am a curling wave of God's delight
 I am a cup of His felicities,
 A thunderblast of His golden ecstasy's might,
 A fire of joy upon creation's height ...
 I have looked, alive, upon the Eternal's face.."

(Bliss of Brahman — More Poems — p.69).

The oneness, fusion and embrace — a oneness, a ripened sweetness and a mutual seeing (cf: Kalandhēn Kanindhēn and Kandēn — SR) — a oneness, a relationship, and Service (cf: Tatpara, Sambandha and Sevaka — TM) are indicated as experiences in Por Sabha by the said poems of Sri Aurobindo. Thus, in the poem "Bliss of Identity", the embrace of all beings in himself, himself as a centre and circumference of the Golden Light (i.e., fusion), and the supreme Divine as his very luminous white soul (i.e., oneness) refer to the said triple union in Por Sabha which is indicated as a realm of Golden Light. In the poem "Bliss of Brahman" the first line indicates oneness with the Divine by the comprehending action of Consciousness (i.e., becoming a foam-white sea of Bliss), the next four lines the fusion (i.e., a curling wave of God's delight or of His Golden ecstasy's might upon Creation's height— i.e. முடிநிலை Mudi Nilai the apprehending consciousness of supermind or Por Sabha) — the fusion of the closest intimate relationship of “a free difference in unity”, and the last line the mutuality (i.e., looking upon the Eternal’s Face), the mutuality of objective dealing or embrace as an individual movement experienced by the more projecting or frontal action of Consciousness. Thus, practically the essential nature of both Cit Sabha and Por Sabha, the comprehending and apprehending supermind are experienced in Por Sabha itself (i.e., without entering into Cit Sabha above nor by descending into Sanmarga Sabha the tertiary supermind). Possibly because of this practical integral experience Por Sabha seems to have been indicated as the highest goal by Saiva Siddhanta school of the middle ages though it did not enter into that realm and possess it. This is to be distinguished from the Suddha Siddhanta experience of Tirumoolar, Swami Ramalingam and Sri Aurobindo in Por Sabha itself though they are not limited to this experience alone.

FURTHER NOTES

(a) From the above stanzas of the Swami and Sri Aurobindo’s cited poems, it is seen that the white Light (or Diamond Light) and the Golden Light signify respectively the play of the Two-in-One in the apprehending Supermind, i.e. Self-poise of the Supreme and Universal Divine, and His poise of Conscious Force bringing the souls into a subjective-objective frontal manifestation. Possibly because of this Swami Ramalingam seems to refer the apprehending supermind by calling it as Por Sabha, the Golden world or the World of Golden Light or Knowledge and also as Maṇi Manru, the diamond world or the World of Diamond Light of Knowledge. See for more details Stzs. 11-36-60, 61 and 96 and notes thereunder.

(b) In some of the stanzas elsewhere he also combines the two features of this apprehending supermind and observes the Light as மாமணிப்பொருடர் “Mani Por Sudar” the Diamond-Golden Flame, as மின்னியப் பொன் மணிமன்று “Pon Mani Manru” the dazzling Golden-Diamond World of Light and Knowledge, and as பொன் உரைக்கும் மணிமன்றில் the Golden-Diamond world of Light and Knowledge (see 11-36-96, 60, 61 and 12-44-15). In the “Upadesha” the Swami observes that the colour of the soul is white and golden and that it is constituted of three-fourth of whiteness and one-fourth of golden and the soul-spark (Ānma anu) has the effulgence of a crore of suns (See Upadesha item 108, p. 92).

(c) Further, the Swami refers to the tertiary poise of Supermind as Satya Mā Mēdai the great Platform of Truth, as Mei Jnana Mani Mēdai, the Platform of Diamond Light of Truth - Knowledge, as Percu Veli Mani Medai, the Diamond Platform in the Vastness of Heaven (See 11-26-3, 5 and 9) and as Mani Medai the Diamond Platform and as Pon Mēdai, the Golden Platform and also as Pon Madam the Golden Terrace (see 11-36-14, 15, 48 & 77) and as Mani Madam the Diamond Terrace (11-26-1). That is to say, he refers to the experiences of the Terrace and upon it the Platform (Pon Madam or Mani Madam and upon it Pon Medai or Mani Medai) as occurring in the tertiary supermind. He identifies them with the said realm or session of Truth-Knowledge. (See 1-1-43-3 and 11-26-1).

“He is the Lord hiding Himself even from those Mukta Purushas, the liberated souls who are much praised by the world to be men of Knowledge, who have renounced all the desires and attachments and who have realised and are poised in the state of Siddhanta after a long time of discipline, or in the state of Vedanta which is followed in the current times, or in the state of Bodhanta, or Nadanta which are ways of tedious disciplines or in the states or goals pointed out by all other ways of spiritual discipline. “He is the Lord of Compassion, the God of Vast Grace-Light, the true and integral Bliss of Satcitananda (Suddha Siva Poorana Mei Sukham) most difficult to attain, the Supreme Being of the world of Truth-Consciousness (Cittrambalam) full of the Substance of Truth, My Father who has begotten me, My Mother, the Lord of the Treasure of benevolent Kindness, who by Himself out of His own Will, has favoured me in the right time with the all-effectuating omnipotent Power and Substances of the Truth-Conscious Knowledge-Will எல்லாம் செய்யவல்ல சித்தாம்பொருள் and transformed my impure body, which was dragging towards obscurity of consciousness, into a pure and deathless body of eternal purity. I saw Him with my eyes; I ripened in Him; I became blissfully one with Him (in self-identity)".

NOTE: In this last stanza the Swami confirms that the Divine whom he saw and in whom he became a ripe fruit of sweetness of Bliss and with whom he became one is verily the Lord of the Cittrambalam, the Comprehending Supermind. In the earlier stanzas, this Lord has been referred to as the Lord of the Golden Sabha, Kanaka Sabha Pati. It is to be understood that it is one and the same Lord or supreme Being of Cittrambalam who has become the Universal Lord in Ponnambalam, the Golden Sabha. Further, when one's soul enters into the Golden Sabha, the apprehending supermind, it can by its comprehending action of consciousness enjoy its unity with the Divine and by its apprehending or projecting frontal action of consciousness enjoy its relations of a free difference in unity with the Divine (i. e. in a subjective-objective fusion) and by its individual movement enjoy a more objective mutual dealing with the Divine (i. e., in a mutuality of objective unity) such as embracing or seeing Him (see SA: Life Divine - Triple Status of Supermind, p. 136). Therefore, in the very apprehending supermind or Por Sabha itself, the essential nature of the Divine as in His Comprehending Supermind is also obtained in experience by unity with Him but as yet without ascending or entering into the latter realm, i. e., the Cit Sabha itself. So the Divine of the triple union or triple experience is referred to here as none other than the Lord of Cittrambalam or Cit Sabha. This also explains as to why the Swami invariably refers to in many songs both Cit Sabha and Por Sabha or refers to the Divine as the Lord of Cit Sabha and of Por Sabha. Of course the characteristic experience of Cit Sabha as obtained in its own proper realm is also described in other songs given below.

The Swami mentions his experience of utter unity of oneness in self-identity with the Supreme and Universal Divine of the Cit Sabha in the very Cit Sabha itself.

Or as the Good Preceptor of Truth who has come to remove death and give me ever-growing and ever-progressing perfection of Life.”

NOTE: “Yoga” in this stanza is used in its two different shades of meaning, as the state of concentration in and for Truth-Consciousness (Yoga Mei Jnana), and as the unity of self-identity with the Divine (Eka Mei Jnana Yoga). Vision, i.e. supramental vision is called by the Swami a yoga siddhi, and it comes as a result of concentration which is also a movement in Knowledge. Knowledge by self-identity, i.e. Jnana proper is the final achievement and the Swami refers to it as Jnana Siddhi, by which one gets the Knowledge of beings (Anma Jnana) and Knowledge of things (Tatva Jnana). NOTE : The Lord asked the Swami to be present at the Dharma Shala in a morning. Dharma Shala was the Swami's living premises at Vadalur where feeding of the needy and the hungry and the poor was also undertaken every day since it was started by the Swami in 1867 and it is continued ever since. The Lord, by an appointment as it were, gave the Swami the whole and full realisation of Truth-Consciousness of Supermind at this place in a morning hour. I pray Thee to accept gracefully my garland of praise”.

NOTE : By an integral realisation of Truth-Consciousness, the Swami enjoys all forms of Nature as the very Form of the Supreme and Universal Lord. Here the commonest things of nature appeal even to his senses with a divine sweetness and sublimity. Supreme Bliss results even from the pleasure of the senses due to an impact or contact of the things of nature on his highest Truth-sense. In “Anubhavamalai”, stz. 75, the Swami refers to the Bliss arising from the Truth-Sense (i.e. Supramental sense or sensation) when embracing the divine body of the Supreme Lord.

“O Supreme! Thou hast kept me in the high-seated Maṇi Mēdai the Diamond Platform or the Platform of Diamond Light, (i.e. in the tertiary supermind) so as to be appreciated by the blessed beings of that Country who have gathered around. O Master who gives gifts (of intuition and inspiration) to the poets as and when composing songs. The glorious hymn or song of the Vedas is the result of a true composition. O my Companion! O Beloved of the harmonious Shakti (Sivakāma Valli)! O my King! O Husband of my soul! O my Teacher! O My Guna (or Supreme Quality of Nature)! O Lord of Play of the Law in Maṇi Maṇṇu, the World of Diamond Light of Knowledge (i.e. apprehending supermind) which the wise praise in worship. Condescend to accept my words of praise”.

NOTE : In stanza 48 the Lord is addressed thus: “O supreme and excellent Being that kept me in the Diamond Platform” மணி மேடை நடு இருக்கவைத்த ஒரு மணியே. Compare with the poem of Sri Aurobindo entitled as “The Island Sun” which refers to the tertiary supermind:

“I have sailed the golden ocean
And crossed the silver bar;
I have reached the Sun of Knowledge
The earth-self's midnight star.

Its fields of flaming vision,
 Its mountains of bare might,
 Its peaks of fiery rapture,
 Its air of absolute light,
 Its seas of self-oblivion,
 Its vales of Titan rest,
 Became my soul's dominion,
 Its Island of the Blest.
 Alone with God and silence,
 Timeless it lived in Time;
 Life was His fugue of music,
 Thought was Truth's ardent rhyme.
 The Light was still around me
 When I came back to earth
 Bringing the Immortal's knowledge
 Into man's cave of birth.

(The Island Sun)

NOTE: The "golden ocean" seems to refer to the golden gnostic overmind and/or the ananda overmind which is orange golden. "Silver bar" seems to refer to Cit-tapo overmind and/or Sat overmind.

Thus, "Mani Medai, the Diamond Platform", and "Pon Mēdai", the Golden Platform (see the next stanza 15) seem to agree with the nature of the "Island Sun" or "its Island of the Blest" hinted by Sri Aurobindo, that is to say, they signify tertiary supermind. See Chart No. 3. See poem 11—26 for more details on Mei Jnana Mani Medai or Peru Veli Medai, the platform of Truth-Knowledge in the Vast Heaven.

NOTE: “Adi Kanaka Ambalam” may also mean the lower golden world of Knowledge i. e., the tertiary supermind which is subsidiary to the apprehending supermind.

bring out in manifestation. O Flame that spreads its light so as to manifest or illumine the whole of Suddha Para loka anda (the purer world and planes of Suddha Param) wherein one gets Knowledge (Knowledge of the self and the cosmic consciousness). O Supreme King of Play of Knowledge in Podu, the equal Truth-World which Satya Jnanananda Siddhars (the yogis of perfect Knowledge and perfect Nature poised in the Bliss of Truth-Consciousness) praise”.

NOTE: (a) The Swami describes the ascending order of worlds (i.e. tatva lokas) and their planes (i.e. andas of the tatva loka). Each world is a realm of four main planes, which in turn further manifests bringing out sixteen planes which are the aspects or powers of the said world, i.e. of a particular tatva called here as tatva loka. “Param is used here in its general sense of heaven or realm or world of existence. Thus, he lists the order as follows in the following stanzas of this poem. See also chart no. 20 under S.No. 100.

- Stz. 28 : Pancha Bhuta Param (Realm of the five elements)
 Stz. 29 : Indriya Karaṇa Param (Realm of the senses and Mind)
 Stz. 30 : Paguti Param (Realm of Prakriti, i.e. Asuddha Maya)
 Stz. 31 : Mahamaya Param (Realm of the subliminal and universal Mind, Life and the Subtle-physical, i.e., of Suddha Asuddha Maya)
 Stz. 32 : Suddha Param (Realm of the Spiritual Mind and Overmind, i.e., of Suddha Maya)
 Stz. 33. The five Kalā Param (Realm of the five Kalās within the range of Suddha Maya)

The five Kalās are the Nivritti, Pratishtha, Vidya, Śānti, and Śāntiateeta Kalās which are the broad ranges of manifestation within Suddha Maya (see items 42 to 46 of “Tatva Lokas”, Ch. 1, under S. No. 101). Nada and Bindu or Siva and Shakti, (not the supreme but the cosmic Lord and Shakti) and the godheads and goddesses of these ranges take their formations in Suddha Maya but inspire and overrule their counterparts or sub-powers in Asuddha Prithvi (earth-nature), Asuddha Prakṛiti [Maya, Suddhāsuddha Maya and the purer intermediary link-worlds (see Ch. III, under S. No. 105 “Ādi Nitya Prēṛaka Mukti Lokas” and Introductory Notes under S. No. 104). The said principles and powers & the said godheads and goddesses also have their own hierarchy in the ranges of Suddha Maya for the purpose of a well-knit governing organization. They come generally within the range of items 30 to 93 of Tatva lokas both in causal Suddha Maya (93) and in effectual Suddha Maya (30 to 92) in a descending order-see also chart no. 20.

Stz. 34 : The five Omkara Param (Realm of the five aspects of "Om", the Omkara Nada within the range of Suddha Maya).

The five omkara are the manifested aspects of sound Om, i.e. (1) A, (2) U, (3) M, (4) Bindu and (5) Nada all of which go to constitute the syllable and sound and significance of "Om", and are represented by the five vaks or five kinds of speech namely Panchami (i.e. Para Vak), Sukshma (a lesser grade of Para Vak), Pashyanti, Madhyama and Vaikari (see Book of Upadesha, p. 108 explanation on Pranava; see also items 54 to 57 of "Tatva Lokas" in the Book of Vyakhyana). The inspired literature and arts are a result of the said five Vak of the Omkara Param.

Stz. 35 : Apra Shakti Param

The Param of Apra Shaktis, i.e., the realm of Apra Iccha, Apra Jnana and Apra Kriya Shaktis of Apra Bindu and also the realm of Nada (i.e. Apra Nada) come under the jurisdiction of Suddha Param or Suddha Maya (see items 32 to 37 of the Ch. "Tatva Lokas" and also corresponding terms under "Karanateeta Lokas"). They seem to represent essentially the powers of Spiritual Mind and of the Overmind excepting its summit range.

Stz. 36 : Para Shakti Param

The Param of Para Shaktis i.e. Para Iccha, Para Jnana, and Para Kriya Shaktis of Para Bindu (i.e., of Para Sukhārambha Cit Shakti. see items 97 to 100 of Tatva Lokas) are above Suddha Maya or Kutilai (global overmind) and they seem to represent the gnostic-ananda overmind ranges of the summit overmind.

NOTE : Tirodha the original veiling power form the border between Para Shakti Param (in the Summit Overmind range, i.e. in Suddha Maha Maya) and Apra Shakti Param (in Suddha Maya the global overmind range and through it all the ranges below it upto the lowest, i.e., the world of five elements).

Stz. 37 : Maha Suddha Param (the pure summit overmind range, i.e., of Suddha Maha Maya) Maha Suddha Param is the realm of Parā Shakti and Para Siva, the Cosmic Maha Shakti and the Cosmic Ishwara or Overlord possibly coming within Cit-Tapo and Sat Overmind ranges of the summit overmind.

Stz. 38 : The five Paranada Param (the Summit Overmind with its five planes).

Five Paranada Param is the heaven of the five-fold Paranada possibly corresponding to the highest of Sat Overmind which overrules the immediate five planes of the summit overmind i.e. sat, cit, tapo, ananda and gnostic overmind. Under item 103 of the "Tatva Lokas" Paranada Tatva is spoken of and its immediate scope of immanent pervasiveness (Vyāpti) is said to cover the fields of the six states Shat bhava, i.e. Para Iccha, Para Jnana, Para Kriya, Para Sukhārambha Cit Shakti, Parā Shakti and Para Siva (see items 96 to 102 of "Tatva Lokas"), that is to say, the whole range of Summit Overmind with its five planes. Paranada also extends (vyāpaka) into the realm of Nada below and through it finally into the physical world of elements, the world of Bhuta.

NOTE: See also Chart 6 and Chart 20 which deal with the correlation of the chapters "Tatva Lokas" and "Karanateeta Lokas" and the poem "Arul Viḷakka Mālai" — Stzs. 28 to 38,

The four main planes of each tatva loka which is here referred to as a param, are its rūpa, svarūpa, svabhāva and vyāpti powers of manifestation and from out of these four develop a total of sixteen planes containing twelve other planes namely vyāpaka, guna, viśeṣa (guna), varṇa, bhāva, paratva, aparatva, nimitta and nimitta viśeṣa, udbhava, adhikāra and laya which are the twelve powers of manifestation, including the many possibilities of manifestation of the tatva. The explanations of these details are given in the "Introductory Note on Tatva Lokas (see S. No. 99 in Vol. II). The last three namely udbhava, adhikāra and laya further develop or bring out 18 sub-planes, i.e. adhikāraṇa, karaṇa, parva, kārma, upakāra and upakāra prēraṇa, which are the six sub-powers of manifestation under each of the said three powers. Thus in the book of Vyakhyana each tatva is said to manifest 34 planes or aspects or powers of which the first four and their immediate development into sixteen powers are considered here as important in the stanzas 28 to 38 of the Poem "Arul Viḷakka Mālai". In all these stanzas, from 28 to 38, each realm (Param) with its sixteen planes (i.e. states or aspects or powers) is described to be illumined by the divine Light of the Truth-World. Stanzas 32, 37 and 38 in regard to the Suddha Param (Spiritual Mind and Overmind), Maha Suddha Param (the range of Summit Overmind), and Faranada Param (overmind gnosis or the highest summit-overmind or Sat overmind) are translated here. See also Charts 6 and 20. The whole gradations of worlds and their planes may be also studied in the background of the "Tatva Lokas" and "Karanateeta Lokas" given in the Book of Vyakhyana (see chart No. 20)

(b) In this stanza (stz. 32) now under consideration, the eternal Paramparam நித்த பரம்பரம் signifies the Comprehending Supermind which according to the Swami is a realm of Suddha Jnana where no distinction or differentiation can arise because it is one in oneness (i.e. one-in-one); or in other words the Supreme and Universal Divine is One and as the All (in the Heart of manifestation or Nadu paramparam பரம்பர நடுவரம்) without any confrontation of any other thing, even of the Consciousness-Force, the Supreme Shakti. In the Apprehending Supermind distinction or differentiation in the unity of oneness (i.e. Two-in-one) starts and so it is referred to here as the top or Source of beginning (Muḍi Nilai or Mudal முதலாய் அல்லது முடிநிலை) and the tertiary supermind as the base or bottom or end (அந்தமாய் அல்லது அடிநிலை Adi Nilai or Antam). In the summit supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda loka, all the triple poises of the supermind absolutely integrate and this is referred to as Samarasa Suddha Jnana (See "Satya Jnana Vinnappam", prose, p. 133).

“O Supreme Light that blossoms into pervasion pervading the pure and high Space of universal Form in the spaceless infinity of Truth (ஆய்ந்த பர சிவவெளி i.e. Suddha Para Siva Veli, the Supermind) and manifests the All, (i.e. the all-constituting Truth-World, Supermind) manifesting its Nature and as a result the five-aspected or five-fold pure-Paranada realm or heaven below and its stable states of manifestation have become established (i.e. five-Paranada Param having a pure jurisdiction over the immediate five planes of summit overmind). O unique and supreme Flame of Purity (Thooya Thani Sudar) that burns spreading its rays so as to bring into existence the pure and concentrated realm and planes of Paranada (Para nada loka and andas). O King of Dance who plays in Knowledge in the excellent beautiful Diamond Truth-World of purity which is enclosed within i.e. beyond Paranada (வேய்ந்த மணிமன்று). Deign to accept my garland of praise”.

NOTE: Paranada is the field or realm of the highly subtle and Potential Sound which one has to transcend in order to enter into the Truth-World. The Swami has observed in many songs that the Vast World of Truth-Knowledge is beyond the realm of Paranada. But yet Paranada keeps a ray or line of communication with the Truth-World. The realm of the five-fold Paranada seems to correspond with Sat Overmind but subsuming the five planes of summit-overmind in its immediate pure jurisdiction and they are given here in a descending order namely Sat, Cit, Tapo, Ananda and gnostic overmind. The five Paranada may be compared with the five nada referred to in Tirumantram 2759 of Tirumoolar. “The Sky of Knowledge has become the Platform for Play or Dance of the Lord. The Light from the biune Feet of the dancing Lord trickles as a ray for His poise in the five heavens of Nada (i.e. of Para Nada) where He descends or comes to bestow His Grace” (See also Note (3) under Chart No. 2). The Paranada realm is spoken of literally as a realm of drowning concentration தோய்ந்த பரநாத உலக அண்டம் Cf: Sri Aurobindo's Savitri:

"As one drowned in a sea of splendour and bliss Mute in the maze of these surprising worlds"

(Savitri, Bk 11—cto 1— p.761)

"Hiranyagarbha, author of thoughts and dream,
Who sees the invisible and hears the sounds
That never visited a mortal ear...
He is the voice of the Ineffable .
A Third spirit stood behind, their hidden cause.
His wordless silence brings the immortal word".

(Savitri, Bk 11—cto 1— p. 764—765).

"But now I listen to a greater Word
Born from the mute unseen omniscient Ray ;
The Voice that only Silence' ear has heard
Leaps missioned from an eternal glory of Day'
(Last Poems— "The Word of the Silence". —p.19).

“O Head-source in the Science of deathlessness of body (i.e., deathless etherial substance)! O soundless Fire that manifests in the motionless Air! O unobstructing Earth of Matter in the non-flowing Water! O unspoken Word of Truth in the pure Mantra! O unique Amrita that has given me an eternal indestructible body, thereby cancelling any necessity for the people to gather around and weep over the body in the otherwise ensuable event of its death. O Lord of Dance in Mani Podu the excellent Diamond Truth-World of Light and Knowledge (i.e., apprehending Supermind or Por Sabha or Mani Manru) worshipped by devotees in a supreme Love for Thee. Condescend to accept my garland of praise”.

NOTE: Stanza 11-2-20 refers to the triple formula of deathlessness of body namely Sāgātha Thalai (head-source of deathlessness), Vēgātha Kāl (non-burning gas) and Pōgātha Punal (non-flowing liquid). In Upadesha the Swami explains them respectively as Akasa (ether), Vayu (gas) and Agni (fire or heat). Thus Pōgātha Punal or non-flowing liquid is equated with fire; possibly it is a result of the fire principle such as in “the condensed blood” referred to as a transformatory change in body according to “Joti Agaval” poem. Blood contains the principle of fire but yet is a liquid, now changed in transformation as a non-flowing condensed blood. Fire and gas go always together. It becomes a creative non-burning gaseous heat of a divine kind that transforms the blood as a non-flowing condensed blood on the one hand and transforms the more material substances of the body such as bones, muscles and skin into pliable and supple substances so that they become unobstructing (இடியாத புனி Idiātha Puvī). Joti Agaval poem refers to the plasticity of bones, muscles and skin as marks of the Swami's transformed body. Stz. 12-4-2 specifically refers to the plasticity and suppleness of his body as a whole and the body is spoken of as a non-obstructing penetrable body—penetrable by the natural elements and radio-active cosmic rays and even by instruments of weapon without doing any harm to it (படையாலும் தடுக்கப்படுதலில்லாத தனி வடிவம்). Joti Agaval poem also refers to his transformed body as cool and refreshing possibly due to the principle of non-burning gas of the body.

Now in the stanza now under consideration the Swami mentions all the divinised five elements together and their connecting link with the deathless etherial substance through gas and fire, liquid and solid material base. The connecting link of gas and fire results in a creative gaseous heat and through it the effect of transformation percolates until it reaches into the liquid and material contents of the body. All cells attain deathlessness. For more details see Ch XVIII—part 4 in Vol I.

“O Supreme Light! I gave you willingly my life and soul, my body and my substance and Thou took them over and in Thy Joy entered into and united with me and hast given me Thy Life and Soul, Thy Body and Thy Substance (i. e. by way of transformation and perfection). O infinite and eternal Bliss who hast become the excellent Soul of perpetual souls (i. e. the Divine dwells in all souls and this in-dwelling has its more manifest origin in Por Sabha the apprehending supermind where the Lord as the Over Soul manifests the souls and abides in them for an intimate and mutual enjoyment). O my Eye of Vision! O Ambrosia! O Source of my Life! O Lord of Play of Knowledge in the dazzling and excellent Golden World of Light and Knowledge (Pon Maṇi Manru, the apprehending supermind). Thou accept and wear the Truth by Grace. Condescend to take up and wear the garland of my words of lesser truth”.

NOTE: (a) When the highest Truth of realisation is expressed in words it becomes a partial and lesser truth. Hence the Swami calls his words here as of lesser truth.

(b) “Maṇi means gem, jewel, diamond, excellent. Here in the context Pon Maṇi Manru may mean the excellent Golden world or Golden diamond World of Light and Knowledge. From the above songs, it is seen that the Swami indicates Por Sabha the Golden world of Truth-Knowledge which is the apprehending Supermind by the terms “Pon Manru, Pon Maṇi Manru, and Maṇi Manru”. Golden diamond world (Pon Maṇi Manru) would mean here the world of Golden Light (as of dazzling golden gem). Pon Manru means Golden world or world of golden Light, Maṇi Manru means Diamond world or world of Diamond-Light of dazzling whiteness. Tertiary Supermind is Similarly indicated by the terms “Pon Medai, (Golden Platform), Maṇi Medai (Diamond Platform) and Pon Madam (Golden Terrace) and Maṇi Madam (Diamond Terrace). The golden or diamond Platform is on the golden or diamond Terrace.

(c) See also stz. 12—1—654 and 655 and notes thereunder. Sri Aurobindo refers to the Diamond Light as jewel-lamp, Crystal, prism diamond-gaze etc. “மணி வளர் ஒளியே” “வளர் ஒளி மணியே” (11—21—1; 12—1—654) is the growing Light of Diamond referred to by the Swami. Evidently it is an experience in Por Sabha, the apprehending Supermind. It is a growing Diamond-Light that transforms the body (12—1—654) and gives the great deathless and immortal life. (Upadesha on kuligai mani p. 95). This “Maṇi” of growing Light can be obtained by the practice of Mantra i. e. by its repetition (11—21—1, 5) rather in silence (by Maru mauna). The Swami often declared that the Lord crowned him with a crown of Diamond Light (See the next stanza 61. “Maṇi Mudi” and notes thereunder).

“O Supreme Lord! Thou hast given me a permanent Golden body, a Mantra body and a Knowledge Body (i. e. the physical, subtle and causal bodies of a supramental or divine nature more commonly referred to as Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha) and hast crowned me with a crown of Diamond Light. Thou hast directed me to perform the five universal functions and Thou abideth in my inner and outer being and art well manifest in them effectively (அகமும் புறமும் பண்புற விளங்குகின்ற பதியே). O unique and supreme Light! Whenever I think of Thee, Thou manifest Thyself as the fresh Amrita of Bliss with clarity of Consciousness oozing in my heart and wholly filling it up with its sweetness. O Lord of play of Knowledge in the dazzling world of the Diamond Light of Knowledge (i. e. Mani Manru, the apprehending supermind). Thou have assumed and are wearing the Truth-Consciousness by Grace. Please wear the garland of my words of lesser truth”.

NOTE : (1) Stanzas 60—61 and 96 and stzs. 12—44—15 and 12—42—36 ; 11—36—1 ; and 11—40—7 (2), bring out the essential nature of Mani Manru the Diamond World (or the Golden diamond world பொன் உரைக்கும் மணி மன்று) of Knowledge which signify the apprehending supermind. Mani Manru (stz. 61), Pon Mani Manru (stz. 60) and Pon uraikkum Mani Manru 12—44—15 are one and the same world.

(2) In Upadesha, the Swami speaks of the light of soul which in brilliance equals to the light of a crore of suns. He also observes that the soul's light is constituted by three-fourths of white light and one-fourth of golden light (Upadesha p. 92—Seven screens of the soul). Possibly this is the manifestation of soul's light in Por Sabha the Golden World or session of Truth-Knowledge where there is an intimate subjective-objective unity of relationship of the Divine and the soul as He—I (பொன்னம்பலத்தே...நானாகித் தானாகி நண்ணுகின்ற தெய்வம்). The white light of the soul possibly represents its inherent light, its light of the Divine Essence; and the golden light of the soul represents the soul's characteristic manifestation in Por Sabha the Golden World of Knowledge See 11—28—4 and 5. Or in other words, we may say that the soul enjoys in one and the same world or session (Mani Manru or Por Sabha) both the Light of the Divine in His supreme essential Being (or as the concentrated white Diamond Light of Knowledge, Mani) and the Golden Light of the Divine in His characteristic manifestation (or as the concentrated golden Light of golden Flame or golden Diamond or golden Gem Pon Maṇi). Other shades of colour lights may also be manifested from both the white and the golden (see 11-28-4 and 5; 11-36-1; 12-42-36). The Swami refers to the Diamond and the Golden Flame together. So the white Diamond Light has the inherent capacity to manifest also the Golden Flame or Golden Light in Por Sabha or Mani Manru. மருள் கடிந்த மா மணியே மாற்று அறியாப் பொன்னே (11-36-1); பம்பு மணி ஒளியோ நற் பசும் பொன்னின் கடரோ" (12-42-36).

Cit Sabha the Comprehending Supermind is a field of equal concentration or of equal self-extension of the Divine and so of His Light too. Por Sabha, the apprehending Supermind is a field of unequal concentration and hence of differentiation or distinction in unity. Here the Light may be felt or experienced in a certain poise of experience as a concentrated brilliant lustre of white Light as of Diamond or Gem, radiating its Light of Knowledge everywhere, like the Sun or Flame. The Swami very often characterises the concentrated Light as the Flame (Sudar), as the Sun, as Diamond - Lamp, as the Diamond or Gem (Maṇi). See stanza 96 and stz. 11-40-7 (2). The Diamond - Light then becomes the Golden Light in Por Sabha. We quote Sri Aurobindo in illustration.

"To the envisaging mind there are three powers of the Vijnana (Supermind). Its supreme power knows and receives into it from above all the infinite existence, consciousness and bliss ... the absolute Knowledge and force of Satchidananda. Its second power concentrates the Infinite into a dense luminous Consciousness Caitanyaghana or cidghana, the seed-state of the divine consciousness". "It is as if the infinite light were gathered up into the compact orb of the sun and lavished on all that depends on the sun in radiances that continue for ever". (Synthesis of yoga p. 554, 553).

“ O supreme and pure and shoreless Sky of infinite Vastness of Truth-Consciousness (Suddha Siva Veli, the Supramental Vastness) which contains within It all the seven and the farther spaces and has also become the secret inner Space within the said spaces such as Para Veli, Naḍu Veli (the mid space, i.e. Parampara Veli the global overmind space), Upasānta Veli or Pāl Veli (the space of intense Peace and Repose, i.e. Parāpara Veli, the gnostic overmind) etc., and which the great Vedas of synthesis have been vainly searching for by their power of knowledge each separately in its own way and got tired and languished, unable to trace and measure out the Space of Truth beyond the said spaces and which they have come to glorify. O Sweet Lord of Love and play of Knowledge ! Condescend to accept my word and thought of Praise of Thy Glory ”.

NOTE : (1) The spaces if counted from Para Veli, (See Chart no. 4 & 4 A in Vol I) i.e. Para Jagrata state or Higher Mind, they would be as follows : (1) Para Jagrata, the Higher Mind, (2) Para Swapna, the Illumined Mind, (3) Para Susupti, the Intuitive Mind, (4) Para Turya or Siva jagrata, the selective or lower Overmind, (5) Naḍu Veli or Siva Swapna, the middle Space, i.e., global Overmind, (6) Upasānta Veli or Siva Susupti which is பாழ் வெளி Pāl Veli, the silent space of Peace and Repose, i.e., the gnostic overmind, the first plane of summit overmind (7) Ananda overmind, (8) Tapo overmind, (9) Cit overmind and (10) Sat Overmind, the highest plane of summit overmind. Beyond it is the Peru Veli or Suddha Siva Veli, the Vastness of the Truth-World of Purity. In the above order Nadu Veli the middle i.e., global overmind comes as the fifth space among the ten spaces above listed. It is also the middle between lower and summit overmind. The seven spaces referred to in the stanza may mean the spaces from Para Turya the selective overmind onwards upto Sat Overmind ; or if counted (according to another interpretation) from the Upasanta Veli, which is also called Pāl Veli or Upasanta Pāl Veli உபசாந்தப் பாழ்வெளி then there are five skies only of the summit overmind, i.e., from gnostic overmind to Sat overmind. The Mother, Sri Aurobindo Ashram, has divided the Summit Overmind into the said five planes (See “ Savitri paintings ” plate 6—BK I—cto V). Then the same five skies or spaces seem to have been classified here into seven spaces, possibly denoting ‘ the seven immortal earths ’ (beneath the triple mystic heaven of Supermind) referred to by Sri Aurobindo in his “ Epic Poem ” Savitri under the chapter ‘ Everlasting Day ’. Then it seems that the overmind Gnosis or Summit overmind planes are classified differently according to the context. In the chapter on “ Tatva Lokas ” the summit overmind, which is beyond Kutila the global overmind of Suddha Maya, is mentioned as giving rise to seven states or levels of experience viz. (1) Para Iccha Shakti, (2) Para Jnana Shakti, (3) Para Kriya Shakti (4) Para Sukhārambha Cit Shakti, (5) Adhara Parā Shakti, (6) Para Siva, (7) Paranada (See items 97 to 103 of Tatva Lokas and chart No. 20.) The Swami himself classifies it into three levels in another stanza (see 12-40-13). The same is signified by the Swami as the " five Paranada " in his stanza (11-36-38). Tirumoolar also refers to it as the five nada planes of the Ray of Light (TM : 2759). Sri Aurobindo would also refer to the said seven earths as three levels namely the outer courts or the first domains, the middle regions of the unfading Ray, and the top levels. See also note (2) under chart 3.

(2) Further, we have to conclude that Upasānta Veli or Parāpara Veli is the overmind Gnosis or summit overmind and represents collectively its planes which are classified into seven planes or into five or three as the case may be. Parāpara Veli, apart from its general collective sense, has also its special or particular significance as the first plane or realm of the said classifications i.e., the gnostic overmind.

(3) The shoreless Suddha Siva Veli implies also the spaceless Infinite within the Supramental Vast Truth-Space.

“O Supreme Truth that gave Itself to me and became my possession on a (fine) morning. O Bliss! O fragrant Fruit that ripend in my Thought and Will! O supreme Lord who gave me, on one morning when I was in an unity of concentration at the Dharma Shala (i. e. the swami's residence at Vadalur), all the supreme Result aspired and sought after both in this birth and past births. O Treasure of Samarasa Suddha Sanmarga Sangha, the Brotherhood of the Path of Purity, Harmony, Truth and the Good! O Lord Thou wear garland of the best words of worship among all the garlands. O my Lord of the Supreme Play of Knowledge. Condescend to accept my garland of praise”.

NOTE: This stanza refers to the realisation of the whole and integral Truth-Consciousness (i. e. supermind) which he had at the Dharma Shala premises at Vadalur where he was asked by the Divine to be present on one morning for the purpose.

“O Supreme State of Bliss as of concentrated sugar Syrup! O Supreme Truth that showed the soul and self (Cit Padam and Tat Padam) in the Golden State (or Feet) of Knowledge (i.e. in Por Sabha the Golden World of Truth-Knowledge where one's self and soul join but without merging). O supreme Truth that transcends not merely word and speech, but also the three states (i. e. Jeeva, Para and Siva—psychic, spiritual mental and overmental), and the state of (the true) Transcendence (Turya Padam the Supermind). O my Teacher who hast blessed me with Thy Good Feet and in a second of time gave me all the Knowledge that has to be known and made me become Thyself. O Lord of Play of Knowledge in Mani Manru, the world of Diamond Light of Knowledge (i.e. in the apprehending supermind) whom the masters in various states of realisation praise. Please accept my garland of praise”.

NOTE: In Por Sabha the apprehending supermind, the Self-poise of the supreme Being (Tat Padam), and His Consciousness-Force (Cit Padam) become differentiated in the unity (but not separated). This is the Plane where the Individual Divine or Jivatman with his self and soul comes into a frontal manifestation and enjoys his union with the Divine Being and His Shakti.

Thou hast fed me with Amrita of Grace and Bliss, adorned me with an ornament(i.e. with a golden bracelet) and crowned me with the Crown of Sun Light (Kadir Mudi) evoking a sense of wonder in the great godheads such as Brahma seated on the fragrant lotus. O Golden Flame of the great Gem or Diamond (i.e. the Gem giving golden Flame of Light, Mā Mani Por Sudar of Por Sabha, the apprehending supermind) that manifests in the essence of the Vedas. O Infinitely Vast Light of the Heaven (i.e. Supermind) that transcends Mind and Speech ...”

NOTE: “Mā Mani Por Sudar” may also mean the great Diamond (of white Light) that sheds (also) the golden Flame (in Por Sabha). That is to say, the white Diamond Light has the inherent capacity to manifest also the Golden Flame or golden Light in Por Sabha, the apprehending Supermind. The Swami refers to the Diamond and the Golden Flame together in stz. 12—42—36 பம்பு மணி ஒளியோ நற் பசும் பொன்னின் சுடரோ” and in 11—36—1 “மருள் கடித்த மாமணியே மாற்று அறியாப் பொன்னே மன்றில் தடம்புகின்ற மணவாளா”. See notes under stanza 61 above.

In stz. 11-29-8 also the divine Lord of Por Sabha is addressed essentially as the concentrated Diamond-Light and as the fineness of Golden Light. Thus the world wherein the dazzling white Diamond-Light and the Golden Light of Truth - Knowledge are experienced is one and the same world namely, the apprehending Supermind and is called accordingly by either name i. e., Maṇi Manru or Pon Manru or even by a combined name as Pon Maṇi Manru or as the world of Mā Maṇi Por Sudar, but more commonly by the name of Por Sabha or Kanaka Sabha the world of Golden Light. According to the poems Anubhava mālai (12-42-36), Tiruvadi Perumai (12-37-3) and Siva Siva Joti (1-V-3-5) and the collection of songs (11-40-28), this world of Light can also give out all other colour Lights of Knowledge such as the red Light of Ruby, the orange Light of Coral, the green Light of Emerald, the blue Light of Sapphire, the silvery Light of Pearl and the multi-coloured Lights of Crystal, And the Lord of Por Sabha is described by Swami Ramalingam as married and united with him and as manifesting in His outer Nature all these colour Lights, also.

On the basis of the discovery of modern science by Edwin Land the physicist in 1959, the physically seen white light and the yellow-orange light (i. e., the golden light) which is of wave-length above 585 millimicrons combine in their various intensities and proportions and bring out all other colour lights for the sensation of eyes and the brain. However we know that the white light by itself contains all the colour lights.

“O Protection! O Refuge! O Arut Peum Joti the Vast Grace—Light! O Refuge! O Vast Grace—Light! O Refuge! O Vast Grace—Light!
O Refuge! O Cit Joti the Light of Consciousness—Force! O Por Joti
the Golden Light! O Refuge! O Companion! O Support!

NOTE : Poems 11-16, 11-17, 11-18 & 11-21 and the Keertans on “Siva
Siva Joti” and “Mei Arul Vyappu”, elucidate the nature of Arut Perum Joti, the infinitely Vast Grace-Light.

Arut Perum Joti and Cit Joti (or Cit Param Joti) in the context and elsewhere in other poems of the Swami are identical. Arut Perum Joti the infinitely Vast Grace-Light is again the same as the Vast Light of supreme Grace (Per Arut Joti 11-16-5 ; and 1-V-3-15). It is the Vast Light of Cittrambalam the Comprehending Supermind, manifesting Grace (11-16-5 and 11-21-8). Again Joti yut Joti “the Light within Light ” manifest in Cittrambalam (11-21-3) signifies the supreme Light of supreme Truth or supreme Divine Being within the Vast Grace—Light or Vast Light of Supreme Grace or Light of Consciousness-Force,
i. e. “ Tat Joti within Cit Joti ” or “ Tat Joti within Arut Perum Joti ”. So, within the Vast Grace-Light of Consciousness-Force is the supreme Divine Being as the supreme Light, as Tat Joti. Each implies the other. Cit Joti implies within it Tat Joti the supreme Light which is verily the Divine Being. Both are inseparable. In poem 11-16 the supreme Divine or supreme Truth Itself is spoken of as within the Vast Light of Supreme Grace (see 11-16-5 & 9). Elsewhere, in the Keertan songs,
“ The Light within Light ” is referred to as “ Per Arut Joti yut

Joti " the Light within the Vast Light of Grace, i. e. the Supreme Light (of the Supreme Divine Being) within Vast Grace-Light. See song 15 of the Keertan " Siva Siva Joti " and also 1-1-13-1. Therefore, with reference to the Light within Light (i. e. " Tat Joti within Cit Joti "), Arut Perum Joti, the Vast Grace-Light, is identifiable as Cit Joti itself and it is even called " Arut Perum Cit Joti " in stz. 12-21-14. (see also 11-17-2; 11-1-16 and 11-18-5). Cit Joti is identified with the Truth-Light (Satya Joti) which is the supramental Light (see 11-17-2, 9. Also see notes under 11-1-15). The Golden Light Por Joti is a further development of Cit Joti in the poise or session of the apprehending supermind, the Por Sabha. This golden Light is also spoken of as Per Arut Por Joti the Vast Golden Light of Supreme Grace (see Keertans " Mei Arul Vyappu ", song 37).

However, in the sky of Truth-Consciousness of the Truth-World (Jnana Cidambara Veli), or Supermind, Tat Joti implies Cit Joti and vice versa and each is inseparable from the other. They are as one-in-one (see also Joti Agaval lines 12-1-132 and 133).

See the stanzas of poems 11-21 and 11-16. See also stzs. 2, 6 and 8 of poem 11-17; stz. 5 of poem 11-18; and stz. 54 of poem 12-42; stz. 44 of poem 12-37.

It seems that from the viewpoint of the Swami we have to distinguish Arut Perum Joti, the Vast Grace-Light, from Arut Joti the Grace-Light. The former seems to signify the divine Light in its own realm proper i. e., the Vast Truth-World, and that in its integrality. Arut Joti the Grace-Light seems to signify its operation in the terrestrial field in a fit instrument. The Swami observes in " Arul Villak-kamalai " (11-36-24) that the Light in the form of Grace frequently moved about in his inner and outer being bestowing on him grace. அடிக்கடி என் அகத்திலிலும் புறத்திலிலும் சோதி அருள் உருவாய்த் திரிந்து திரிந்து அருள்கின்ற பொருளே

In stz. 11-18-13, he observes, " the Truth residing in my heart and making play of equable Knowledge showed me by true or natural Grace-Light a good or divine physical body (Bhuta nal vadvim) in this wide physical world where I was suffering with afflictions. "

The Mother, Sri Aurobindo Ashram, has observed that Grace—Light is one activity of the supramental Light. However, She has not explained what that activity is. Her reference is to the Grace—Light and not to the Vast Grace—Light as such (See for more details appendix III (e and f) in Volume I).

In “Joti Agaval” poem also the Swami observes thus : “Filling my unique Consciousness with Grace—Light, the Vast Grace—Light has directed me to illumine the world with the path or law of grace” (12—1—138).

அருள் தெறி விளக்கு எனும் அருட் பெருஞ் ஜோதி

The Swami has observed that during the period of spiritual discipline he was always guided by the Grace—Light which, in the circumstances, should necessarily be one activity of the supramental Light. In the last decade of his life he ascended into and possessed the Truth—World in all its planes and poises and attained a deathless body ; since then he was and is a special instrument manifesting Grace, Love, Compassion and divine Light on the earth and particularly the Grace—Light as a frontal manifestation — the Grace—Light which once guided and later led him to the supreme and universal Truth—Consciousness and by which again he transformed his nature so as to attain a deathless golden physical body.

In a supramental realisation and transformation, every truth or principle of truth contains all the other truths also, though one particular truth may be in the front as a special manifestation. Thus viewed, the special manifestation of Grace by the Swami as Compassion and Grace—Light becomes necessarily integral and inseparable from the other truths, principles and powers of the One Truth. Otherwise, the transformation of the Swami's body by the power of Grace—Light (Arut Joti or Arut Cit Joti as in I-V-10-57.61) culminating into its deathless and luminous state cannot be explained. Sri Aurobindo also emphasises that the deathlessness of body is the culminating achievement in transformation of nature effected by the power of Supramental Light. Further, the Swami was surrendered wholly to the Power of Grace and according to “Joti Agaval” poem Grace was everything for him. He identified the Grace—Light with the supreme Grace of the Divine. This is so especially after his complete and integral realisation and transformation. The Grace—Light during his period of Sadhana or spiritual discipline (10-II-24-36) thus becomes distinguished from the Grace—Light which he brought into his firm possession and active expression after the said realisation of “Vast Grace—Light” and the transformation (11-40-21) effected by the Grace—Light. So the nature of his Compassion and Grace—Light was integral. Further, what he meant or indicated by the word ‘Grace—Light’ (Arul Joti) by and through his writings is of utmost importance. Again, the Swami in his Mahopadesha clearly suggests in 1873 that the Divine would directly manifest on the earth at first the truth of the mantra of Vast Grace—Light and supreme Compassion. So the first truth of divine manifestation to take place universally on the earth would be the Vast Grace—Light with its supreme Compassion. The power of this Compassion after the manifestation of the supramental Light in 1956 on the earth as testified to by the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram, amply proves the Swami’s foresight and consequently the identity of the Vast Grace—Light with the Supramental.

Now, from the above said stanzas, it is seen that by and through the Grace—Light which was guiding him from within, the Swami reached unto and possessed its true and high divine source of the Truth—World where it manifests as Arut Perum Joti, the infinitely Vast Grace—Light, —the Truth—World which manifests integrally all the principles, powers and divinities of the supreme and Universal Divine. In Joti Agaval poem, the Swami speaks of the Vast Grace—Light as having become the All and everything in manifestation, thus expressing its integrality of the truths of universal manifestation. The Swami realises the supreme Truth or supreme Divine within the Vast Grace—Light which he finds to be the Truth—Light (Satya Joti) or Cit Joti, or Arut Perum Cit Joti the Vast Grace—Light of Consciousness — Force manifest in Tiru Citrambalam (the Comprehending Supermind) See 11-17-2, 9; 12-21-14. After the firm realisation of the divine Light, he becomes himself a fit vessel and instrument to manifest the Grace—Light in the terrestrial field, the Grace—Light which is now in an inseparable direct contact and communication with the Vast Grace—Light of the Truth—World. As such he could flood and fill the whole world with the Grace—Light (12-1-168). After his realisation of the Truth—Consciousness he affirmed in several songs that he had the power to perform by the Grace—Light of Truth—Consciousness (Mei Arut Joti) all siddhis of knowledge and perfection, (Mei Jnana Siddhi) on the earth and all the heavens for all time, to do what he willed and to perform the five universal functions and all kinds of Siddhis which the Divine missioned him to carry out (cf: 12-1-784 to 793; Mei Arut Joti or Arul Mei Joti in I-III-5-10; 11-17-9; Mei Jnana Siddhi 12-2-2).

We may consider also his early aspiration in a stanza where the Swami observes that through Grace—Light he would find the Lord of the Vast Grace-Light in the Truth-World of His omnipotent play of Knowledge-Will and would become of His nature to play in this world.

“By the Grace-Light (Arut Joti) I shall realise my higher self in the high yonder Heaven into which the unifying Thought of Thy Glory leads me; and there in the world of Truth-Knowledge (Manru) I shall find the Lord of Vast Grace-Light (Arut Perum Joti Nāthan) playing in Knowledge, who is the Ambrosia of the omnipotent Will of Knowledge. Becoming the nature of the omnipotent Will of Knowledge, I shall play here in this world. O my heart, do not fear any more” (See Bk 10-II-24-36 “Collection of Songs”).

உவைக்கு மேல் தனை அருள் ஒளியால்
தன்று கண்டு அங்கே அருட்பெருஞ்சோதி
நாதனைக் கண்டு அவன் நடிக்கும்
மன்று கண்டு அதனில் சித்து எலாம் வல்ல
மருந்து கண்டு உற்று அது வடிவாய்
நின்று கொண்டு ஆடும் தருணம் இங்கு இதுவே
நெஞ்சமே அஞ்சலை அஞ்சலை,
(உவை—உவ்விடம், உங்குள்ளவை, உவ்விடத்துள்ளவை).

Thus from the above circumstances, it is evident that the Swami named the Truth-Light of the Truth-World of Knowledge as Arut Perum Joti, the Vast Grace-Light, because it acted as his Guru, guided and led him into its true source by and through its form as Grace-Light (Arut Joti).

The above song is an aspiration of the Swami to realise the Lord of Vast Grace-Light (Arut Perum Joti Nāthan) in the World of Truth—Knowledge by the help of Grace-Light (Arut Joti) which was always guiding him within. Thus Arut Joti and Arut Perum Joti are distinguished. The latter is the infinitely Vast Grace-Light as manifest in the Truth—World whereas the former is operating in the terrestrial field as the activity of the latter and guiding the fit persons from within. Further, the Supreme Divine within the infinitely Vast Grace-Light is aspired for. So when the realisation of the supreme and universal Divine Being within the Vast Grace-Light is achieved it should indicate necessarily an integral realisation of the Truth-World. Elsewhere the Swami calls Him as “Arut Perum Joti Āndavar”, or “Akhanda Pooranananda Arut Perum Joti Kadavul”, the supreme and universal, blissful and integral Divine of the Vast Grace-Light (See “Peru Vinnappam”, Prose, p. 123) or as the Supreme Truth within the Vast Light of Grace (சிற்றம்பலத்து...

பேரருட்சோதியே சோதியுள் துலங்கிய பொருளே 11-16-5). Thus the Swami makes subtle distinctions between Grace-Light, Vast Grace-Light and the supreme Being of Vast Grace-Light-i.e., Arut Joti (or Arut Cit Joti), Arut Perum Joti (or Per Arut Joti or Arut Perum Cit Joti) and Arut Perum Joti Āndavar (or Tat Joti). We have also already made an observation that the Grace-Light itself is distinguished as between the Grace-Light as the guiding Light during the period of spiritual discipline and the Grace-Light, after the realisation and firm possession of the "Truth-World of Vast Grace-Light", by which the Grace-Light comes to be firmly realised and possessed within oneself in the terrestrial field and transforms the nature of mind, life and body giving the deathless state of physical body.

It is to the guiding activity of Grace-Light, the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram, seems to refer and imply in the context of her general remark on Grace-Light as one activity of the supramental light and that remark was made in the general background of the likelihood of many having had its experience in the bygone ages and even today.

In regard to the "Light within Light" which is the Truth - Light (Satya Joti) or Light of Consciousness - Force (Cit Joti) compare with the following passages of Sri Aurobindo :

"For the supramental Knowledge (i.e. gnosis) is the play of a supreme Light ... to command or wholly possess it we must first enter into and become the being of the supreme Light" ("The Synthesis of Yoga", p. 561-562).

"In the gnosis, Sachchidananda gathers up the light of his unseizable existence and pours it out on the soul in the shape and power of a divine knowledge, a divine will and a divine bliss of existence But the gnosis is not only light, it is force; it is creative knowledge, it is the self-effective truth of the divine capital Idea. This idea is light and power of eternal substance, truth-light full of truth-force and it brings out what is latent in being. ... The ideation of the gnosis is radiating light-stuff of the consciousness of the eternal Existence; each ray is a truth. The will in the gnosis is a conscious force of eternal Knowledge .." ("The Synthesis of Yoga", p.553).

"All supramental gnosis is a two-fold Truth-Consciousness, a consciousness of inherent self-knowledge and, by identity of self and world, of intimate world-knowledge ... it is an essential light of consciousness, the self-light of all the realities of being and becoming, the self-truth of being determining, formulating and effectuating itself" (Life Divine, p. 895).

“It is as if infinite Light were gathered up into the compact orb of the sun and lavished on all that depends upon the sun in radiances that continue for ever” (The Synthesis of Yoga, p. 553).

“Our greater self of knowledge waits for us,
A supreme light in the truth-conscious Vast;
It sees from summits beyond thinking mind,
It moves in a splendid air transcending life,
It shall descend and make earth's life divine”.

(Savitri, Bk 7 - cto 2 - p. 550)

“Once in the immortal boundlessness of Self,
In a vast of Truth and Consciousness and Light
The soul looked out from its felicity.
It felt the Spirit's interminable bliss,
It knew itself deathless, timeless, spaceless, one.
It saw the Eternal, lived in the Infinite”.

(Savitri, Bk 6 - cto 2, p. 514-515)

Compare with the Swami's following songs :

“The Mountain Light (high-seated Light) has become biune or two-fold with one head as Swarupa of Light (i.e. essential Light of the supreme Being) and another head as Swarupa of Jnana (i.e. Knowledge or Light of Supreme Knowledge) within which and containing which is the said Swarupa of the Light of the Supreme Being, and has given the triune principle (i.e. Sat Cit Ananda) to the five-seeds-womb of manifestation and plays in the Sky of Knowledge (Ambalam) as the Form of Bliss which has neither beginning nor middle nor end. O maid-friend! who can know the greatness of the biune Feet of the Divine which Brahma, Vishnu and Rudra do not comprehend? Can I know the Result of the play of His Feet or of the Will of the Great Lord? Tell me, my maid-friend” (12—37—44).

NOTE: The above may be compared with Tirumoolar's mantra 2462 தற்பரமன்னும் தனிமுதற் பேரொளி ..the supreme Light of the supreme Being.

“The Swami also refers to the Light not merely as Arut Perum Joti but also as Cit Joti or as Arut Perum Cit Joti or as Cit Param Joti the Light of the Truth-World of Divine Consciousness-Force, as Satya Joti (Truth-Light) and as Jnana Cidambara Joti (the Light of the sky of Truth-Consciousness.) Again, when the Swami refers to the God of Vast Grace-Light (Arut Perum Joti Andavar) in his prose writings “Vinnappam” he speaks of Him as the supreme and integral Divine. See also stz. 11—1—16 He also refers to his highest experience as Samarasa Satya Jnana, the integral harmony of Truth-Consciousness.

O Lord of the sweetening Amrita of Consciousness of Knowledge. Thou hast become myself and resides within me. O Thou of Wonder!”

NOTE : In this stanza all the three poises of Supermind are mentioned. The Supreme has become the universal Vastness of Heaven with its Light for play of Knowledge, has become Jivatman in the manifestation and abides within him.

By the Grace-Light I have become the Form and Substance of Knowledge (i.e. Knowledge—body) and attained immortality (of soul and physical body). My body has become cool. My life is jubilant full of vigour. My heart has grown and prospers (in the fulness of Love and Bliss).

I am filled up with the true Substance of the Nature of Truth. NOTE : This song of aspiration is one among the collection of songs. It contains the essence of his aspiration as expressed in stz 11-1-28. But after the realisation of the Grace-Light and attainment of the deathless body the Swami declares in the keertan Pandu Adal (stz. 10) that he has been missioned by the Lord to do divine miracles and acts of divine perfection, even as the Lord Himself would do, but to the amazing wonder of even the great siddhars and that he would do them both on the earth and in the heavens for an eternal time. see also stzs 12-39-9 and 10.

O Amrita that takes seat in the hand of Love! O Ocean that is contained in the pot of Love! O luminous Consciousness in the soul of Love! O Supreme Light inlaid (or involved) within the material atom of Love! O Supreme Truth which is verily the Form of Love!”

NOTE : Not only the heart and soul are the seats of the supreme and universal Love manifesting the divine Love in all tangible ways, but even within the material atoms also Love has entered into. According to Sri Aurobindo and the Mother Love has scattered Itself in matter and has become its evolutionary nexus and urge. The Swami's reference to the supreme Light within the atom of matter as love seems to signify an evolutionary purpose. The Swami sees also life-forces and mind-forces in matter (See “Joti Agaval” poem : 12-1-193, 197).

Introductory Note on Joti Agaval:

We give below Swami's Tamil mantra and its English transliteration and translation. By divine will he received the mantra from the Divine and gave it collectively to the disciples and devotees on 22-10-1873.

Vast Grace-Light, Vast Grace-Light
Supreme Compassion, Vast Grace-Light

The poet went into secluded silence for about 6 months in the later part of 1870 in a cottage house called "Siddhi Valaga Maligai" (Home of Integral Perfection) at Mettukuppam. In the fulness of established Supramental Consciousness and the resulting transformation of nature and body he composed in April 1872 this rare piece of poetry "Joti Agaval" describing Supermind, its infinitely Vast Grace-Light, its self-determinations in the universal manifestation, the poises or planes of Supermind, involution and evolution, various planes of ascent and transition to Supermind, the knowledge and science of deathlessness of body and transformatory changes in his physical body, in all its cells, giving him its deathless state, his mission on the earth etc.

The Swami ascribes every self-determination and manifestation of the Divine to Arut Perum Joti, the Vast Grace-Light. Thus, it is seen that in this poem, Vast Grace-Light is generalised to indicate the supreme and whole Nature of the Divine. The supreme and universal Divine has become the Light, the Vast Grace-Light that is integral containing all the truths of manifestation and is also at once Grace and Light and Vastness of Truth-consciousness signifying the infinite and eternal and the universal. Arut Perum Joti is said to have become by its pre-planned self-determination the All and everything—every being, god, goddess, force, energy, action, result, name, form, quality, letter, word, sound, world, plane, element, atom, material object, relationship, nature, mind, heart, life, sense, body, Knowledge, Love, Power, Light, Bliss, the manifest Satcitananda, Grace etc., in an integral harmony. Rightly he also speaks about Grace in the same vein. The vast Grace-Light is the Vastness of Sat, Light of Cit and Grace of Ananda. It is the integrally manifest Satcitananda in the unity of the supreme Satcitananda. Grace is said to be everything in the Manifestation, the light of soul, mind, life, quality, knowledge, nature, form and mould and deathless body, the will and action, Light, Substance and Bliss and that by Grace everything could be realised. He also addresses and invokes the supreme Divine in consecutive stanzas not only as Arut Perum Joti the Vast Grace-Light but also as the Supreme Truth, Supreme Nature Supreme Substance, Supreme Heaven (Tani Param), Supreme Goal (Padam), Sivam, Preceptor (Guru), Mother, Father, Companion, Friendship, Love, Supreme Sat, Supreme Cit, Supreme Ananda, Amrita, Gem, Mantra, Ambrosia or positive Medicine of Health and Prosperity, Gold, Treasure of divine Riches, Mountain of Light, Food, Taste, Music, Lamp, Flame of Light, Rain, Fire, Golden Mountain, Milk, Fruit, Honey, Flower, Song etc.

An attempt is made herein to present the important aspects of this gem of poetry which has the effect of mantra.

The high light of the poem is the spontaneous and integral transformation of the Swami's physical body effected simultaneously in all its cells by the power of the Grace-Light. This is an unparalleled case of transformation of nature and the body, attained by divine Sanction and Will. Its culmination into the attainment of a golden deathless sleepless physical body full of blissful energies is marked in a later poem "Suddha Siva Nilai". That the supreme and Universal Divine granted him a deathless physical body, not for his own sake, but for the world, for the collective purpose of divinising the earthly life of evolution, is brought out in the Swami's poems (Suddha Siva Nilai, Pandu Adai, Enna punyam) and in his last speech (cf: "I am in this body. I shall enter into all the physical bodies").

In a speech given by the Swami in October 1873 at the time of flag-hoisting in the premises called "Siddhi Valaga Maligai" at Mettukuppam village (near Vadalur), where he resided from 1870 to 1874 for the last part of his life, he openly announced that the God of Vast Grace Light was to manifest on the earth directly and that the veils of lower ignorance would be removed for all when He comes. Further he declared the above quoted mantra as God-given and that the Divine has given it as an open and direct expression of the nature of His Truth which is to become manifest at first. "It is the will of the Divine that, because compassion is the fundamental means of sadhana, He has openly adopted or chosen this mantra as the first means of sadhana and as the open expression of its truth. Compassion, Kindness and Grace mean the same thing. Knowledge which bears the supreme Compassion is verily the integral Bliss of the Divine. It is the Supreme Knowledge Itself that possesses this infinite and incomparable Compassion". "It is compassion that has lifted me up. The Divine has shown me that compassion and seeing everything as the Divine constitute the high and true path of discipline for realisation".

It is very evident that the Divine prepared the ground for the receptivity of the infinitely Vast Grace-Light on the earth through the Swami and a seed of aspiration for the Truth-Light was sown in the hearts of the disciples and devotees through the vibration of this mantra which he gave them collectively on "Vijaya Dasami" day in 1873 and which was in keeping with the will and process of the Time-Spirit. The poet, saint and sage Ramalingam, being established in the Supramental Truth-Consciousness, promised in the last part of his life the coming of the Vast Grace-Light, nay, of the God of Vast Grace-Light, the supreme Divine, who shall establish the direct reign of Light on the earth. He also promised the coming of a new age and a new race of people who will be free from disease and death by the power of the Grace-Light. There are also evidences in Swami's writings and speeches that he not merely promised the advent of the Divine Light but actually aspired and worked for it with a vision of collective fulfilment, and eventually made the supreme sacrifice of his deathless body by its dematerialisation for the purpose of the universal manifestation of the Light on the earth and for the purpose of entering into all the physical bodies universally.

He made the sacrifice at a time when the God of Vast Grace-Light was concretely present at his place which is a representative place of the earth. It was on 30.1.1874 and thus the dematerialisation of his deathless body was done in His Presence and evidently meant to fix the substances and powers of his deathless physical body into the earth-nature, so that man may get the power of transformation of body also, one day or the other, and that even the dead may get the power of resurrection especially in the background of manifestation of the divine Light.

His supreme sacrifice will be ever remembered in the annals of spiritual history, not only as a homage to him, but more for the purpose of transformation of our own nature and body.

Closely following the Swami in time and place, Sri Aurobindo and the Mother have come upon the scene of earthly life to fulfil their divine mission in a close collaboration and we find it to be a continuation of the divine mission which Swami Ramalingam envisaged, worked and sacrificed for, and that their place of Tapas and fulfilment is also in the same area where the Swami lived. The universal manifestation of the divine Light on the earth, i. e. in its subtle-physical level has taken place in our times in 1956 by the collective Tapas of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother and due to the earlier sacrifice of Swami Ramalingam. A more open manifestation of the divine Light on the physical level of the earth, as envisaged by the Swami at the time of his sacrifice, is still awaited.

NOTE: The opening stanza of this divinely inspired poem has been cast in the nature and style, rhyme and rhythm of a mantra. It is the Mantra of the name of the supreme and universal Divine as the divine Light of Truth-Consciousness and Grace. The poem begins with an invocation and calling of the divine Light.

Stz. 5. “O Vast Grace-Light, that has become the Supreme Substance at once and beyond of both Iha and Para, this and the higher world, pervading everywhere without gap” —

Stz. 6. உரை மனம் கடந்த ஒரு பெருவெளி மேல்

Vast Grace-Light that sovereignly rules in Peru Veli the Vastness of Space beyond the reach of mind and speech.

NOTE : Peru Veli is the Vast Truth-Conscious Space or World of Supermind. It is also called Jnana Peru Veli. At its highest source i.e. in the summit supermind it opens into “Perum Sukha Veli” the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above, which is called also as “Sukhateeta Veli”. (See stzs. 285, 37, 33, 447, 448, & 579).

NOTE : The Home of Vast Grace-Light is a biune infinite constituted of the spaceless infinite of the supreme Existence (Thani Veli or supreme Veli or Suddha Siva Veli) within the space infinite of Grace (Arul Veli or Peru Veli). Each implies the other (See also stzs. 39, 37, & 285) “Vast Grace-Light of the world of non-dual unity (Adwaita Sabha) which is the Vastness or universal Space of Pure Truth-Consciousness and Bliss (Suddha Mei Jnana Sukhodaya Veli)”.

NOTE : The above passage indicates the Comprehending Supermind. In Upadesha the Book of Teachings, it is referred to as “Suddha Jnana Sabha” or Suddha Cit Sabha which is beyond “Por Sabha”, “the apprehending Supermind”.

Vast Grace-Light of Cit Sabha which is verily the high-seated Space or Heaven of the Transcendence (Turya Mēl Veli) realised by the school of Suddha Vedanta as its goal and truth.

NOTE: Suddha Vedanta is to be distinguished from Vedanta, as it sets the comprehending supermind as its goal. Stzs. 16 and 21 may be further distinguished from Stzs. 33, 37, 285, 447 to 451 which refer to its summit or summit supermind.

Stz. 25. "The Vast Grace-Light of the unique, supreme and high-seated Space (Thani Para Veli) of Satcitananda, which is the essential source of all manifestation."

NOTE: "Satictananda Thani Para Veli" also suggests the spaceless unmanifest Satcitananda behind or within the manifest universal Satcitananda of Space.

Stz. 26. "The Vast Grace-Light which manifests in the Space or Sky of Knowledge where prospers the Knowledge and Science of deathlessness of body".

Stz. 27. "Cit Sabha of Vast Grace-Light which is described in Vedas, the Books of Knowledge, as the Space or Sky manifesting cause and effect".

Stz. 31 Vast Grace-Light of the divine session of Truth-conscious knowledge-play (Tiru Sabha) which is verily the supreme timeless and spaceless infinity of the supreme Being (Thani Porul Veli)

“Thani Porul Veli” of the timeless eternal Being necessarily implies its spaceless infinity which has become Peru Veli the divine universal space of vastness. It has the same sense as “Tnani Veli” or Veru Veli or Suddha Siva Veli. (Stzs. 6, 14, 22, 33, 36, 476). See also stz. 11-22-10 ; 10-II-2-2.

Stz. 32 “The Vast Grace-Light which manifests verily in the Sabha or Session or World of Flame in which the three lights (i.e. agni, moon and sun-Causal, causal-effectual and effectual lights) are integrated by Its grace.

Stz. 33 “Vast Grace-Light of ‘Ariya Cit Ambalam’ or ‘Ariya Cit Sabha’ (i.e. Comprehending summit Supermind) which light crosses even beyond Turya the transcendence and is the most difficult to attain and is the bestower of perfect and integral bliss”. This may be also translated thus: “The Vast Grace-Light of the unique and supreme cittrambalam (i.e. at its summit, the summit Supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above) which is rarely attained and which gives the perfect integral Bliss (Sukha Poorana) and the Light crosses beyond the Transcendence (Turyam Kadantha) i.e. beyond the Truth-world of Supermind.

NOTE: This is a description of the Truth-World of Supermind in its summit poise as opening into the infinite and eternal world of Ananda beyond. See also stz. 37.

Stz. 35. “Vast Grace-Light of Cit Sabha is of the nature of Sat and Ananda, Being and Bliss in manifestation and is consciously ever awake”.

NOTE: Cit is also implied and included because of its manifestation as the Vast Grace-Light in Cit Sabha. (Arut Perum Cit Joti 12-21-14).

Stz. 36. "Vast Grace-Light of Cit Sabha where Thani Veli (or supreme Veli) the spaceless infinite becomes all-pervading infinite self-extension of space in the state of Jāgratāteeta"

NOTE: Jāgratāteeta is the supreme state of Jagrata or wakefulness. This is the summit poise of the Truth-world (Supermind) as opening into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda or Ananda Loka above. In the poem "Anubhavamalai" (stz. 12-42-96) and in "Upadesha" it is called Suddha Siva Turyāteeta (see chart 4A, 4B in Vol. I) See also notes on Poorana Vyapaka Vyapa in the chapter on Karanateeta Loka.

Stz. 37. சுட்டுதற்கு அரிதாம் சுகாதீத வெளி எனும்
அட்ட மேற் சிற்சபை அருட்பெருஞ் சோதி

Vast Grace-Light of the highest Cit Sabha or Home of Truth-consciousness (Attam Mēl Cit Sabha the summit of comprehending supermind or simply known as summit supermind) which is verily Sukhāteeta Veli the infinity of supreme Bliss which can be hardly indicated by words of objective knowledge.

NOTE: It is implied that Peru Veli the vast space of supreme Bliss as the manifested universal space is contained in and by Sukhateeta Veli the spaceless infinity of the timeless, eternal and Supreme Being of Ananda Loka above. The spaceless infinity of the Supreme Being and the infinitely vast universal space are integrated in an absolute Harmony. Sukhateeta Veli is the same as Perum Sukha Veli which contains Peru Veli (See stz. 285). One does not separate or get detached from the other. It is declared that within the universal space is the infinity of the Supreme Being or Existence, containing the former. Each implies the other, though commonly called or known by a general name Cidambara Veli, the Supramental Vastness. The One infinite and eternal Satcitananda becomes the manifest Satcitananda of the universe.

Again the highest source where the universal self-extension of the infinite and eternal Divine takes place is mentioned as "Attam Mēl Cit Sabha". So Cit Sabha in its highest level as summit supermind opens into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda or Ananda Loka above. Cit Sabha here referred to is not the cit sabha of the ajna centre which is of a derived secondary sense and where soul of the individual can be realised at first and has its field of play of knowledge. Ajna the centre of soul, is derived from the high-seated Cit Sabha proper and hence it is also called sometimes by the name cit sabha according to the context in a derivative sense. The high-seated cit sabha proper which is the original source of the universal manifestation is also distinguished by such names as Suddha Cit Sabha, Mei Cit Ambalam.

It is here mentioned to have become the Vast Grace-Light of Por Sabha proper (Ani Pon Ambalam, the apprehending Supermind). (திகழ் = ஒளி, விளக்கம்)

“Vast Grace-Light that manifests in the seat of Parai who gives the supreme state of Consciousness and Light.”

NOTE : Parai generally indicates the universal Maha Shakti, the over-mental power; but here in the context, because of the qualifying words it means the Supramental Shakti. So, Parai has exceeded herself to become the power of Truth-Knowledge.

“The Vast Grace-Light that has given me in Its delight a divine Pranava body and thereby overcome the obstacles or attacks of disease and kept me free from it”.

NOTE: After Pranava body, the Swami attains also Jnana deha, the body of Knowledge which transforms physical body into its deathless state. In the poem “Suddha Siva Nilai” the Swami finally refers to his triple body of perfection—Suddha Deha of the physical, Pranava deha of the subtle and Jnana deha of causal Knowledge.

However we find evidences in “Joti Agaval” poem itself that Jnana deha had also entered into his physical body and effected transformation of all the cells of the body in order to bring about a golden deathless body (see stzs. 725 to 740, 745). அறிவுறு அனைத்தும் ஆனந்தமாயிட சத்துவம் ஒன்றே தனித்து நின்றேங்கிட. The immediately following stanzas 100, 103 and 105 also suggestively point to this. There are also references to the triple body and that the Divine had given him the triple body and the power to fulfil his will, i. e. the will to transform and achieve a deathless body—see stz 119).

Vast Grace-Light that has taken a divinely beautiful form of body full of Its radiant and radiating Light of the Divine Shakti (who is Conscious Force of knowledge), and has entered into my soul.

NOTE: Evidently this stanza refers to Jnana deha, the Knowledge-Form of Body which is verily a luminous form of the supramental Divine Shakti of Light and Grace. It transforms the other bodies namely the subtle and the gross physical. It enters into the soul for this purpose and from there radiates its Light to transform the physical body, though of course through the subtle body. It is the Divine Shakti who directly brings into his soul the form of the effulgent supramental body (Jnana deha) to effectuate transformation of his body, nay, all the cells of his body, the seven kinds of cells mentioned in subsequent stzs 725—730, namely the “sapta dhatu” of bones, muscles, skin, brain, blood, semen and other secretions internal and external (rasa).

Vast Grace-Light that is verily the dynamic play and manifestation of the Consciousness-Force (Citti) which has manifested by compassion all the worlds revealed to me.

NOTE: The word “Citti” is derived from its root “Cit”. It means Cit-Shakti, the Consciousness-Force of the Divine. In stzs. 128 and 129 also it is used in the same sense but adopted in an expanded form as “Eka Cit Citti”, “Inba Citti” — the one Consciousness-Force, the blissful Consciousness-Force. Cit has become in Tamil Citti or Cittu (சித்தி, சித்து). Cittiar (சித்தியார்) means divine Goddesses or Shaktis in ordinary parlance. Cit in its outer form of fulfilment has become Siddhi.

“The Vast Grace-Light that has shown me the way of resurrection of the dead and has asked me to examine or consider it (i. e. its many possibilities.)

NOTE: The stanza refers to the resurrection of the dead into the earthly bodily life and not to the mere resurrection into a supra-physical or subtle physical body (See stz. 12-29-39).

Stz. 119 முத்திறல் வடிவமும் முன்னி ஆங்கு எய்து உறும்

“The Vast Grace-Light that has given me by Grace the triple body (i.e. Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha) as aspired for by me, as well as the Power to fulfil myself in all ways and according to my will and aspiration (which is one with Thine)”

NOTE: The verbal root “Arul” is used in several stanzas of ‘Joti Agaval’ poem to mean ‘gives or has given by Grace’, as in stzs. 141, 362-373. The will and aspiration of the Swami here connotes in the context specially the will and aspiration to transform the physical body into its deathless state and for this end, the Divine has opened in him all the three bodies—Jnana deha, Pranava deha and Suddha deha. As the swami refers to the boon or gift of deathless body in ‘Joti Agaval’ poem, the context of this stz implies that he has received the triple body.

The Swami clearly refers to, in an unmistakable language, the gift of deathless body he got from the Divine as is seen in stzs. 79, 103, 105, 151, 509, 533 and 784 of ‘Joti Agaval’ poem. In this connection, he particularly points out in stzs. 533 and 784 that by the divine Light he was trained into the science of deathlessness of physical body and thereby he got the gift of a deathless physical body. This training is a direct training of the body in its transformation, and it is not a mental training in the mind or even given to the body-consciousness. It is a training in transformation taking place in the very cells of the material body. In stz 784, the swami observes that his body not only got trained in the science of deathlessness but also obtained its deathless state. See also stz. 1-V-10-98 (Mei Arul Vyappu).

However, we may point out that the attainment of a wholly sleepless, deathless and blissful physical body is categorically affirmed by the Swami in a later poem “Suddha Siva Nilai” (12-29) where he speaks of his attainment of the triple deathless and indestructible body with a power to resurrect even the dead into bodily life. This poem also refers to the coming of the Divine to the earth for His direct Rule by manifestation of the Light. In the poem “Pon Vadivap Peru” (12-21) he refers to his deathless, sleepless and blissful golden physical body.

“My Vast Grace-Light that has shown and said to me that Siddhi or divine perfection is the consummation or end of realisation.

NOTE : The word “Siddhi” here does not denote occult powers or siddhis of a lesser order that one gets in the realms of mind, including the spiritual ranges of mind. Siddhi is the perfect and integral divine power of Knowledge by identity, carrying with it vision, intuition and inspiration and fulfilling itself in divine actions. This siddhi comes with the Supramental realisation which at its highest is known as Samarasa Sudda Jnana. This Power is the all-effectuating Power of Truth-Knowledge that accomplishes all divinely inspired actions in a perfect way in the full blaze of Knowledge. These siddhis are not confined to the eight kinds which have their counter parts in a lesser order of purity in the traditional “Ashtanga Yoga”; they will be infinitely innumerable, divinely willed and luminously carried out to their perfection. Thus, the Siddhi, i. e. Samarasa Suddha Jnana Siddhi is an integral siddhi containing supramental Knowledge of beings and things by self-identity (Atma Jnana Siddhi and Tatva Jnana Siddhi) along with the resulting concomitant powers of Vision (Yoga Jnana Siddhi) and powers of intuition and inspiration of idea, sense, feeling, word etc. fulfilling in inspired arts, sciences and actions (Karma Jnana Siddhi). Samarasa Suddha Jnana Siddhi inevitably leads to transformation and perfection of mind, life and body into their deathless and indestructible forms and states (vide references to the nature of Siddhi attained by Samarasa Satya Jnana Siddhargal in “Satya Jnana Vinnappam”—Prose p. 132-133).

“My Vast Grace-Light that said unto me that the One Consciousness-Force (Eka Cit Citti) has become the Many (in the unity of the universal manifestation) so as to bring out the truth of Her supreme Nature (Iyal).

NOTE: The one Cit-Sakti has become the Many in manifestation. Citti means Shakti, the Goddess. See notes on stz. 109.

Stz. 128 இன்ப சித்தியின் இயல் ஏகம் அனேகம்,
அன்பருக்கு என்ற என் அருட்பெருஞ் ஜோதி

“ My Vast Grace-Light that has said unto me, “ For the man of Love who is poised in the divine Love, the true Nature of the Bliss of Consciousness-Force reveals Itself as one-many (Inba Citti).

NOTE: Eka Cit-Citti or Inba Citti refers to the Cit-Shakti, the supreme Mother. Citti means Shakti or Goddess, Conscious Power. Citti in its outer form of fulfilment has become Siddhi. In the above two stanzas, it is explained that the true Nature of the divine Shakti who is Consciousness-Force and Bliss of the Divine Being is revealed by Her universal manifestation bringing out the Many in the unity of Existence—as the All-in-one, as One-Many, as one and many in the Comprehending, apprehending and tertiary poises of Supermind respectively. We may also say that the supreme Miracle (Siddhi) of the divine Shakti is to manifest the many in the unity. All the siddhis done, performed and fulfilled by the Truth-Conscious Yogis are done through Her, through Her many formulations of conscious Force (Cittu சித்து). One who realises the Eka Cit-Shakti or Eka Cit-Citti and is one with Her, feels and experiences that he himself is doing all the many miracles and that he has become the All-in-one (the All and as one) and the one-many in the universal manifestation.

We may also explain in this background the higher significance of Siddhi and Citti or Cittu. Siddhi is the fulfilling power of Conscious Force moved into effective action for fulfilment. Citti or Cittu is the poise of the Conscious Force within Itself or Herself just about to move or tending to move Herself as a fulfilling power and in this sense, it is verily the Consciousness-Force of the Divine. Stz. 109 uses the word Citti சித்தி to mean Consciousness-Force, the Shakti. Cittiar சித்தியர் mean shaktis, goddesses in ordinary parlance also.

NOTE: The supreme Void is the positive Void (Veru Veli or Mei Veru Veli—stz. 476 and in and from it arises the manifestation of the true universe one with the Divine, not the illusory or a lesser manifestation. For detailed explanation on “Light within Light” see stz. 11—40—3 (1)

NOTE: The two above stanzas seem to point out the simultaneous issuing forth and returning back of the universe. Its swarupa is the essence of Being represented by Tat Joti. Its swabhava and rupa are of the nature of the Being represented by Cit Joti Light of Consciousness-Force. Cit Joti is Arut Perum Joti, the Vast Grace-Light. Within Cit Joti is Tat Joti, the Light of Being.

NOTE: This stanza suggests that the Swami was a fit vessel to receive and radiate the Light of Grace for the blossoming of the earthly world of life, in his own right.

Stz. 168 உலகெலாம் பரவ என்னுள்ளத் திருந்தே
அலகிலா ஒளிசெய் அருட்பெருஞ் ஜோதி

“The Vast Grace-Light that shines illimitably in and from my heart so as to make the Light pervade or extend into all the worlds and heavens including our earthly world.

NOTE: The word “ulagelām உலகெலாம்” (“all the worlds” is the subject matter of the chapters “Tatva Lokas and karanāteeta Loka” in the book of Vyakhyana. It enumerates in detail the whole gradation of worlds and planes from the lowest to the highest. So this word is used in the same sense here and the immediately following stanzas. 169 to 183, 277 to 285 give a brief classification and gradations of these worlds. The details of the earthly world are given in stzs 184 to 256, 273 to 276. Mind, life or vital and the physical in their various interlinked operations in the innermost, inner, outer and outermost levels of one's existence or being are given in stzs. 257 to 272.

The above stanza points out that the Swami who was established in the Truth-Consciousness of Supermind, could illumine, in his own right, the whole earthly world as well as other worlds with the Grace-Light that issued from within the soul of his heart. But he also felt himself an instrument of the Divine (இவ்வுலகம் எலாம் களிப்படைய நமது சார்பின் , அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி தழைத்து மிக விளங்கும்) and worked for the collective or general manifestation of "Vast Grace-Light" of the Divine upon the earth from its own high source of the Vast Truth-world (12—25—5).

Vast Grace-Light that has manifested and extended or pervaded Itself as the state of Heaven (i.e. as a glorious state of the Light of the Being and substance) within the inmost Heaven (i.e. within the Vast supramental Sky or Space விண்ணின் உள் விண்ணாய்), as a state of heaven in the middle heaven (i.e. in the overmental sky or space விண்ணின் நடு விண்ணாய்), as a state of heaven in the large heaven (i.e. in the large subliminal sky or space விண்ணின் உறு விண்ணாய்) and as a state of heaven in the stable heaven (i.e. in the physical sky or space விண்ணின் நிலை விண்ணாய்)—filling all the spaces of the Being and interfusing them.

NOTE : Space is the formless substance of the supreme Being or Existence. In other words sky or space is the self-extended ethereal substance of the Divine Being Sivam. This is made clear in stz 179.

In the immediately following stanzas (171 to 178, 179 to 183), the Vast Grace-Light is further said to have manifested in each of the above said four levels (supramental, overmental, subliminal and the gross physical) the states of the Power of Being as Consciousness-Force, the Power of Will and Energy as Conscious-Force, the Delight and Love of Being as Ananda and finally the formed substance of Being; and they are respectively identified as the original and pure principles of Air, Fire or Heat, nourishing Water (like a nourishing mother) and Earth. Stzs. 179 to 183 suggest that the physical sky or space, air, fire or heat, water and earth are the respective self-formations of the divine Existence or Being (Sat, Sivam), Power of Being (Shakti, Consciousness-Force), manifesting Power of Will (Conscious Force அரும்பிட), flowing Love and Ananda, and the stably formed golden Earth (golden gnostic State of the Being).

Stz. 179 to 183: “The Vast Grace-Light has by self-determination and self-limitation well measured or limited the all-pervading infinity of Existence or Being (Sivam the divine Being) in the sky of physical etherial space; the Vast Grace-Light has by self-determination measured or limited gracefully the growing Cit Shakti the Consciousness-Force in air, i.e. in the physical gaseous state to manifest its powers. The Vast Grace-Light has by self-determination measured or limited the middle state of the divine Being (i.e. Tapas or Conscious Force) in fire so that it may bring out and develop life (அருப்பிட). The Vast Grace-Light has by self-determination measured or limited excellently the nourishing state (i.e. the state of the divine Being as Ananda, which causes rasa the sap and taste of food) in water and its waves. The Vast Grace-Light has by self-determination measured the pure golden Home (i.e. the principle of Vast Truth-World) in the (gross) earthly matter so as to get them (all these principles) well fused”.

NOTE: (1) The infinite divine Existence has self-limited itself to become the physical sky (etherial space), gaseous state, heat, water and earth, involving respectively the divine principles of Being (Sat), Consciousness-Force (Cit Shakti), Conscious Force (Tapas), Bliss (Ananda) and Truth-Knowledge (Satya Jnana). All the above principles are involved and hidden in the earthly matter which the Divine has become by an involutionary descent. They will be manifested and revealed by a slow process of evolution of earthly life.

(2) The Swami further mentions the detailed nature and states of manifestation self-determined by the Vast Grace-Light to become in the (gross) earthly matter, water, fire, air and ether (Ibid lines 184 to 256). He refers also to mind-forces (Kalā Shakti) and life-forces (உயிர் சத்திகள்) in them and finally the perfect states of each element (See Ch. VII—"Involution and evolution" in Vol. I).

NOTE on Stz. 183

(3) The golden plane of the earth suggests the involved Supramental golden state hidden in the dark core of the physical matter of earth. This would manifest in the course of supramental evolution by the direct descent of its light into the earth and make earth a heaven of the very supreme Divine so as to evolve man to live on in his divine status and nature. The physical earth will not be dissolved and cancelled but would instead evolve into the supramental richness and divinity of substance here itself. Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passage :

"Our attention must be fixed on the earth because our work is here. Besides, the earth is a concentration of all the other worlds and can touch them by touching something corresponding in the earth-atmosphere".

(4) Vast Grace-Light is the Truth-Conscious Satcitananda, its Vastness, Light and Grace having the nature of Sat, Cit and Ananda respectively.

“Vast Grace-Light that has founded the manifold and various “gana shaktigal” or grouping forces of earthly matter in an inter-linked relationship”

NOTE : “Gana-forces” seem to refer to the forces for the grouping of particles of matter which form groups of atoms, molecules and compounds. This view is strengthened by another stanza in the Joti Agaval (stz. 522). The grouping of atomic particles into nuclei and atoms, atoms into molecules and, molecules into compounds are supported by the grouping forces working in them.

NOTE : Men and creatures of the earth are evolving beings with the soul-principle in them and they progressively evolve. The earthly beings, including plant life, have a soul-element in them for purpose of evolution. Possibly this stanza refers to the souls or beings coming into manifest life through the womb of earthly matter (மண் கரு உயிர்). The many forms of life take their birth in the very core of atoms of matter where there is the secret vibration of life-energy for building up living cells. They have the soul-element too to support the earthly life.

“Vast Grace-Light that has well-determined the ‘Pakva’ state of perfection (i.e. perfect state of evolution) of earthly matter and its manifold results in a fused relationship”.

NOTE ON STZS. 184 to 201, 177 to 178, 183.

The above lines speak about the nature of the last of the five elements, i.e. physical earthly gross matter. They also refer to the involution of the principles and forces of the subtle physical (bhuta), life, conscious knowledge of mind or kalā shakti, light, and finally the causal (supramental) state in the earthly physical matter and also to the potentialities of their evolution into perfection in an integrated relationship.

The perfect state of earthly matter would indicate the unobstructing form of earthly material matter in which all the elements and forces, principles and powers of existence from the physical to the spiritual can penetrate and permeate making it plastic to form, hold and express the divinised body, life and mind (இடியாத புனி, தடுக்கப்படுதலில்லாத தனி வடிவம்). This perfect physical matter is considered as one constituent of the deathless physical body. The other divinised or transformed constituents are non-flowing liquid (cf: blood condensing in Swami's body) soundless fire or heat, non-heatable or non-burning gas (cf: Swami's cool body) and deathless ether—போகாப்புனல் (இரத்தம் உள் இறுகிட), ஒலியாத கனல், வேகாத கால் (மெய் எலாம் குளிர்ந்திட), சாகாத்தலை.

The poet further takes up one by one the other elements namely water, fire, air and ether and describes their involutory and evolutionary possibilities in a similar way. (Stzs 202 to 256, 169 to 176, 179 to 182). Thus, life-forces and mind-forces are referred to in all the five elements. The state of perfection (Pakva state) in each of them is mentioned. The Swami in the Book of Vyakhyna classified under the Chapter "Tatva Lokas", substances of various kinds, not merely the atomic substances of the five physical elements but also of substances in the subtle-physical, vital and other ranges. Thus for example, in the Book of Vyakhyna mention is made of Parama anu of Suddha-Asuddha Maya (P. 77), Pranava anu of Suddha maya in several grades of subtilty (p. 106—107), Bhuta anu of Moola Maya (p. 42—49), Bhautika anu of the five elements (p. 43—44) and their relationship with Karana anu and Kārya anu, visesha anu and samanya anu and Prajnā Vishaya anu of the senses etc. (p. 51—52). Electrons, protons, neutrons and nuclear forces in atoms are referred to in His poem "Thiruvadi Perumai" (Refer "Swamy Ramalingam's vision of nuclear atom" by the author).

"The Vast Grace-Light that has determined the space of Parampara Veli (the global overmind) in Parāpara Veli (the space of the summit overmind or overmind gnosis) which has a door that can be shattered to pieces"

NOTE: The Gnostic overmind is the first of the summit overmind of five planes which are collectively called Overmind Gnosis. It is the realm of the golden lid covering the Sun of the Truth-World as described in the "Isha Upanishad". "The face of Truth is covered with a brilliant golden lid; that do thou remove, O Fosterer! for the law of Truth for sight"—Vide "Upanishads" by Sri Aurobindo.

Here it is spoken of as the door instead of as lid. The opening of the door or lid leads further and farther into the Supramental Vastness of the Truth-World. Elsewhere the poet speaks of ascending a pillar of light over the top of a golden mountain and when the pillar becomes thin like thread he is lifted up, by the grace of the Lord, into the Supramental Vastness. (11-22-5; 1-V-10-1, 2). Hence, the realm of the pillar of light (Joti Stamba) evidently arises in and from the gnostic overmind which is golden. As for classification of summit overmind into five planes, see Vol. I, Chapter III—Part I under the head SR 12: “Siva or Guru Susupti.”

Saint and Sage Tirumoolar refers to the lid or door in a different style. He describes it as “a fissure” that closes in the realm of Siva Susupti state which is beyond the Parampara state and has to be passed through or transcended. This fissure occurs in the ninth level of experience called Siva or Guru Susupti (according to his gradations of planes there are three psychic levels, three spiritual levels, three overmind levels, i. e. Jeeva, Para and Siva groups of levels). Beyond that is realised the Supreme Purusha (Parā Nandi) of Massive Force of Knowledge (Uram உரம்)—Tirumanthram, 2285, 2281—2284.

Sri Aurobindo regards the brilliant golden lid in overmind gnosis as “at once an obstacle and a passage in our seeking.... of its secret Reality ... this is the Power that at once connects and divides the Supreme Knowledge and the Cosmic Ignorance” (Life Divine, p. 255) Cf : Swami's other passages :

(வரம்பில் வியப்பு 11-27-5)

“The Wise declare that the Supreme Divine cannot be reached or attained by the psychic consciousness (Anma Unarchi) which receives boons, nor by the consciousness of the Spiritual Mind (Para Unarchi), nor by that of Overmind (Parampara Unarchi), nor by that of Overmind gnosis (Parāpara Unarchi), and ask whether there is any who has the power to realise Him truly in firm possession? But the Supreme Lord entered into my soul of heart as tangibly as a fruit in the palm of hand can be seen. Who can prevent Him so entering?”.

NOTE : The Swami here uses the term “Unarchi” instead of “Unarvu” to indicate consciousness. Unarchi in its lesser sense means feeling also.

NOTE: The supreme One has become in Himself the universal One. This is the manifestation of the One-in-One taking place in the Truth-World of Supermind, rather as a first poise of manifestation called comprehending poise or Cit Sabha. The one-in-one becomes the Two-in-one or the Many-in-one in its second poise or Por Sabha. Thus the One Divine has become the many in the apprehending supermind. In other words the one-in-one or the All-in-one has become the Many-in-one. Thousand stands indicating the infinite number of worlds, beings and things, manifested as many-in-one. See also stanzas 438 to 440 and I-V-2-29. The Many-in-one becomes One and Many in a third poise of manifestation which is still held in a field of unity. Then, the One and Many held in a sort of communicative or contacting unity, become separated as dual in the field of Ignorance i. e. in the over-mind and below.

Compare with the following passages of Sri Aurobindo and Tiru-moolar :

“A supramental principle and its cosmic operation once established (i.e. in the earth-consciousness) permanently on its own basis, the intervening powers of Overmind and spiritual mind could found themselves securely upon it and reach their own perfection; they would become in the earth-existence a hierarchy of states of consciousness rising out of Mind and physical life to the supreme spiritual life...On this basis the principle of a divine life in terrestrial Nature would be manifested. Even the world of Ignorance and inconstancy might discover its own submerged secret and begin to realise in each lower decree its divine significance.” (SA : Life Divine, p. 855).

Like wood-apple that is swallowed by an elephant undergoes change, the states of the Jeeva, Para and Siva, i. e. the subliminal and psychic, the spiritual mental and the overmental states respectively and the whole of the universal existence will be changed or transformed by the swallowing (of the universe) by the Supreme Lord which takes place in the high Transcendence (i. e. Ariya Turyam or Suddha Siva, the Supermind) which is the most difficult to attain ”—Tirumoolar TM : 2593.

உரிய பரமும் முன்னேதும் சிவமும்
அரிய துரியமேல் அகிலமும் எல்லாம்
திரிய விழுங்கும் சிவ பெருமானே—திருமந்திரம் 2593

In an earlier mantra TM : 2590, Saint Tirumoolar refers to the swallowing and ejecting out, i.e. layodaya or drawing back and issuing forth of the universal existence (உலகு உண்டு உமிழ்க்கும்) by the divine Lord who is all-pervading. In TM : 2835, he again refers to the Supreme Divine as the infinite essence within Its or His equal self-extension of the universe (i.e. the infinite and eternal Brahman within the universal Brahman of equal self-extension) பரம் எங்குமாகி...நிரவு சொருபத்துள் நீடுஞ் சொருபம் அரிய துரியத்து அணைந்து நின்றானே. It is the nature of the Supreme Divine in that high Transcendence which is the most difficult to reach (Ariya Turyam). Further in TM : 2863, he further observes that in the case of one reaching the highest of that high Transcendence i. e. the summit poise of the Truth-world of Supermind (Ariya Turya Ateetam) அரிய துரியம் அதீதம் புரியில் even his physical body which was before unresponsive to open itself and blossom would expand and contract (i.e. become plastic and supple), shine with luminosity and get transformed விள்ளா தன்உருவும் விரியும் குவியும் மிளிரும் திரியும்—மந்த 2863.

In TM : 2940, Saint Tirumoolar again refers to the supreme Light of that rare and high Transcendence (Ariya Turyam) which is beyond the three transcendences (Jeeva, Para and Siva Turyas). It becomes the triple Light in that pure Transcendence, expands and contracts, swallows and ejects out (i. e. draws back and issues forth) the universal manifestation and It is in this world too.

துரியங்கள் மூன்றும் கடந்து ஒளிர் சோதி
அரிய துரியம் அதில் மூன்றும்
விரிவு குவிவு விழுங்கி உமிழ்ந்தே
உரையில் அனுபூதி இகத்தினுள்ளானே—திருமந்திரம் 2940

Again the following mantras of Tirumoolar (123 to 125) point to the same summit poise of Supermind and the transformed state of nature and body.

“The supreme Divine has given me the realisation by which He has become Himself the All (the universal All-existence, i. e. the experience of comprehending supermind). He has given me the Heaven which Gods do not know. He has given me His divine Feet which plays in Tiru Manru (the divine session of apprehending supermind). He has given me the realisation of the supreme Bliss-Infinity of Grace (Per Inba Arul Veli, i. e. The summit poise of supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka beyond).”—TM 123.

This summit poise is further described in the next Mantra. Siva Siddhar, the man of perfect Knowledge and Nature established in the supreme and integral Truth-Consciousness, is he who has realised the supreme Light that contains the universal Light (i. e. manifest Cit is contained by the original Cit, Light being a self-determination of Cit), the supreme Bliss that contains the manifest universal Biss, and the supreme spaceless infinite that contains the space infinite of Truth-Consciousness (i. e. the manifest Sat is contained by the original Sat)”—TM 124.

Their transformation of being, nature and body is spoken of in the next mantra. “He is the Siva Siddhar who has realised and possessed the divine Heaven (Siva Loka) here on the earth. He possesses within himself both Sound and the Soundless. He is ever pure, pure without disease of the body (nirāmaya), immortal and eternal, and has become free from the lower thirty six tatvas and enjoy the supreme liberation of being and perfection of nature (Neell Para Muktar) with the possession of the divinised thirty six tatvas or principles of existence”—TM 125.

VII for fuller details).

NOTE : The seventh which is the perplexing multi-colour screen may possibly indicate the many screens of various colours operating in combination but in disharmony due to the many mental constructions in all ranges of mind, the outer and inner mind, spiritual mind and lower overmind. Mind usually leads and rules the other parts of nature, the vital and the physical. Overmind proper is generally represented as a realm of the inter-play of many colours with a drive towards synthesis or harmony of all the parts of one's being and nature.

The last three kinds of screens 7 to 9 are really groups of many screens in the respective mental, vital and physical nature, each impurity or obscurity being treated as a screen in itself in the respective part of nature.

NOTE : Rule of spirit implies not merely liberation but also mastery over nature and its perfection. Now, the said Grace of purification is not confined to the mere elimination of the impurities and imperfections of nature. NOTE: The impure tatvas are purified and changed into their true Swarupa or true nature and thus become the divine truths to be manifested and enjoyed. Thus for e.g., tamas or inertia is purified and changed or transformed into divine peace.

NOTE: "That so called One" is the supreme Reality. It is One, i. e. the one indivisible, infinite and eternal Brahman, the Satchitananda. One-in-One is the Comprehending Supermind. Two of one is the Apprehending Supermind. Two is the tertiary supermind which is still a realm in and of unity but from which by an obscurity of veiling power it becomes separative duality in the immediate realm of Suddha Maha Maya and down below. இன்பசித்தியின் இயல் ஏகம் அநேகம்
அன்பருக்கு என்ற என் அருட்பெருஞ் ஜோதி

“That so called One” is the Absolute, the Supreme Reality that is beyond oneness or unity. “The One” refers to the indivisible unity of the eternal and infinite Sachchidananda. “The One within One” or “the One-in-One” refers to the Comprehensive poise of Supermind (Cit Sabha) where the unity of Satcitananda becomes the triune Satcitananda in the universal manifestation but yet held in the original unity இயற்கை உண்மை

இயற்கை விளக்கம் இயற்கை இன்பம் ; இயன்ற அல்லது இயல் சச்சிதானந்தம்; and the "Two of the One" to the apprehending poise of Supermind (Por Sabha). The One-in-One becomes the Many-in-One which is described as "Two of the One" here, and elsewhere as "Two-in-One" (Vide keertan I-V-2-29, 30 under "Jnana Marundu"). Finally, "the Two" signifies what Sri Aurobindo calls "the blissful dualism in unity" in the tertiary supermind (lower Por Sabha or Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha) which at a lower descending level, by a stress on dualism or the manyness rather than on the Oneness or Unity, becomes the separative duality of the Knowledge-Ignorance i.e. the many of the mental level which has lost the sense of oneness or unity, though it is still founded upon a secret unity. See the same ideas reflected in the majestic language of Sri Aurobindo in the following quotations from "Life Divine".

"Above, the formula of the One eternally stable and immutable ; below, the formula of the Many which, eternally mutable, seeks but hardly finds in the flux of things a firm and immutable stand point ; between, the seat of all trinities, of all that is biune, of all that becomes Many-in-One and yet remains One-in-Many, because it was originally One that is always potentially Many. This intermediary term is therefore the beginning and end of all creation and arrangement. It has the knowledge of the One, but is able to draw out of the One, its hidden multitudes ; it manifests the Many, but does not loose itself in their differentiations".

"The term above is the unitarian or indivisible consciousness of pure Sachchidananda ; the term below is the analytic or dividing consciousness of Mind . though, it can synthesise its divisions, it cannot arrive at a true totality. Between them is this Comprehensive and creative consciousness (of Supermind), by its power of pervading and comprehending the child of that self-awareness by identity which is the poise of the Brahman, and by its power of projecting, confronting and apprehending knowledge parent of that awareness by distinction, which is the process of the Mind " (Sri Aurobindo's Life Divine, p. 117).

“O Supreme Truth of unity that comes into the experience continuously in the middle and top of the head in the sixth level of experience”.

NOTE : The sixth level is the nirmala susupti state. The first three are the ordinary ignorant states of waking, dreaming and sleeping. The next three are the waking, dreaming and sleeping states under purified conditions (nirmala) which lead to the psychic realisation of soul in the depth of the heart or at the Ajna as the case may be and to the spiritual realisation of Self, the Brahman or the Ishwara in the middle and top of the head, but without rising up into the overhead centre. Ajna centre in its depth is open to the soul of heart on the one hand and to the influence of the self above the head, on the other. (See Vol. I, Ch. III—Part I—SR & SA passages on the Sixth Level).

Compare with Sri Aurobindo :

“I do not dispute at all the fact that one can realise the Self, the Brahman or the Ishwara without going into the overhead regions, the dynamic spiritual planes or stationing oneself permanently above the body as happens in this yoga. Even if it is done through the Sahasrara, well, the Sahasrara extends to the spiritualised mind and can be felt in the top of the head, so any ascent above is not indispensable” —(Sri Aurobindo's “On Yoga”—Tome I p. 292—293).

“O Truth Supreme, Thou art manifest as a spiritual happiness in the seventh level of experience (i. e. Para Jagrata) removing the possibility of relapse or fall”.

NOTE : This level corresponds to the first established level of overhead-consciousness. Sri Aurobindo signifies it as Higher Mind or Spiritual Higher Mind. This corresponds to “Para Jagrata”.

Swami Ramalingam describes this Spiritual Higher Mind as “எண்ணமுறு மா மவுனவெளியாகி the plane of Infinite Silence which receives thoughts (i. e. silent Truth-thoughts), and this plane is beyond the space of Prakriti பருதி வெளி but below the “synthesising Para Veli”, i. e. “O Men! Realise Him. It is one and the same Divine of Tiru Cit Ambalam, the beautiful world of Truth-Consciousness who has become by the infinite and eternal Sat the firm and supreme Space of Sat in manifestation தனி இயற்கை உண்மை வெளி, as the supreme Bliss-Space of Grace (i. e. in its highest poise as opening into Ananda Loka above), as the Vast World of Space (i. e. the Vastness of Supermind, Peru Veli) which is truly the biune infinity in manifestation (Iyal Uphaya Veli—cf.: “the double infinite” of Sri Aurobindo in his Synthesis of Yoga, p. 561) constituted in an inseparable intimacy or integral unity of both Tat Para Veli, the spaceless infinity of the Supreme Being, and Cit Para Veli, the Universal Vast space of Consciousness-Force in concentration—who has become also (the lower spaces such as), the harmonising or synthesising Para Veli (i.e. Para Turya Veli the overmental Space), the Space of Maha Mauna or the Space of great Silence in which thoughts, i.e. truth-thoughts are received (i.e. the Space of Spiritual Higher Mind) and the Space of all the various lower spaces from the colourful physical etherial space upto the space of Prakriti, the primordial Nature” (10—II—2—2).

Now we quote Sri Aurobindo on the nature of Spiritual Higher Mind which is the seventh level of experience under stz. 443 of Joti Agaval.

“In the Higher Mind we are aware of a sealike downpour of masses of spontaneous knowledge which assumes the nature of Thought, but has a different character from the process of thought to which we are accustomed It is an automatic and spontaneous knowledge from a Higher Mind that seems to be in possession of Truth and not in search of hidden and withheld realities....this Thought is...capable of including at once a mass of knowledge in a single view. It has a cosmic character” (Sri Aurobindo's Life Divine, p. 254).

“The Higher Mind is a spiritual plane” (Letters, Vol. III).

“ The Higher Mind is the first plane where one becomes aware of the Self, the One everywhere and knows and sees things through an elevated thought-power and comprehensive mental sight... as in a large strong and clear day light ” (Letters, Vol. III).

“ O Supreme Truth that manifests (in one) the transformed nature (Sivamayamāki) in the ninth level of experience which is the middle of all levels (i. e. 17 levels) ”.

NOTE : The poet speaks of the main levels or land-marks in the spiritual ascent. The eighth level which is the “ Para Swapna ”, the plane of “ Illumined Mind ” is omitted to be mentioned here in “ Joti Agaval ”. But elsewhere, in the Book of Upadesha, it is denoted as ‘ Para Swapna ’, and sometimes also as ‘ Parabindu lower ’. Compare with Sri Aurobindo’s passage on “ Illumined Mind ” :

“ As the Higher Mind brings a greater consciousness into the being through the spiritual idea and its power of truth, so the Illumined Mind brings in a still greater Consciousness through a Truth-Sight and Truth-Light and its seeing and seizing power ” (Life Divine)

“ Beyond this Truth-thought (i. e. the Higher Mind) we can distinguish a greater illumination instinct with an increased power and intensity and driving force a luminosity of the nature of Truth-Sight with thought formation as a minor and dependent activity ” (Life Divine, p. 255).

The ninth level is that of “ Intuitive Mind ” (Para Susupti). It is in the middle with 8 levels below and 8 levels above among a total of 17 levels, according to the classification of Swami Ramalingam.

S. A. ON INTUITIVE MIND :

“ Intuition has a four-fold power. A power of revelatory truth-seeing, a power of inspiration or truth-hearing, a power of Truth-touch or immediate seizing of significances,... a power of true and automatic discrimination of the orderly and exact relation of truth to truth ” Life Divine, p. 843).

“ Intuition takes up also and transforms into its own substance not only the mind of thought, but the heart and life and the sense and physical consciousness ” (Life Divine, p. 843).

The rays of Intuitive Mind are not separated but massed together in a play of waves of what might be called a sea or mass of stable lightnings" (Life Divine, p. 842).

"Intuition is a power of Consciousness nearer and more intimate to the original Knowledge by identity" (Life Divine, p. 841).

The poet, Swami Ramalingam, describes by an early experience in "Mahadeva Malai" (7-5-46), the truth-hearing or inspiration as "கேளாமல் கேட்கின்ற கேள்வியே" the Hearing that is heard without hearing; the truth-seeing or revelation as "காணாமல் காண்கின்ற காட்சியே" the Sight that is seen without seeing; the truth-touch of intuition proper or intuitive knowledge as "அறியாமல் அறிகின்ற அறிவே", the Knowledge that is understood without knowing; and the truth-discrimination as 'உன்னாமல் உன்னுகின்ற ஒளி' the discrimination without discrimination (of the intellect).

கேளாமல் கேட்கின்ற கேள்வியே, சொற்கு
அரிய வறை விடுத்து நவநிலைக்கு மேலே

உரிய சதாநிலை நின்ற உணர்ச்சி மேலோர்
உன்னாமல் உன்னுகின்ற ஒளியாம் தேவே

மகாதேவ மாலே (7-5-46)

"O Light of discrimination (i. e. Truth-Discrimination) that discriminates without the mental process of discrimination and operates in the Great Men of consciousness who are poised ever in the true, proper and rightful state of eternal existence! O Intuition (i. e. Truth-Intuition) that intuitively knows without the process of mental knowing and which arises from a rare inner state in between the one and the two (i. e. the states of one-in-one and two-in-one, the states or poises of comprehending and apprehending Supermind, i. e. Cit Sabha and Por Sabha)! O Vision (i. e. Truth-Vision) that sees without seeing and which is a state beyond the nine levels and which is also beyond the state of potential Sound of words, music and sound i. e. beyond Parapada! O Inspiration (i. e. Truth-Inspiration) that hears without hearing and which has its source beyond the summit-end of Vedic Knowledge and beyond the lower mode of actions! (Mahadeva Mālai, 7-5-46).

NOTE : We may add that the powers of Truth-inspiration, Truth-vision, Truth-intuition (i. e. Truth-touch and Truth-seizing) and Truth-discrimination have their manifestations not only in the level of spiritual Intuitive Mind which is the ninth level of experience as in stz. 444, but also in a higher level in the Overmind where they become more comprehensive and immediate in action, and beyond it also in the very Supermind where they have their highest source in purity and assuming an integral character. In supermind the Vision derives direct from the Knowledge by identity, and brings with it inspiration and intuition. Discrimination is inherent in the other three (cf: "Synthesis of Yoga", p. 952-953, 936-337 and LIFE DIVINE p. 894). Therefore, discrimination seems to be more fundamental than vision, intuition proper and inspiration. Also compare with items 100 of the Swami's TATVA LOKAS which refers to Satya Viveka the Truth-discrimination of Sukharambha Cit Shakti (in Overmind Gnosis) The Swami in the above song of MAHADEVA MALAI seems to indicate more properly the supramental vision, inspiration, intuition and discrimination rather than their corresponding derivative powers in the lower ranges such as Overmind and Intuitive Mind, because the poem Mahadevamalai expresses in its essence and nature a vision of the world of Truth-Knowledge itself.

GURU OR SIVA SWAPNA (GLOBAL OVERMIND)—11th LEVEL :

"O Supreme Truth that has become seated in a single seat of Space (Ēka Ādana = Ēka Āsana) in the eleventh level of experience".

NOTE : Ādana in Tamil means space, seat. Ēka ādana is the one seat of space, the "Parampara Veli of overruling Governance" பரம்பர வெளியைப் பரம்பர வெளியில் அரம் தெற வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ் ஜோதி i. e. global overmind.

Compare with lines from SAVITRI of Sri Aurobindo :

"Then stretches the boundless finite's last expanse
The cosmic empire of Overmind,
Time's buffer state bordering Eternity...
All Time is one body, Space a single book
There is the Godhead's universal gaze..."

The tenth, eleventh and twelfth levels are the realms of the Spiritual Overmind. The tenth is what may be called the selective overmind (Siva or Guru Jagrata), the eleventh, the global overmind (Siva or Guru Swapna, Parampara Veli or Vishwa Grāsa state), and the twelfth, the Gnostic Overmind in particular or Overmental Gnosis in general (Siva or Guru Susupti, Parāpara Veli or Parigraha State, the Realm of Golden Lid). Here in the context the twelfth would be more appropriately the Overmind Gnosis implying its summit five planes.

The poet, Swami Ramalingam, has omitted to mention here the first and last planes of overmind, though duly mentioned under Upadesha and in “Anubhavamālai” poem (stz. 95) and elsewhere in other poems. The descriptions of the overmental planes and the Overmind in general as given by Sri Aurobindo are highly revealing. The tenth, eleventh and twelfth levels relating to overmind are dealt with in Vol. I, Ch. III, Part I, under S. R. & S. A. passages. See also Ch. III. Part II Charts 1, 2, 4 & 4A & 4B.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo’s passages on Overmind :

“ If we regard the Powers of the Reality as so many Godheads, we can say that the Overmind releases a million Godheads into action, each empowered to create its own world, each world capable of relation, communication and inter-play with others ” (LIFE DIVINE).

“ In its nature and Law the Overmind is a delegate of the Supermind Consciousness, its delegate to the Ignorance ” (LIFE DIVINE).

“ The overmind is a principle of cosmic Truth and a vast and endless catholicity is its very spirit ” (LIFE DIVINE).

“ Overmind is a creator of truths, not of illusions or falsehoods ”.

“ Overmind is concerned predominantly not with absolutes but with, what might be called the dynamic potentials or pragmatic truths of Reality ”. In the overmind we have the first foundation of the experience of the universal beauty, a universal love, a universal delight ”.

“ It feels oneness, sympathy, love for all—sees the face of the Divine everywhere ” (LIFE DIVINE).

“ O King of infinite Compassion who playeth in the Space of Grace (Arul Veli, i.e. in Supramental Vastness) where all these worlds of forms—andas or worlds of Brahma of which the end and beginning cannot be known, a thousand crores of similar worlds of Vishnu, crores and crores of worlds of Rudra, the many crores of defectless worlds of Isha, the numberless worlds of Sadasiva, the orderly or harmonious worlds of the other great gods and goddesses—move as small atoms. O all-achieving omnipotent Lord of universal play of Knowledge (Nataraja) who playeth in that excellent Heaven of Knowledge (Mani Manru the apprehending snpermind). O My true Father who has united with me and possessed me as Thy Son and bestowed on me the boon of Immortality ” (Nataraja Pati Malai 11—1—18). “ These gods like Brahmas, Vishnus, Rudras and Indras and founders of religions and philosophies like Buddha and Maha veera make a play of Mind with a little or partial Light of Grace received in them ; they play like honey-drunk children ” (11—36—89).

SIVA OR GURU JAGRATA (PARA TURYA) : SELECTIVE OVER-MIND—10 th LEVEL

OTE : The above stanzas refer to the numberless worlds of the many gods and goddesses and they are necessarily of the overmental range particularly of the lower or selective overmind (Siva Jagrata or Para Turya Veli). Their true source is said to be far above in the Space or Veli of Grace where the supreme and universal Lord plays the dynamism of Knowledge and where the said worlds are seen as atoms moving under the rhythm of His Play of Dance. An early poem "Anip Pon Ambalatte" refers also to the many crores of gods and goddesses and the five great godheads whom the Swami had to cross over in order to see the biune Lord Ardhanareeshwara (God as Male-Female); and finally the Swami sees Anandavalli, the divine Mother, who takes him into the presence of Nataraja.

SIVA OR GURU SUSUPTI—(PARAPARA VELI)—OVERMIND GNOSIS: 12th LEVEL :

The overmind gnosis (i.e. Siva or Guru Susupti of the 12th level in the ascent) is referred to as Parapara Veli. This comprises of five planes of summit overmind (called collectively overmind gnosis) in the order of ascent namely gnostic overmind, ananda overmind, tapo overmind, cit overmind and sat overmind (See SAVITRI Paintings, Plate 6: BK 1—cto V—p. 87 explaining the line, "He raised his eyes to unseen spiritual heights"). These five planes are referred to by the Swami as five planes of Paranada (வாய்ந்த பரநாதம் ஐந்தின் 11—36—38). In another verse he classifies the twelfth level into three, i.e., (1) Para-para Veli (possibly gnostic and ananda overmind), (2) Nadu Veli (the middle i.e. cit-tapo overmind) and (3) Tat Paramam Veli, the Sat Overmind (BK 12—40—13) வாய் திறவா மவுனமதே பராபரம் ... நடுவெளி . தற்பரமாம் வெளி ... பெருவெளி " Beyond it is Peru Veli, the Vast World of Truth Knowledge.

Again, in "Mahadeva Malai" (songs 63 and 64) the Swami elaborates on the twelfth plane which is called Upasanta Plane of intense peace and classifies it into three or four levels. (1) The first is the Parigraha plane of veiling (possibly gnostic and ananda overmind). Beyond it he mentions (2) the plane of higher Parabindu மேலைப்பரவிந்து (possibly cit-tapo overmind) or Parabindu proper and farther beyond is the (3) Plane of true Paranada (possibly Sat Overmind) இயற்பரநாதம். (4) Farther beyond (i.e. in Paranadanta) one sees in vision or comes to know the rarely seen or known triple plane (of supermind) but difficult to realise or possess, as is so said by the Agamas.

GURU OR SIVA TURYA (STATE OF GRACE)—TRANSITION STATE INTO SUPERMIND :

Thus the twelfth plane is the realm of intense peace (Upasanta) with a veiling or cover (Parigraha) (cf: golden lid covering the Sun of Knowledge: 'Isha Upanishad'). Its highest or last stage where one sees in vision the supermind is called by the Swami a state of Grace and this is in the realm of Paranadanta (i.e. beyond Parana) where after realising the immutable Void of Silence or the Brahman one realises one's true individual self as a centre of the transcendental and universal Divine (see Vyakhyana, p. 136: "Paranāda Parityāgānta Sahaja Kēvala Pratyaksha Anubhava; Pratyēka Rūpa Pratyāksha Jnāna Ānma Anubhava"). This state is also called by the Swami as Guru Turya or Siva Turya state which is a state of Grace and which can further lead to or develop into the Truth-Conscious or Truth-Knowledge of Supermind proper, i. e. Suddha Siva Veli.

Sri Aurobindo would regard this state as a state of transition towards or into Supermind. Thus, in the ascent this state may be treated as a potential seed-state of supermind. "In the transition towards the Supermind this centralising action tends towards the discovery of a true individual replacing the dead ego, a being who is in his essence one with the supreme Self, one with the Universe in extension and yet a cosmic centre and circumference of the specialised action of the "Infinite" (LIFE DIVINE, p. 845).

Again in poem "Tiruvadi Nilai" (11-22-5), the Swami observes that beyond Saguna anta (global overmind) and beyond the end of the realm of Parabindu (Maha Bindu Anta) where is found the pillar of Light, is the realm of Paranāda. In Para Nadanta (i. e. at the end of Parana) he found his individual self as a Ray or Creeper of Light என் வணச் சோதிக் கொடி பரநாதாந்தத்திலே இலங்கியது. Farther beyond, his self united with the Divine Feet of the Lord as the Flower of Light. அதன்மேல், தன் வணம் மணக்கும் ஒளிமலராகத் தழுவினன் திருவடிதிலேயே.

Thus, it is seen that the finding of true individual self in Paranadanta is the state of transition towards or into supermind (i. e. into the threshold of its vastness) and this is spoken of elsewhere by the Swami as STATE OF GRACE OR GURU TURYA STATE, (cf: UPADESHA, p. 103 'Tiru Arul Nilai' the state of Grace before realising the Suddha Siva, the Supermind proper cf: அருளுறும் ஓர் பரநாத வெளி the Parana Realm where Grace is received 12-42-78; cf: "Upadesha", p. 35-36 Guru Turya, as the penultimate state before realising Suddha Siva the Supermind proper), because the next farther ascending state gives union with the Divine in the Golden World of Knowledge, Por Sabha which is the realm of the Divine Feet (பொற்பொதுவில் நடம்புரி தருணத்து என்பர் வான் திருவடி நிலையே ; அணி பொன் அம்பலத்தாடும் என்பரால் திருவடி நிலையே 11-22-1 & 9). This last development is the decisive factor to decide about one's realisation of Supermind. However, under Ch. V "Kāraṇāteeta Lokas" (S. No. 109), in the Book of Vyakhyana, after referring to the finding of true individual self in Paranādanta, the Swami proceeds to mention the further step-by-step developments leading to the triple planes of Supermind proper. See Charts 4, 4A and 4B in Vol. 1, Chapter III Part II. The said developments are given hereunder after two paras.

The yogi-saint Manickavasagar observes, "O Lord! At last Thou hast made me realise myself as one being, i. e. as one individual being" கடைமுறை என்னையும் இருப்பதாக்கினன்'' ; "என்னையும் ஒருவன் ஆக்கி" Evidently. This refers to the Guru Turya state of Grace in which one's true individual self is found. However, this state signifies a realisation of "Amsa Sanatana" the eternal portion of the Supreme Divine according to the Gita. For more details on other Yogi-saints and Saiva Siddhantins, see Volume I, Chapter XIII.

Swami Ramalingam makes a general observation when explaining Guru Turya State (UPADESHA, p. 36) that the Vedas and Agamas and the founders of philosophies may be considered to have reached or attained at best only Guru Turya State and not beyond. Further, he says that realisation of states beyond Guru Turya is possibly only in Suddha Sanmarga (i. e. Samarasa Satya Suddha Sanmarga, the Path of Truth, the Right, Purity and Harmony).

Under the said chapter of "Karanateeta Lokas" we find that the natural and inherent development of the true individual self as a centre of the transcendental and universal Divine is its entry into the threshold of the Supramental Vastness Peru Veli or Vyapaka Vyapa where it gets the first or initial integral experience of God, world, soul and self (see items 1 to 3 of the closing items 1 to 16 of the said Chapter) and even an initial integration with the Supreme Nature in its becoming of involution and evolution (tatva tatvika layodaya—Ibid item 4) which fall respectively in the states of Guru Turya and Guru Turya Ateeta. Farther beyond is the Supermind proper (Suddha Siva Veli proper) with its comprehending and summit poises (Ibid items 5 to 7) and the apprehending and tertiary poises (Ibid, items 8 to 11) which are however described in a descending order.

S. A. OVERMIND GNOSIS—12th LEVEL

"If the power of an ordering overmind gnosis intervenes then there is a cosmic structure of the consciousness and action....It is plastic, organic, something that can grow and develop and stretch into the infinite....Intuition, illumined sight and thought enlarge themselves....the whole nature, knowledge, aesthesis, sympathy, feeling and dynamism become more catholic, all-understanding, all-embracing, cosmic, infinite (LIFE DIVINE, p. 846).

“ At the source of this Intuition (Intuitive Mind) we discover a super conscient cosmic Mind in direct contact with the Supramental Truth-Consciousness...an Overmind that covers as with the wide wings of some creative Over soul (the Cosmic Self or the Ishwara) this whole lower hemisphere of Knowledge-Ignorance, links it with that greater Truth-Consciousness while yet at the same time with its brilliant golden Lid it veils the face of the greater Truth from our sight intervening...as at once an obstacle and a passage in our seeking . of its secret Reality...this is the Power that at once connects and divides the Supreme Knowledge and the Cosmic Ignorance ” (LIFE DIVINE, p. 255).

See notes on “ Joti Agaval ”, stz. 283. Also see Vol I Ch. III, Part I : 12th Level.

LEVELS 13th to 16th (SUDDHA SIVA STATES) :

As for the reconciliation of various denominations of the sub-planes of the twelfth level, see Charts No. 4, 4 A & 4 B in Vol. I, Chapter III, Part II. The thirteenth level crosses into the Supermind proper and it is the tertiary supermind. Levels 13th to 16th relate to the experience of Supermind proper (Suddha Siva Veli States).

Stz. 446 திரையோதச நிலை சிவவெளி நடுவே
வரை ஓத அரு சுக வாழ்க்கை மெய்ப்பொருளே

“ O Supreme Truth that has become the unlimited Life of Bliss beyond description in the world or Space of Truth (Siva Veli) which is the thirteenth level of experience ”.

Stz. 447 ஈரெண் நிலை என இயம்புமேல் நிலையில்
பூரண சுகமாய்ப் பொருந்து மெய்ப் பொருளே

“ O Supreme Truth that has become in the high-seated (or in the highest of the) sixteenth level (of experience) the perfect and integral Bliss (Poorana Sukha)”

NOTE : This (stanza 447) points to the Comprehending Supermind, rather in its highest level where it opens into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda i.e. Ananda Lokha above. Though the spaceless Infinite and timeless Eternal which is the supreme Divine is the normal experience in the planes or poises of the supermind which are His universal and manifold manifestations, it is only in the summit poise of the supermind that all the poises of the supermind and all the states of the Divine, manifest and unmanifest, can be held and possessed in an absolute integral harmony. Hence the Swami declares it as the goal to be attained by the followers of Samarasa Suddha Sanmarga (See the next stz. 448, 449 to 451, 285, and stzs. 33, 36, 37). The word "Sukha Poorana" is also used in the said stanza 33, See also further notes following at the end.

NOTE ON STZ. 446

Siva Veli may mean Siva Veli of the Siva Turya State (i. e. Guru Turya State) which would imply overmind Gnosis and a state of transition into Supermind. But in the relevant stanzas of Joti Agaval from stz. 442 to stz. 447, describing the gradations of planes, the Swami has simply mentioned the numerical order of levels giving an essential nature of the said planes but without signifying the respective names except for the thirteenth level which is denoted by him as Siva Veli. So in this background of context and description and the order of states Siva Veli should rather necessarily signify the Suddha Siva Veli, the Supermind, as in its initial opening stage of the tertiary supermind.

Siva Veli here refers rather to Suddha Siva Veli, and so the thirteenth level means the tertiary supermind because in the order of planes the sixteenth level is described by the Swami as of Poorana Sukha, the integral Bliss, signifying the Comprehending Supermind, rather in its highest level; the fourteenth and fifteenth levels or states which are omitted to be mentioned herein, refer to the Many-in-One and One-in-Many of the apprehending supermind நானுகித்தானுகி He, (the supreme and universal Divine) became Myself, became Himself" (See also Note (b) on Chart 4A).

Compare with the following stanzas in "Anubhava Malai". These are his own experiences of the Supramental Ishwara but narrated but by the Swami as if realised by a lady (symbolising his own soul) and expressed by her to a maid-friend.

"After realising the (three) "Para" states of waking, dreaming and sleeping (i. e. Higher Mind, Illumined Mind and Intuitive Mind in the range of Spiritual Mind,—Para Jagrata, Para Swapna and Para Susupti), and the (three) Guru Brahma states (or Guru or Siva states) of waking, dreaming, and sleeping (i. e. Selective Overmind, Global Overmind and Overmind Gnosis in the range of Spiritual Overmind,—Guru Brahma Jagrata, Guru Brahma Swapna and Guru Brahma Susupti, or Siva Jagrata, Siva Swapna and Siva Susupti), I realised “Guru Turya” state (i. e. Siva Turya, the state of Grace or Arul Nilai—a state of transition into the Truth-World). I attained the state of Samarasa Sanmarga (i. e. Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha or tertiary supermind). In that realm of Harmony and Truth (Samarasa Sanmarga) which is in Podu the world of equal self-extension (i. e. Truth-World) and where the Lord, my Beloved Husband, playing the dance of Grace embraced and united with me and I became of His Body blissfully (i.e., my body became transformed into a divinised body). I live on a blissful life without resistance or opposition” (12-42-95).

NOTE: The lower Supermind is the realm or session where all Paths of Spiritual disciplines in their highest purity harmonise. This is called by the Swami as Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha or அடி நிலை “Adi Nilai” the Lower State in the Truth-world of Knowledge. It signifies the lower reach of Por Sabha the Apprehending Supermind, the lower reach being the tertiary supermind. This is the thirteenth level of experience called in the opening line of the next stz. as “Suddha Siva Jagrata”. (12-42-96)—See also the Divine Chart No 19 A.

The nature of the above plane is described in another stanza of the same poem 12-42-75. This is the 13th level of experience which opens into the first level of Supermind proper from the view point of ascent, but called by Sri Aurobindo as the third or tertiary poise of Supermind from the viewpoint of the descending gradations of the Supermind. This is the poise of the play of relations between the individual Divine (i. e. the soul and self of the Individual) and the transcendent and universal Divine (the Supramental Ishwara) “in a sort of fundamental blissful dualism in Unity”. (See Vol. I, Ch. III, Part I—SR & SA Passages on 13th Level of Experience. See also Charts 3 & 4 under Ch. III, Part II).

“When I embraced the unique form of the Body of My Beloved Lord, in the highly praised state, called by the realised souls as “Suddha Siva Jagrata ” (i. e. the tertiary poise of Supermind), I became the true form of Light and Bliss, and experienced the unmodified and true nature of Bliss of the Divine in an uniting contact and oneness of Truth-Form and Truth-Sense (உருச்சுவை கலந்தே அதுவாய்...இயற்கை இன்பச் சிவம் கலந்த நிலையே). This Bliss has the sense of sweetness as of honey and the form of luminosity as that of the light of precious gem. Transcending further three other states (i. e. Suddha Siva Swapna, Susupti and Turya), I attained the last, “ Jagratāteeta ” the supreme waking state (i. e. Suddha Siva Turya Ateeta). O maid-friend, know it in distinction ”.

The three other states are Suddha Siva Swapna, Susupti and Turya. They are indicated in the stanza of “ Anubhava Malai ” (12-42-96). They are the 14th, 15th and 16th levels of experience.

NOTES ON “ JOTI AGAVAL ” Stzs. 446 & 447

Compare with the following stz. in poem “ Anubhava Malai ” which deals with the levels or states of experience from 13th to 17th.

“ I remained uniquely apart from Him in the state of Suddha Siva Jagrata ” (the tertiary poise of Supermind). I reached and joined Him in the state of “ Suddha Siva Swapna ” (i. e. I as an individual self and soul moved unto Him and joined Him in the second poise or the apprehending supermind) and I became blissfully ripened in the state of Suddha Siva Susupti ” (i. e. I became ripened in Him in the apprehending poise of supermind where and when my soul and self became united in the Lord as I-He or Myself-Himself, in other words, in Him I became Himself நானாகித் தானாகி). I became one in self-identity with Him in the state of “ Suddha Siva Turya ” (i. e. in the Comprehending or first poise of supermind where and when I became wholly as Himself, the universal All-Existence without anything else to confront ; this state corresponds to the sixteenth level in the ascending gradations).

In the state of "Suddha Siva Turyateeta", I became absolutely identified with the infinite and eternal Sivam, the Satcitananda (சிவமயமாய் நிறைந்தேன்) which is beyond birth, beyond the Universe of All-existence and yet has become the All (i. e. this refers to the summit Supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda with its eternal worlds and more particularly opening into the immediate world of Ananda). O maid-friend! I have realised all these gifts because I had realised the blissful Divine of the Cit Sabha i. e. the one Ishwara of the Comprehending Supermind (Cit Sabha in its lesser and derived significance is the soul's space or sky, either at the heart centre or at the Ajna centre as the case may be, where the soul and the Divine in the soul are usually realised as the first step of experience). I live on blissfully" ANUBHAVA MALAI, 12-42-96.

NOTE: Cit Sabha of the soul in the heart or the ajna is the soul's field of knowledge-play and it is derived from Suddha Cit Sabha, the Comprehending Supermind which is the Cit Sabha proper. Compare also with stz. 510 "O Supreme Divine who manifests Himself as the munificent Lord of Grace in Cit Ambalam, the Comprehending World of Truth-Knowledge, is seated in my heart and united with my soul."

The Supramental poises as cast out by Sri Aurobindo in the poetic lines of "Savitri" are indicated by us herein below:

APPREHENDING SUPERMIND:

"In her glorious kingdom of eternal light
All-ruler, ruled by none, the Truth Supreme,

Omnipotent, omniscient and alone,
 In a golden country keeps her measureless house ;
 In its corridor she hears the tread that comes Out of the Unmanifest never to return
 Till the Unknown is known and seen by men
 Above the silence of the wordless Thought,
 Formless creator of immortal forms,
 Nameless, investitured with the name divine,
 Transcending Time's hours, transcending Timelessness,
 The Mighty Mother sits in lucent calm
 And holds the eternal Child upon her knees,
 Attending the day when he shall speak to Fate''

SAVITRI, Bk 10—cto—4—p. 741

“A spirit who is no one and innumerable,
 The one mystic infinite Person of his world
 Multiplies his myriad personality,
 On all his bodies seals his divinity's stamp
 And sits in each immortal and unique''.

TERTIARY SUPERMIND :

“The Truth Supreme, vast and impersonal
 Fits faultlessly the hour and circumstance,
 Its substance a pure gold ever the same
 But shaped into vessels for the spirit's use,
 Its gold becomes the wine jar and the vase.
 All there is a supreme epiphany;
 The All-Wonderful makes a marvel of each event.
 The All-Beautiful is a miracle in each shape;
 The All-Blissful smites with rapture the heart's throbs,
 A pure celestial joy is the use of sense.
 Each being there is a member of the Self,
 A portion of the million-thoughted All,
 A claimant to the timeless Unity,
 The many's sweetness, the joy of difference
 Edged with the intimacy of the One''.

SAVITRI, Bk 10, cto 4—p. 743-744

Stz. 447 ஈரெண்ணிலை என இயம்பு மேல் நிலையில்
 பூரண சுகமாய்ப் பொருந்து மெய்ப் பொருளே

“ O Supreme Truth that has become in the high-seated (or in the highest of the) sixteenth level (of experience) the perfect and integral Bliss (Poorana Sukha)”.

NOTE : This points to the Comprehending Supermind rather in its highest level where it opens into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda i. e. the Ananda Loka above. The immediately succeeding stanzas describe the nature of this poise.

Sri Aurobindo speaks of four levels or poises of Supermind in his ‘ Synthesis of Yoga ’—vide Chapter on “ Supramental Sense ”. He subsequently classifies them into three in “ Life Divine ”; vide Chapter on “ Triple Status of Supermind ”.

The Summit Supermind and Vijnana the Comprehending Supermind are classed by Sri Aurobindo together as the Comprehending or the first poise, Prajnana the Apprehending Supermind as the second poise and Sanjnana the subsidiary poise of the Apprehending Supermind as the tertiary poise.

The corresponding terms in “ Tiru Arutpa ” of Swami Ramalingam are indicated consecutively as Suddha Siva Turya, the 16th level of experience (Comprehending Supermind) or Cit Sabha or more properly Suddha Cit Sabha or Suddha Jnana Sabha or Suddha Jnana ; as Suddha Siva Susupti and Suddha Siva Swapna the 15th and 14th levels (Apprehending Supermind முடிதலை ஞானம் or Mudi Nilai Jnana, the higher Golden Session of Truth-Knowledge or Pon Ambalam, or Por Sabhai with its poises of issuing forth and drawing back நானுகித் தானுகி cf : “ Having become Myself, He became Himself ; or He became myself, I became Himself i. e. the poise of Myself-Himself ”); and as Suddha Siva Jagrata, the 13th level (the Subsidiary poise of the Apprehending Supermind) i. e. the Tertiary supermind or Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha or அடிதலை ஞானம் Adi Nilai Jñāna the lower Golden Session of Truth-Knowledge).

The Swami elsewhere in the poem “ Tiru Cittrambala Deiva Mani Mālai ” distinguishes the Comprehending supermind proper as Tiru Cit-Ambalam, i. e. Suddha Cit Sabha or Suddha Jnana Sabha (song 5), and its summit, i. e. the summit Supermind as Samarasa Ananda Sabha or Suddha Sivananda Sabha, because it leads and opens into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above (songs 9 to 12). The summit Supermind is called in his “ Satya Jnana Peru Vinnappam ” as Samarasa Suddha Jnana Siddhi Anubhava, the state of absolute integration and harmony of the supreme and universal Knowledge and the power of Perfect Nature. In the poem Anubhavamālai, (song 65), it is referred to as "Samarasa Per Anta Tani Natam " the supreme Play of integral harmony beyond the play-of Suddha Siddhanta (second poise of supermind or Por Sabha) and beyond the (farther) play of Suddha Vedanta (first poise of supermind or Cit Sabha or Tan Paramām Param the Heaven of One's Self-identity with the Supreme and Universal Divine). The Swami distinguishes the comprehending supermind and its summit, the summit supermind, again by the terms Ādi Cit Sabha and Anādi Cit Sabha respectively (Joti Agaval Stzs 42 and 41), Sukhodaya Veli and Sukhateeta Veli (Ibid stzs 16 and 37), Suddha Vedanta Cit Sabha or Adwaita Sabha and Attam Mēl Cit Sabha (Ibid stzs 21, 16 and 37) respectively. Attam Mēl Cit Sabha means the Heaven of the summit Cit Sabha, (i. e. the summit Supermind).

The final i. e. the 17th level of experience is the summit supermind as opening into Ananda Loka beyond Supermind. It also refers to the Ananda Loka. This is denoted as Suddha Siva Turya Ateeta or called simply as Jagrateeta (Vide Charts 3, 4, 4 A & 4 B—Ch. III, Part II). As a general term Suddha Siva Turyateeta would also imply the three worlds of Satcitananda beginning with Ananda Loka, and the one indivisible Satcitananda and the Absolute Reality beyond.

Stz. 448 எல்லா நிலைகளும் இசைந்து ஆங்காங்கே
எல்லாமாகி இலங்கு மெய்ப்பொருளே
(ஆங்கு = அசைச்சொல் ; ஆங்கே = -அவ்விடத்து)

" O Supreme Truth that has become there (in the highest of the said sixteenth level of experience) the All-in-one (the universal All-Existence) with all the states in an integral harmony—i. e. all the Totality of States as well as all the states of each respective level in an integral harmony.

NOTE: In the highest poise of the Truth-world as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above, all the states are said to harmonise and integrate, i. e. not only all the poises of the Truth-World integrate, but the Truth-World itself integrates with the infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda above ; the manifest Satcitananda integrates with the unmanifest too. The Swami realised it and declared it as the goal to be attained by the followers of Suddha Sanmarga. This is a commanding poise where one gets at once the essential experience of the Worlds or Heavens of Satcitananda above, all the poises of the Truth-World of Supermind which is the mid Heaven, and all the lower worlds or heavens of Knowledge-Ignorance below and the lesser worlds of Ignorance derived from it. This highest poise effectuates the transformation of nature and body into their deathless states of perfection. So this the Swami declares as the Lakshya, the Goal. See also items 6 and 7 at the end of the Chapter of "Keranateeta Loka" which refer to the same poise as the poise which integrally holds in experience the supreme Light of the supreme Being and the Light of the Consciousness-Force (Ateeta Jnana Prakasa and Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa). Jetti Agaval stanzas 438, 449, 450 to 455 also refer to the same. Particularly stz. 450 mentioning this summit poise refers to the manifestation of soul and body implying also the transformation of nature and body. If one goes beyond into the eternal world of Ananda, he would lose the more immediate, direct and practical contact with the material world and therefore for the purpose of transformation of the physical body into its deathless state and for changing this world to its divine destiny, the summit poise of the Truth-World, which is at once a Infinite-finite world of the Truth-Consciousness, is declared as the goal

Stz. 449 மனதிகள் பொருந்தா வான் நடு வானாய்
அனாதி உண்மையதாய் அமர்ந்த மெய்ப்பொருளே

"O Supreme Truth that has become the mid-Heaven of the Heaven which is beyond the reach of the mental states and excels as the beginningless Truth". "வான்நடு வானாய்" may also be interpreted as the "Heaven in Heaven".

NOTE: The Truth-World of Supermind is referred to as the mid-heaven. Sri Aurobindo calls it as the Link world linking the higher trinity of the infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda above, namely the Ananda (or Jana) Loka, Cit-Tapo or Chaitanya-Tapo Loka, and Sat Loka, and the three lower worlds of mind, life and matter below. Here the Mind includes the spiritual Overmind, spiritual Mind, and cosmic or universal mind and finally its manifestation in the earth as mind in the human beings, which includes sense-mind and sub-conscious mind. The worlds of Satcitananda are referred to by the Swami as beyond the world of "Vyapaka Vyapya", i.e. beyond the Supermind or World of Truth-Consciousness. This "Vyapaka Vyapya" is beyond Paranadanta which in its turn is beyond Overmind. The Overmind is mentioned as the world of "Vyapya Vyapaka" supporting and covering all the worlds from Bhuta Loka upto the Loka of Para Siva. Now the Satcitananda worlds namely Ananda, Cit and Sat Lokas respectively are as follows: "Ateeta Cit Poorana Sanmatra SUKHA SWABHAVA Anubhava LOKA ; ATEETA CIT POORANA ANANYA Sat rupa Suka Swarupa LOKA ; and Ateeta Cit Poorana Ananda SAT SWARUPA Sukha Rupa Anubhava LOKA " (See items 12 to 14 in " Karanateeta Loka ", p. 138 of Book of Vyakhyana). In the summit supermind, and in the eternal worlds of Satcitananda one experiences the infinite and eternal Divine as the All and yet beyond the All. However the experience of the All in the eternal worlds would be more of a potential nature and hence more remote than its immediate and direct and concrete basis as in the Truth-world which is at once an Infinite-finite world based on Truth-Consciousness. So the summit supermind is more directly connected with the material world and has its immediate and concrete effect in transformation of nature and body into their deathless states of perfection. This connection is indicated in the next stanza. See also notes on stzs. 533 and 499.

Stz. 450 தான் ஒரு தானும் தானே தான் ஆய்
ஊன் உயிர் விளக்கும் ஒரு தனிப் பொருளே

"O Supreme Reality that has become one, manifested Itself as Itself (i. e. as the truth of universal manifestation) manifesting and illumining soul and physical body"

OR

"O Supreme Divine who has become one Being, or manifested Himself as Himself manifesting and illumining soul and physical body".

NOTE : This and other following stanzas (450 to 455) indicate the universal self-becoming or universal self-manifestation of the one indivisible Satcitananda as the triune Satcitananda i. e. as the Supramental Divine in the original unity of the supreme Reality. Thus, the nature of the Supermind in its highest poise as opening into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda or Ananda Lokha above is shown. The Swam indicates elsewhere shortly thus: "Truth has become Truth" மெய்யே மெய்யாகி ; "He has become Himself" தானே தானாகி ; "He Himself has become His Form in Tiru Cit Ambalam, the divine world of Truth-Consciousness or Truth-Knowledge" தன் வடிவம் தானாகும் திருச் சிற்றம்பலத்தே. Thus, the One Divine has become as the Universal All-Existence which is Himself in Form. The supreme, infinite and eternal Divine has become in Itself or Himself the universal Divine in manifestation.

Stz. 451 அதுவினுள் அதுவாய் அதுவே அதுவாய்
பொதுவினுள் நடிக்கும் பூரணப் பொருளே

“O Integral and Supreme Reality that plays or manifests Itself within Itself and verily as Itself in Podu, the universal realm of equal self-extension of Truth-conscious Knowledge.

NOTE: This is the all-constituting, all-containing and all-indwelling nature of the Divine in the Comprehending Supermind; in other words, It is the Self as all, all in the Self, and Self in all.

Compare Sri Aurobindo's passage in “Life Divine”:

“If we go back to the spiritual basis of things, substance in its utter purity resolves itself into pure conscious being, self-existent, inherently self-aware by identity, but not yet turning its consciousness upon itself as object. Supermind preserves this self-awareness by identity as its substance of self-knowledge and its light of self-creation, but for the creation presents Being to itself as the subject-Object, one and multiple of its own active consciousness. Being as object is held there in a supreme knowledge which can, by comprehension, see it both as an object of cognition within itself and subjectively as itself but can also and simultaneously by apprehension, project it as an object (or objects) of cognition within the circumference of its consciousness, not other than itself, part of its being, but a part (or parts) put away from itself,—that is to say, from the centre of vision in which Being concentrates itself as the Knower, Witness or Purusha” —LIFE DIVINE, p.218.

Stanzas 452 to 455 and 464 are also cast in the same context and in the same identical language. See also Swami's stanzas No. 448 and 464 of “Joti Agaval” which indicate an integral and simultaneous possession of the comprehending and apprehending sessions of the Truth-World. This takes place in the highest poise of the Truth-World as opening into the Infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above.

“O Supreme Reality that has founded Tat Param the (Summit) Heaven of the unity of the one Divine Being, contains and possesses in it Cit Param the Heaven of Truth-Consciousness and manifests Por Param the Golden Heaven of Truth-Knowledge by differentiation of Itself in and by Itself.

NOTE : Tat Param, i.e. Samarasa Suddha Jnana Nilai or State is the summit supermind (as opening into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda above) where “the Self as all, all in the Self and the Self in all” is realised intergrally and simultaneously. Cit Param is the Comprehending Supermind or Vijnana Proper as developed and contained in the Unity of Tat Param. Thus Vijnana is the All-in-one or the one-in-one. Por Param, i.e. Por Sabhai is the Golden Heaven, (i.e. Prajnana or the Apprehending Supermind) where the One-in-One becomes Two-in-one (i.e. the Many-in-One and One-in-Many) by a first process of differentiation in the very core of the unity. This golden Heaven is referred to by Sri Aurobindo in his “Savitri” as the “gold infinite”, p.318, as “a golden supernal sun of Timeless Truth”, p 300, and as a “golden country,” p.741. The Summit Supermind, Vijnana, Prajnana and Sanjnana (Tertiary Supermind) are referred to in his “Synthesis of Yoga”, Ch. 24, p. 985—986.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passage :

“All supramental gnosis is a two-fold Truth-Consciousness, a consciousness of inherent self-Knowledge and, by identity of self and world, of intimate world Knowledge.....it is an essential light of consciousness, the self-light of all the realities of being and becoming, the self-truth

consciousness arises. It is not the empty void or the spaceless infinite which is experienced in the ranges of the spiritual mind as an exclusive absolute experience of the Buddhist school or even of the school of Monism. In such schools, if at all, the universe is felt and experienced therein, it is dissociated and remains separate from the speceless experience, and in the extremity of dissociation is felt even illusory.

“O Supreme Divine (Sivam) of Grace who is the Supreme Existence (Sat) and yet as Cit the Consciousness-Force of Existence, has manifested Himself as Himself (i.e. as the Universal Divine Being) so as to manifest or bring out the all-achieving omnipotent power of Truth-Knowledge (Cittu).

NOTE: In the highest level of Comprehending Supermind the supreme Truth of Reality becomes the Truth of universal manifestation (மெய்யே மெய்யாகி) by its Consciousness-Force. He is said to have manifested Himself as Himself, i.e. the Self becomes as the Universal All-Existence, i.e. as the All in the unity of Self, or the All-in-one or the All as one. Thus, the Supreme Divine is not only Being but also Becoming, the Manifestation.

“O Supreme Truth that affirmed in grace that verily Grace-Body or Grace-mould of body (Arul Vadivam) is the indestructible Body and Thou asked me to try to get Grace and by it the Grace-Body”.

NOTE: Usually the Swami before narrating a final state of experience, or realisation, or transformation of nature and body as the case may be, he often mentions at first about the guidance, intimations and instructions, he received from the Divine for attaining it. So in one and the same poem we get an idea of the path he traversed and the final state he realised and firmly possessed. Here in this stanza, the swami refers to the guiding words of the divine master for realising the deathless physical body which is one with Grace-body or Knowledge-body (Jnana deha). The final state of physical body when it has attained its deathlessness is also referred to as Grace-body itself. Stz. 509 refers to the attainment of such a deathless physical body or Grace-body. Now the process of transformation of the physical body into its deathless state may be explained briefly thus.

There are three stages of transformation of the physical body. The three bodies namely Jnana deha, Pranava deha and Suddha deha—the causal, subtle and physical, participate in it. This is begun only after a firm realisation of the Truth-World of Supermind. The transformation is effected by the divine Truth-Light or supramental Light which the Swami calls the Grace-Light of Truth and Bliss இன்னருளாம் மெய்ச் சோதி. The supramental transformation of mind, life and the physical-consciousness of the body is already completed when transformation of the physical body begins.

In the first stage, the causal Knowledge-Body transforms the physical body through Pranava deha the subtle body. The physical body itself gets a first state of transformation as a result and it becomes pure without impurities like perspiration, waste matter and fluid, greying of hair and also free from aging, or senility disease, sleep, thirst and hunger. It is filled with Golden-Truth-Light and becomes golden of a certain order of purity. In the second stage, due to the influence of Knowledge-body, Pranava deha the subtle body enters into the physical body which now assumes its characteristics such as youthfulness and vigour of the physical body as of a very young person, diseaselessness and golden purity of a higher order. Pranava deha itself can be seen though not felt to the touch and it also undergoes transformation because of the percolating or direct influence of the causal Knowledge-body. In the third stage, Jnana deha directly enters into the physical body and settles in it. Now all the cells of the physical body spontaneously and simultaneously undergo change in their substances and structure. Bones, muscles and skin, and as a matter of fact the whole body becomes wholly plastic and supple, blood gets condensed within, brain-matter blossoms, amrita oozes all over the body within and without. The physical body, being filled with Grace-Light of Truth in all its cells, becomes golden of the highest order of purity and attains an eternal purity ledge is seated within me in my heart and united with my soul, bestowing Grace on me”.

(2) : This unity of Substance of Truth is called in the book of Upadesha as “Vastu Pratyaksha Anubhava Siddhi” which is attained along with the triple deathless body (Jnana deha, Pranava deha and Suddha deha) and with freedom of power to master, control and move all tatvas of the body and of the universe (anda pinda tatvas) and with the power to resurrect the dead into bodily life. “My Supreme Father who gave into my hands the unique Grace-Light which He was holding in His hands”.

NOTE : This stanza proves that the Swami realised and possessed the Grace-Light also in his outermost being, nature and body. Swami Ramalingam was born rather as a divine child. As a child seated in his mother's arms, he got the vision of the Infinite while in the temple at Cidambaram (Vide “Arul Villakka Malai”, stz. 44). He was guided all along by the Grace-Light which possessed him at the Ajna centre since his youth (Vide prose writings—“Sanmarga Peru Vinnappam”, p. 127). He was a born poet who began to sing in flowing songs of beauty and melody in praise of god “Subramania” at the age of nine. He had no schooling proper, rather he avoided it ; but he had the intuitive knowledge from within. He also read in later years or in his youth much of the spiritual literature. His earliest vision of the Supramental Divine and the Supermind is recorded in “Mahadeva Malai” in the first volume of his works, the “Arutpa”. But the stabilising experience of Supramental Truth-Knowledge began to pour in him after his receiving in his hands "a thing of golden knowledge" (பொற்போத வண்ணம் ஒன்று என்கை தனிலே அளித்து) from the Divine, who came to his very door in the dead of night seeking him to present the Grace-Light (எனது கையில் ஒன்று சோதியுற கொடுத்து). This is recorded in "Arut Prakasa Malai", stz. 44, in the fourth volume of 'Arutpa'. The above passage of Joti Agaval poem refers to this incident. The sixth volume of 'Arutpa' is a complete record of his Supramental realisation and transformation. The last decade of his life witnesses the climax of his realisations and the transformation of his body into its deathless state. In his prose writings "Sanmarga Peru Vinnappam" written in the last days of his life, he writes to say that he had a very conscious birth and by the Divine Grace he prepared his adhara, well in advance of birth, by becoming a big sperm-cell in his father's seminal fluid and a big ovum in his mother's womb and by descending into them as emanations of his soul with the inner light of the Divine, so as to constitute or gather up all the spiritual characteristics and all the essential elements of the six-fold or six kinds of bodies with their respective natures and forms—atikāraṇa, kāraṇa, ati-sukshma, sukshma, bhuta and bhautika (over-causal, causal, over-subtle, subtle, subtle-physical and gross physical respectively), possibly corresponding respectively with Bliss of summit Supermind, Truth-Knowledge of Supermind, then the overmental, subliminal, subtle-physical and physical natures and their respective forms of body.

This includes deathlessness of physical body as part of the blissful life. The Swami considered the highest poise of the Truth-World as opening into the infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda beginning from Ananda Loka above, to give “Sukha Poorana Vālvu (See also stzs 33, 447, 285, 620, 639).

Stz. 619, 614—617 : “O Consciousness-Force that is praised by Veda, the Book of Ancient Knowledge, as all-achieving and all-manifesting Power which is verily my unique Conscious Will. O my Consciousness-Force that has manifested all the worlds, all the things and beings (the moving and non-moving cara acara) and all other things evoking respect (in us). O my Conscious-Force of Will that manifests in me in all its glory without any impairment or impoverishment of its original intensity, all the manifoldly various knowings of the several kinds of Knowledge in fulness without cutting short the details, all the manifoldly various thinkings of the several kinds of Thoughts effortlessly without any trouble, all the manifoldly various seeings of the several kinds of Visions spontaneously without waiting, and all the manifoldly various acts of the several kinds of inspired Actions in full vigour without fatigue or loss of energy”.

NOTE: The Supramental Knowledge by identity carries in itself integrally all the other kinds of supramental Knowledge, and so brings them in its train successively the Knowledge by Vision, Knowledge by hearing or Truth-touch, i. e., hearing of inspired words sound and music, Knowledge by intuition of idea, thought, feeling, sense and word, and Knowledge by inspiration leading to inspired arts, sciences and actions. Further they descend as lesser powers of knowledge correspondingly in the Overmind and spiritual Mind ranges. But here the Swami refers to the integral supramental powers of Knowledge not only in the world of Supermind as such but as extended into the physical world without losing the purity and effectivity of their original Powers, because he himself has become a direct vessel of its Knowledge-Will.

"O Amrita ! O supreme Amrita of Satcitananda that manifests in the Sky of Truth-Consciousness (Mei Cidakasa) as the manifest Amrita of Grace.

NOTE: This stanza refers to the one indivisible supreme Satcitananda that has become the triune Satcitananda of Truth-Consciousness in the universal manifestation. See also stanza 30 of "Jnana Marundu" (the supreme infinity of existence within the Vast universal Space; the supreme Light of Being within the Truth-Conscious universal Light). In the Keertan "Venṇilā" (stz 13) the Swami sings that it is the One Reality of the triple truth that has become a triune truth. (முப் பொருளும் ஒன்று அது என்பார் வெண்ணிலாவே, மூன்றும் ஒன்றும் முடிந்ததென்ன வெண்ணிலாவே). The Vast Light of Grace is verily the manifest Satcitananda ; its Vastness is the nature of Sat, Light the nature of Cit, and Grace the nature of Ananda. Tirumoolar in his Mantra (TM. 124) observes that the manifest universal Space is contained in the supreme spaceless infinity of existence, the manifest Bliss in the supreme Bliss, and the manifest Light in the supreme Light (i.e. the manifest Cit in the supreme Cit). Thus the said manifestation of Satcitananda takes place in the highest level of the Truth-World ("Per Inbaththu Arul Veli" TM 123; "Arul Inba Veli" SR 10-II-2-2) as opening into the infinite and eternal Satcitananda or Ananda Loka above (TM 2325, 2860, 2861.).

“O Aruḷ Selva Mani, the excellent Diamond-Treasure of Grace that gives the goodness of all the nine Gems (above said) It is veriy Siva Maṇi, the Supreme Truth of excellence”.

NOTE : The Swami mentions here several activities and manifestations of the Gems of Light. Maṇi, in Tamil, means gem, crystal, diamond excellence etc. The eighth is the Diamond Light of Knowledge-Will which is valued by gods, the three godheads, munis or men of tapas, the liberated and the men of perfection (Siddhars) as it performs all siddhis. The ever-growing Diamond Light is the ninth which gives transformation of nature and physical body into their deathless states of perfection.

In the Book of Upadesha ‘also , the Swami has given short hints of explanations for the nine kinds of Gems. Parampara Maṇi shows in vision the worlds (andas) and their contents. Parāpara Maṇi shows in vision the bodies and their contents. Arum Peran Maṇi grants whatever is willed for in whatever way. Gagana Mā Maṇi gives dynamic power over the heaven and the things of the heaven. Chara Oḷi Maṇi gives dynamic power over the earth and things of the earth. Kalai Nirai Maṇi gives power of movement to roam about in all the worlds. Viṭṭhaka Maṇi manifests its power in respect of the moving and the non-moving, or the animate and the inanimate. Siddhi Sai Maṇi performs all the maha siddhis or great siddhis. Vaḷar oḷi Maṇi gives the great deathless life (of soul and body). See also 11-28-4.

The Swami has explained in “Upadesha” and in “Jeevakarunyam” and in his poems the great deathless life as the blissful life of a deathless physical body.

Sri Aurobindo's passages in SAVITRI may find some correspondence with the Swami's Gems of Light, Power and Knowledge :

“All-Knowledge packed into great wordless thoughts
Lodged in the expectant stillness of his depths
A crystal of the ultimate Absolute,
A portion of the inexpressible Truth
Revealed by silence to the silent soul.”
(SAVITRI, Bk 1—cto 3, p.44)

(SAVITRI, Bk 1—cto 3, p.48)

"Aligned in their significant mystery
 The gleams of the symbols of the ineffable
 Blazoned like hues upon a colourless air
 On the white purity of the Witness Soul
 These hues were the very prism of the Supreme"
 (SAVITRI, bk 3—cto 3, p.369)

"And at the unimaginable end
 Of the huge riddle of created things
 Appeared the far-seen Godhead of the whole...
 Inward, inscrutable, with diamond gaze".
 (SAVITRI, bk 3—cto 1, p.348)

“ The skin has become supple; the influx of the nerves (i.e. nervous current) all over the body is vibrating with pauses in between (Note : According to medical science if the nervous influx stops even for a second, man will die); the bones have become pliable and plastic in its nature; the soft muscles have become truly loosened; the blood has become condensed within; the semen has become concentrated into one drop and confined in the chest; the petals of brain have blossomed or expanded; amrita is welling up into springs all over the body and filling it up; luminous forehead perspires; luminous face brightens up; breath full of peace becomes cool and refreshing; inner smile beams up; hairs stand on their ends; tears (of joy) flow down towards the feet; mouth vibrates into the passionate calling (of the Divine); ear-tubes ring with the sense of musically humming sound; body has become cool; soft chest moves; hands join (as in prayer); legs revolve or spin round (கால் எலாம் சுலவிட); mind melts sweetly; the intelligence becomes full of light; the will becomes full of joy and harmony; the individuality has enlarged itself everywhere universally (ஆங்காங்கு); the heart has blossomed into the universality of feeling so as to be felt by the world outwardly; the form of knowledge-body (அறிவுரு) has become blissful; even the spiritual egoism of the senses has gone away; the tatvas (of body, life and mind in their lower levels) have dissolved away and are replaced wholly by Satva, the truth-principle or truth-substance which alone prevails now uniquely; attachment to objects of the senses and to the things of the world has dissolved away and only the aspiration and will towards the illimitable Grace grows and intensifies...." (Vide Vol. I, Appendix III (e) Mother's Remark on the above passage)—stanzas 725 to 737 (see also chapter I).

NOTE: The above passage deals with the transformation of his body by Power of Grace-Light and Love. It indicates a simultaneous and all-round transformation of all the cells and parts of the body in their substances and functions. This occurs in the transformation of physical body when Jnana-deha the supramental Knowledge-body enters and finally settles into the physical body.

"O my supreme Love that has welled up in my heart gathers and flows in its increasing intensity so as to make all the life (of the world) blossom".

NOTE: This stanza occurs in the context of the supramental transformation of the Swami's being, nature and the physical body. He suggests now that the supreme Love, which is his own too, rises up from within his heart and moves and spreads into the whole world embracing all the living beings so that they may blossom i.e., evolve into a higher state of consciousness and life and physical existence. In stanzas 99, 100, 167, and 168, he has observed that the illimitable Light of Grace issues from the soul of his heart so as to spread over and embrace the whole world and make its life blossom and evolve (Stz. 99) and for that the Knowledge-body of the divine Shakti had entered into his being (stz. 100). See also notes under stzs. 167 and 168. The Swami also promised and worked for the collective manifestation of the "Vast Grace-Light" on the earth, as he was a fit and chosen instrument for this high divine mission. (12-25-5).

“O my supreme Love that has dissolved all my sorrows and sufferings and transformed my physical body into a blissful form of physical body (See also stzs. 784 to 787, 569, 573, 575).

NOTE: The Swami's transformed deathless sleepless golden physical body became full of Bliss and impulsions of blissful energies (See 12-44-20; 12-21-15, 16; 12-29-14, 10 and 11; 1-3-6-3, 4. 9 and 10). This suggests that it has been transformed not only by the supramental or causal Knowledge-body (Jnana deha) but also by the Bliss-body of the highest poise of supermind as opening into the eternal Ananda Loka above. This Bliss-body seems to be suggested as the over-causal body (Ati Kāraṇa Paguti Uru), and the supramental Knowledge-body as the causal body (Kāraṇa Paguti Uru) in his “Vinnappam” (See “Peru Vinnappam”). However, the Bliss-body is not separate from the causal Knowledge-body, but contains it with the values of supreme Truth-Knowledge and Powers. So, when the Swami speaks of his triple deathless body of Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha, we have to take Jnana deha as implying also the Bliss-body with it. In the said “Vinnappam the Swami speaks of six kinds or levels of body—over causal, causal, over-subtle (ati sukshma uru the overmental), subtle (sukshma uru the subliminal), subtle-physical (bhuta uru the subtle-physical as connected with the physical) and the material physical (bhautika vadivu). So the Swami-mentions rightly Suddha Siva Turyāteeta the highest poise of the Truth-World or summit supermind as the goal for the purpose of the highest divine realisation and for the transformation of nature and physical body into their deathless states of perfection.

“O My supreme Love that united with me in my heart so as to transform my body into a golden physical body”.

NOTE: The Swami here refers to and recalls one stage in the transformation of his body. In the poem "Suddha Siva Nilai" he affirmed that he attained the triple deathless body and that he got the deathless golden physical body (See 12-29-11, 17, 36, 27; 1-1-41-6; 12-21-15, 16). In 'Joti' Agaval poem too he affirms the boon or gift of a deathless body.

NOTE: There is also a suggestion that the physical deathless body shall be made fit to exist and ever-grow in its own right and also in the natural conditions of the earth.

Stz. 752 கருவெளி அனைத்தும் கதிரொளி விளங்கிட

"O Flame of the Light of illumination stationed in Uru Veli, the Realm of form or form-making region (i. e. in the subliminal) that illumines the whole realm of the black waste (Karu Veli the Inconscient and Subconscient Darkness) by its Light of the Sun of Knowledge".

NOTE: For the transformation of the physical body, the divine Truth-Light of Grace makes the subliminal realm of the inner heart its base so that the Light can reach into the subconscious and the inconscient, cancelling the forces of darkness and death and even illumining these nether realms of darkness. Stanzas 749 and 750, 765 and 768 support this conclusion. Therefore stz 752 properly refers to the operation of the divine Light from the said subliminal base or realm which secretly makes formations and formulations of our outer personality. So it is the personal experience of the Swami in the transformation of his physical body. Finally the body which is the product of the subconscious and the inconscient becomes filled with the divine Light. The forces of darkness and death flee away from such a body (See 1—V—10—57, 22). Uru Veli is also referred to in 11—36—20 as the subliminal space for formulation of forms into which the outer formation or form has access உரு வெளியே உரு வெளிக்குள் உற்ற வெளி உருவே. See also Sri Aurobindo's quotation on the subliminal realm, given herein below.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's lines :

“ Light, endless Light! darkness has room no more.
 Life's ignorant gulfs give up their secrecy :
 The huge unconscious depths unplumed before
 Lie glimmering in Vast expectancy.
 (LAST POEMS—Light—p. 32)

In darkness' core She dug our wells of light
 On the undiscovered depths imposed a form...
 In the deep subconscious glowed her jewel-lamp ;
 Lifted, it showed the riches of the Cave.
 (SAVITRI, Bk 1 cto 3, p. 48).

“ Our surface being has been formed with this subliminal help by an evolution out of the Inconscious for the utility of our present mental and physical life on earth ; this that is behind is a formation mediating between the Inconscious and the larger planes of Life and Mind which have been created by the involutionary descent and whose pressure has helped to bring about the evolution of mind and life in Matter. ... Our personality is the outcome, the amalgamated formulation of powers, influences, motives, proceeding from this potent intra-conscious secrecy. (Life Divine p 655)

NOTE on stz. 751 “Nadu Veli” in stz. 751 may also mean the Heaven (i. e. the Supermind cf: வான் நடு வானம் stz 449). “Nadu Veli” is also referred to in stz 1—V—4—10 to signify the suprame Vast Space or Heaven within which is the spaceless Infinite of the divine Right Law (Needhi Siva Veli i. e. Suddha Siva Veli or Suddha Veru Veli). It may be also translated thus :

“O Flame of Light that is founded in the Mid-Heaven (i. e. Supermind the mid-Heaven between the triple worlds of Satcitananda and the triple lower worlds of mind, life and matter) so as to illumine with its Truth-Light the whole field of constriction and constraining death (Idu Veli, i. e. the Inconscious)”.

NOTE : The Swami thus refers to the entire field of the subconscious and Inconscious darkness being illumined by the Light stationed in his subliminal being, i.e. in his heart. This is a great or advanced stage of transformation whereby the body becomes free from the attack of the inconscient dark forces from below and finally even its darkness recoils. There are other stanzas (572 and 565) which say that he got the crown of Light over his head and that he received the Grace-Light also in the outermost part, in his hands.

NOTE: These stanzas show the divine mission of the Swami.

Stanza 789 may be considered with the stanzas 99, 118, 167 and 168, 441, 509, 738. The Swami was filled with the Light and its Grace carrying all the divine Riches. It is evident that the Light and Love that issued forth from the soul of his heart assumed a collective force of action that could influence the earthly world of life in the way of its flowering or blossoming into its richness, rule the whole world and put all the multitudes of people into the path of Light (stz. 167, 168, 738, 789). For this he was pre eminently endowed with the powers of triple siddhi and the transformed triple deathless body and the power to perform the five-fold universal functions which include involution and evolution (See stzs 119, 120, 104, 789). By these powers and capacities he had acquired the power to ward off and cancel all dangers and difficulties. See stz. 586, and (11—40—21). In stz. 795, he observes that his divine mission also extended to the act of serving as a shock-absorber, absorbing in himself all the dangers and difficulties of the earthly beings and cancelling or neutralising them in himself by the power of the supreme Light of Grace which filled all the parts of his being, from the soul to the body. The bliss and joy of such a service was his to enjoy. The Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram had too a similar divine mission as reflected in the lines of "Savitri" poem.

"I stand upon Earth's paths of danger and grief
And help the unfortunate and the doomed".

The above said stanzas of "Joti Agaval" poem throw light on the nature of the divine mission he had to fulfil. However it is not complete. With the attainment of a golden deathless physical body, he expressed in his later poems a fuller amplitude of his divine mission for bringing about the universal manifestation of the "Vast Grace-Light" on the earth and for entering into all the physical bodies. He rose up to the occasion for their collective fulfilment by the supreme sacrifice of his deathless body by way of its dematerialisation so as to fix its deathless substances and powers into the earth-nature and to fix or stabilise the then concretely manifest Light (or God of Vast Grace-Light) at his place. We shall now enumerate the stanzas of his other later poems which have a bearing on his divine mission.

In stz. 12—25—5 he clearly puts it that the "Vast Grace-Light" (as distinguished from the Grace-Light of his heart) was to manifest collectively and progressively through him as an instrument and that for the benefit and joy of the whole world. In stz. 12—28—9 he affirms that he is born in this yuga to purify all the people of the world including even those people who are rotten to the core, with a deceitful outward show of goodness. In stzs. 12—29—17 and 27, he observes that the Divine has given him the triple deathless body to share its powers (i. e. of transformation) with one and all everywhere. We may remember that according to the stzs. 1—7—6—6 and 7, the Divine gave him at first His sanction of Will for a deathless body for the collective benefit of the earthly world with which he was identified since its creation and through all its phases of evolution (Kāramamum Kāryamum Thāraṇi Neeyāka). In stz. 12—34—26 he declares that the goal of his Sanmarga is the abolition of physical death itself and its collective implication for cancelling the universal power or god of death from the earth and the inconscient realm, is also suggested in stz. 12—22—20. In the keertan 'Pandu Adal' (stz. 1—III—5—10) he observes that the Divine has missioned him to perform all the divine powers of Truth-Knowledge and perfection (Siddhis) by means of the Grace-Light of Truth for all time on the earth and in every world and heaven and that he would do them even as the God does but to the wonder and amazement of the great siddhars too.

Out of supreme Compassion for all the embodied beings of the earth, past and future, he sacrificed his deathless body and made himself accessible to them by entering into all the physical bodies i. e. by becoming a potential force of purification and transformation to be readily availed of by us by our call and aspiration or in case of our need to avoid dangers and difficulties of the body. The later-day-event of the "Superman Consciousness" which directly entered into the physical body of the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram in 1969 to help her in its transformation clearly suggests that his force is active in this respect too. The Mother's remarks on the said Consciousness or Being that it is full of golden Truth-light without shadows and has the power to infiltrate into all the bodies also prove though retrospectively that the Swami had attained deathless golden body full of golden Light and entered into all the bodies. The Mother's last remarks that even an individual physical body was not necessary in order to live physically on the earth is also to the point to prove the justification of his dematerialisation to universalise himself in the material physical level. It is evident that though the Swami does not now live in his visible material body, he is empowered to help us in the purification and transformation of our nature and body even as the unseen God's own power of transformation is at work to transform and recreate the physical body into a divinised physical body on the earth. The Swami's deathless body was meant for the collective benefit of the earthly beings for all time. By its supreme sacrifice he has entered with his golden Truth-light and deathless substances into the evolutionary stream or current of earthly life

“JOTI AGAVAL” POEM

SELF, SOUL, JEEVA, MIND, LIFE AND THE PHYSICAL

The translations of the above stanzas of JOTI AGAVAL poem are given below, though not in a serial order, because the above topical subject has to be brought out in its essence for a proper and easier understanding. A preliminary introduction to the subject is also given herein. The reader is advised to see also the same subject appearing as Chapter IV—part 2 in Vol I under the sub-head “Mind, Life or Vital, and the Physical” and also to see the relevant Charts 8A, 8B and 8C therein.

Swami Ramalingam speaks of jeeva in his “Jeeva Karuniam” prose works as anma in evolution and it has assumed physical body for its evolutionary growth (ஆன்மாக்கள் சிவர்களாகி அதிகரிப்பதற்கு பூதகாரிய தேகங்களே உரிமையாகி இருக்கின்றன). So jeeva is the frontal representative of the soul in the evolutionary field of Ignorance. Now again, he observes that anma itself is a divine portion of Sat, the Divine Self or Existence (ஆன்மா இயற்கையுண்மை ஏகதேசமாய்), and so it signifies the true individual self called in the Gita “aṁsa sanātana”. Thus in the Swami’s works, (1) the individual self (as aṁsa sanātana, a centre of the supreme and universal Divine) which is above the head (2) the soul within called generally as the inner self which is the deputy or representative of the individual self and which grows from out of or in and around the divine spark called soul-spark (anma agu) or the psychic entity and takes eventually the form of a developed and fully grown soul, the psychic person or the psychic being, i.e. the evolved true individual being and (3) jeeva the evolving soul, i.e. the psychic personality which is a temporary personality, a soul-formation in nature put forward by the soul-spark into the nature of man for a given life, from birth to death, are clearly distinguished. The jeeva becomes one with and merges in the fully grown up or fully awakened soul, at the time of soul’s liberation when the parts of nature, mind, life or the vital and the physical body have sufficiently attained an inner and outer purity. In such a case jeeva has no more any separate existence from the soul. Jeeva corresponds with what Sri Aurobindo calls the psychic personality (as distinguished from the psychic person or soul and from psychic entity or soul-spark).—See S. A. items 8 and 10 & 11 in Chapter IV of Vol I. Item 10 is however reproduced herein below. Quotations from Sri Aurobindo given below are marked serially.

A. “The true soul secret in us—subliminal we have said, but the word is misleading, for this presence is not situated below the threshold of waking mind, but rather burns in the temple of the inmost heart behind the thick screen of an ignorant mind, life, and body, not subliminal but behind the veil—this veiled psychic entity is the flame of the Godhead always alight within us, inextinguishable even by that dense unconsciousness of any spiritual self within, which obscures our outward nature. It is a flame born out of the Divine and, luminous inhabitant of the Ignorance, grows in it till it is able to turn it towards the knowledge. It is the concealed Witness and Control, the hidden Guide, the Daemon of Socrates, the inner light or inner voice of the mystic. It is that which endures and is imperishable in us from birth to birth, untouched by death, decay or corruption, an indestructible spark of the Divine. Not the unborn Self or Atman, for the Self even in presiding over the existence of the individual is aware of its universality and transcendence, it is yet its deputy in the forms of Nature, the individual soul caitya purusha supporting mind, life and body, standing behind the mental, the vital, the subtle-physical being in us and watching and profiting by their development and experience. Those other person-powers in man, these beings (i. e. mental being, vital being and subtle-physical being) of his being (i. e. self and soul) are also veiled in their true entity, but they put forward temporary personalities which compose our outer individuality and whose combined superficial action and appearance of status we call ourselves: this inmost entity also (i. e. soul-spark or psychic entity), taking form in us as the psychic person (i. e. psychic being or soul proper) puts forward a psychic personality which changes, grows, develops from life to life; for this is the traveller between birth and death, and between death and birth, our nature parts are only its manifold and changing vesture. (LIFE DIVINE, p.207—208).

NOTES : Thus from the above it is clear that what Swami Ramalingam describes as jeeva in the above context is the psychic personality which the inmost psychic entity or soul-spark (anma anu) puts forward into our nature in order to grow itself and take form in us as soul, the psychic person or psychic being (agam anma), by the progressive development of nature parts of mind, life and the physical, through the agency of jeeva.

Sri Aurobindo in his letters observes thus : "The inner being—inner mind, inner vital, inner or subtle-physical—knows much that is unknown to the outer mind, the outer vital, the outer physical, for it is in a more direct contact with the secret forces of Nature. The psychic is the inmost being of all".

B. Again, Sri Aurobindo observes that the individual self which is called by him the true central being "is not born nor evolves but presides over the individual birth and evolution—puts forward a representative of himself on each plane of the consciousness. On the mental plane it is the true mental being, manomaya purusha, on the vital plane the true vital being, pranamaya purusha, on the physical plane the true physical being, annamaya purusha. Each being (i.e. each man), therefore is, so long as the Ignorance lasts, centred round his mental, vital or physical purusha, according to the plane on which he predominantly lives, and that is to him his central being (i.e. in a figurative sense). But the true representative all the time is concealed behind the mind, vital and the physical—it is the psychic our inmost being. When the inmost knowledge begins to come, we become aware of the psychic being within us and it comes forward and leads the sadhana. We become aware also of the undivided self or spirit, above the manifestation of which the psychic is the representative here." (ON YOGA TOME I—p. 291).

C. "The being of man is composed of these elements—the psychic behind supporting all the inner mental, vital and physical, and the outer, quite external nature of mind, life and body which is their instrument of expression. But above all is the central being which uses them for all its manifestation : It is a portion of the Divine Self ; but this reality of himself is hidden from the external man who replaces this inmost self and soul of him by the mental and vital ego..." (ON YOGA TOME I—p. 315).

"The true being may be realised in one or both of two aspects—the Self or Atman and the soul or Antaratman, psychic being, chaitya purusha. The difference is that one is felt as universal, the other as individual supporting the mind, life and body. When one first realises the Atman one feels it separate from all things, existing in itself and detached, and it is to this realisation that the image of the dry coconut fruit may apply.

When one realises the psychic being it is not like that; for this brings the sense of union with the Divine and dependence upon it and sole consecration to the Divine alone and the power to change the nature and discover the true mental, the true vital, the true physical being in oneself. Both realisations are necessary for this yoga."

"The 'I' or the little ego is constituted by Nature and is at once a mental, vital and physical formation meant to aid in centralising and individualising the outer consciousness and action. When the true being is discovered, the utility of the ego is over and this formation has to disappear—the true being is felt in its place." (ON YOGA TOME I, page 299—300).

NOTE: Swami Ramalingam in his UPADESHA observes that "Atma remains detached and separate whereas Jeevan lives in the midst of antah karanas such as mind".—in this context atma denotes the Self or the individual Self, and jeevan the psychic being or soul. Again the Swami observes in his UPADESHA in another context thus: "Why is the jeevan come to be known as purusha? In the Vidya Tatva (i.e. according to Tantra literature or Saiva Siddhanta) Purusha with its eight qualities is subject to vishyas, the sense-objects or the phenomenal nature (i.e. purusha here is jeeva the representative of the soul in nature, i.e. a soul-formation in nature or the instrumental being of nature); hence the distinctions of Tat Purusha the Self (beyond Manifestation), Madhya Purusha the central being, i.e. the soul in manifestation and Purusha the jeeva as representative of the soul i.e. a soul-formation in nature or instrumental being of nature. Further, Sivam the supreme Divine Being is one." (Note: the eight qualities of purusha seem to refer to the eight siddhis of soul including deathlessness of body—see item 96 (5) of Tatva Lokas).

We quote Sri Aurobindo who also speaks of self, soul (i.e. conscious being or spirit or purusha) and the Divine Being, which correspond with Swami's nomenclature of Tat Purusha, Madhya Purusha and Sivam in the above passage.

E. "As there are three fundamental aspects (i.e. of Sat the Existence) in which we meet this Reality—Self, Conscious Being or Spirit (i.e. soul) and God, the Divine Being or to use the Indian terms, the absolute and omnipresent Reality, Brahman, manifest to us as Atman, Purusha, Ishwara—so too its power of consciousness appears to us in three aspects : it is the Self-force of that consciousness conceptively creative of all things, Maya ; it is Prakriti, Nature of Force made dynamically executive, working out all things under the witnessing eye of the Conscious Being or the spirit ; it is the conscious power of the Divine Being, Shakti which is both conceptively creative and dynamically executive of all the divine workings.”—LIFE DIVINE Page 295. Sri Aurobindo calls the self and soul of the individual respectively as the central being above nature and manifestation, and in nature and manifestation.

F. “In the experience of yoga, the self or being is in essence one with the Divine or at least it is a portion of the Divine and has all the divine potentialities. But in manifestation it takes two aspects, the Purusha and Prakriti, conscious being and Nature. In Nature here the Divine is veiled, and the individual being is subjected to Nature which acts here as the lower Prakriti, a force of Ignorance, Avidya. The Purusha in itself is divine, but exteriorised in the Ignorance of Nature, it is the individual apparent being (i.e. jeeva according to Swami Ramalingam) imperfect with her imperfections. Thus the soul or psychic essence, which is the Purusha entering into the evolution and supporting it, carries in itself all the divine potentialities ; but the individual psychic being which it puts forth as its representative (elsewhere in his LIFE DIVINE called psychic personality by Sri Aurobindo) assumes the imperfection of Nature and evolves in it till it has recovered its full psychic essence and united itself with the Self above of which the soul is the individual projection in the evolution. This duality in the being on all its planes—for it is true in different ways not only of the Self and the Psychic but of the mental, vital and physical Purushas—has to be grasped and accepted before the experiences of the yoga can be fully understood.

The Being is one throughout, but on each plane of Nature, it is represented by a form of itself which is proper to that plane, the mental Purusha in the mental plane, the vital Purusha in the vital, the physical Purusha in the physical. The Taittiriya Upanishad speaks of two other planes of the being, the Knowledge or Truth Plane and the Ananda plane, each with its Purushas, but although influences may come down from them, these are superconscient to the human mind and their nature is not organised here.”—ON YOGA TOMB I, p. 304—305.

Now, coming to the Swami's works, we find that in his book of UPADESHA, he calls the soul proper (which grows in and around its nucleus the soul-spark or anma anu) as Samanya Jeevan or as "anma karana" the causal soul which is imperishable, whereas the psychic personality put forth by the soul into the midst of the nature parts is named as Visesha Jeevan (i. e. a temporary personality for a particular life) or as "anma karya" the effectual soul which is perishable. The latter is called by the general name of jeeva.

Again, the Swami in his UPADESHA adopts a flexible language and says at another place that there are five jeevas in the adhara, the human system (i. e. a physiological, psychological and spiritual system) of which one alone is imperishable and the rest do not survive. So, in this context (1) the first is the inmost soul-spark (anma anu) that grows and takes form in us as the soul (anma) or psychic person that survives death in the field of evolutionary Ignorance and the others are (2) jeeva the frontal representative of the soul in nature benefiting by and growing with the growth of the other nature parts the physical, vital and mental (udal, uyir, arivu உடல் உயிர் அறிவு) and living in their inner or outer levels as the case may be and identifying with them and influencing and supporting them accordingly, (3) physical being (annamaya purusha), (4) a vital or life-being (Pranamaya Purusha) and (5) a mental being (manomaya purusha). Thus we may say in the above context that the first may be taken as the true jeeva or the soul, the second as the representative jeeva, the third, fourth and fifth as the instrumental jeevas of nature. The said five jeevas are spoken of evidently with reference to a man in the Ignorance. Except the first the others would also come under the term "Visesha Jeevan" and be known as the respective visesha jeevas.

These five jeevas, again, seem to be indicated in "JOTI AGAVAL" stz 353 in an enigmatic language when the Swami observes that "two within the male and three within the female are intimately connected". The former seem to refer to the principle of soul and its representative the jeeva, while the latter to the three instrumental beings of nature, because the male is the purusha or siva aspect of being and the female the shakti aspect of nature. The Swami observes too in stz 352 that the male is in the female and, the female in the male.

Again considering the role of the 'five jeevas' in the case of liberation of soul, we may observe that the representative jeeva which has been so far acting upon and influencing the parts of nature to benefit by their growth and experience and grow itself into the essence of soul, would now become one with and merge in the inmost soul thereby loosing its separate existence. But the soul in its fully freed and evolved state, remains with the inmost mental being, vital being and physical being, all of which also now become stable because of soul's direct contact with them, and in an integral transformation of nature by the Truth-conscious Vast Grace-Light, as happened in the case of Swami Ramalingam, mind, life the vital, and the physical body too would become indestructible. But, in the case of the general human masses, the soul-element or soul-essence (i. e. soul-spark which progressively grows to become the soul or psychic being from birth to birth) alone is stable and imperishable while the other four namely, the physical being, the vital being, the mental being and the representative jeeva or the psychic personality along with their respective nature parts would successively get dissolved after death of body in the physical, vital, mental and psychic planes of consciousness leaving the psychic or soul, which alone survives, to take rest in the psychic world in an internatal quiescence until the next birth. In the case of the few who had realised the soul and had psychic transformation of their nature parts, the soul would draw its psychic representative part and the mind and life into itself (i. e. without their dissolution) and enter into an integral quiescence in the psychic world of rest until the next birth. In Tirumantram of Tirumoolar, which is considered by Swami Ramalingam as a Shastra, this psychic world of rest is called "Tapo Loka" (TM 1905).

Now in the background of the general introduction, we now proceed to take up into consideration the stanzas of Joti Agaval poem. Stanzas 257 to 272 as a whole and stzs 342 to 335 in particular refer to the four horizontal levels of existence, namely, agam, agappuram, puram and purappuram—the inmost, inner (or literally inner-outer), outer and outermost. To these the Swami adds states of consciousness in three vertical levels namely adi, naḍu and muḍi—feet or bottom, middle or heart, and top or head, thereby completing a seven-fold state of being which is whole and integral. Thus JOTI AGAVAL stanzas 339 to 345 indicate the seven levels of existence. See Chart No 23. Translations now follow :

Stz. 339 அடியினுள் அடியும் அடியிடை அடியும்
அடியுற அமைத்த அருட்பெருஞ் ஜோதி

There is a bottom within bottom (i. e. the subconscious is below and within the lower existence represented by feet). There is the nethermost depth in that (subconscious) bottom (i. e. the sub-conscious precipitating into and resting in the lowest, the Inconscient) forming the nether foundational support. These are the self-determined formations of the Vast Grace-Light. (See Chart 8 B).

Stz. 340 தடுவினுள் நடுவும் நடுவதில் நடுவும்
அடர்வுற அமைத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

There is a middle within the middle (or centre within centre or heart within heart, i. e. the subliminal or inner state within the outer existence at the mid part of the being). Within that middle is the (deepest) middle (that is to say, within the subliminal is the inmost centre or the inmost heart, or the inmost true psychic state)—all these being the self-determined formations of the Vast Grace-Light in a close intimacy of connection.

NOTE : This signifies as a corollary that the inmost soul is not in the outer heart but deep behind the inner heart—here, the word ‘heart’ is used in the sense of the centre or state of feeling and it does not mean the physical heart of the body. According to the Swami, the inmost soul can be realised also in the inmost core of the Ajna centre which for this practical purpose becomes the heart within heart, or centre within centre. The true heart is where the soul dwells.

Stz. 341 முடியினுள் முடியும் முடியினின் முடியும்
அடர்தர அமைத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

There is a top above and within the top (i. e. there is a highest Overmind state above and within Sahasrara which is at the top of the head, where it corresponds to the first overhead state of Spiritual Mind namely spiritual Higher Mind). There is the highest top of that (overmental) top (i. e. there is the highest supramental state over and above the overmental)—all these being self-determined by the Vast Grace-Light as closely concentrated formations.

NOTE : Thus considering the above three stanzas relating to the vertical levels of being, we find that the deepest depth at the centre or the middle connects the highest height and the lowest depth, or the nethermost bottom ; or in other words the inmost soul in the core of the heart connects the highest the supermind, with the lowest, the Inconscient. Now, the Swami proceeds to speak of the four horizontal levels of being and their parts.

Stz. 342 அகப்பு அகஉறுப்பு ஆக்க அதற்கவை
அகத்தே வருத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the inmost flower (i. e. the inmost nature of soul) in the inmost field so as to bring forth, bloom and develop its inmost formations and aspects.

NOTE: The inmost flower of soul's nature brings forth the direct psychic expression of its rupa, swarupa, swabhava, vyapya, vyapaka, guna, visesha etc—its form, essence viz., essence of being and nature, immanence and extension (its field), general qualities and specialities etc. It also suffuses the true mental, true vital and true physical with its form, qualities, aspects and powers, through the respective mental, vital and physical purushas (i. e. mental soul, vital soul and physical soul) even though these inmost instruments or parts have their own respective consciousness, will, form of substance and action, due to the Jnana shakti, Icha shakti and Kriya shakti—the forces of knowledge, will and action working in it and in them. See item 96 of "Tatva Lokas" which deals with soul, the psychic being. These inmost parts get organised and harmonised by the soul and, through them the corresponding inner, outer and outerparts also. The jeeva, so long as it lasts before it is merged in the soul, acts as its agent to effectuate these changes in the said inner, outer and outer-most levels.

Stz. 343 புறப்பு புறத்திற் புணையுரு வாக்கிட
அறத்துடன் வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the outer flower (i. e. the outer nature) to bring forth, bloom and develop in an orderly (constructed) manner its outer formations, i. e. its parts and aspects in the outer field (i. e. to bring forth and suffuse its form, essence and nature, immanence and extension, general qualities and specialities etc. in the outer mental, outer vital and outer physical which are its parts and come to have their own respective consciousness, will, form of substance and action).

Stz. 344 அகப்புறப்பு அகப்புற உறுப்பு இயற்றிட
அகத்திடை வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the inner flower (i. e. inner nature of jeeva) to bring forth, bloom and develop in the inner field, its inner formations i. e. its parts and aspects (i. e. to bring forth and suffuse its form, essence or essence of being and nature, immanence and extension, general qualities and specialities etc in the inner mind, inner life and inner or subtle physical which are its parts and come to have their respective consciousness, will, form of substance and action due to Jnana, Iccha and Kriya Shaktis—the forces of consciousness of knowledge, will and action acting in it and in them).

Stz. 345 புறப்புறப் பூவதில் புறப்புற உறுப்புற
அறத்திடை வகுத்த அருட் பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the outermost flower (i. e. the outermost nature) to bring forth, bloom and develop, in an orderly (constructed) manner, its outermost formations i. e. its parts and aspects in the outermost field (i. e. bring forth and suffuse its form, essence and nature, immanence and extension, qualities and specialities in its outermost parts of nature namely the outermost mind (i. e. physical mind and sense-mind), outermost vital (i. e. vital physical or nervous envelope) and outermost physical (i. e. material physical body) which come to have their respective consciousness, will and form of substance and action due to Jnana shakti, Iccha shakti and Kriya shakti acting in it and in them).

NOTE : The reference to the “ orderly manner ” (அறத்துடன்) in stz 343 and 345 seems to indicate an evolutionary order, as it belongs to the outer and outermost levels of existence ; or it may mean that there is an order of formation and action even in the seemingly disordered outer and outermost levels of being. This word “ அறத்துடன் ” signifying orderly formation is used consistently in the following stanzas 257—258, 269—270 with reference to the said levels.

In the outer and outermost nature the jeeva becomes and functions as the outer jeeva and the outermost jeeva respectively. It is one and the same jeeva that functions in the inner or outer or outermost level according to the level in which man predominantly lives and has his being, interest, preoccupations and movements of nature so long as Ignorance lasts in him.

We may further add that the Swami in his book of Vyakhyana mentions the innermost soul and the formations of the innermost true mental, vital and physical souls in the innermost level and this occurs at the opening of the fourth chapter “Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya lokas” (See p. 117). It deals with bindu yoga. Four levels or steps of that discipline, the innermost, inner, outer and outermost are given, each containing a further four sub-steps of carya, kriya, yoga and Jnana. The innermost soul, the innermost mental, vital, and physical souls or beings are respectively stated as the liberations of Jnana Jnana, Jnana yoga, Jnana kriya and Jnana carya. (See under S. No. 107). The Swami describes the soul as "Nada udbhava suddha nishkala samanya bindu" in the four states of "sukshma visesha, sukshma, sthoola visesha, and sthoola" corresponding to the psychic soul (antaratma), mental soul (mano purusha), vital soul (prana purusha) and physical soul (annamaya purusha). We may remember that the Swami identifies Sahasrara as Nada centre, the centre of Self, and Ajna as Bindu centre, the centre of the inmost soul. Soul is born of the individual self and it is its deputy so to say. The inmost or true mental, vital and physical souls or beings (purushas) are also formations of that self, as the true instrumental beings in nature. The individual self in the Sahasrara is one with the cosmic or impersonal Self, the infinite Self.

Similarly the inner jeeva, inner mental, inner life and inner physical are respectively formed by the inmost soul, inmost mental, vital and physical beings. They are said to be formations of Bindu. cf: "(Bindu udbhava) Suddha Sakala nishkala Samanya suddha karana"—with its four states namely sukshma Vega Sankalpa visesha (inner jeeva), sukshma Vega Sankalpa (innermind), sukshma sankalapa visesha (inner vital) and sukshma sankalpa (inner physical) respectively referred to as yoga jnana, yoga yoga, yoga kriya and yoga carya. Similarly it deals with the outer and outermost levels but in their purified or purer states (Ibid p. 116).

We quote now relevant passages of Sri Aurobindo :—

a) "A psychic or more widely speaking, a psycho-spiritual transformation of this kind would be already a vast change of our mental human nature ... its dynamic spiritual outcome would be a flowering of the soul in mind and life and body."

b) "These experiences are the result of an opening outward (i.e. blooming or flowering) of the inner and inmost being and nature ; for then there comes into play the soul's power of unerring inherent consciousness, its vision, its touch on things which is superior to any mental cognition."

Life Divine p 808

c) "Some of these experiences can come by an opening of the inner mental and vital being, the inner and larger and subtler mind and heart and life within us, without any full emergence of the soul, the psychic entity, since there too there is a power of direct contact of consciousness ; but the experience might then be of a mixed character ;

for there could be an emergence not only of the subliminal knowledge but also of the subliminal ignorance.”

Life Divine p 808.

d) “For the soul-personality (i.e. the jeeva a soul-formation in nature as distinguished from the soul) as it develops must get sufficient power over its own nature-formation and a sufficient self-expressive mental and vital individuality to persist without ... attachment to the physical plane and life; it would be sufficiently evolved to subsist in the subtle body, the sheath and subtle-physical support of the inner being.”

Life Divine p 710.

STANZAS 257 TO 272 AND 374 TO 377

Stz. 268 புகலகும் அகண்ட பூரண நடுவால்
அகநடு வகுத்த அருட் பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the inmost middle (i. e. the true vital or true life) to be formed from the middle of the ineffable Akhanda Poorana (i. e. from Cit of the infinite and eternal Satcitananda which is described as “Saticitananda Akhanda Aikya” in item 15 at the end of the Chapter of ‘Karanateeta Lokas’).

NOTE : Also among the three eternal worlds of Satcitananda namely Sat loka, Cit loka, Ananda loka the middle is the Cit loka (Ibid items 12 to 14). Supermind (Satya Jnana Peru Veli), the Vast realm of Truth-consciousness, has manifested Life principle from Cit of the supreme Satcitananda. Life has developed essentially from Cit, the Consciousness-Force, the Cit-Shakti of the Supreme Divine. Here in the stanza under consideration it is said to have taken its formulation as the mid-part in the inmost level or field of the soul. As “agam” the inmost is the field of the soul, “aga naḍu” the inmost middle is the true vital. In the following stanzas (257—272), “aga muḍal” the inmost first indicates the true mental and, “aga kaḍai” the inmost last, the true physical. “Muḍal or Talai” (the first or the head) is the mental, naḍu the middle is the vital, kaḍai the last is the physical. They are in each of the four levels, the inmost, inner, outer and outermost.

Stz. 265 அகநடு அதனால் அகப்புற நடுவை
அகமற வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the inner middle (i. e. the inner vital) to be formed from the inmost middle (i. e. the inmost or true vital) so as to eliminate the ego.

NOTE : The vital is the most difficult part of nature to surrender itself to the Divine and this is due to its strong ego. Here as the inner vital is near the inmost true vital in the field of the soul, the ego is said to be liquidated. In subsequent stzs 261 and 262, the inmost true vital is said to be aspiring for the Divine and surrendered to Him. See also notes on stzs. 268 and 342.

Stz. 266 அகப்புற நடுவால் அணி புற நடுவை
அகப்பட அமைத்த அருட் பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the outer middle (i. e. outer vital) which is near, to be formed from the inner middle (i. e. the inner vital) so as to make it turned inward.

NOTE : Possibly by a pressure of the inner vital, the outer vital is formed, but with an inward turn (i. e. with a look turned towards the inner, implying evolutionary ascent).

Stz. 267 புறநடு அதனால் புறப்புற நடுவை
அறமுற வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the outermost middle (i. e. the outermost vital which is the vital physical, i. e. the physical in the vital, i. e. the nervous envelope and its life-energy) to be formed from the outer middle (i. e. the outer vital) so as to manifest it in an orderly manner (i. e. in an order of evolution).

NOTE : Stzs 268 and 265-267 taken together and read in this order would evidently imply a descent by involution. However, Life principle is the middle term between mind and the physical both in involution and evolution. The above two stanzas 266 and 267 seem to imply an evolutionary ascent also.

Stz. 261 கருது அகநடுவொடு கடை அணைந்து அகமுதல்

The Vast Grace-Light has by Grace self-determined the inmost first (i. e. the inmost or true mind) to be formed by combining the aspiring inmost middle (i. e. the inmost or true vital) with the inmost last (i. e. the inmost or true physical).

NOTE : The true mental, true vital and true physical are in the inmost field of the soul and so they are under its direct influence and contact. See notes under stz. 342. Here the inmost mind is said to be a result of the interaction of the inmost vital and the inmost physical (possibly as in evolutionary development of mental consciousness).

Stz. 262 தணி அகநடுவொடு தலை அணைந்து அகக்கடை

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined in harmony the manifestation or formation of the inmost last (i. e. the inmost or true physical) by combining the inmost first (i. e. the true mind) with the inmost middle, which is surrendered, (i. e. the surrendered true vital).

NOTE : Here the inmost physical is said to be a result of the interaction of the inmost mind and the inmost vital (possibly as in evolutionary descent). The vital has its strong ego due to desires and passions and does not easily surrender. Here the inmost vital, because of its direct psychic contact with soul, is said to have surrendered to the Divine. The inmost mind combining with or interacting upon the inmost vital creates or forms the inmost physical i. e. consciousness interacting with life or force results in the form of the physical. How this is created is explainable with reference to Sri Aurobindo's passages from his LIFE DIVINE quoted herein after stzs 257-258. However the following stanza completes the circuit, as it were, because it says that by the interaction of the inmost physical (or the inmost last) and the inmost mental (or the inmost first), the inmost group of the great gods are manifested. Thus stzs 261, 262 and 272 make it a complete circuit of manifestation as far as the inmost level is concerned.

Stz. 272 அகக்கடை முதல் புணர்ப்பதனால் அகக்கணம்

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the inmost group of beings and forces (aga gana i. e. gods and goddesses or shakti shaktargal in the inmost level of the soul) to be formed into existence by combination or interaction of the inmost last (i. e. the true physical) and the inmost first (i. e. the true mind).

NOTE : The great Gods and Goddesses are said to take their birth (in us) by the interaction of the physical and the mental parts of the inmost level, that is to say, the inmost group of gods and goddesses, or godly beings and their energies, assume form and mental consciousness, besides their inherent life-powers. The combination or interaction of the mental and the physical would thus result in the formation of the vital, which is the middle. According to the following stz 377, they are referred to as Shakti Shaktargal, who are maintained in grace by amrita of the inmost level. They have their origin in supermind as the multiple Powers and Personalities of the One Person and being harmonised and united in Him, they descend into overmind gnosis as independent beings though with close connections for the purpose of cosmic actions and functions.

Stz. 377 தரும் அக அமுதால் சத்தி சத்தர்களை

The Vast Grace-Light supports and maintains by Grace the gods and goddesses by amrita of the self-giving or self-surrendering inmost level (which is Grace itself).

NOTE: Shakti Shaktargal of the inmost level would refer to the Para Shaktis and Para Shaktargal, the great gods and goddesses of the Overmind Gnosis, as they are fed by amrita of the inmost level. See Chart no 20 in Vol II (S. No. 100). Reference to Para Iccha, Para Jnana and Para Kriya Shaktis occur in the Chapter "Karanateeta Lokas". See also items 97 to 102 of the "TATVA LOKAS"—Iccha, Jnana, Kriya, and Sukhārambha Shaktis, and Parā Shakti and Para Siva. The interplay of these Shaktis of the inmost level in and with the soul is more elaborately explained, through their permuted combinations giving rise to a harmony of their play, at the end of the chapter "Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya Lokhas" (S. No. 107) and at the end of Introductory note on it (S. No. 106).

NOTE: The inner gaṇa or group of godly beings and forces is said to be that of the great five godheads. They are provided with amrita of the inner level. They may be considered to take their stations in the overmind which is below the overmind gnosis.

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the orderly birth or manifestation of the outermost group of being and forces (purap pura gana) by combining the outermost last and the outermost first (i.e. by the interaction of the outermost physical or material physical body and the outermost mental i.e. physical mind and sense-mind).

NOTE : The outermost order of beings and their energies take their birth by the interaction of our outermost physical and outermost mental. These beings and energies are evidently the men and women of the earthly existence where they take their birth as jeevas and this view is supported by stz. 374 which says that the living beings of the earth are maintained by the outermost amrita which is the water of rain.

The Vast Grace-Light supports and maintains the jeevas (uyir i.e. the living beings, animal and human) in a closely connected manner by the out-pouring of earthly amrita of the outermost level.

NOTE : The outermost amrita of the earth is explained in UPADESHA to be the waters of rain on the earth.

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the formation or manifestation of the inner first (i.e. the inner mind) by the reaching or infusing of the inmost middle (i.e. the inmost true vital of the psychic level) into the outer last (i.e. outer physical, the physical body particularly with its outer physical consciousness) so as to keep it (the inner mind) inward-turned.

NOTE: The inmost or true vital reaches into the outer physical and as a result of inter-play or interaction, inner mind is brought into existence or active working. Here the vital and the physical pertaining to two different levels combine and act upon to bring about the mental in an intermediary level. Similarly in the next stanza, the vital and the mental of two different levels combine to form the physical in an intermediary level, the inner.

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the formation or manifestation of the inner last (i.e. the inner or subtle physical) in a large field or expanse (agal) by the reaching and infusing of the inmost middle (i.e. the inmost true vital of the psychic level) into the outer first (i.e. the outer mind).

NOTE: The inner or subtle physical is an expansive large realm, and so in stz 277, it is spoken of as Maha Bhuta Agal Veli. Here, in the above stanza it is described as “agal” in the same sense. In fact, not only the inner physical, but the inner mind and inner vital also enter into universal ranges.

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the formation or manifestation of the outer last (i.e. the outer physical) with an inward turn, by the combination or interaction of the inner middle (i.e. inner vital) and the inner first (i.e. inner mind).

NOTE : The interaction of the vital and the mental of one and the same level namely the inner, brings out into existence or active working the outer physical which is inward-looking or turned inward, possibly to infuse it into or connect it with the inner physical. In the preceding stanza, the vital and the physical of one and the same inner level combine to form the outer mind but as turned inward, possibly to infuse it into or connect it with the inner mind.

Stz. 257 புற நடுவொடு கடை புணர்ப்பித்து ஒருமுதல்

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the orderly formation or manifestation of a first (i. e. outermost first, the outermost mind) by causing the outer middle to be combined with the outer last (i. e. by the interaction of the outer vital and the outer physical).

NOTE : Here "a first" may indicate either outer first or outermost first. The latter is proper, if the mode or order of formation in the earlier stanza 259 is followed; that is to say, the combination or interaction of the vital and the physical of one level results in the formation of the mental, though in another level, a more exterior level. However, according to the Chart No. 8A (See Chapter IV—Vol I) and in keeping with the explanation of the Swami in regard to the outermost level which is the field of the senses and the body, the said outermost first would indicate the outermost mind which is the sense-mind associated with the physical vital (i. e. vital in the physical) of petty desires of day to day life and greed and hunger in food, sex, etc.

Stz. 258 புறந்தலை நடுவொடு புணர்ப்பித்து ஒரு கடை

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the orderly formation of a last (i. e. outermost last, the outermost body) by causing the outer first to be combined with the outer middle (i. e. by the interaction of the outer mind and the outer vital).

NOTE : Here, "a last" may indicate either the outer last or the outermost last. But the latter is more proper, in keeping with the mode or order of formation referred to in stz 260, that is to say, the combination or interaction of the vital and mental of one level results in the formation or manifestation of the physical, though in another level, a more exterior level. However, according to the Chart No. 8A (See Chapter IV—Vol I) and in keeping with the explanation of the Swami in his UPADESHA, the said last shall be taken as the outermost last, i. e. the outermost physical which is the material physical body itself—the physical in the physical.

From the above two stanzas 257 and 258, it is seen that the outermost first (i. e. outermost mind which is the sense-mind associated with the physical vital of petty desires of day to day life like food, sex etc) and the outermost last (i. e. the material physical body) are thus duly formed. We have already seen in stz 267 that the outermost middle (i. e. outermost vital, the vital physical or the nervous envelope with its life-energy) was formed by another process i. e. directly from the outer middle viz. the outer vital.

The said “physical vital” may be elaborated as the vital in the physical and, the “vital physical” as the physical in the vital. The physical vital is formed by involutionary descent of the vital into the physical, whereas the vital physical by evolutionary ascent of the physical into the vital.

Now, we may deduce that Akasa, Vayu and Prithvi—sky the ether representing mind, air the prana representing life-force, and earth the physical matter are the three main elements of nature; they correspond, in a rough and ready and simple manner of classification, with the first, middle and last parts in each of the four levels of existence referred to in the foregoing stanzas 257 to 272. Other correspondences that conform to the ether-air-earth, the first-middle-last are given below by way of general information.

The five elements may also be grouped into three so as to represent mind, life and the physical—akasa the ether as mind, vayu and agni (air and fire) as life, ap and prithvi (water and earth) as the physical.

However, the permuted combinations of not only the three above said main representative elements of ether, air and earth, but also of the five elements of physical nature and their representative psychological powers, nay, even of all the tatvas or principles of existence—listed as 36 in number, made into 43 with the inclusion of seven “para tatvas” (see items 97 to 103 of the TATVA LOKAS) and further elaborated into 103 (possibly so as to include 60 tatvikas) in the Chapter TATVA LOKAS—are referred to in the poem “TIRUVADI PERUMAI” (12—37—43) and all their permuted combinations fall into three orderly parts of nature in the order of a solid physical form of matter or body as the strong base to begin with, a life-force that comes as the middle to move and operate in and upon the physical matter or body, and a growing consciousness (of mind) that gives knowledge of things as the end or top. This is clearly a reference to the evolution of nature in the conditions of Ignorance (Elsewhere the Swami speaks of a divine evolution of the earthly existence in Knowledge with the direct advent of the Divine Light, the Vast Grace Light). Here, the evolution is said to be a result of the working of nada and bindu (Sound and Light) in the conditions of Ignorance but under the aegis of Parā Shakti (the Cosmic or Overmental Maha Shakti) who has in the Time-Movement acted in and upon the sovereignly rich but hidden and involved store or seed-state of the five entities, புறவிய ஐந்தாகு. Even this evolution is said to be ultimately due to the dynamic play of the Lord in the realm of Truth-Knowledge, the Supermind. The five entities are evidently the five elements of ether, air, fire, water and earth but as involved in a potential seed-state i. e. before evolving into their phenomenal forms ; and they are represented respectively by (1) Sat the Being or Existence (2) Cit the Consciousness-Force (3) Tapas the Conscious Force (4) Ananda the Delight (5) Satya Jnana, the Supermind or Knowledge-Will (stzs 179—183 of Joti Agaval poem).

Now we quote the stanza of Tiruvadi Perumai and give its translation.

 or hidden seed-state of the five entities).

“ Due to the dynamic play of the divine Light in the high-seated Tiru Ambalam, the divine Supermind or Sky of Knowledge, Parā Shakti (the Cosmic Overmental Maha Shakti) has under the Time-Movement worked or operated in and upon the rich and sovereign seed or egg of the five principles (i. e. the involved and hidden rich store of the five elements of ether, air, fire, water and earth representing the five essential principles namely (1) Sat, the Being, (2) Cit, the Consciousness-Force (3) Tapas, the Conscious Force, (4) Ananda, the Delight of Conscious Being (5) Satya Jnana, the Supermind of Knowledge-Will) and as a result all the substances of tatvas (tatva anu), the principles and powers of existence, have mutually entered into permuted combinations, but under an ignorant mode or stress of working or interaction of nada and bindu (sound and light, and in a physiological sense, ovule and sperm, shronita and shukla), and have arranged themselves into three parts—a base or bottom, a middle and a top or end—bringing forth three kinds of existence namely a solid supporting base of the physical matter and body, the energy of life energising and acting in and upon the physical, and the growth of consciousness of knowledge (i. e. mind). Who can speak really of the glory of the Will of the Divine Lord playing in Tiru Ambalam ? Is it ever possible for a humble being like me to tell about it ? ”

(TIRUVADIP PERUMAI 12—37—43)

NOTE : 1. Nada and bindu hare may also mean the evolving soul-principle in the male and female, Purusha and Shakti, i.e. the jeeva in the male and female.

2. The said five elements and their corresponding essential principles are indicated in JOTI AGAVAL stanzas 179 to 183, wherein it is said that the expansive ākāśa (ether of the physical sky) is measured and derived from Sivam, the Existence (Sat), air from Shakti the Consciousness-Force, earth from the pure golden state (i.e. the golden Truth-World of Supermind); fire is said to be the middle state in the five elements and water as nourishing with its waves. For the last two we can by deduction fill up the correspondences as conscious force for fire and ananda for water. Again, the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram, has indicated the five planes of summit overmind (i.e. the realm of Cosmic or overmental Parā Shakti who has five faces) and they are Sat Overmind, Cit Overmind, Tapo Overmind, Ananda Overmind and Gnostic Overmind. Again the five godheads correspond with the five elements. In this classification the formless etherial substance of physical sky or space represents Sat whereas the earthly matter of form represents the Gnosis. This may be explained thus. The supreme substance of Sat is first self-extended in the summit Supermind, whereas the Truth-form of perpetual substance becomes manifest in the lower supermind which is the golden supermind. The former corresponds to our physical sky, the latter to the earthly matter.

In the summit Supermind, Sat the Being, becomes by self-extension the spiritual substance, making substance as object of active consciousness, for its knowledge. In the lower or golden Supermind, substance assumes Truth-form of matter and so it is taken here as the constituent material out of which our gross earthly substance of matter with form has finally come to be formed by the intervention of Cosmic Mind and Life of the lesser levels. So the Swami, making a representative classification of the five elements, treats earth, the gross matter, as measured out from the golden Supermind. Again in Supermind, Cit the Consciousness-Force becomes the spiritual Life of Knowledge-Will which in the lesser levels has become separated first as Mind, then as Life, i.e. first as consciousness or knowledge of Mind and then, as conscious force or will of life. (Sri Aurobindo observes, in another context, that mind is derived from Supermind, whereas life and matter are from Cit and Sat, and, soul the psychic, from Ananda. This is another way of putting the same). In Supermind, Ananda the delight becomes soul, the psychic entity which is the linking principle harmonising all the five essential principles of being, consciousness, conscious force, delight and gnostic knowledge—represented by the said five planes of overmind which in the Swami's UPADESHA become correlated with the five Shaktis or the five powers of the five godheads and with the five elements and the five colours. Again if these are reduced into a three-fold formula where Sat the Being is taken as akasa the ether, then Cit shall be represented by vayu, the air or gaseous state, Ananda by matter. They shall correspond to mind, life and the physical.

Thus, in the above stanza (12—37—43), the physical matter and body as the base, life-force as the middle and consciousness of knowledge, i. e. mental consciousness as the top have manifested in an evolutionary order of earthly existence. In JOTI AGAVAL poem also this order is referred to in stanzas 554 and 763 as udal, uyir and arivu—body, life and mind (என்னுடல், என்னுயிர், என்னறிவு; நலந்தர உடல் உயிர் நல் அறிவு). Again stz 268 clearly gives the significance of the inmost middle as the inmost life, because it is derived from the middle of Akhanda Poorana, i. e. from Cit (the Consciousness-Force or Cit Shakti) of Satcitananda and that in stz 180 Vayu which represents Life principle is said to be measured out from the Shakti, i. e. Cit-Shakti, the Consciousness-Force. Sri Aurobindo also observes in his LIFE DIVINE that Life principle is derived essentially from Cit Shakti.

Thus life is invariably the middle term (நடு) and so we have taken the word “middle” to mean life in all the stzs 257 to 272. Again, the word ‘talai’ (head) or “mudal” (first) in the said stzs evidently signifies mind for which head is the seat of function. Mind is also the first, i. e. the causal in involution. The word ‘kadai’ (the last) in these stzs 257-272 necessarily by deduction means the physical. Again corresponding to the sky, air and earth as representative of mind, life and the physical, stz 251 refers to sky as the top (Mudi, the first), stz 190 to the earthly gross matter as the bottom or base (Adi, the last) and stzs 222 and 236 to the fire and air as the middle. However as fire is derived from and associated with the principle of air or gas, the middle may be taken as air itself which represents life (vayu). The sense of the physical is also clearly implied in stz 264 where the inner last (i. e. inner or subtle physical) is said to be a large expansive realm (agal) and it is the same as “Maha bhuta agal veli”, the large realm of the subtle-physical, mentioned in stz. 277.

QUOTATIONS FROM SRI AUROBINDO'S 'LIFE DIVINE'

We have seen in stzs 257—272 that the combination or interaction of life and the physical (i. e. life acting in and upon the physical) brings about the mental consciousness. Similarly the combination or, interaction of mind and life results in the formation of the physical

i. e. forms of the physical. We quote Sri Aurobindo to make the truth of the finding more clear.

a) "When Science discovers that Matter resolves itself into forms of Energy, it has hold of a universal and fundamental truth. We shall understand better (as to how consciousness came to create Matter) if we go back at once to the original principle of things. Existence is in its activity a Conscious-Force which presents the workings of its force to its consciousness as forms of its own being. Since Force is only the action of one sole existing Conscious-Being, its results can be nothing else but forms of that Conscious-Being; Substance or Matter, then, is only a form of spirit. The appearance which this form of spirit assumes to our sense is due to that dividing action of mind from which we have been able to deduce consistently the whole phenomenon of the universe. We know now that Life is an action of Conscious-Force of which material forms are the result (i.e. physical forms arise by the interaction of consciousness and force; or mind and life). Life involved in those forms appearing in them first as inconscient force, evolves and brings back into manifestation as Mind the consciousness which is the real self of the force and which never ceased to exist in it even when unmanifest (i.e. life acting in and upon the physical releases mind). We know also that Mind (i.e. including Overmind) is an inferior power of the original Conscious Knowledge or Supermind, a power to which Life acts as an instrumental energy; for, descending through supermind, consciousness or chit represents itself as Mind, Force of consciousness or Tapas represents itself as Life... As Mind is only a final action of supermind in the descent towards creation and Life an action of Conscious-Force working in the conditions of the Ignorance created by the descent of Mind, so Matter, as we know it, is only the final form taken by Conscious-Being as the result of that working. Matter is substance of the one Conscious-Being phenomenally divided within itself by the action of a universal Mind (i. e. Mind is here used in its widest sense including the operation of an overmind power which is nearest to the Supramental Truth-Consciousness and which is the first fountain of the creation of the Ignorance)—a division which the individual mind repeats and dwells in, but which does not abrogate or at all diminish the unity of spirit or the unity of Energy or the real unity of Matter."

b) "It (Mind) must, precipitating itself into Life to create forms for the Multiple, give to the universal principle of Being the appearance of a gross and material substance ... which offers itself to the contact of Mind as stable thing or object in an abiding multiplicity of objects... The contact of mind with its objects create what we call sense."

c) But more important is the power of the subliminal (i.e. inner being to enter into a direct contact of consciousness with other consciousness or with objects ... even by a close envelopment and intimate penetration (cf: SR அணைவால், புணர்ப்பால்-அகவல் 251—272 புகுதல் பா.11— திருச் சிற்றம்பல தெய்வமணிமாலை) and a return with what is enveloped or penetrated (புகுத்தலுறல் ஷே பா. 11; வகுத்த, அமைத்த—அகவல் 251—272) ...it is by these means that the inner being achieves an immediate, intimate and accurate spontaneous knowledge of persons, of objects, of the occult and to us intangible energies of World-Nature that surrounds us and impinge upon our own personality, physicality, mind-force and life-force. (LIFE DIVINE, p. 480).

Stz. 352 பெண்ணினுள் ஆணும் ஆணினுள் பெண்ணும்

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the female principle to be formed in the male and, the male principle in the female in an intimately close manner.

NOTE: The male and the female principles are each in the other in an inseparable way.

Stz. 353 பெண்ணினுள் மூன்றும் ஆணினுள் இரண்டும்
அண்ணுற வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the manifestation of three (or three entities) within the female and two within the male in a closely related manner.

NOTE: We have seen earlier that the "five jeevas" referred to by the Swami in his UPADESHA under this general nomenclature are (1) the soul (2) the jeeva, the frontal but yet hidden representative of the soul in nature (3) mental jeeva or mental being (4) vital jeeva or vital being (5) physical jeeva or physical being. Possibly the first two are the two entities of the male or purusha and the last three, which are instrumental beings of nature, are of the female or Prakriti. The male and the female here spoken of are not based on the physiological sex distinctions. Swami Saravananda who is a saintly soul following the Sanmarga of Vallalar and poised in psychic and spiritual Knowledge observes in his Tamil commentary on JOTI AGAVAL poem that the above said female and male principles or powers are respectively the three Nature-powers of creation, maintenance and, destruction for purification and renewal and, the two Purusha-powers of involution and evolution. We may add that involution is the hidden working of the soul through jeeva, and evolution the openness of the soul or its coming out into the front directly by grace or as an act of Grace and in which case jeeva does not any more remain a separate entity but gets wholly merged in its source, the soul.

Stz. 354 பெண்ணிடை நான்கும் ஆணிடை மூன்றும்
அண்ணுற அமைத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

There are four principles in the female and three in the male and all of them are self-determined by the Vast Grace-Light to be formed in an intimate relationship.

NOTE: This enigmatic formula is however explained by the Swami in his UPADESHA. A summary of it is given here. It is true that there is the female within the male and, the male within the female. The soul's consciousness is male and mental consciousness of jeeva is female. The male is characterised by three factors namely Anima, the soul or its psychic consciousness, Prakriti the primordial Nature and Akasa the ether and, these or their characteristics enter into the seminal fluid to constitute the sperm cell of the male. The female is characterised by four factors, the four elements namely earth or matter, water, heat or fire, and wind or life-force (Prithvi, Appu, Teyu, and Vayu or Prana) and these enter into and form the egg-cell in the ovular secretion. Thus the seven constituents of the body are formed by the combination of the male and female entitles or elements and they are skin, bone, muscle, brain, lymph, blood and secretions (rasa, possibly of the glands). But the male and female elements are also contained in each other, as for example, ether in matter (Akasa in Prithvi) and matter in ether (Prithvi in Akasa). The permuted combinations of the five elements into the twentyfive are given elsewhere under "bhuta tatva" in the chapter of "Tatva Lokas". Again, in the UPADESHA there is mention about the combination of Vayu and Prithvi, the life-force and the physical in forming the material body and their natural colours percolate even into the hair, making it reddish (colour of Vayu) or blackish (colour of Prithvi) or reddish black (mixture of the two) and it is also repeatedly said by the Swami that hair does not grow in the forehead because of the heat of the soul at the Ajna.

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the closely connected manifestations of the female nature in the outer, and of the male nature in the inner.

NOTE : Here, the terms inner and outer are used in a relative sense to denote Purusha the male aspect of being in nature, and Prakriti the female aspect of the becoming of nature which is supported by the inner being. The male and the female do not signify here the biological distinctions based on sex. Stz 352 has made it clear at the start that the male is in the female and vice-versa.

Stz. 358 தனித்தனி வடிவினும் தக்க ஆண்பெண் இயல்
அனைத்துற வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி

The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined the whole formation (or combination) of male and female natures in each respective form of body, so as to be proper to it.

NOTE : In each form of body of a specie is duly formed all the male and female characteristics proper to it. It is known that each specie of animal has a particular form of body. The human being has a form of body which contains the characteristics of both the female and male, though in the outer biological formation of body there is a polarisation of the cells of the sex and either of them predominates over the other to form a male or female physical body. Except at the highest source of Existence, there are male and female forms in all the worlds and planes. Gods and goddesses of each world have their respective forms, according to their abodes, the heavens and worlds of the universal mind, vital and the subtle-physical. Hence, the male and female natures are essentially psychological and not physiological. However, it is Prakriti, the phenomenal outer executive Nature who has given the physiological formations of body differently to man and woman, in order to achieve her purpose of multiplying the race. The distinctions of sex are seen in the animals and even in the plant life. However, it is not found in the elements of earth, the matter, though the essential qualities of the male and female take a different form, as positive and negative energies or charges such as in electricity, and positive and negative constituents such as the protons and electrons of atoms.

By the Strength of Thy Compassion I declare to the people in loud voice (or as with a beating drum) that this is the opportune time for the multitudes of the people of the world to unite and live in collective harmony”.

NOTE : In the opening line the Swami addresses the Lord as the Companion of his embryo. In his “Peru Vinnappam” the Swami writes and gives us to understand that he was not only consciously aware of his human birth in time, but also wholly aware of all the processes of his embryonic conception ever since the formation of the sperm-cell of his formal father and the egg-cell of his formal mother into both of which he entered in the form of emanations of his soul duly protected by the Divine Light and Presence.

Further this stanza also refers to the promise of collective life of harmony for the human race. In a later poem 12-36 he refers to a good government of the people by rule of compassion, unity of the world and a collective life of harmony based on the consciousness of the unity of Spirit. These possibilities are promised by him in the wake of the Advent of the God of Vast Grace-Light on the earth, Who he said, would so manifest by using him as His instrument (12—25—5).

“O My Lord of Vast Grace-Light whom the Wise men of realisation declare, in a firm and loud voice, to be beyond the comprehension of the senses like eyes, instruments like mind, the source or seed of Prakriti the primordial nature, and the merited Purusha or instrumental being of nature; nor can He be comprehended by Para State, i.e., (Para State of Spiritual Mind), nor by a synthesising Parampara Unarvu (i.e. Parampara Consciousness of the global overmind), nor by Parai (the Cosmic Maha Shakti) of the heavens, nor by Parāpara Arivu (i.e. Parāpara Consciousness of Overmind Gnosis)”.

NOTE: In this stanza Para, Parampara and Parapara states of Consciousness mean the Spiritual Mind, Global Overmind and Summit Overmind or Overmind gnosis. In the poem “Joti Agaval”, stzs. 282 to 284 they are referred to as distinct Velis or spaces namely Para Veli, Parampara Veli and Parāpara Veli, and that beyond the last said Parāpara Veli is Peru Veli, the Vast Heaven of Knowledge. In the Book of Upadesha (see item 55—p. 54) the Swami observes that upto the twelfth plane (i.e. upto and including Parāpara Veli) there are differently constituted skies or spaces (akasa bhēda). Peru Veli, the Vast Heaven or Sky of Knowledge is of one homogeneous character but there are three sessions or poises in that Sky of Truth-Knowledge and they are called by similar names but in a different order, i.e. as Param (Tertiary session of supermind), Para Param (in its sense as the heaven farther beyond i.e., second session or apprehending supermind) and Param Param (in its sense as the highest heaven i.e., first session or comprehending supermind). So Para Veli, Parampara Veli and Parapara Veli (in its sense as the border space between para and apara the lower and the higher) are different from Param, Para Param and Param Param of the one homogenous Vastness of Space called Peru Veli or Jnana Peru Veli (the Vastness of Supermind—See also in Vol. I, Chart 1 and its introduction, and Chart 2 and Note (1) thereunder). The greater or lesser significance of these terms namely Param, Paramparam and Paraparam has to be adopted according to the context and the qualifying words which go with them. Param in its general sense also means a heaven.

Para Param in its higher sense is constituted of two words (12-1-465) and means the apprehending supermind, i.e., the heaven higher or farther beyond Param, the tertiary supermind. Paraparam signifying the overmind gnosis, the border space between para and apara the lower and the higher, is one word which is a combined word, by joining 'para' and 'apara'. Param Param in its higher sense is the highest of the Truth-world, the comprehending supermind. Paramparam in its lower sense signifies the highest of the lower worlds i.e., the global overmind. Beyond it is the border heaven of Parapara which is open to communication from the Truth-world of supermind.

“O Supreme Truth that none can comprehend. O Mother! O my Father! O my Lord! O my King! Thou hast given me a unique physical body which cannot be hindered or obstructed by the clouds of rain and, water, nor by fire, wind, radiation of sky, sunlight, waters of the sea and the earth which is surrounded by sea, nor by weapons nor by any other means. O Amrita of Jnana Siddhi-Puram, the Amrita of the Home of Knowledge-Powers and Perfection which the Wise reach by the excellence of their qualities of nature and by the beauty of harmony. Even the sleep of my physical body is gone or cancelled for good.

The Swami's body is here described as non-obstructing penetrable body (தடுக்கப்படுதலில்லாத தனிவடிவம்), because of the plasticity and suppleness of the divinely transformed bodily cells including bones and muscles (See Joti Agaval stz 725-726). It was so supple and pliant that the five elements, radio-active cosmic rays (Gagana kalā), and even instruments of weapon can pass through it without doing any injury. A pliant body, that does not resist a hostile force but allows it to pass through, has been envisaged by the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram through her intuitive knowledge. Now in this back-ground the above song explains the divinised “non-obstructing earthly matter”. இடியாத புனி. The instrument of weapon can even be transformed into bodily substances and absorbed by the body and this seems to be possible by the divinised noiseless heat principle founded upon the “non-burning gaseous substance” (சலியாத காற்றிடை நின்று ஒலியாத கனலே 11-36-56). This kind of divine gaseous heat which does not burn the body but keeps it cool and refreshing is said to have the power of self-creating all substances including bodily substances (வேகாத காலாதி கண்டு கொண்டு எப்பொருளும் வினைய விளைவித்த தொழிலே மெய்த்தொழில் 11—1—28 ; மெய் எலாம் குளிர்த்திட 12—1—732). The Swami himself could transform baser metals into gold by keeping them in his hand, evidently because of the divine radio-activity of his body which was due to the non-burning gaseous heat principle (வேகாத கால்). Again this heat condensed his blood which is signified by the divinised element of “non-flowing liquid” (போகாத புனல்). Finally the divinely physical radio-active heat made the bones & muscles and all the bodily cells plastic and supple and pliant, that is to say, the body became “non-obstructing penetrable body” even in regard to material substances. (இடியாத புவி, தடுக்கப்படுதலில்லாத தனி வடிவம்). Above all, the deathless etherial substance (சாகாத்தலை) transformed all the bodily cells into their deathless state. Therefore the Swami’s body could not be killed even by instrument of weapon as it would simply pass through such a divinely plastic body. Even if it got stuck up in the body, it would be transformed into bodily substance by the power of the divine radio-active gaseous heat (வேகாத கால்). Such a divinised body was strong too and it could not be killed by any violent means (12—44—40).

In this poem, the Swami hints at the integrality of his realisation of Truth-Consciousness by showing that the supreme and universal Lord of Vast Grace-Light made him move into the dynamic plays of Truth-Knowledge (வீதியில் ஆட) to manifest the truths of Suddha Vedanta, Suddha Siddhanta, Suddha Nadanta, Suddha Bhodanta, Suddha Yoganta and Suddha Kalanta which are to be distinguished from the respective truths of the six traditional schools which are of lesser purity. Suddha Vedanta is the truth of Comprehending Supermind, or Cit Sabha. Suddha Siddhanta is the truth of apprehending Supermind or Por Sabha proper or Anip Pon Ambalam. The other four are the manifestations of the truth of the tertiary or lower supermind or Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha. (see Stzs. 64—65 of the poem “Anubhavamalai” and stzs. 775 to 777 of “Joti Agaval”),. All the truths are absolutely integrated in the supreme or summit supermind of Truth-Consciousness as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above. This state is called Samarasa Ananda Sabha (i.e. Samarasa Suddha Sivanada Sabha, Bk 10—II—2—10) or Samarasa Satya Sabha (Joti Agaval, stz. 777) or Samarasa Suddha Jnana (see “Satya Jnana Vinnappam”, prose p.133) or Samarasa Adwaita (Mahādēvamālai, stz.5). Its supreme play is called Samarasa Pēr Anta Natanam (see Anubhavamalai 12—42—65). The Swami has attained the supreme integrality of the Truth-Consciousness and so he can readily move into the play of the truth of each school in its highest purity and also manifest integrally all these truths together.

Tirumoolar mention's the goals of the six traditional schools of disciplines. The successive order is Kalanta, Yoganta, Bodhanta, Nadanta, Siddhanta and Vedanta -TM. 2377 to 2372. The text is reproduced hereunder in part. The rest follows later.

However the Swami has not elaborated on the goals of the six traditional schools of discipline, as they were familiarly known in his times and described in Tirumantram of Tirumoolar. Besides, Tirumoolar too speaks of the six “pure schools” which have the supramental states of experience as their respective goals. The supermind of Truth-knowledge is attained according to him by “Vedanta Siddhanta”, a synthesis or integration of Vedanta and Siddhanta (TM 2372, 2400, 2402). The goal of “Vedanta Siddhanta” corresponds to that of “Suddha Siddhanta” of the Swami’s classification. We now quote Tirumoolar.

“By Vedanta (i.e., traditional Vedanta) one becomes as the One Common Self in all by self-identity of knowledge. By Siddhanta

(i.e., (traditional Siddhanta) one becomes the soul affirming its individuality. In the pure Turya or pure Transcendence one realises his true individual self as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine (anu) and reaches the blissful Parā Param (the apprehending Supermind) by Siva yoga (i.e., by absorbed concentration on the Truth). This is the rare Siddhi most difficult to attain. It is attained by freeing oneself from all the impurities"—TM 2372.

Tirumoolar further points out the "Pure Vedanta" thus: "The beginningless jeevan (or soul, anādi jeevan அனாதி ஜீவன்) becomes detached and purified from the five impurities (of ego, maya, karma and effects of Karma and lower formulations of maya) and realises, in the farther beyond, the true individual self; and containing the supreme beginningless state of the divine supreme Self, becomes Aran, the all-constituting universal Divine (i.e., the supramental Divine in its comprehending poise; Aran being so explained in TM 2861, 2855) after wholly dissolving his ego (ādi mala) in that state which transcends the tatvas. This is the experience of pure Vedanta and it is like water (of soul) becoming milk (of Supreme Knowledge) in an undifferentiated state"—TM 2401.

The beginningless state of supreme Divine Self implies the Personal and the Impersonal States together in an integrality.

The truth of traditional Siddhanta is given to be thus. "After crossing over the limits of the wide and long net work of mind and the five senses, one's soul shall get into a constant contact and nearness with the eternal Paran (the Divine as revealing in his soul of spiritualised heart). With a keen aspiration for and remembrance of the Father of his soul to reach Him and dwell in Him as Aththan Paran, (the Divine in His Personal aspect, as Universal Person and as the Father of one's soul), he shall purify himself further in such a way that no impurities or their mixtures with purities shall ever follow and touch him. This is the goal of Siddhanta"—TM 2373.

NOTE: "There is a hint in the name of "Aththan Paran" that after realising the soul and the Divine in the soul, the soul shall get universalised to aim and reach the Universal Person as the Father in Heaven which would imply the supreme and universal Lord in the tertiary supermind. This view is supported by the stanza 2372 which refers to both Vedanta and Siddhanta in their harmony attaining Parā Param the apprehending supermind (See also stzs. 2855, 2861, 2437, 2402, 2400). So too it is supported by the order of schools in regard to their goals (if we may consider them as in an ascending order) dealt with by Tirumoolar—namely Kalanta (2377), Yoganta (2376), Bhodanta (2375), Nadanta (2374), Siddhanta (2373) and Vedanta (2372 which str. also deals with the synthesis of Vedanta Siddhanta). In the said Para Param one can enjoy simultaneously both the unity with the supreme Divine, the infinite and eternal One, as well as a “free difference in unity,” with the One as the universal Lord with all His forms.

In the above context, it is seen that the traditional Siddhanta at its highest, realises by love and devotion, an union with and a dwelling in the cosmic Overlord in the overmind gnosis. This is also mentioned by Swami Ramalingam in the Chapter “Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya Lokas” as the goal of the Vaidika Saiva Siddhanta (the traditional school) which is realised in “Siva Susupti” state. Tirumoolar calls this high state as “Siddhanta Vedanta” (சித்தாந்த வேதாந்தம் காட்டும் சிவனையே) in TM 2394 and 2395, because the Divine in His Personal aspect is realised by the soul in the back-ground of or along with the cosmic or impersonal Self in overmind. Now in the synthesis of another kind, that is, “Vedanta Siddhanta”, the self poise and soul poise of an individual being are harmonised so as to exceed the truth of “Siddhanta Vedanta” and reach into the Vastness of Heaven in the pure Transcendence (Manru) and attain union with the Feet of the supreme Lord of dynamic play (TM 2400 and 2384). This is done by combining the psychic, spiritual mental, and overmental states of one’s existence in the Divine (i. e., the three states namely uyir or jeeva, Paran and Sivan) and by exceeding them so as to attain the truth of Nandi, the supramental Divine which is Sivam (சிவமாதல் வேதாந்த சித்தாந்தமாகும்—TM 2393) and which is realised in Parā Param the apprehending Supermind—See TM 2402, 2384, 2393, 2440, 2441 and 2437. This experience corresponds to the goal of “Suddha Siddhanta” as indicated by Swami Ramalingam. Tirumoolar calls it also by a self-explanatory name “Vedanta Jnana Siddhanta” (TM 2393).

Tirumoolar also observes that all the truths of the six traditional schools of discipline are contained (in their highest reach and absolute purity) in the world of Truth-Conscious Bliss. (TM 2382) where in its highest poise one becomes wholly identified with the supreme and universal Divine (TM 2381). ஆறு அந்தமும் சென்று அடங்கும் அந்நேயத்தே ... சிவானந்தமாமே ; தான் அவனாகும் சமாதி தலைப்படி.

Now on the traditional Nadanta, Tirumoolar observes thus: “ There is the true individual self (anu) waiting to be realised in Paranada anta (i. e., at the end of Paranada proper) which is beyond Parabindu, by and after casting off all the thirty six (lower) tatvas and that the Parabindu state itself is farther off the states of godhood represented by the godheads, namely, Brahma, Vishnu, Rudra, Isha and Sadasiva ”—TM 2374.

Swami Ramalingam distinguishes three centres or planes connected with nada. The first is the nada centre in Sahasrara corresponding to the Spiritual Higher mind; The second is Paranada (lower) corresponding to the Intuitive Mind and the third is Paranada proper or true Paranada (Iyal Paranada) corresponding to the Summit overmind or overmind gnosis. In this last state of Paranada one realises one's true individual self as a centre (among many such centres) of the Supreme and universal Divine, such a centre being called "amsa sanatana" by the Gita and "anu" by Tirumoolar (TM 2372 and 2374). Before reaching that state one shall have realised his individual soul in the heart (state of siddhanta) and the One Self as the cosmic or impersonal self in Sahasrara (the state of Vedanta i.e., Realisation of one and the same common self in all the beings and things). The two remain distinct without a basis of connection and harmony. It is in the said Paranadanta state they become harmonised (not merged to become a single entity) and one comes to feel his true being as self and soul and as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine, having the features of the commonness of the Self in all beings and the true individuality of his soul but free from the least trace of ego and yet universalised at the same time. The truth of traditional Vedanta begins with the realisation of the Self. The truth of traditional Siddhanta begins with the realisation of one's soul in the heart. The truth of traditional Nadanta—or rather as one may put it as that of the higher or true Paranadanta, is when the self and soul are harmonised so as to feel itself as a centre of the Divine Himself. This is a prelude to the actual realisation of the supreme and universal Divine in a first or an initial integrality of His transcendent, universal and individual poises, of Being as is meant by the Purushottama Consciousness of the Gita, which in its turn farther develops into the Truth-Consciousness of the triple poises of Supermind (Satya Jnana).

Generally speaking, the traditional Nadanta school of discipline is based on the technique of using the sound of music or syllable like om, word or a set of words as in the form of a mantra or the name of the Divine in order to realise the Divine. The Divine brought forth the worlds of names and forms through "om", its vibration. Love and devotion for the Divine supports this discipline in which sound is used to exceed or transcend the barrier or limit of the sound and noise of mind as mental thoughts, by doing japa or repetition of the divine name or a mantra into which one is initiated by a mahan or God-realised person with his blessing and power of realisation.

Now coming to the other three traditional schools of Kalanta, Yognata and Bodhanta, we shall first take up Kalanta. Kalanta is also called bindu yoga or bindu kala, as kala is the aspect of knowledge closely connected with bindu, the light and force of consciousness in the adhara. Bindu according to the Swami is the light of soul and he calls ajna as the bindu centre where soul can be realised. Therefore the truth or goal of kalanta is evidently the realisation of the light of soul, the psychic being, (antaratma) including the lights of mental soul, vital soul and physical soul (manopurusha, prana purusha and annapurusha). That the goal of Kalanta is the realisation of the light of soul is again proved when Tirumoolar explains that the knowledge, inner guidance of divine upadesha, inspired words and hymns of Veda, Mantra, and Tantra and the inner will to follow them in practice by devotion and works have their source in and from the light and are received from it (TM 2378 and 2379). Tirumoolar observes in TM 2377 that the goal of kalanta is the realisation of the light of soul within the depth of one's embodied being when bindu, the light and force of consciousness, which is now distributed in the adhara and its inconscient or subconscient base and body of the system, now unreceptive or closed without openness விளக்கையில் அல்லது விள்ளாத and represented by its seven kinds of cells such as brain etc., gets concentrated or withdrawn within so as to realise itself as knowledge. Now, soul is the source of inspired knowledge of arts, science and skilful works which are also called kala. Bindu which is scattered or spread over the adhara including the body and is involved in the subconscient (Nivritti Medhādi) is to be concentrated upon and withdrawn into the inner level and it is realised then as the light of knowledge i. e. as the light of soul. The reverse is also true — Thriumoolar observes in TM 683, 2009, 1818 and 2316 that by the realisation of the light of soul (Moola Vilakku) and bringing it into the front and releasing the light of forest (Kāna Vilakku, the hidden light in the physicality of body), it becomes easy to ascend into the supreme Heaven of Light (i. e. the Home of Supramental Light, Melai Vilakku Veedu)

The soul (moolam) is said to be realised in the Ajna centre which has two petals of flower—TM 1704. The soul of man is dynamic in nature and plays its dynamism with one or more of its dynamic aspects of existence. Therefore 'kala' gets this shade of meaning also, implying works and actions. Thus, Kalanta is the first discipline.

Between Kalanta and Siddhanta there is a line of distinction. Kalanta aims at the inner light of knowledge, the inner light of soul, whereas Siddhanta proceeds after the realisation of soul to feel the divine Presence in the soul or keep contact with Him so as to be near Him, dwell in Him i. e. in the Divine as the Person or more properly as the universal Person (TM 2373). For this the soul becomes universalised to live in Him, as part of Him and one with the universe. Siddhanta first realises the soul in the depth of heart and one gets firmly poised in the soul. Kalanta first realises light of soul and more especially its power as the inner light of knowledge and works, then the soul itself. See also TM 754, 1517, 2009, 2010, 2816, 2804, 2973, 2306, 1026, 869.

In his book of Vyakhyana, the Swami deals on "bindu yoga which is kalanta", at the opening of the chapter called "Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya lokas". Four levels or steps of that discipline, the outermost, outer, inner and innermost are given, each containing a further four sub-steps of carya, kriya, yoga and jnana. The innermost soul and the formations of the innermost mental, vital and physical souls are realised in the inmost level, and they are respectively stated as the liberations of Jnana Jnana, Jnana yoga, Jnana kriya and Jnana carya (Book of Vyakhyana ch : 4 ; under S. No. 107 in this Vol.). They are described as "Nada udbhava suddha nishkala samanya bindu" in the four states of "sukshma visesha, sukshma, sthoola visesha, and sthoola corresponding to the psychic soul (Antaratma), mental soul (Mano Purusha), vital soul (Prana Purusha) and physical soul (Annamaya Purusha). The Swami identifies Sahasrara, as Nada centre, the centre of Self, and Ajna as bindu centre, the centre of the inmost soul. Soul is born of the individual self. It is its deputy, so to say. The inmost or true mental, vital and physical souls or beings (purushas) are also formations of that self, as the true instrumental beings in nature. The individual self in the Sahasrara is one with the cosmic or impersonal Self, the infinite self.

Now coming back to Kalanta or bindu yoga, the Swami seems to indicate in the above said chapter, groups or chains of the points of light (bindu) in fives, eights, tens, twelves or sixteens which are in play or in dynamic expressive nature, such as the formations and plays of Pancha nata bindu madha yoga, ashta nata bindu madhya yoga, dasha nata bindu madhya yoga, dwadasha nata bindu madhya yoga and shodasa nata bindu madhya yoga. Possibly they take their dynamic formations as points of light at the ajna centre in the middle of the head, as the term "nata bindu madhya" implies. They are the combined dynamic formations and energies of the Shakti in the soul such as Pancha kala, ashta kala, dasa kala, dwadasa kala and shodasa kala. They possibly correspond with those enumerated in the texts of "Kala Prasada yoga" and "Siva yoga Sara Kattalai" written by other mahans. Kalā is here readily seen as a function of bindu, the force or conscious power of light. (See Swami's book of Vyakhyana p. 120). Again at the end of the said chapter the Swami refers to the five-fold play of the five universal powers in and of the soul in its purity. They are the Iccha, Jnana, Kriya, Sukhārambha and Sukha Poorana Parā Shaktis which harmonise the soul's nature and movements and universalise the soul so as to make it transcend into the Pure Transcendence of "Karanateeta Loka" the Truth-world of Supermind which is the subject matter of the next chapter. Here the fivepowers of the pure liberated soul permute to form 25 kinds of its dynamic formations in combination with the said universal shaktis and that in a total harmony signifying the universalisation of soul. (Ibid p 125-127). Thus, this exceeds the "shodasa nata bindu", the dynamic formation of 16 points or phases of soul's light, if we may say so. It exceeds the goal of the traditional kalanta.

Now Yoganta: Tirumoolar describes the goal of the traditional Yoganta (i.e. ashtanga yoga) to be that by which the jeeva attains in Samadhi a living nearness to or a living in the domain of Para Siva, the cosmic overlord and then or as a result moves into a para state by desirelessness realising upashanta or intense Peace (TM 2376). This would indicate a Peace experienced at its highest in the overhead spiritual mind or at the lowest in the spiritualised mind at the top of the head or even possibly at the ajna centre itself, due to the descending influence of the cosmic Ishwara or the cosmic Self, as the case may be, through the Sahasrara centre. In the ashtanga yoga concentration of mind is aimed at by systematic practices in eight stages of progressive discipline. A silent mind in concentration gives the experience of spiritual Peace. However Tirumoolar has also written his own ashtanga yoga where the aim is the realisation of the supramental Light leading to the transformation of body into its deathless state. See TM 618, 622, 630, 631, 643, 668, 706, 641, 708 etc. Now, the Swami in the said chapter deals with the eight steps namely Iyama, Nyama, Asana, Pranayama, Pratyahara, Dharana, Dhyana and Samadhi (Savikalpa and Nirvikalpa). The last is mentioned as "Shanti yoga Mukti and Shantiateeta yoga Mukti". The Swami thereafter deals with the traditional Bodhanta which realises its goal in the overhead, in Sahasrara i.e. after crossing over the nada centre. The Swami hints at the goal of Bodhanta which is not specifically named but indicated as the "nada yoga mukti" and "nadanta yoga mukti", possibly indicating the unity of spiritual consciousness at the top of the head and above it in the Sahasrara. We may remember Nada is the Self, the Siva aspect of Being. Bindu is the soul, the Shakti, the self-becoming of Siva. However according to Tirumoolar also the goal of Bodhanta is attained in Nadanta state i.e. the first overhead centre where the unity of spiritual consciousness is realised. "By casting aside finally the desire and attachment for sound itself, one attains "Bodhanta Tatpada" i.e. the self-realisation of Knowledge (நாதாந்த பாசம் விட நின்று நன்பதி போதாந்த தற்பதம் — மந் 2387, 2392). So Bodhanta has the realisation of the unity of consciousness (or Self-realisation) as its goal. In TM 2375 he describes its goal. "The being or soul (uyir) becomes detached and free from the limitations of thirty six tatvas or principles of lower nature and transcends nada and gets "the darkness above" cancelled which results in the experience of the unity of spiritual consciousness". Bodhanta is the school of discipline based on the Reason and the discriminative intellect of mind.

தெள்ளி அகன்று நாதாந்தத்தைச் செற்றுமேல்
உள்ள இருள் நீங்க ஓர் உணர்வாகுமேல்
எள்ளலின் நாதாந்தத்து எய்திடும் போதமே — மந் 2375
(ஓர் உணர்வாகுமேல்—ஒருமைப்படுத்தும் உணர்வு ஒன்று உண்டானால் எ-று).

The "Cancelling of darkness above" refers to the opening of the Sahasrara centre above the head which is the seventh from the physical base. The realisation of unity of consciousness above and beyond nada brings the same result. But in the school of Nadanta (TM 2374), Paranada which is the twelfth centre in the overmind gnosis, is said to be crossed over to realise the true individual self as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine (anu). Thus this distinction between the goals of Bodhanta and Nadanta has to be remembered.

மேவு செய் ஈசன் சதாசிவன் மிக்கு அப்பால்
மேவும் பரவிந்து நாதம் விடா ஆருறு
ஒவும் பொழுது அணு ஒன்று உளதாமே — மந் 2374)
(நாதம்-பரவிந்துக்கு அப்பால் உள்ள பரநாதம் எ-று).

Again there is a thin line of distinction between Bodhanta and Vedanta. In Vedanta according to TM 2372, not only the Self is realised but one also feels identity with the impersonal Divine, that is to say, one becomes the Self, then becomes one with the impersonal Divine. The experiencer would rather speak of the experience, "I am the Self, I am He". In Bodhanta, a first preliminary effect of the Self-experience is realised as unity of consciousness (for e. g. unity of spiritual Peace, Light, Delight, Power, Love, Consciousness etc) which is its goal. It may be also called Tatpada experience as in TM 2387 and 2392, as it amounts essentially to Self-experience. But the proper experience of the Self and the Impersonal Divine is the goal of Vedanta. Swami Ramalingam gives short hints as to the goal of Vedanta in the above said chapter of "Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya lokas" thus: Eka bhavana yoga mukti, Soham bhavana yoga mukti (Ibid p 121). Continuing, he deals with the goal of Siddhanta, particularly of the Vaidika Saiva Siddhanta, which realises its truth in the state of "Siva Susupti" i. e. in the overmind gnosis as an intense Peace (cf: Siva Susupti Upasanta anubhava) which ensues after the experience of global overmind (cf: Siva Swapna Vishwagrāsa anubhava—Ibid p 123). In the said chapter the goal of the traditional Nadanta school which transcends Paranada proper is not specifically mentioned but the swami gives its disciplines such as Pranava yoga mukti, Ajapa yoga mukti, Mantra yoga mukti, Tantra yoga mukti etc (Ibid p 120).

Now, in conclusion, we repeat that the Swami refers to the "pure six schools" as distinguished from the traditional six schools. They are supramental states of experience. Their absolute harmony and integration are obtained and possessed in his "Samarasa Suddha Sanmarga" which points the summit supermind as the goal.

Tirumoolar too has distinguished likewise the pure six schools from the traditional. In TM 2381 he observes thus: "If one realises self-identity with the supreme and universal Divine (i. e. in Suddha Vedanta), then the knower, known and the knowledge of the schools of Kalanta, Yoganta, Bodhanta, Nadanta and Siddhanta integrate". Again in TM 2382 he repeats that the true goals (Jneya) of all the six schools are integrally contained in the summit supermind of supreme Bliss (Nēyaththē—cf: TM 2594, 2781) and one becomes the supreme Bliss of Truth itself; his soul and self (Jnatru) being self-absorbed in its Mauna verily becomes the Bliss of the Supreme Divine. (Sivananda). The next stz 2383 is very clear on the point.

"The true truths of knowledge of the six schools (unmai kalai āru) are contained in a five. The true ending of knowledge itself (unmai kalā anta) is in the seventeenth (level or state) where Truth-Knowledge itself is transcended (i. e. in Suddha Brahma Turya ateeta, the summit supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above). If we want to speak of the true Knowledge or Truth-Knowledge as a school anta in itself, it is realised only at the end of the last or higher Nada (i. e. in the Supermind beyond Paranada)" TM 2383.

The second line of the said stanza may also be interpreted to mean that the true goal of the school of kalanta is reached only in the Supermind which is realised only after the transcending of seventeen kalas. The seventeen kalas are referred to in some Tantra texts as kalas of chandra near Sahasrara, though mostly they are counted as sixteen kalas. See "Serpent Power" by Arthur Avalon p 430 on v 42 of Shat chakra Nirupana. See also TM 1705, 1707 of Tirumoolar.

Thus according to TM 2381 and 2382, the true goals of the six schools are held integrally at their source in the summit world of Truth-conscious Bliss. As Kalanta can merge with Siddhanta the six schools are said to be contained in the five schools.

NOTE : In TM 2383 above, Tirumoolar, like Swami Ramalingam, refers to seventeen steps or planes of consciousness. The twelve planes (dwadasanta) are familiar (See charts 4 A and 4 B). The last five come in the group of Suddha Brahma Turya (the pure Transcendence of Supermind) with its poises or states of jagrata (tertiary supermind), swapna and susupti (apprehending supermind), turya (comprehending supermind) and turyāteeta (summit supermind). This last is referred to by Tirumoolar as "Suddha Brahma Turyam Turyam (TM 2860)" or as Ariya Turya Ateetam (TM 2863). See also TM 2835, 2940, 1768. This corresponds to Suddha Siva Turyateeta of the Swami's description. It is the highest poise of the Truth-World as opening into the eternal Ananda Loka above. By another classification Tirumoolar lists nine levels or planes of ascent to reach into the Vastness of Supermind (Satya Jnana Podu)— TM 2538, 2539, 2543, 2545. 2791 (தவமாம் அவத்தை ; தவமான அந்தத்தின் நற்சிவ போதம்). They are the three psychic states, three spiritual mental and three overmental states. If we add to these the three ordinary states of ignorance namely jagrata, swapna and susupti we arrive at twelve planes above referred to.

According to Swami Ramalingam, the true goals of the pure schools of Suddha Nadanta, Bodhanta, Yoganta and Kalanta are realised in the tertiary supermind, those of Suddha Siddhanta and Vedanta in the apprehending and comprehending supermind respectively. The absolute integrality of all the pure six schools is realised and exceeded in the summit supermind (See Anubhava Malai stzs. 12-42-64 and 65).

Now coming to the traditional schools as such, they are also synthesised or harmonised by grouping of their disciplines. The Swami in his Upadesha says that Kalanta and Nadanta come under Siddhanta whereas Yoganta and Bodhanta under Vedanta. The harmony of Vedanta and Siddhanta gives the experience of the Truth-World.

In short we may say that what is realised as soul in the psychic heart (Siddhanta) and the self in spiritual mind (Vedanta) are again realised in the Vast Home or Heaven of Truth-Consciousness which is the true source of manifestation of soul and self in a setting of absolute purity and integral harmony. This is the fundamental integration of Vedanta and Siddhanta in their pure modes. Similarly the Peace of Yoganta, the unity or oneness of consciousness of Bodhanta, the Bliss of Nadanta, (TM 2386 speaks of a first bliss and harmony in Nadanta proper or Paranada), the inspired works of Kalanta and its light of knowledge as bindu (TM 2374 to 2377) are again realised in their highest purity and harmony in the Supermind rather in its tertiary poise as the Supramental Peace, Consciousness, Bliss and Light. Therefore, the first and early experiences of soul, self, witnessing peace of Yoganta which is the common foundation, Consciousness of Bodhanta and Bliss of Nadanta are spoken of by Tirumoolar even as “mudras” the symbolical representations or reflections of their true values which are obtaining in Supermind (TM 2386, 2381, 2382, 619, 630, 631). They harmonise there. So one shall be absorbed in Mauna the Silence to start with, as it is the symbol-experience for all the divine Riches to come.

Now we shall take up the stanzas of the Swami's poem “Sivānandattu Allundal”. In the first two stanzas of the poem, the Swami observes in general that the Lord of Vast Grace-Light made him play the truths of Veda and Agamas, i.e. the highest truths pointed out by them, not necessarily the truths as contained and realised in the existing traditional literature of Veda and Agamas, but covering also the greater truths of his own highest realisation and perfection. Veda and Agamas in this sense may be treated as grown commensurate with the highest realised experiences of the Swami or others of his stature. However, the Swami insists that with the advent of God of Vast Grace-Light on the earth Suddha Sanmarga, the Path of Truth, Harmony, Purity and the Good would come to prevail over all the other ways of spiritual discipline.

NOTE : Veeti means motion or movement. So, Suddha Vedanta Veeti (சுத்த வேதாந்த வீதியில் ஆட) is the movement of play to manifest the Truth of Suddha Vedanta (the Comprehending poise of Supermind) which is to be distinguished from Vedanta of the traditional school. In the Keertan “Siva Siva Joti” (stz. 17) the Swami refers to the Light of the Home of Suddha Vedanta as “Suddha Sivananda Joti” and as “Light of the Supreme Truth becoming the Truth of manifestation” (மெய்யே மெய்யாகிய ஜோதி—சுத்த வேதாந்த வீட்டில் விளங்கிய ஜோதி துய்ய சிவானந்த ஜோதி) This Home of Suddha Vedanta is necessarily the Comprehending Supermind, Tiru Cittrambalam, or Suddha Cit Sabha or Suddha Jnava Sabha. Cit sabha here referred to in the context is the field or sky of soul at the Ajna centre which is derived from Cit Sabha proper or Suddha Cit Sabha or Suddha Jnana Sabha, the comprehending supermind. In Upadesha p 85, the Swami briefly puts the steps of Sanmarga as three namely, realisation of (1) Cit sabha (i. e. soul and its field of play at the Ajna), (2) Por Sabha (the golden session of supermind i. e. the apprehending supermind), and (3) Suddha Jnana Sabha i. e. Suddha Cit Sabha the comprehending supermind.

NOTE: "Suddha Siddhanta Veeti" (சுத்த சித்தாந்த வீதியில் ஆட) is the movement of play to manifest the Truth of Suddha Siddhanta (the apprehending poise of supermind) which is to be distinguished from the Siddhanta or Saiva Siddhanta of the traditional school. Thou hast united myself and Thyself in a form of unity and given me a pure life of all-effectuating siddhis and Thou hast made me move with Conscious Force Tapas) into the play of Suddha Yōgānta”.

NOTE: Yōgānta is the traditional Ashtanga yoga, not necessarily and exclusively of the Patanjali school. The eight-fold yoga of Tirumoolar as specially written by him envisages the realisation of supramental Light and transformation of the physical body into its deathless state as one of the siddhis of yoga. (See TM 618, 622, 630, 631, 643, 668, 706, 641, 708 etc).

Mantra, mani and medicine evidently represent symbolically Sound, Light and Substance of the higher Consciousness as realised in the Truth-World. Medicine in its highest value is the Ambrosia that gives health and strength and longevity of bodily life. The word is used here in this sense.

- “O my Lord of Vast Grace-Light! Thou hast made me move into the play of Grace-Light as shown by Cit Sabha so that the Suddha Sanmarga of Truth-Knowledge and Truth-Law may excel (in this world)”.

NOTE : In the last two stanzas of the poem, the Swami refers to his dynamic and integral play of Knowledge as directed and shown by the Grace and Grace-Light of Cit Sabha, the Source and Heaven of Truth-Consciousness, for the benefit of the whole world and for ushering the new Age of Suddha Sanmarga of Truth, Harmony and the Good. The integral play of Grace-Light here signifies the integral play of Truth-Consciousness as in the summit supermind : It is called in stz 12-42-65 "Samarasa Pēr Anta Thani Natam". The Grace-Light itself is referred to as "Mei Arut Joti" the Grace-Light of Truth-Consciousness by which the Swami is missioned by the Divine to do all kinds of Truth-Conscious siddhis (Mei Jnana siddhis) for all time on the earth and in all the heavens (see stz 1—III—5—10 ; 12—2—3). It may be also noted that there is a subtle distinction between the Grace-Light and the God of Vast Grace-Light. This distinction helps us to understand the "Grace-Light" as realised by the Swami in its fulness and integrality in his own right, in his adhara on the earth and, the "Vast Grace-Light" that is to be manifested on the earth universally by the God of Vast Grace-Light and for which the Swami served as an instrument.

The Grace-Light is connected with the Vast Grace-Light of the Truth-World which the Swami ascended and possessed in him within and above. The said distinction is only a matter of practical importance for and on the earth itself, i.e. as between individual and collective work done in his own right by and through Grace-Light and, the collective universal work due to be done by the Divine by and through an universal manifestation of "Vast Grace-Light". (See notes under Joti Agaval stzs 167, 168, 441, 138, 572).

“ I have crossed over and got rid of the difficulties. I have thrown out grief and anxiety. I have torn away (or violated) the law of birth (and death). I have shed off sleep. I have conquered and cancelled disease and death. I have attained a sublime state of par excellence. I have borne the name and title as the “ dear and true Son ” (Selva Mei Pillai) of the Lord of Cit Sabha. This is enough for me. My tapas has borne fruit and succeeded.”

NOTE : The closing words of the above stanza that “ This is enough for me ” and “ My tapas has succeeded ” suggest that the Swami was satisfied with a personal realisation of the supreme and Universal Divine of the World of Truth-Knowledge who gave him also the transformation of his nature into the Divine Nature. However, this poem seems to mark one great stage of his realisation though it may be personal. However, when he comes to know of the impending and imminent manifestation of the Divine Light on the earth (see poem 12-25) and with the attainment of a deathless golden body (see poem 12-21), a new role emerges in his life. He feels himself to be an instrument for the manifestation of the Divine Light on the earth (12-25-5); he prepares the people to receive the Divine Light by opening a shrine in His Honour (12-26-10) and by giving them the mantra of Vast Grace-Light. With the firm realisation of a triple deathless body (12-29-17) he is ready in self-giving of himself freely everywhere in play of the Truth-powers of Knowledge (Siddhis), and with a full vision of the collective earthly evolution in the wake of the Advent of the God of Light (12-30), he is inevitably led to aspire for and play his role for Its Manifestation, and finally in an hour of Its manifestation at his place he sacrifices his deathless body for a divine purpose and for a world purpose, in other words, he dissolves his body for the purpose of the universal Manifestation of the divine Light and with a view to enter into all the physical bodies. It is believed that the Divine manifested to settle down at his place which is a representative place of the earth, because according to his last written statement (Sabai Vilambaram) on the eve of retirement into seclusion on 30-1-1874, the Divine, the God of Vast Grace-Light was Concretely Present at his place at that time and, evidently he dematerialised the body in His Presence and in union with Him i. e. when the Divine became one with his enlarged physical body at his place as envisaged by him in a last song (12-44-53). This is retrospectively proved by a later event in our times. The "Superman Consciousness" was shadowless and directly came with its golden Light into the body of the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram in 1969—i. e. after the universal manifestation of the divine Light on the earth in 1956—in order to train her in transformation of her body and the Mother felt that it had infiltrated into all physical bodies and as a result of its entry into her body, her body also felt identified itself with all the bodies not only in body-consciousness but also in their material physicality. So "the Superman Consciousness" can be readily recognised as the Swami's dematerialised supramental body-consciousness and therefore in the above background it stands proved that the Swami had attained a shadowless, luminous, and deathless physical body and entered into all the physical bodies in 1874 as announced by him shortly before his last retirement into seclusion, and that this was done in the Concrete Presence of the Divine Being who had manifested at his place for this purpose and who embraced his deathless body on the earth and dematerialised it fixing its substances into earth-nature and possibly also into the Inconscient. The dematerialisation of his deathless body was a fact, as his body was not seen in his secluded room after his last retirement on 30—1—1874, and as told by him the room was found empty of him when it was re-opened later. There is a sequence of operations which are the mutual play in embodiment i. e. between the embodied Divine Being and the Swami in his physical body on the earth at Vadalur. The Divine Presence, the mutual bodily embrace and union, the dematerialisation of the Swami's body, and the Swami's dematerialised body-consciousness entering into all the physical bodies are the closely connected events. Above all, the Swami clearly put it (in "Sabai Vilambaram" and in the last song and words) that the coming of the Divine Being Himself at his place was for the purpose of His settling down on the earth at his place so as to directly rule the earthly life with His Grace and evolve it towards a life of Truth and openly play and perform His Siddhis which include transformation of the aged into youths, so as to prolong life, and resurrection of the dead into bodily life, though it may be for a short or long period. So in the above circumstances we have to infer that the Divine Being had manifested at his place in some form or other, or got Himself fixed in the earth-nature by and through the force of dematerialised substances of the Swami's deathless body. We may say equally that by fixing the deathless substances of the Swami's deathless body in the earth, the Divine Being got Himself fixed up in some form or other (say in the Substance of His Being) into the earth, at his place. This is all that we can read into the events. All the events may be also read as a necessary prelude to the universal manifestation of the divine Light which took place in 1956 by the Tapas of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother. We may also add in the above context that the Swami did not specifically call the divine Manifestation as a descent from above. But according to some of the songs (12-26-6 & 7; 1-VI-5-1 to 3) it seems that he expected the Divine to manifest possibly from below i. e. from the Inconscient, though he was also aware of the "collapsable door" of Parapara above, through which He or His Light could break upon the earth (see Joti Agaval poem stz. 283). The expectation of the divine Manifestation from the Inconscient was also justified in the context of his attainment of triple deathless body (Jnana deha, Pranava deha, and Suddha deha which is the pure, transformed, and deathless physical body) and also because of his announcement of the due happening of miraculous phenomena of physical transformation of the aged and physical resurrection of the dead, after the said manifestation. (see Appendix IV (e) and (f) in Vol. I—Gangadharan's vision of the Swami's dematerialisation).

“ I have found or seen the Father of Cit Sabha. I took in Amrita of Grace and Clarity of Consciousness (அருள் தெள்ளமுதம்) and as a result my heart which is a space of the Truth and the Good (சற்சபை உள்ளம்) blossomed or prospered. I got all the siddhis of the Truth-World of Goodness (நற்சபைச் சித்திகள்). I have entered verily into the Por Sabha to play the manifestation of Knowledge ”

NOTE : In this stanza the Swami says that the Father of Cit Sabha was realised rather in the soul of his heart. This experience possibly arose when in the lower Por Sabha or tertiary supermind. The Swami then entered into Por Sabha the apprehending supermind. To enter into Cit Sabha itself would signify that the Swami would become one with the Lord in self-identity without the least trace of any subjective or objective confrontation between himself and the Lord as arises in the Por Sabha.

“O Nata Raja, Lord of the play of Truth-Knowledge! Thou hast shown and given me the head-source of deathlessness of physical body (சாகாத் தலை i. e. deathless divine physical substance of Ether) by the Science or Knowledge of and training in the deathlessness of body. Thou hast shown and given me the Gas or Air which knows no impediments or resistance (i. e. divine physical substance of Gas or Air) and thereby made me get into the distinguishing Nature (or distinguishing kinds and features of the deathlessness of body). Thou hast ripened my mind and heart which bear supreme love for Thee and hast fed me with the Amrita of the immortal Heaven and with the Ambrosia of Truth-Consciousness. By the non-flowing Water (i. e. divine physical substance of Water) Thou hast given me the equal or common State (in transformation of body) which even those pure in body (i. e. the Siddhars like Tirumoolar who got Suddha deha) found difficult to achieve. Thou nourisheth my growth (i. e. of evolution into the deathless perfection) which the gods of heaven (Nagadhipathis) praise. What recompense can I make to Thee?”

NOTE: The Swami herein refers to divine physical substances such as deathless ether, non-burning gas or air and non-flowing liquid or water which constitute a deathless body. Elsewhere, he adds to the above, soundless fire and non-obstructing matter also. (See Upadesha). The non-flowing water is spoken of here to have given him the “common or equal state or basis”, possibly implying the constitution and, the simultaneous and unhampered free operation of all the divinised elements in and by it, i. e. divinised ether, gaseous state and heat and material substances contained in a liquid base (cf: condensed blood of the Swami's body) with its connection in the material physical organs and substances of body. Elsewhere in 11—36—56 and 11—1—28, the Swami refers to the power of bringing into existence all kinds of substances including the bodily substances by the play of the basic three divinised elements viz. deathless ether, non-burning air or gas and non-flowing water or liquid. He said that even the Siddhars had not attained such a nature of the divine physical body (12—1—791) meant possibly for a collective influence on others. See for further details, "Introductory note on Tatva lokas" (S. No. 99) under the sub-heading "Apara and Para Tatvas".

They are called by Tirumoolar Siva Siddhars or even simply as Siddhars.
They have realised the summit supermind, the Sky or Space of Grace and Bliss, Light and Truth-Consciousness (Per Inbattu Arul Veli, Satya Jnana Anandam) where the manifest Space of Sat, manifest Light of Cit and manifest Bliss of Ananda are contained in and by the supreme infinity of Sat, supreme Light of Cit and, supreme Bliss respectively. They have the Heaven here on the earth and they have become eternal, immortal without disease (nityam, niramayam)—TM

he exceeded them too as he got a unique nature which none of them had. (Joti Agaval 12—1—791). Evidently the Swami's nature and deathless body were meant for a collective action on the earthly life.

NOTE: According to Sri Aurobindo also the comprehending and apprehending sessions of Supermind can be simultaneously possessed in experience.

"If we go back to the spiritual basis of things, substance in its utter purity resolves itself into pure conscious being, self-existent, inherently self-aware by identity, but not yet turning its consciousness upon itself as object. Supermind preserves this self-awareness by identity as its substance of self-knowledge and its light of self-creation, but for that creation presents Being to itself as the subject-object one and multiple of its own active consciousness. Being as object is held there in a supreme knowledge which can, BY COMPREHENSION, see it both as an object of cognition within itself and subjectively as itself, but can also and SIMULTANEOUSLY BY APPREHENSION, project it as an object (or objects) of cognition within the circumference of its consciousness not other than itself, part of its being, but a part (or parts) put away from itself,— that is to say, from the centre of vision in which Being concentrates itself, as the Knower, Witness or Purusha" (LIFE DIVINE p. 218).

"But the divine soul would not be enslaved to this divorce and duality. It would be aware in itself at once of the infinite self-concentration and the infinite self-extension and diffusion. It would be aware simultaneously of the One in its unitary consciousness holding the innumerable multiplicity in itself as if potential, unexpressed and therefore to our mental experience of that state non-existent and of the One in its extended consciousness holding the multiplicity thrown out and active as the play of its own conscious being, will and delight. It would equally be aware of the Many ever drawing down to themselves the One that is the eternal source and reality of their existence and of the Many ever mounting up attracted to the One that is the eternal culmination and blissful justification of all their play of difference. This vast view of things is the mould of the Truth-Consciousness, the foundation of the large Truth and Right hymned by the Vedic seers" (LIFE DIVINE, p. 142—143).

"But the Divine Consciousness is not so particularised, nor so limited; it can be many things at a time and take more than one enduring poise even for all time. We find that in the principle of Supermind itself it has three such general poises or sessions of its world-founding consciousness. The first founds the inalienable unity of things, the second modifies that unity so as to support the manifestation of the Many in One and One in Many; the third further modifies it so as to support the evolution of a diversified individuality which, by the action of Ignorance, becomes in us at a lower level the illusion of the separate ego"—(LIFE DIVINE, p. 135).

In "Anubhava Malai" (12-42) the Swami refers to the ascent into the lower or tertiary supermind (Tiru(ch) Sabha) and the direct vision and experience of the plays of the Divine in Knowledge in that very realm i.e. the plays of the truths of the pure four schools namely Suddha Nadanta, Bodhanta, Yoganta and Kalanta (stz. 63,64), and in the farther ascending levels of the Truth-World of Light, the further visions and experiences of the play of apprehending supermind (Siddhanta Natam) and of the play of comprehending Supermind (Vedanta Natam) and, the supreme vision and experience of the integral play of supreme Bliss of the Divine in the Summit Supermind (Samarasa Pēr Anta Natam--stz. 65). The first three poises of experience are mentioned by the Swami in stz. 12-16-5 also.

Furtuer, in the prose works "Satya Jnana Vinnappam" he refers to the highest realisation of "Samarasa Suddha Jnana Siddhi", the integral realisation and prefection of the Truth-Consciousness covering to-gether and simultaneously all the poises or sessions of Supermind--(Prose, p.133).

Now, the characteristic experience of the Divine, proper to each poise or session of the Truth-World, has been dealt with elaborately in Vol. I, Ch. III—Part I and their combined or integral experience in Ch. III, part II.

"I have realised the Unity of Existence. I have realised the blessed Goodness of Light manifesting in Tiru Ambalam, the Truth-World of Knowledge. I have seen this day the Play of the Lord of Knowledge for the progressive life (of evolution) of the whole world, giving me the boon of an eternal deathless body. I am delighted to know that such a life of deathless body is meant for those who realise the World of Truth-Knowledge".

NOTE : This poem gives a hint of the Swami's divine mission on the earth. The first and second stanzas refer to the five-fold universal functions which include involution and evolution of the earthly life and which he is missioned to do, by the rare power of his integral oneness with the plays of Truth-Knowledge of Cit Sabha and Por Sabha. Again in the last stanza he suggests that the Truth-conscious play of the Divine in the Truth-World is meant to give an evolutionary progress of earthly life and that the eternal deathless body which the Divine has gifted him is also meant as a part of His play for the said evolution. In the Keertan "Enna Punyam", we have seen that the Lord of Por Sabha took the Swami as the representative of the whole earth, nay as the earth-nature since its beginning and evolutionary existence, and gave him the divine sanction and will for the transformation of his body into its deathless state and assured him that He would play with him and embrace him on the earth (Stzs 6 and 7). See 12—44—1; 12—39—4, 6, 9, and 10.

REALISATION OF GOLDEN BODY PON VADIVAP PĒRU

“Give the Refuge, O Vast Grace-Light. Give the Float of the Substance of the infinite Light to cross over the densely massed dark nether ocean of vast and dark darkness (i. e. the dark ocean of the Inconscient Darkness which is the foundation of the physical universe of matter) and reach the shore and enjoy Bliss. Give the Refuge”.

NOTE: The Swami's prayer at the opening of this poem is perhaps a prayer to overcome the possible difficulties in the final stage of bodily transformation due to the occasional lingering attacks from the vast and dark Inconscient by way of fear, afflictions and dangers which are now cleared off. (see opening stanzas 1 to 3). However, in the same poem in the subsequent stanzas he refers to his deathless golden body filled with light and bliss and free from sleep, anxiety, fear, afflictions and sufferings. Possibly, it seems that a state of body's deathlessness is reached in which body cannot be affected even by the possible lingering attacks of fear and darkness from the Inconscient because of the ever-present Grace-Light in him. This state may be considered as a neutral state in which the body because of its advanced stage of transformation due to the Light, cannot succumb to death, even though there may be attacks from the Inconscient darkness. However, this state is also transcended and there is a clear affirmation, in a later poem (Suddha Siva Nilai), of the deathlessness of body and also the power to resurrect the dead and that his deathless body had become completely freed from the attacks of the Inconscient (see poems 12-28 and 12-29). Nay, the dark forces of the Inconscient and god of death had to withdraw and flee from him or his body which was full of Arut Cit Joti. They had to run away from him for safety (1-V-10-57, 61; 12-29-10, 11, 17; 12-28-3, 5, 6, 8; 12-44-20).

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's observations on the Inconscient Darkness :

“For the world as we see it has come out of the darkness concealed in darkness, the deep and abysmal flood that covered all things, the inconscient ocean, aprakētam Salilam (Rig Veda X-129-3); in that non-existence (asat), the seers have found by desire in the heart and thought in the mind that which builds up the true-existence. This non-existence of the truth of things, asat, is the first aspect of them that emerges from the inconscient ocean, and its great darkness is the Vedic Night, rātrīm jagatō nivēsanīm (Rig Veda 1-35-1) which holds the world and all its unrevealed potentialities in her obscure bosom. Night extends her realm over this triple world of ours (matter, life and mind) and out of her in heaven, in the mental being, Dawn (Usha) is born who delivers the Sun (Supermind as involved and hidden by descent in the inconscient) out of the darkness where it was lying concealed and eclipsed and creates the vision of the Supreme Day in the non-existence, in the Night, asati prakētuḥ (Rig Veda 1-124-11). It is therefore in these three realms matter, life and mind) that the battle between the Lords of Light and the Lords of the Ignorance proceeds through its continual vicissitudes” (Sri Aurobindo “On the Veda”, p. 249. See also notes on Joti Agaval, stzs. 392 & 393.)

Compare with Tirumantram of Tirumoolar :

“When the Flame of White Light (i.e. Supramental Light), the Lord, the Sun of expansive vision or of extended Eye dissolves or throws out the dense mass of dark darkness of Maya the seer will get a relationship of Knowledge with physical body (or He will become the seer of Knowledge which takes up the physical body in its consciousness) —TIRUMOLAR TIRUMANTHIRAM, 2694)

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passage :

" A Supramental change of the whole substance of the being and therefore necessarily of all its characters, powers, movements takes place when the involved Supermind in Nature emerges to meet and join with the Supramental light and power descending from Supernature. The individual must be the instrument and first field of transformation ...This would mean the appearance in the evolution of a gnostic being or Purusha and a gnostic Prakriti, a gnostic Nature " (LIFF DIVINE, p. 855).

Show me Thy Grace to make me, my soul and body, become the very essence of Love, and sing and dance in joy with great fervour by seeing Thy Divine Feet of Bliss and Harmony . Let my soul and body sing and dance thus."

NOTE : The verbal root " Arul " may generally mean " pray to give me by grace ". But in the context, and in its use in poetry it has to be taken as a present indefinite or perfect tense to mean " gives or has given me by grace ". The clear sense of fulfilment or achievement of transformation of the body indicated in the other stanzas of this poem would make the latter meaning of " Arul " appropriate in the context of the stanza 2. Further the Swami has used the verbal root " Arul " in the latter sense in " Joti Agaval " poem also in its stanzas. 119 , 141, 362-391. Again in stz. 13 of this poem itself the verbal root " Vilangu " has been used in its present indefinite tense. So the above stanza 2 may be appropriately interpreted as follows :

" Thou hast fed me with Amrita and removed fears in me. Thou hast given me Thy Feet of Harmony and Bliss of Amrita. Thou giveth, me thy Grace to make me, my soul and body, sing and dance in joy with great fervour of Love and devotion at Thy Feet of Beauty, Bliss and Harmony.

“ The Lord came quickly and entered into and united with me and filled my body with Himself in Truth-Substance and made it a physical Truth-body (மெய்யே மெய்யாக) and became one with it on the earth ”.

NOTE : We refer to some of the passages of subsequent poems. The deathless physical Truth-body is referred to as “ Aljā Voymai Udambu ” in stz. 12—44—51. In stz. 12—41—1, the Swami observed that the Lord verily entered into his body, abided in his heart and fused with his soul and life and gave him on the very earth His Body and Substance and Grace and verily the whole of Himself and remained inseparable.

The Lord by unifying with the Swami's body on the earth declared: “Do not think that (as a result) there is one beautiful body only on the earth. My Body has fused with your body and I have now a double or biune body here on the earth itself.” ஏர் உடம்பு ஒன்று என எண்ணேல். எம்முடம்பு உம்மை இணைந்து இங்கு எமக்கே ஈருடம்பு என்கின்றார். (12—38—8).

“The Lord of Cit Ambalam who abides in my heart of Love has given me Sukha, the happy felicity, by removing the sufferings and afflictions. I bear a blissful body, I have got a unique and deathless physical body and I have grown into perfection by the Light. What I say is the truth”.

NOTE : In one of his “Vinnappams”, the Swami observes that what he wanted was an eternal deathless body (nitya deha) on this earth itself so as to live the great life of Bliss without any limitations and impediments of time, place and circumstances. In “Jeeva Karunyam” second chapter also he speaks of the nature of such an eternal deathless body. When he completed the transformation of his body by the power of Grace, Grace-Light and Love he attained a vast golden deathless body wholly sleepless and full of the impulses of Bliss. (See stzs. 12—44—53 ; I—V—10—36 ; 12—44—20)

Now in the background of what he attained spontaneously as a natural deathless vast golden body and, in the background of the dematerialised disappearance of his body by way of sacrifice for a divine and world purpose after about a year of such attainment, we can deduce the true significance of “an eternal deathless body”. An eternal deathless body implies an essential permanence of a vast limitless golden physical existence and also a practical permanence of the material golden physical body, both of which are meant and included when the Swami speaks of his vast and deathless golden physical body which has as its base or substratum and coextensive with it, the limitless and fundamental golden physical existence which is other than the subtle-physical. A deathless material body has the absolute power and eternal purity of the body to live for ever freely without death and limitations of time, place and circumstances but it is not bound to or tied down to earthly existence without any freedom to leave it. So long as his indwelling soul or the Divine within the soul will to be and exist it can freely choose to live in such a transformed state of deathless body. When the soul departs voluntarily from the deathless body or when dematerialisation of such a body takes place, we may say that—essentially in principle death takes place and it may be called a supramental death and in which case there is still left behind intact what we come to know as the limitless and essentially permanent golden physical existence. (See for details in Vol. I, Ch. XVIII—Part 2, item 44F). However, when the new evolution of earthly life and matter because of the Manifestation of the Divine Light in 1956, reaches an advanced stage, it is quite possible that a deathless material body realised by supramental transformation in the said evolution may, after the departure of soul, remain intact in its transformed state (i. e. without decomposition) as a physical material unit of existence just as the psychicised vital and mind can now remain intact though in their respective worlds even after death of the body. Thus, in such a background of evolutionary development even the transformed material physical body can be spoken to have become an eternal deathless body whether while living in the body when soul indwells in it or when such a body is left behind intact when soul has departed from it. However, the latter has to be distinguished from cases of bodies of some mahans, who left behind intact in a state of repose in Samadhi, without undergoing transformation of body as such during life, and without undergoing any process of decomposition after death as well—these possibly being cases in which soul remains in an involved state in or about the body and an example is provided by the body of Saint Francis Xavier kept in a lying state of Samadhi at Goa in India and it has not decomposed so far since more than four centuries of its state of death in 1552. It is still in a good state of preservation.

A limitless physical existence which can be lived even without a defined physical body was felt by the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram in her last days. "Some experiences make me think that this sense of personal limitation is not necessary for physical existence. It is a thing that has to be learnt, but it is not necessary. It was always felt that a defined body was necessary to form separate individualities... it is not necessary. One can live physically without that..." (Bulletin Nov. 70 p 97—101).

Now again there is another line of thought. Swami's deathless physical body was a spontaneous and natural gift of "Arul Siddhi", i. e. of the Grace-Power of Knowledge and Perfection. According to him, his physical body was not only deathless but also ever indestructible (அழியாத உடம்பு) and ever prospering body (வையத்து அழியாமல் ஒங்கும் அருள் வடிவம் ;மெய்யே மெய்யாக நிரந்து ஒன்றாய் தின்றான் நிலத்து; ஊன உடம்பே ஒளி உடம்பாய் ஒங்கி நிற்க 12-21-6, 9, 12) He called it a triple indestructible body (அழியா வடிவம் அவை மூன்றும்) and also as an eternal indestructible physical truth-body (அழியா வாய்மை உடம்பு). It must have acquired a natural power to remain intact in its transformed state even in case his soul were to depart from the body (see Stz. 1-V-9-10 and notes); but the Swami chose by divine will to dematerialise the body in order to enter universally into all bodies and in that process and for that purpose, his soul remained unified with the body and its deathless substances at the time when the Supreme Lord came by a special Mission to become one with it and one with his soul of heart (See 12-44-53) on the very earth itself to fulfil the said purpose by an unique bodily embracing union and the result was that his body became evidently dematerialised and its deathless substances were fixed in the earth-nature and possibly in the Inconscient also. Thus the Swami's reference to an eternal deathless physical body may be interpreted in the above line of approach also. This sense is more proper, as the Swami considered the gift of deathless body as essentially connected with the evolutionary progress of the whole earthly world (12-21-11, 12; 12-20-11; 12-39-9 and 10) and also because the Swami's deathless body was biunely one with the Lord's Body on the earth itself and remained ever inseparable (12-38-8). By union with his deathless body, the Lord Himself had assumed a double or biune body on the earth. Finally it was this biune body of the Lord that was dematerialised by a last but special embrace or union at the bodily level, now meant evidently for its universalisation. See Appendix IV (e) and (f) of Vol. I—Gangadharan's Vision of the Swami's dematerialisation.

“The Lord of Cit Sabha is all-powerful, all-possessing, all-graceful and all-beautiful; He is the supreme Siddhan (Lord of the all-effectuating omnipotent Conscious Force performing all acts of Knowledge and Perfection); He is the Lord of Vast Grace-Light who is form, formlessness, form-formless and yet beyond. O Tatvas of duality (principles and powers of lower nature involved in the obscurity of dual consciousness)! Don't you know that He is the One who has by His Glory brought me forth as His Son (into the world)? Don't you know that all the Wise recognise me as His Son? So, no more can you make your mad play here”.

NOTE: In this poem the Swami affirms his positive mastery and command over all the forces and powers of Ignorance and Darkness such as ego, maya, karma (i.e. lower mode of ignorant actions) etc. and sleep, fear, anger, hunger and death. This poem suggests that the absolute or complete mastery over them, not merely a detached freedom from them, can be attained only after a complete and consummating transformation of the physical body into its deathless state.

“ O Death ! O sinful being of death who has the sin of a big falsehood ! Run away from the earth and the heaven and other worlds and planes and from the vast supporting base and field of the heavy and dense mass of intense darkness of Night (i. e. the Inconscient Realm of Darkness) so as to be exhausted in the pith and strength of your existence. If you continue to be here (on the earth) I will wholly wipe you out inflicting wounds (on your body). This is the sanction of Grace of my Lord who possesses me. I swear upon the Lord that it is His command. So, flee away from me who am now a fortress of Strength. Don't you know me that I am verily the Son of the great and supreme Being of Vast Grace-Light ? ”

NOTE : The first part of the stanza makes it evident that the Swami was well aware of the universal problem of Death and its solution on an universal and collective scale. This agrees in spirit and substance with Sri Aurobindo's lines on “ Death ” in his epic poem SAVITRI. See Introductory Note on the lyrical song “ Mei Arul Vyappu ” (1—V—10) and also the notes on its stzs. 57 & 61.

The latter part of the above stanza deals with the individual victory of the Swami over death. However, it is seen that there is cast out in this song a clue to the Swami's individual as well as collective play in the matter of conquering death. His collective fulfilment in liquidating universal Death seems to be intended in the future, though his dematerialisation of body was rather a first play of his collective role towards such a collective fulfilment, by which he could enter into all the physical bodies.

“ The Great Lord of the equally self-extended Truth-World said, O my beloved Son, O my Possession ! Within two and a half ghatikas (i.e. within an hour) I shall have you get married with the Grace-Shakti of Truth so as to be witnessed by the good earth and heaven and I shall give you the highest State (of Perfection) which will be praised by the gods of heaven and this is true. So becoming free from the heat of anxieties and sufferings, adorn yourself (with the auspicious garment befitting the occasion of marriage)”.

There is also a reference in stz 12—18—1 in regard to the Swami's marriage and union with Arut Cit Shakti of Grace. By the marriage and union with the divine Shakti, he got the supreme Amrita to take in and this resulted in the conquest of physical death. All the fear of death dissolved. The Swami got a divinely beautiful form of body. (12—18—1,2, 3). அருட்சித்தி புவைதனையும் புணர்த்தி... சாகா நலஞ் செய் தனி அமுதம் கொடுத்த குருவே.....மரண பயம் தீர்த்து எழில் உறு நல் உருவும் கொடுத்தாய்.

NOTE : The Swami married the Supreme Grace-Shakti symbolically and in a fitting manner after duly informing his disciples by a short notice and going through the formalities of the marriage. Thus, the Swami became wholly identified with the Cit-Shakti and by this he could tide over the difficulties of transformation which seem hinted as “the heat of anxieties and sufferings ” in this stanza. After this eventful marriage, the Swami according to the succeeding poems (12—28 and 12—29) scores victory over the forces of Darkness (i.e. of the Inconscient Darkness) which become afraid to touch or attack him any more but rather recoil back from him. Finally the Swami attains a sleepless and deathless golden body of perfection even with a potential power to resurrect the dead.

Thou hast seated me in an ever-youthful state of immortal bliss which suffuses my inner and outer being. Thou hast made me worthy of worship by the people of the world and abideth in my inner and outer levels of existence. O Lord ! “ O Lord ! In compassion Thou hast made the songs of my pure will and aspiration become effectively fulfilled. Thou hast silenced the mad orgy of monkey-like mind. Thou hast made me deathless of body in this wide world by destroying or annihilating (in the sense of over-coming) the angry god of death. O eternal Life of Compassion who playeth within my heart ! Thou art verily my sole Refuge to whom I am fully and spontaneously surrendered”.

Stz. 11 இருளைக் கெடுத்து என் எண்ணம் எலாம் இனிது முடிய நிரம்புவித்து மருளைத் தொலைத்து மெய்ஞ்ஞான வாழ்வை அடையும் வகை புரிந்து தெருளைத் தெளிவித்து எல்லாஞ்செய் சித்தி நிலையைச் சேர்வித்தே அருளைக் கொடுத்து என்னை ஆண்டோய் அடியேன் உன்தன் அடைக்கலமே

“ Thou hast dispelled away the darkness and fulfilled all my aspirations completely and successfully. Thou hast removed the Ignorance and made me realise the Life of Truth-Consciousness. Thou hast given me Consciousness of Knowledge along with the all-achieving Siddhi, i.e. Power of Truth-Knowledge and Perfection (for transformation and for fulfilment of divinely willed actions in life) by showering Grace on me. O Lord ! Thou hast taken me into Thy possession and rule. Thou art verily my Soul Refuge to whom I am fully and spontaneously surrendered ''.

NOTE : This poem shows the complete and spontaneous surrender of the Swami to the Divine Lord for ever, i. e. even after realising the Truth-Consciousness and its powers of knowledge and perfection which transformed his nature and body into a deathless state so as to live a deathless embodied physical life here in the very ignorant conditions of the earth—but without any inevitable necessity of dissolving the body during the process of its transformation or on the eve of attaining it or thereafter, as envisaged and inferred by Kumara Deva of Vriddha-chalam in such circumstances. However, the Swami dematerialised and dissolved his transformed deathless body later, not because of the said inevitability as a limitation in the nature of his deathless existence, but as a sacrifice for a common or divine purpose, i. e. for bringing a stable manifestation of the divine Light on the earth and fixing it at his place for the purpose of entering into and becoming one with all physical bodies universally.

LVI

In the last part of his life between 1870 and 1874, Swami Ramalingam makes public announcements according to the will of the Divine saying that the God of Vast Grace-Light is to manifest soon on the earth and the coming days will see the eternal play of the divine Grace-Light. He also forecasts the coming of a new race of people who will defy aging senility, disease and death. He requests the people of the earth to receive in full Honour the Lord of Vast Grace-Light so that He may settle down and rule here. He foresees a divine evolution in men, animals, creatures and plant life on the advent of the Vast Grace-Light.

“All the dark days have passed away. O Mind! Do not have the anxiety of doubt any more. From now on, the supreme and universal Lord of Play, out of compassion begins His New Age, and the Vast Grace-Light shall manifest progressively by and through me for the happiness and joy of the whole world, and only the days of happiness of His new Age are ahead. There is no doubt about this. This is sure to happen. O Mind! Inform the people of the whole world without delay and do not be deluded with the thought that this announcement may be postponed to a future day, because in the coming days you will become full of Bliss (i. e., self-absorbed in Bliss) ”.

NOTE : In this stanza the Swami clearly expresses that he is the instrument through whom the God of Vast Grace-Light is to become manifest on the earth for the happiness of the whole world, and that once the manifestation takes place, it will be continuous and progressive.

The Swami in a public notice to the disciples dated 25.11.1872, observes that “ the One, the supreme and universal Divine, is making a move to manifest so that all the people of the world may commonly get the great benefit of the state of Sanmarga (state of Truth, the Right, the Good and Harmony) and live an eternal life and that we shall be full of faith to receive in that hour of manifestation the spiritual gain and hence we shall remain in harmony without saying anything against the pursuit of the spiritual discipline or worship ”.

In an earlier message to the disciples dated 26.10.1870, the Swami observes thus : “Have true faith that because of one person, multitudes of the people will receive benefit. It is true that you will be benefited by me. Patiently await for some time till I come out within a few days in your midst by the diyine will. I will come out in the near future. Do not fear. Manage the Dharma Shala without any difficulty—Tiru Cittrambalam (Be blessed with the divine Truth-Consciousness of the Truth-World). ”

The Swami's other poems “Suddha Siva Nilai ” (12—29) and “ Vision of the earthly evolution ” (12—30) prove the part which he was to play for the divine manifestation on the earth. The Swami's Mahopadesha on 22—10—1873 and his last written message dated 30.1.1874 called “ Sabhai Villambaram ” and last song (12—44—53) and last spoken words also point to the imminence of the manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light on the earth and for which he secluded himself within his premises and sacrificed his deathless body by its dematerialisation and disappearance at a time when the Divine was concretely present at his place.

“ We decorate a beautiful shrine and we Pray Thee to take Thy seat. We who are humble and meek pray before Thee that by the Grace-Light we may be raised and kept up in a state of deathless bodily life full of Power and Strength. All the darknesses have cleared away. The Dawn has set in. This is the time for bestowing Thy Grace on all of us (all the peoples of the world). This is verily the opportune and good time to do it. O Vast Grace-Light ! O my Father ! Arise ! Awake from Thy Slumber” (i.e. manifest Thyself here as the Vast Grace-Light).

NOTE : This is a collective prayer to the divine Lord. The Swami prays on behalf of the members of his Sanmarga ; as a matter of fact on behalf of all the embodied people of the earth. The shrine referred to in this stanza is the “Satya Jnana Sabha ”, the shrine of Truth-Consciousness opened at Vadalur by the Swami in January 1872 according to the divine Will and in honour of the coming of the Supreme Divine, the God of Vast Grace-Light, on the earth. See also “Siru Vinnappam” and “Sabhai Villambaram” in Vol. I, Ch. XII. This is a collective prayer by which the Lord is entreated to get up from sleep. This indicates that the Lord of our earthly evolution is now hidden and obscure in the Subconscient and Inconscient Darkness below, though He is verily the Supreme Being of the Vast Grace-Light playing in the Truth-World above (stz 6). For details about the Being of the Inconscient see Vol. I, Ch. XVIII, Part 2, item 44 (A to I).

In this Poem, the Swami reminds the God of Vast Grace-Light that He who is the Player in the Truth-World above and who has awakened him from slumber and given him transformation of body by removing all its impurities and defects and darkneses shall no more sleep (i.e. remain obscure and hidden in the inconscient earth) but get up from sleep, awakened to His work of evolving all the people of the earth to a deathless bodily life by manifesting the Grace-Light on the earth and for which the shrine of "Satya Jnana Sabha" has been built and decorated and opened to receive Him (see stzs 6,7,8 அம் பலத்தே சித்தி ஆடல் செய் பதியே ; உடல் பழுதெல்லாம் தவிர்த்தே எனைப் பள்ளி எழுப்பிய அருட்பெருஞ்சோதி என்னப்பனே பள்ளி எழுந்தருள்வாயே). The said shrine was opened by the Swami in 1872 in fulfilment of the condition laid down by the Divine for the manifestation of His Vast Grace-Light on the earth and for playing His Siddhis at Vadalur, the place of the Shrine, for an eternal time (See Siru Vinnappam and Sabhai Vilambaram)— Siddhis such as physical transformation of even the aged into youths, and resurrection of the dead into bodily life.

GOLDEN BODY AND MASTERY OVER FORCES OF DARKNESS AND DEATH UTTRADU URAITHTHAL

In the poem, “Gift of Golden Body”, (12-21), the Swami mentions his attainment of a golden body of deathlessness, by overcoming the lingering attacks of fears, afflictions and dangers from the Inconscient Darkness, which had their full play before according to the Swami's earliest “Vinnappam” written long before Joti Agaval poem (12-1). (See Vol. I, Ch. VIII—“Triple Siddhi and Triple Body”—under the subhead “Transformation in Swami's body: Its crucial difficulties”). In this poem, 12-28, all the sufferings, fears, anxieties, dangers and difficulties and the attacks of the Darkness and Death (from the Inconscient) are wholly overcome and cancelled. The forces of darkness are rooted out and they run away from him and, the possession of a golden physical body of deathlessness is clearly affirmed by the Swami. The next poem (12-29) called “Suddha Siva Nilai” also affirms categorically the attainment of a triple deathless body and the mastery over the forces of darkness, as a result of which they cease to attack him any more but run away from him. Stzs. 12—44—20 and 27 also confirm the firm mastery and conquest over the forces of darkness and death. The dark force of death or god of death ran away for safety, being afraid to be, dissolved by the Grace-Light of the Swami's body (1-V-10-69, 61 57, 38).

I am free from the tiresomeness of death. Delighted I am, and have crossed over the sea of birth (i. e. cycle of birth). I do not appreciate a song which does not sing in glory of the Lord of Cit Ambalam. I have become self-absorbed and entered into the consciousness of Param Param, the comprehending session of the Truth-World. I hasten to play or act in all matters in unison with the divine Will”.

NOTE : The tiresomeness of death may possibly be due to the direct attacks of Death from the Inconscient Darkness. The Swami seems to have undergone all the sufferings and processes of Death before attaining mastery and final victory over Death Itself.

I live the Life that glorifies Mani Manru the excellent World of the Diamond Light of Truth-Knowledge (i.e. Apprehending Supermind).

NOTE : An example of unseen attack of the Inconscient from the ground is provided in the case of Sri Aurobindo who a few days before November Darshan of 1938 slipped and fell on the floor of his room resulting in the fracture of his leg, when in an unguarded moment he was preoccupied to protect the Mother from the danger, but forgetting to protect himself.

“The supreme and universal Divine has sent me here into this world to do His mission of leading or guiding all the people of the world including those who are black within (i.e. of impure and deceitful nature) and white without (i.e. make a deceitful show of culture in their outer nature and behaviour), into the Path of Sanmarga Sangha and purify and transform them திருத்தி and make them attain the blissful life of the Heaven here in this world itself. So sent down into the world to do His mission in this yuga or age, I am verily blessed with His Grace”.

NOTE: According to the Swami, his Sanmarga would function more effectively with the advent of the Vast Grace-Light on the earth. So the purification and transformation of the inner and outer consciousness and nature of the people would be done imperatively and effectively and universally by the manifesting divine Light and, for its universal manifestation the Swami played his part as its effective instrument (12—25—5). Besides, the Swami also possessed the Light within and above himself and felt his divine mission to mend and purify the people individually and collectively and lead them to the Light. Sri A Balakrishna Pillai, the well-known faithful editor of ‘Arutpa’ works of the Swami, who has brought into publication true and faithful and authentic Tamil editions of the Swami’s prose and poetical works, has also translated a select collection of Arutpa songs. On the above stanza, he has pointed out that the Swami meant to purify and transform the people even if they are rotten in the very core of their nature.

SUDDHA SIVA NILAI
(Supramental Perfection)

12—29

This poem which is translated in full is the epitome of the Swami's highest and integral achievements viz, the realisation of the World of Truth-Consciousness, the attainment of mastery over the forces of Inconscient darkness and maya of Ignorance, (stz. 9, 10), transformation of nature and body into their deathless perfections with Power to perform the five-fold universal functions, and the attainment of a sleepless and deathless golden physical body (stz. 11, 14, 17) with a potential power to resurrect even the dead (stzs. 37 to 40). The poem refers to the triple poise of the Truth-World of Knowledge (stzs. 2, 6, 7, 16). It refers also to the triple deathless body, the physical, subtle and causal—Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha (stzs. 17, 27). It also contains the essence of the triple Siddhi which are supramental in their nature and powers—Jnana Siddhi, Yoga Siddhi and Karma Siddhi—siddhis of the play of Truth-Knowledge by self-identity (Jnana Siddhi stz. 13), by vision (Yoga siddhi, stz. 28, 29) and by intuition and/or inspiration of ideas, thoughts, feelings, words, songs and music, fulfilling in and by inspired actions and enjoyments (Karma Siddhi, stzs. 1, 3, 8, 18, 25). Again, in this poem the Swami not merely promises about the manifestation or coming of the supreme God of Light to rule the earth, but also refers to his active expectation of the imminent manifestation of the Divine (stzs. 32, 47) and the reason therefor (stz. 45). (The Swami elsewhere mentions the background of his experiences of the rare supramental visions, intuitions, inspirations etc, as the reason for expecting the imminent manifestation of the Divine Light on the earth—vide opening and closing paras of “Sabai Villambaram ” BOOK OF LETTERS, p. 99—100 and also “Mahopadesha ” (p. 141 Upadesha). He also refers to the evolutionary purpose (Stz. 34, 35, 21) of a ceaseless and progressive manifestation of the Divine, along with His Shakti and the godheads, in the plays of Grace and Knowledge here on the earth (stzs. 33, 34, 35) A further elaboration of the evolution in the wake of the divine Manifestation is found in the next poem “the Vision of the earthly evolution ” (12—30).

of Bliss, which clarifies the consciousness of heart and soul ; so I have

NOTE: Only in the absolute silence of mind and heart, Truth-thoughts, Truth-inspiration of rhythm and words of song, and Truth-substance of Immortality, i.e. Amrita of Bliss are received from the Divine from above or from within. They are supramental in their nature and powers.

“ When I call Him “O Father”, He responds instantly calling me tenderly “O Son”. He is the immaculate Pure Lord of Tapas (literally, the Lord with plaited hair). He is the God of Cittrambalam (i.e. Cit Ambalam or Cit Sabha, the world of all-comprehending Knowledge). He has become Himself (i.e. the self-existent Divine has manifested the truth of His Self-being and Self-becoming as the Universal All-existence, that is to say, One and the same supreme Divine has become Himself as the universal Divine), containing or possessing me and abiding within the heart of my soul in delight”.

NOTE: The above stanza refers to the nature of the Divine in His all-comprehending poise of Truth-Consciousness, the Cit Sabha. He is the One and as the All, all-becoming, all-containing and all-indwelling, or in other words, He is the Self as all, all in the Self and, the Self in all. The next stanza refers to the apprehending poise of Supermind, the Por Sabha. The supreme and universal Divine may take a particular form also, as He is said here to have come with plaited hair of Tapas.

of Himself-Myself). What a Supreme Compassion of my Father ! Does the rain-bearing cloud possess such a compassion ? ”

NOTE : Vide Sri Aurobindo's passage on the apprehending poise of Supermind :

“ The Universal Divine would know all soul-forms as itself and yet establish a different relation with each separately and in each with all the others. The individual Divine would envisage its existence as a soul-form and soul-movement of the One, and while by the comprehending action of Consciousness it would enjoy its unity with the One and with all soul-forms, it would also by a forward or frontal apprehending action support and enjoy its individual movement and its relations of a free difference in unity both with the One and with all its forms ” (LIFE DIVINE, Ch. XVI, p. 136).

“I have realised here (the triple indestructible body of) Suddha deha, the pure physical body, a perpetual and blissful Pranava body (Pranava deha) and an all-pervading and ever-growing or ever prospering Knowledge-body of the divine Conscious Force (Jnana deha) in order to make the play of self-giving of myself everywhere”.

NOTE: See Vol. I, Ch. VIII for details on triple body and triple siddhi.

Suddha deha signifies the transformed or divinised golden physical body of eternal purity that has overcome death absolutely. It is not merely deathless but indestructible for ever, that is to say, even if the soul were to leave the body, the body would remain intact as a physical entity of existence without decomposition, but with a sort of physical consciousness proper to it. Not only that. It is ever-growing or ever prospering (cf: கூற்று ஒழித்து நீடும் உலகில் அழியாத நிலை மேல் எனை வைத்து; மரணம் உருத் திறம் தந்து அழியாத் திரு அளித்த கருணா நிதியே; கூற்றை உதைப்பித்து ஒழித்துச் சிதைவு மாற்றியே; இறவாது என்றும் ஒங்கும் வடிவம் எனக்கு வந்ததே; மனித்த உடம்பு இதை அழியா வாய்மை உடம்பாக்கி; வையத்து அழியாமல் ஒங்கும் அருள் வடிவம்; பொன் வண்ண வடிவு உற்றது என்றும் சாமாநிலை எனக்குத் தான்—12-24-7; 12-18-11; I-V-10-38, 69; 12-44-23; 12-21-9; 12-29-11.) In fact it is a physical truth-body and the Swami calls it so, as it has been divinised and supported by the Knowledge-body of Truth-Consciousness (Jnana deha) which is verily Grace itself. Hence it is also called the physical Grace-body “Arul Vadivam”. The intervening subtle body (Pranava deha) has also been transformed and divinised by the Knowledge-body. Thus the divinised physical body is supported by the transformed Pranava deha and the original Knowledge-body. So it is called a triple deathless body in this stanza. The Swami also calls it simply as the physical body of Knowledge (Jnana Vadivam).

The fact that the Swami was and is ever ready to give himself freely to one and all everywhere and give too the powers and substances of deathless body is provable, even after his disembodied dematerialisation. His being and consciousness is identifiable with what the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram designated as the “Superman Consciousness” which voluntarily came, with its shadowless golden light of Truth, directly into the Mother’s physical body to help her in its transformation in 1969. See for more details Chapter XVIII—part 3 of Vol I.

We have already seen that his deathless body and its powers were and are intimately connected with the earthly life and its collective evolution (12-20-11; 12-21-11, 12; 12-39-9, 10; 12-38-8; 1-III-5-5, 8, 10; 12-34-26; 12-25-5) and possibly because of this, he was chosen and made to play his part for the manifestation of the divine Vast Grace-Light on the earth (12-25-5; 12-22-20; 12-30-1, 3, 6). For that cause he sacrificed his deathless body by dematerialisation (12-44-53).

“One should know the nature of the Science of deathlessness of body; besides, one should know the ever non-burning gas or air and the deathless ether of space (here on the earth, and in one's physical body for its transformation) and reach the eternal state of Truth by the unique Grace”.

NOTE: The non-burning gas would possibly refer to the gaseous state of the body which does not burn it but keeps it in a cool and refreshing condition.

This view is supported by Joti Agaval Poem (12--1--732) and stz. 11--40--21 which refer to his cool refreshing body as a result of its transformation. Joti Agaval stanza 729 also speaks of a cool breathing full of peace (மெய் எலாம் குளிர்ந்திட; தண்ணிய உயிர்ப்பினில் சாந்தம் ததும்பிட). Also in stz 11--36--54 he refers to the gaseous state that does not burn or give rise to heat within (i.e. heat within the body உள் வேகாத கால்) in spite of its sudden and swift movement of diffusion (பாய்ந்து வேகாக் கால் 11--23--2).

Sāgāth Thalai, Vēgātha Kāl, and Pōgāp Punal have been explained by the Swami in his Upadesha (p 71 and 44) as ether, gas or air and agni the fire. They are the formula of the Science of deathlessness of body which has its foundation in the Truth-World according to Joti Agaval stz 26 (சாகாக்கலை நிலை தழைத்திடு வெளி எனும் ஆகாயத்து ஒளிர் அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி). Literally Translated, they are the head-source of deathless etherial substance, non-burning gas or air and non-flowing liquid. The last is said to be or contain also the principle of Agni the fire and it seems to be the transformed liquid substance of his body like the condensed blood within which contains heat (இரத்தம் அனைத்தும் உள் இறுகிட 12--1--727). Possibly as a result, amrita oozed all over his body within and without (12--1--728). Amrita is elsewhere said to be cool (12--1--621, 694).

Now coming to the deathless etherial substance, the Swami speaks of it in stz. 11--23--2 as “Kalai Sāgāth Thalai” (கலை சாகாத் தலை) which would mean the deathless luminous substance of physical ether or deathless physical etherial substance of light, as the word “Kakai” or Kalā evidently carry the sense of light and its substance and force. At the source in supermind the etherial space and light become integral and inseparable. So the luminous and deathless etherial physical substance is derived from “The supreme Space of Ether (the Supermind) where arise and manifest the deathless substance of Light and the Knowledge of deathlessness of body” (see the above Joti Agaval stz 26).

Again in Jeevakarunyam (Chapter II), the Swami speaks of a transformed physical body and its relation with physical ether. Such a body would never be separated by the physical ether within and without. That is to say, the ethereal substance of the body becomes the transformed or divinised luminous ether and it would remain inseparable from the system or adhara in all conditions (i.e. inseparable from all the elements of the body) thereby preventing and cancelling the forces of darkness (இருட்கலை தவிர்த்து ஒளி வழங்கி 12—1—695), decay and death which is darkness and disintegration or separation (புறத்தே ஆகாயம் அவர் தேகத்தை அந்தரிக்க மாட்டாது. உள்ளே ஆகாயத் தினது கலப்பினால் அந்தரிக்கப்படார்கள்; அந்தரித்தல்=தனித்திருத்தல், நிலை கெடுதல்). See also Vol. I ch. VIII under the subhead “transformation under Jeeva Karunyam”.

As said above, the Swami in his explanations in Upadesha on the deathless ether, non-burning gas and non-flowing water has observed that these Principles come under the respective rule of the godheads, Rudra (of the heart), Maheshwara (of the throat) and Sadasiva (of uvula centre or chakra)—(Ibid p. 71 and 44). See also Vol I. ch VII under the sub-heading “Science of deathlessness of body”. But they are evidently the transformed and divinised physical substances and the said godheads themselves are said to represent respectively the supramental principles of Conscious Force (Cit), Ananda and Sat in the new supramental creation called “Sambu Paksha Srishti” Ibid Upadesha p 104). See also Vol I ch. VII under the subhead “Anu Paksha and Sambhu Paksha”. It appears there is a reversal in the order of the said godheads with reference to the divinised physical substances of ether, gas and liquid which are usually represented by the chakras or centres namely heart, throat, and uvula. But Swami Ramalingam in his Upadesha observes that the three divinised substances are found in all tatvas, which are forty three in number and exist in all the four levels in the universal and the individual, the four levels being the inmost, inner, outer and outermost.

We have also to point out that the Swami adds in stz. 11-36-56 two more substances namely “soundless fire and non-obstructing matter” (ஒலியாத கனல், இடியாத புவி), thus making a total of five divinised substances corresponding to the five elements of nature. Mastery over the five elements, radio-active cosmic rays, all the forces and instruments of violence, disease and god of death, is affirmed, when proclaiming the attainment of a deathless body which is supple and pliant. (Stzs 12—4—2 ; 12—44—40).

(Compare with “Joti Agaval,” stzs. 392 and 393 in regard to the purification of the universal tatva and those in the individual).

NOTE: With the advent of the Vast Grace-Light upon earth, the terrestrial life at all its levels of existence will shoot up into a new evolutionary manifestation in the values of the manifesting Vast Grace-Light. The, universe from its summit levels of overmind down to the physical world, will get perfected. Further, though Swami Ramalingam had already realised the Truth-Consciousness in its own and proper Home above, and also within his own individual adhara or system, He now sees the vision of things to come, in the wake of the supramental Light coming to the earth universally and entering his heart as a centre for the play of manifestation of evolutionary life around. In his ‘Upadesha’, the Swami considered the heart as in Pinda Veli, the Subconscious.

It is seen thus that the Swami knew about the coming of the Truth-Light (Satya Joti which is verely the Vast Grace-Light இன்னருளாம் மெய்ச்சோதி) to settle on the earth and had the vision of its universal manifestation on the earth. In fact the Vast Grace-Light came to the earth but reached and entered into his heart and became one with the Love of his heart.

We would like to point out that the universal manifestation of the supramental Light was brought about by the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram in 1956 when She broke into pieces the golden door at the border of supermind,—the door which the Swami called “the collapsible door” of “Parapara Vel” (Joti Agaval stz 283 பரம்பர வெளியைப் பரபர வெளியில் அரம் தெற வகுத்த அருட்பெருஞ்சோதி). As a result, torrents of the supramental Light rushed in upon the earth, but when reaching the earth atmosphere, they were swallowed up by the huge waves of Inconscient darkness that rose up from the earth. The Mother announced that the Light had manifested universally in the subtle physical realm and, the Light so engulfed or swallowed, would work itself out from within the Inconscient to give its evolutionary result and, the earth-nature would respond in due course of time. We may say the response came in 1969 when the Superman Consciousness manifested by its direct infiltration into the Mother's body to help her in its transformation. We find that the Swami's Presence in the earth-nature in the form of dematerialised supramental consciousness is behind this response and is wholly identifiable with the said Superman Consciousness. However the fact remains that with the breaking of the said door there has been a continuous ingestion of Light from above into the subtle physical atmosphere of the earth. A day would come when the divine Light manifests itself outwardly in the physical or material nature of the earth.

Ignorance, lower mode of action and maya are gone away. The Siddhis of perfection full of the clarity of consciousness have come to me (naturally). The Vast Grace-Light has joined my heart of Love ”.

NOTE : These visions of the collective evolution of the earthly life in the foregoing stanzas are seen as manifestations of the Vast Grace-Light (or of the God of Vast Grace-Light) in the wake of its reaching and entering into the heart of the poet Swami Ramalingam (என்பால் அருட்பெருஞ்சோதியார் எய்தவே ; என்னுளத்து அருட்பெருஞ்சோதியார் எய்தவே ; சுத்த அருட்பெருஞ் சோதியார் தோன்றவே நலம் பெறும் அருட்பெருஞ்சோதியார் நண்ணவே.) It signifies also the heart of the Subconscient (as in the Vedic tradition) which is symbolical of the earth and its evolution. The Swami's heart of Love was fit to receive the Light for the Universal manifestation. See also Vol. I, Chapter VII under the sub-head “ Vision of the earthly evolution ”.

GENERAL NOTE : After the attainment of a triple deathless body (see poem Suddha Siva Nilai, 12-29), the Swami gets the Vision of the universal manifestation of the divine Light on the earth and its collective evolutionary fulfilment of the earthly life. According to the Swami (see Upadesha), the heart centre comes under “ Pinda Veli ” the Subconscient which is larger than Anda, the Cosmic. In the poem now under consideration, the Vast Grace-Light is said to come towards him, enter into his heart, get fixed therein and become one with the Love of his heart and at the same time it is seen to bring an evolutionary manifestation in the earthly life. Here the universal manifestation of the divine Light is referred to, not specifically by way of descent, but as a coming or a manifestation. In an earlier stanza (12-25-5), the Swami has observed that by and through him as an instrument, the Vast Grace-Light will progressively manifest for the benefit and joy of the whole world (Compare also with stzs. 12-29-33 to 35). In the "Keertans" also he feels the divine call upon him as a representative of the whole earth, nay, verily as the earth-nature itself (See "Enna Punyam", stz. 6). In these circumstances, his heart may be considered as a centre of universal play of the Divine for an evolutionary manifestation in the earthly life and matter. Though stzs. 3, 5, 7 and 8 of the poem refer to the manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light or rather of the God of Vast Grace-Light on the earth without referring to himself or his heart, It or He as the Vast Grace-Light finally enter into the Swami's heart of Love.

Further in all the stanzas of the poem, the Vast Grace-Light or rather the Supreme Being of the Vast Grace-Light is said to manifest bringing about the collective divine evolution of the earthly life in men, animals and plant-life, and in particular the higher states of growth in consciousness and nature of men to make them godly Men of Love and Devotion, of Knowledge and wisdom and, of Perfection of Nature and Body. Swami's Sanmarga movement is said to come into its own, excel and prevail over other ways of discipline only after or with the advent and manifestation of the divine Light. Elsewhere also the Swami has observed that it would come into its effective functioning or beginning only after the said manifestation. In stz. 6, the Swami also suggests the unity of the world and its government by its acceptance of the rule of Grace after the Manifestation. It is to be noted that in the above poem, the Swami refers to the manifestation of the divine Light, not as Grace-Light but as Vast Grace-Light or rather as the Supreme Being or God of the Vast Grace-Light. The Vast Grace-Light implies the Vastness of the Divine Light as from or as of the Vast Truth-World of Supermind. The Supreme Being of the Vast Grace-Light will necessarily bring about an integral Manifestation in the earthly evolution.

The gist of the poem may be summarised. The Vast Grace-Light is seen to manifest universally on the earth and it reaches the Swami and enters into his heart and becomes one with the Love of his heart—the heart which here represents the vast Subconscious realm. Some one on the earth has to receive the manifesting Light, lest it should withdraw. The Swami's heart had become a firm universal centre for the collective evolutionary manifestation and working of the universal Light on the earth. Unlike in "Joti Agaval" stzs. 167, 168, 99, 118 508, 509, 738 and 789 wherein it is said that the "Grace-Light" issued forth from within his heart to spread in the whole world and make it blossom (i.e. a collective action from his own right), here in this poem the collective or universal manifestation of the Divine is meant to take place by the reaching of the "Vast Grace-Light" into his heart of love. So the latter is connected with the universal manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light on the earth which makes his heart a universal centre for its collective play. The universal manifestation of the Light and the evolution of the earthly life in its wake, are revealed when the Vast Grace-Light reaches his heart, or we may say, reaches and touches a receiving centre on the earth. This proves that the Swami had a collective role to play for the universal manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light on the earth, apart from the individual cum collective action which he could happily bring about in his own right by the ever-present Grace-Light which issued forth from within his heart into the world and its life around. (Ibid Joti Agaval stanzas above said). However we like to point out that the "Grace-Light" which manifested in and through the Swami is directly connected with the "Vast Grace-Light" of the Vast Truth-World. In essence they are the same and integral too but differentiated only from a practical point of view as between individual and universal manifestations on the earth. Grace-Light can be possessed and manifested on the earth only by realising the Vast Grace-Light within and above in oneself.

NOTE : Here like the Vedic Rishis, who use the same terms in a plastic and facile manner adopting them according to the context and situation giving a greater or lesser significance to them, the Swami uses the term “ Para Veli ” here but with special qualifying words to indicate the Truth-World of Knowledge in the context. Ordinarily the term is used by the Swami to mean the space of Spiritual Mind.

“I now call you. O People! This is the time for the Unique Lord to come (to manifest)—the Unique Lord, the One who dances or plays dynamically in order to establish you in the divine Law and in the state shown by the Path of the Truth and the Good (Sanmarga). It is the opportune time for the Lord to come by Himself and openly manifest His Play of Grace (in the world, so as to be seen or recognised by the people at large) as happening on the public road. So do not be any more wandering at random aimlessly and helplessly in vain. It is not good for you to waste your energies and be ruined because of the pride of your separative consciousness which seeks since long time its devious satisfaction in the divisions of race and community, religions and philosophies, and in the disputes of allegiance to various Shastras or Books of Knowledge and in the quarrels due to social status of family and heredity”.

NOTE: The Swami assures the people that the supreme and universal Divine is coming, by Himself or by His Own Will, to the earth for directly and openly manifesting Himself and even outwardly by the plays of His Grace, as a public performance on the road (as it were) i. e. so as to be visibly seen, felt or recognised by one and all (12—33—1 and 12—29—46).

“O people of the earth, O gods of heavens, O beings of the other worlds. Do not be deceived in mind by giving importance to your life of existence as the real life. Consider real life as the life which conquers the affliction of death in the very field of Darkness மையகம் (i. e. the inconscient material world which has arisen from the dark void or ocean of the Inconscient இருட்பெரும் கார் அள்ளற் கடல்). Aspiring for it in your true inner being, come here to get it, as this is the time in which my Father, the supreme Being, is manifesting the play of His Siddhis in the developing red-soiled township செய் அகம் of Jnana Siddhipuram, the Home of Knowledge and Perfection (i. e. Vadalur where the Swami lived in his last years of life)”.

NOTE : According to Sri Aurobindo and the traditional spiritual literature, even gods of the vital, mental and overmental heavens who are only typal beings without the soul-principle but each with fixed and high qualities and powers in their respective worlds or heavens have to come down and take human birth on the earth in order to have and possess the evolving soul-principle as in man and thereby evolve to become one with the Divine and manifest the divinities in fullness. According to the Swami, the full glory of divinity will be attained with the attainment of a perfect deathless body here on the earth.

NOTE: The last line possibly is a forecasting of the manifestation of the divine Lord at the Swami's place to embrace him in body as hinted in stz. 12-44-53 i.e. for the dematerialising of his deathless body.

"Come here quickly, more quickly, O people! I speak the truth. Do not mistake me. This is the time for the Lord, the all-achieving omnipotent God of perfect Knowledge-Play (i. e. the Lord of Perfect Will of Knowledge and action, Siddhan) to come to the earth by Himself by a pre-determined plan for manifesting the play of perfect and miraculous actions in Knowledge such as resurrecting the dead into bodily life and enabling even the old with shrunken skin and disability to become transformed into youth. O men! Seek within, in all joy, the God of Compassion with moved feelings of love in your melting heart and with eyes flowing tears of joy".

NOTE : The Swami assures the people that the all-fulfilling supreme Divine is coming here by Himself or out of His Own pre-determined Will.

“Though the unfailing schools of Vedanta, Siddhanta, etc. have surely realised, each separately their respective truths, pointed out by them, yet the integral and eternal Divine (Nitya Paripoorana) who pervades everywhere with His Being and dynamically plays (i. e. as the universal All-Existent) in the eternal Cit Sabha is too difficult for them to realise—He is the Gem of Diamond over the summit of Mind (Citta sikhā mani), the rarest Ambrosia, the Supreme Lord, Soul of my soul, the Indweller of my soul, the Treasure of Compassion, the Supreme State which has given me all the Siddhis (of Knowledge and Perfection). O men of the world! Remember and praise Him (in devotion and gratitude), rejecting all that is wrong in nature”.

NOTE: The traditional schools of Vedanta, Siddhanta and other philosophical disciplines which realise without fail their respective truths in the realms below Supermind (i. e. in the spiritual overmind-gnosis at the highest, or in the lesser levels of spiritual Mind) fail to attain the integral supramental Divine of the Cit Sabha.

In the keertan “Jnana Marundu”, the Swami observes that the goals of all the six traditional schools come under and below the range of overmind gnosis of the twelfth centre (stz. 31).

“Due to the dynamic play of the divine Light in the high-seated Tiru Ambalam, the divine Supermind or Sky of Knowledge, Parā Shakti (the cosmic overmental Maha Shakti) has under the Time-movement worked or operated in and upon the rich and sovereign seed or egg of the five principles (i.e. the involved and hidden rich store of the seed-state of the five elements representing the five essential principles) and as a result all the substances of tatvas, the principles and powers of existence, have mutually entered into permuted combinations but under an ignorant mode or stress of working or interaction of nada and bindu (sound and light, and also perhaps in a physiological sense, ovule and sperm, shronita and shukla) and have arranged themselves into three-parts—a base or bottom, a middle and a top or end—bringing forth three kinds of existence namely a solid supporting base of the physical matter and body, the energy of life energising and acting in and upon the physical, and the manifesting growth of consciousness of knowledge (i.e. mind). Who can speak really of the glory of the Will of the divine Lord playing in Tiru Ambalam?. Is it ever possible for a humble being like me to tell about it?”.

(Tiruvadip Perumai 12—37—43).

NOTE : (1) The physical matter and body as the base, life-force as the middle and consciousness of knowledge i.e. mental consciousness as the top have manifested in an evolutionary order of earthly existence. In Joti Agaval poem this order is referred to as udal, uyir and arivu—body, life and consciousness (of mind) in stzs. 554 and 763.

(2) Nada and bindu here may mean the being and becoming in nature, the purusha and shakti aspects of existence common to both the male and the female. In his Upadesha, the Swami has explained the higher significance and relationship of nada and bindu. Bindu is Anma the soul, Nada is Paramanma the self. Bindu has its seat in the Poorva (i. e. in the ajna), nada in the utara (i. e. in the sabasara). When bindu joins nada, bindu becomes the Shakti and nada the Sivam (Truth of the being). Again as between bindu and tatvas the principles of existence, bindu becomes shaktan (or shaktiman, the purusha) and tatvas the shaktis of becoming in nature. Tirumoolar observes in TM 619 that when soul and self (bindu and nada) ascend in the central column (Meru) and join in an absorbed concentration (Sama-thi), the essence of the eternal supramental Truth-Consciousness is realised along with the beautiful Light (Sundara Joti). Meru may be taken as the highest summit where soul and self join.

(3) The said five elements and their corresponding essential principles are indicated in Joti Agaval stzs. 179 to 183. It is said that the expansive akasa (ether) is measured and derived from Sivam the Being of Existence (Sat), air or gaseous state from Shakti the Consciousness-Force, earth from the pure golden state (i. e. the golden Truth-World of Supermind); fire is said to be the middle state in the five elements and water as nourishing with its waves. Tapas or Conscious Force is represented by fire, and Ananda by water, the rasa.

“The Mountain of Light has become the Swarupa of Light (i. e. the Light of the Supreme Being) in one head, and Swarupa of Jnana (i. e. Knowledge or Light of Knowledge) as another head which is contained within the by Swarupa of Light or Light of said the Supreme Being, and has become biune (i. e. Light of Supreme Being—Knowledge or Light of Knowledge) in the said other head, and has given the triune principle (i. e. Sat Cit Ananda) to the five seed and plays in the Sky of Knowledge (Ambalam) as the Form of Bliss which has neither beginning nor middle nor end. O maid-friend ! Who can know the greatness of the biune Feet of the Divine which Brahma, Vishnu and Rudra do not comprehend...? ”

NOTE : The first three lines of the stanza may be rendered also thus :

“ The Mountain-Light has become biune with one head as Swarupa of Light (i. e. Light of the Supreme Being) and another head as Swarupa of Jnana (i. e. Knowledge or Light of Knowledge) within which is the said Swarupa of the Light of the Supreme Being ”.

NOTE : The high-seated divine Light (Mountain of Light, i. e. the supramental Light) has become the biune State, as the Light of the Supreme Being within the Light of the Supreme Knowledge, i. e. It has become Tat Joti—Cit Joti or, Tat Param Joti—Cit Param Joti. In short, It has become Joti yut Joti, Light within Light.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages :

“ In the plane of the gnosis the infinite is at once our normal consciousness of being, its first act, our sensible substance. It is very concretely to us there the foundation from which everything finite forms itself and its boundless incalculable forces are the origination of all our thought, will and delight. But this infinite is not only an infinite of pervasion or of extension in which everything forms and happens. Behind that immeasurable extension the gnostic consciousness is always aware of a spaceless inner infinite. It is through this double infinite that we shall arrive at the essential being of Sachchidananda, the highest self of our own being and the totality of our cosmic existence... For even this sense of the infinite is only a first foundation and much more has to be done before the consciousness can become dynamically gnostic. For the supramental knowledge is the play of a supreme Light...But to command or wholly possess it we must first enter into and become the being of the supreme light, our consciousness must be transformed into that consciousness, its principle and power of self-awareness and all-awareness by identity must be the very stuff of our existence ” (THE SYNTHESIS OF YOGA, p. 561 to 562).

“ The last step of the ascension would be the surpassing of Overmind itself or its return into its own still greater origin, its conversion into the supramental light of the Divine Gnosis. For there in the supramental Light is the seat of the Divine Truth-Consciousness that has native in it the power to organise the works of a Truth ” (THE SYNTHESIS OF YOGA, p. 168 ; 1955 Edition).

Compare with Tirumoolar's Tirumantram :

“ The Supreme and immortal Light of the Supreme Reality (Tat Param) and the Consciousness-Force (Cit Param) which by its Knowledge self-creates the Universe, enter into the ineffable supreme and ancient Void as the beautiful Light. There is no comparison of it here ”.

NOTE : The supreme Void is the spaceless infinite which contains the supramental space or sky. The beautiful Light is the supramental Light developed in the supreme Void by the Supreme Light of the Being and by the supreme Knowledge of the Consciousness-Force of the divine Shakti (i. e. by Tatpara Joti and Cit Para Bodha)

“ By a definite measured movement of consciousness one shall enter into the consciousness of Turya the pure Transcendence (i. e. without crossing over into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka beyond). His soul of heart being universalised shall enjoy the true universal Heaven (Param Jagam). But without stopping at it, he shall, in addition, get poised in the supreme Being of the said manifest Heaven (Param Sivam). If he attains this state, he is said to have become the supreme spaceless infinity of the supreme Being or Existence (Vetta Veli which contains the manifest universal Heaven or Space) ” TM 2591.

NOTE : We have already seen above that to command and wholly possess the supermind one shall, according to Sri Aurobindo, enter into the supreme Being of the Heaven of supramental Light. One has to possess or become the spaceless infinite which contains the space infinite, the Heaven of Truth. See also Tirumoolar's mantras 2448, 2449, and 124. Thus, one shall possess not only the universal Lord or Heaven (பரன் அறிவே பரம்) but also the supreme Divine or the spaceless infinite Existence (பரம் சிவம்).

Also compare with Tirumoolar Tirumantram TM : 2670, 2770 & 2835 which make a mention of the “ Light within the beautiful Light as the source of the soul which abides in the depth of Ajna ” (i. e. the Supreme Sky of Knowledge) ” இலாடத்தின் மூலத்தே சுந்தர சோதியுட் சோதியுமாமே, and the infinite and eternal Swarupa (of the one indivisible Satcitananda) within the equal Swarupa (i. e. equally self-extended Swarupa of the triune Satcitananda in the universal manifestation) in that rare Transcendence difficult to reach ” நிரவு சொருபத்துன் நீஞ்சொருபம் அரிய துரியத்து.

We give below more passages from Sri Aurobindo :

“ In the gnosis Sachchidananda gathers up the light of his unseizable existence and pours it out on the soul in the shape and power of a divine knowledge, a divine will and a divine bliss of existence. It is as if infinite light were gathered up into the compact orb of the sun and lavished on all that depends upon the sun in radiances that continue for ever. But the gnosis is not only light, it is force ; it is creative knowledge, it is the self-effective truth of the divine capital Idea. This idea is not creative imagination, not something that constructs in void but light and power of eternal substance, truth-light full of truth-force ; and it brings out what is latent in being, it does not create a fiction that never was in being. The ideation of the gnosis is radiating light-stuff of the consciousness of the eternal Existence ; each ray is a truth. The will in the gnosis is a conscious force of eternal knowledge ; it throws the consciousness and substance of being into infallible forms of truth-power, forms that embody the idea and make it faultlessly effective, and it works out each truth-power and each truth-form spontaneously and rightly according to its nature. Because it carries this creative force of the divine idea, the Sun, the Lord and symbol of the gnosis, is described in the Veda as the Light which is father of all things, Surya Savitri, the Wisdom-Luminous who is the bringer-out into manifest existence. This creation is inspired by the divine delight, the eternal Ananda ; it is full of the joy of its own truth and power, it creates in bliss, creates out of bliss, creates that which is blissful ” (THE SYNTHESIS OF YOGA, p. 553-554).

“ All supramental gnosis is a twofold Truth-Consciousness, a consciousness of inherent self-knowledge and, by identity of self and world, of intimate world-knowledge ; this knowledge is the criterion, the characteristic power of the gnosis. But this is not a purely ideative knowledge, it is not consciousness observing, forming ideas, trying to carry them out ; it is an essential light of consciousness the self-light of all the realities of being and becoming, the self-truth of being determining, formulating and effectuating itself ” — THE LIFE DIVINE. p. 895.

See also the stanzas of poem 11—21; stz. 2, 6 and 8 of poem 11—17; stz. 5 of poem 11—18; and stz. 54 of poem 12—42; stz. 3 (1) of poem 11—40.

FURTHER NOTE: The “Mup Porul” referred to in the above stanza (12—37—44) is the manifestation of the triune Satcitananda in the Comprehending Supermind where there is no differentiation at all.

The “five seed” referred to in the stanza may possibly denote the differentiated five principles of Sat, Cit, Tapas, Ananda and the all-comprehending Knowledge (i. e. Gnosis) in the apprehending Supermind where they are held in the unity of the Divine as in His subjective-objective pole of manifestation and each becomes the frontal effective Deity containing the others involved or explicit in itself and encompassing all the worlds, beings and things. In the first stage of transition into the Cosmic Knowledge-Ignorance they become as the Sat Overmind, Cit Overmind, Tapo overmind, Ananda overmind and Gnostic overmind. At the lowest end of terrestrial manifestation they represent the five elements.

Compare Sri Aurobindo's following passage in LIFE DIVINE :

“But in Supermind all being is consciousness, all consciousness is of being, and the idea, a pregnant vibration of consciousness, is equally a vibration of being pregnant of itself; it is an initial coming out, in creative self-Knowledge, of that which lay concentrated in uncreative self-awareness. It comes out as the Idea that is a reality, and it is that reality of the idea which evolves itself, always by its own power and consciousness of itself, always self-conscious, always self-developing by the will inherent in the idea, always self-realising by the knowledge ingrained in its very impulsion. This is the truth of all creation, of all evolution”—LIFE DIVINE, p. 121.

“Supermind is the vast self-extension of the Brahman that contains and develops, By the Idea it develops the triune principle of existence, consciousness and bliss out of their indivisible unity. It differentiates them, but it does not divide. It establishes a Trinity, not arriving like the Mind from the three to the One, but manifesting the three out of the One—for it manifests and develops—and yet manifesting them in the unity—for it knows and contains. By the differentiation it is able to bring forward one or other of them as the effective Deity which contains the others involved or explicit in itself and this process it makes the foundation of all other differentiations”—LIFE DIVINE, p. 120.

A GIRL'S DISCLOSURE TO HER MOTHER ON THE LORD'S PLAY.

Stz. 10 Mother ! When my whole consciousness was enraptured with the supreme Bliss of Truth-knowledge in the Truth-world, the supreme and universal Lord of Bliss playing in the Truth-world said to me. "O girl! you are verily great, you have ascended to and realised this great State (the great Truth-world)". So saying He caught hold of my hand

Stz. 9 The Lord said into me. " You have rejected the desires within, internally. But be free externally in body. It is deathless". So saying, He caught hold of my hand....

Stz. 8 The Lord said, " Do not think, O girl! that you are having one beautiful body only ! I have joined My Body with yours and I now have a biune or double body here on the earth ". So saying, He caught hold of my hand.

NOTE : The above songs are addressed by a girl-devotee of the Lord to her human mother in regard to the Lord's play with her catching hold of her hand, implying union with her also in the outermost level of her being, and the resulting transformation of her body which becomes a biune body of the Lord on the earth. The swami indicates the nature of his transformed divine body by and through this poem'

 மிகு களிப்புற்றனள் வியந்தே.

“The Lord of the World of Diamond Light of Knowledge who is verily the Grace-Light is seated in my heart. He has fused Himself in me, in my soul, inseparably like milk and its sweet taste. He has given me the power to make any and every world blossom and prosper to its rich evolutionary growth of life and I am given too a deathless (bodily) existence for all time.”—So spoke my daughter in delight, appreciating the Lord's gifts to her.

NOTE : By the above said two stanzas, the Swami indicates that his transformed deathless physical body and its powers are connected with the blossoming or progressive evolutionary growth of the life of the earthly world and of the other worlds. His deathless body is said to have the power to evolve the earthly life collectively.

See also the songs of his early aspiration to realise Grace-Light and deathless body in order to bring unity and joy to the whole world by his Love and wonderful Acts of Grace (11—40—29 ; 11—1—28).

The Swami felt himself to be the beloved of the Lord, nay as His bride. So he expressed these gifts of the Lord in a poetic style by which he made these expressions through the mouth of a bridal daughter who reveals them to her mother who in turn narrates them to her foster-mother.

“O maid-friend! Can It (the Supreme state மேனிலை see stanza 12) be a state of Mauna of silence beyond speech? But there are seven planes of Mauna of silence (i.e. the plane of spiritualised mind at Ajna, the three planes of spiritual Mind namely Higher Mind, Illumined Mind and Intuitive Mind, and the three planes of Overmind namely selective overmind, global overmind and summit overmind; see Vol I. Charts 4, 4A & 4B) which get absorbed or contained (i.e. held) in Parāpara (the gnostic and/or Ananda Overmind). Can It then be the pure Parāpara? But Parāpara too melts into and joins a mid-plane (Nadu Veli, i.e. Cit-tapo overmind). Can It then be that high mid-plane? But that mid-plane too joins in Tat Paramām Veli (i.e. Sat Overmind the highest of summit overmind). Can It be then this Tat Paramam Veli? But this Tat Paramām Veli is contained in Peru Veli (the Vast Heaven of Truth-Knowledge, i.e. the Supermind). Only upto this, one can to some extent measure out. Beyond that it is not possible to measure out; not at all possible".

NOTE: The summit overmind range is comprised of five planes which are named in their ascending order as gnostic, ananda, tapas, cit and sat overmind. They are classified into three levels in the above stanza, namely Parāpara Veli, Nadu Veli (the middle) and Tat Paramām Veli. Beyond them is Peru Veli the Vast Supermind.

ANUBHAVA MĀLAI

(Supreme Realisation & Perfection)

In this poem Swami Ramalingam gives a narrative of his highest realisation of the Truth-Consciousness and transformation of his physical body into its deathless state but he narrates it as the resulting experiences of a supreme Love between the Lover and the Beloved Lord. In the background of the Indian spiritual tradition of songs of Love, the Lover is the human soul represented as a lady devoted in love to the Supreme Lord, and the Beloved is the Supreme Lord Himself represented as “her” divine Husband. This is a pure state of supreme Love without any mixture of any lower desire much less of sex. In an embracing union with the divine Lord in Samarasa Sam-marga Sabha the third poise or session of the Truth-World of Knowledge, the Lord by His embrace imparts deathlessness to the body of the Lover. Even the Lover’s body becomes of the nature of the golden Body of the Beloved Lord (see stanzas 94, 95). Stz. 41 refers even to the sexless nature of one who has the realisation of the Truth-Consciousness and the transformation of one’s nature into its perfection.

“ O maid-friend ! my whole body emits Smell of Camphor. That Smell is due to my embracing of the divine body of the Lord. It will not vanish or go away like the smell of the phenomenal elements. There is a true natural Smell in the mould or body of the Divine Lord who is in the all-pervading Transcendence (இயற்கை மணம் துரிய நிறை இறை வடிவத்துளதே).

The people of the world do not know the Golden Flower and the fragrant Smell of the Divine Lord of Purity and Virtue. The experience is verily the result of union with the Divine Body of the Lord. O maid-friend! I saw the whole divine body of the Lord smeared with divine ashes, I embraced or united with it. Verily I became the divine Body itself" (i. e. My body and the Divine Body embraced in union and as a result my body became That of the Divine Lord).

NOTE: (a) This experience may be taken to have arisen in the tertiary poise of supermind called Tiru(ch) Sabhai which is indicated in the next stanza.

(b) The Lord's body smeared with ashes need not necessarily and exclusively refer to the body of Siva, one of the three godheads, as is seen in temples, The poem does not particularise. However, the experiencer in the Truth-World of Knowledge may have a particular turn of experience. The supreme Divine may take a personal form of a particular kind.

“When I express the good blessing or boon of my unique Lord with whom I am united, my mind becomes verily a mind of darting Light (i. e. a mind darting forth the Light) and having its existence—shall I say it to be, over and above the head of the godheads who have attained a living abode in the high realm of the great golden Mountain (i. e. above overmind gnosis, in the golden supermind), or beneath the Shade of the Feet of the supreme and universal Divine who plays in Por Sabha and Cit Sabha, the golden session and the supreme session of Truth-Knowledge (i. e. apprehending and comprehending Supermind). O maid-friend wearing blossomed flowers in the coiled and dressed up hair! Who can speak of the greatness of my mind which has reached and united with my Lord?”

NOTE : The mind of darting Light seems to indicate the “Mind of Light” spoken of by Sri Aurobindo with reference to the transformation of physical mind. References by the Mother and Sri Aurobindo are quoted below :

1) “As soon as Sri Aurobindo withdrew from his body, what he had called the Mind of Light got realised here .

The Supermind had descended long ago—very long ago—in the mind and even in the vital; it was working in the physical also but indirectly through these intermediaries. The question now was about the direct action of the supermind in the physical. Sri Aurobindo said it could be possible only if the physical mind received the supramental light: the physical mind was the instrument for direct action upon the most material. The physical mind receiving the supramental light Sri Aurobindo called the Mind of Light” (MOTHER’S WORDS ON SRI AUROBINDO SPOKEN IN 1953).

2) “A mind of light, a life of rhythmic force, A body instinct with hidden divinity prepared an image of the coming God”

(SAVITRI, Bk IV—cto I, p. 406).

3) “What we have called specifically the Mind of Light is indeed the last of a series of descending planes of consciousness in which the Supermind veils itself by a self-chosen limitation or modification of its self-manifesting activities, but its essential character remains the same ... we have not yet crossed over the border of the truth-consciousness into ignorance ... we have passed into Mind but mind has still not broken its inherent contact with the Supramental principle.... In the order of the evolutionary descent we stand in the Mind of Light on that border and a step downward can carry us beyond it into the beginning of an ignorance which still bears on its face something of the luminosity that it is leaving behind. On the other hand, in the ascending order of the evolution we reach a transition in which we see the Light, are turned towards it, reflected in our consciousness and one further step carries us into the domain of the Light. The Truth become visible and audible to us and we are in immediate communication with its messages and illuminations and can grow into it and be made one with its substance. Thus, there is a succession of ranges of consciousness which we can speak of as Mind but which belongs practically to the higher hemisphere although in their ontological status they are within the domain of the lower hemisphere"— Sri Aurobindo's "Supramental Manifestation", page 131—132, 134.

How can I express in words the nature of the golden bracelet which is invaluable and excels in the richness of its possession both earth and heaven"?

NOTE : The Hall of Moon-Light of Bliss in the Pure Transcendental Truth-World would indicate the tertiary supermind.

Other shades or colour lights may be similarly manifested from the golden Light or mixed with it as golden green, golden red and so on. (See 11-28-4 and 5; 11-36-60, 61 and 96. “O maid-friend! Do not consider my Nature to be like that of others, nor think that I am telling you so in pride (of my Nature). I make a discriminative distinction (of my Nature). Except the absorbing interest in and for my Lord, I have no other interest. All persons whether associates or others, all things and possessions, my soul in concentration, my body, my consciousness, the happiness and joy and well being that results by the consciousness of my being—(i.e. all and everything) have their existence and foundation in Tirucittambalam, the divine world of Truth-Consciousness (i.e. my interest in them is also founded there). I am neither female nor male nor of neutral sex (i.e. in regard to my Nature including the nature of my body). Take me to be so”.

NOTE: In this stanza the Swami points out not only the sexless nature of his being the soul within, but also of his bodily nature, because he has the supreme realisation of Truth-Consciousness and transformation into the perfect divine Nature. In stz 25 he speaks of the universal Lord notonlyashis Beloved, but as supreme Mother and Father.

The Mother, Sri Aurobindo Ashram, recently saw the sexless supramental physical being of a girl of the Ashram. The Mother Herself refers to Her sexless body (in the subtle physical) which cannot be called either as of man or as of woman (See Bulletin, August 1970, p. 97—99 and Bulletin August 1972, p. 75—77).

“My Tapas in this great world is verily great. I was lifted up into the faultlessly pure and beautiful Heaven and There I stood seeing the indescribable Play of the divine Lord of Knowledge,—the play of the harmonious Knowledge of Yoganta, the play of Knowledge of the divine or pure Kalanta, the play of Knowledge of the divine or pure Nadanta, the undiminishing play of Knowledge of the great Bodhanta—whereas the great godheads of Vyoma (i. e., of the sky of overmind), and rulers of Bhuvana (s), Anda(s) and Bahiranda(s) (the various gradations of spaces and worlds below) and the rulers of this world stood in wonder with eyes wide open and waiting at the foot-step of the beautiful gate of that beautiful and divine Heaven. “O my lady-friend! How can I speak about the vision that I had afterwards. It is beyond the comprehension of thought and understanding, nor can it be described. I saw (in vision) the Play of pure Siddhanta by Love, and the play of pure Vedanta in the World of Light itself (i. e., the World of Truth-Light) which has neither beginning nor middle nor end and which has become blissfully One, Two, and a state which is neither one nor two (i. e., a state in between One and Two, as the state of one-in-one and two-in-one, referring to the comprehending and apprehending poises of (the Truth-World) and has become the omnipotent all-effectuating Power of Knowledge and saw (by vision) even the unique and supreme play of absolute integrality or harmony (Samarasa Pēr Anta Tani Natam) in the summit of Truth-World which is beyond the self-becoming Heaven (Tan or Tat Paramāṁ Param, i. e., comprehending session of the Truth-World) and which is the supreme Bliss of the Truth-World of equal self-extension”.

NOTE: The above stanza 65 refers to a vision of the Truth-World in its higher or greater sessions, but as seen from and in the ascending levels of the very Truth-World itself. Stz. 96 refers to a realisation proper of the Truth-World in its respective sessions or planes. In this stanza 65, the pure Siddhanta Natam and the pure Vedanta Natam respectively refer to the divine plays of knowledge in the apprehending and comprehending sessions; and Samarasa Pēr Anta Tani Natam to the play of the Divine in the Summit session of the Truth-World as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above. Vide notes under the stanza 12--20--2.

As the word "Two" is sandwiched between the words "one" and "the state which is neither one nor two", it signifies here the tertiary supermind.

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's words :

"In the Gnosis (i.e. Supermind) He (the Purusha) is biune with Her Nature)... In the tops of the gnosis and in the Ananda He is one with the Prakriti and no longer solely biune with Her..." (SYNTHESIS OF YOGA, p. 581).

"To be one in bliss with the transcendent and universal spirit (i.e. in the Ananda Loka) is for the soul to be that and nothing else" (SYNTHESIS OF YOGA, p. 577).

"If we go back to the spiritual basis of things, substance in its utter purity resolves itself into pure conscious being, self-existent, inherently self-aware by identity, but not yet turning its consciousness upon itself as object. Supermind preserves this self-awareness by identity as its substance of self-knowledge and its light of self-creation, but for that creation presents Being to itself as the subject-object one and multiple of its own active consciousness. Being as object is held there in a supreme knowledge which can, by comprehension, see it both as an object of cognition within itself and subjectively as itself but can also and simultaneously by apprehension, project it as an object (or objects) of cognition within the circumference of its consciousness, not other than itself, part of its being, but a part (or parts) put away from itself—that is to say, from the centre of vision in which Being concentrates itself as the Knower, Witness or Purusha" (Life Divine, p. 218).

“ When I embraced the shoulder of the divine omnipotent universal Lord who is the Soul of my soul, it was the uniquely rapturous state of Siva Jāgrata (i.e. in the Selective Overmind of the tenth level of experience). Do not mistake it for the Para Jāgrata state (i.e. the Spiritual Higher Mind of the seventh level), but rather It contains and includes the Para Jāgrata state. Thus embracing and, after transcending the two other succeeding states (i.e. Siva Swapna and Siva Susupti of the eleventh and twelfth levels of experience), I reached the high Guru Turya state of great luminosity ”.

In this stanza shoulders (Tirut Thōll திருத்தோள்) of the divine Lord are symbolically referred to as the state of overmind. In the next stanza, body of the Divine Lord (Tiru mēni திருமேனி as the tertiary state of Supermind. We have already seen that the divine Feet (Tiru Vadi திருவடி) is associated with the apprehending supermind; and the divine Nature (Iyarkai Tiru Vanṇam இயற்கைத் திருவண்ணம்) with the comprehending poise of Truth-Consciousness. This order of the shoulders (or arms), body and feet may correspond with the order of their respective importance in movements of dance particularly when we remember form of the Dance of the Divine Lord, Nataraja. The inmost Will of Play of the Dancer is His Supreme Nature of the Comprehending Supermind. Guru Turya is the state of transition into the threshold of the Supramental Vastness (Peru Veli) which can lead further into the Supermind Proper in its three poises or sessions (Suddha Siva states)— See closing items 1 to 3 of Ch. V “ Karanateeta Lokas” under S. No. 109.

“ When I embraced the unique form of body of my beloved Lord, in the highly praised state called by the realised souls as “Suddha Siva Jāgrata” (i.e. the tertiary poise of Supermind), I became a form of body of Light and Bliss, and experienced the unmodified and true nature of Bliss of the Divine in an unitingcontact and oneness of Truth-Form and Truth-sense (உருச்சுவை கலந்தே அதுவாய்த் தேன் கலந்த சுவையொடு நன் மணி கலந்த ஒளியாய்த் திரிபின்றி இயற்கை இன்பச் சிவம் கலந்த நிலையே)

This Bliss has the sense of sweetness as of honey and form of luminosity as that of the light of precious gem. Transcending further three other states (i.e. Suddha Siva Swapna, Susupti and Turya) I attained the last, "Jagrateea" (i.e. Suddha Siva Turya Ateeta). O maid-friend, know it in distinction".

NOTE: The said Suddha Siva Jagrata is the thirteenth (13th) level of experience in the gradations of Ascent. The three other states are Suddha Siva swapna, susupti and turya. They are indicated in the stanza of "Anubhava Malai" (12—42—96). They are the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth (14th, 15th and 16th) levels of experience. See chart nos 4 A and 4 B.

"O my lady-friend, hear me. When He, the Lord of Beauty playing in the Truth-Sky of Knowledge, the omnipotent Will, the possessor of Grace, and the possessor of my whole being, embraces me, the Night of darkness cannot enter into me. If you want to know the reason, I shall tell you as to why the darkness of night cannot approach me in the hour of the embracing union. The Light of the Body of my supreme Lord of Knowledge not only illumines and fills the worlds beginning from the earth up to the realm of Nada, but reaches into the realm of Paranada where Grace is received and transcends it beyond into Paranadanta or Guru Turya' which is a first "State of Grace" and transcends beyond², and transcends farther beyond³, pervading (all the worlds and spaces) within and without".

“ I realised the respective Truths, each separately, of the disciplines of charya, kriya and yoga each of which has four steps. By the guiding Grace-Light I realised also separately each of the four steps or truths of the well-deserved Siva Jnana (i.e. the discipline of Jnana which comes after the said yoga) and attained the high (psychic and spiritual) State of Truth. I realised the rare truths of the six schools such as Siva Siddhanta and Vedanta etc. (the other schools being those of Bodhanta, Kalanta, Yoganta and Nadanta). Beyond these I attained Samarasa Sanmarga State (i. e. the supreme state of integral Harmony and Truth) by realising the Truth of the Great Sivam (i.e. the supreme and universal Divine of the Truth-World as in summit supermind opening into eternal Ananda beyond) and I have become here deathless in and of the physical body. O my lady-friend, understand it thus ”.

NOTE : A more proper line of interpretation would regard Siva Jnana states as the psychic (See p 282-283, 313; Siva Siddhanta etc., as the spiritual mental and overmental truths of the traditional six schools; Great sivam as the Suddha Siva State of Supermind where the supramental truths of the pure six schools (suddha antos) are realised (see p 307) and where in its summit the absolute Samarasa of integral harmony is also realised to attain a deathless body.

“O my lady-friend! After realising the (three) “Para” states of waking, dreaming and sleeping (i.e. Higher Mind, Illumined Mind and Intuitive Mind in the range of Spiritual Mind—Para Jagrata, Para Swapna and Para Susupti), and the (three) Guru Brahma States (or Guru or Siva states) of waking, dreaming and sleeping (i.e. Selective Overmind, Global Overmind and Overmind Gnosis in the range of Spiritual Overmind—Guru Brahma Jagrata, Guru Brahma Swapna and Guru Brahma Susupti, or Siva Jagrata, Siva Swapna and Siva Susupti), I realised “Guru Turya” state, (i.e. Siva Turya, a state of Grace or Arul Nilai, the state of transition into the Vastness of the Truth-World). I joined the State of Samarasa Sanmarga (i.e. here in its lower level called Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha or tertiary supermind). In that realm of Harmony and Truth (Samarasa Sanmarga)—which is in Podu, the world of equal self-extension (i.e. the equable Truth-World)—where the Lord, my Beloved Husband playing the dance of Grace, embraced me and by His embrace I got His mould of body blissfully. I live on the fulness of a blissful life without resistance or opposition’

NOTE: The lower Supermind is the realm or session where all Paths of Spiritual disciplines in their highest purity harmonise. This is called by the Swami as Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha or Adi Nilai the lower state அடிநிலை in the world of Knowledge. It signifies the lower reach of Por Sabha the Apprehending Supermind, its lower reach being the tertiary supermind where the Lord’s embrace transforms the Swami’s body. This is the thirteenth level of experience called in the opening line of the next stanza as “Suddha Siva Jagrata”

The nature of the above plane is described in another stanza of the same poem 12—42—75. This is the thirteenth level of experience which opens into a first level of Supermind from the view point of ascent, but called by Sri Aurobindo as the third or tertiary poise of Supermind from the view-point of the descending gradations of the Supermind. This is the poise of the play of relations between the individual Divine (i.e. the soul and self of the Individual) and the transcendent and universal Divine (the Supramental Ishwara) “in a sort of fundamental blissful dualism in Unity”. See Volume I, Ch. III, Part I—SR & SA Passages on the thirteenth level of experience. See also charts 3 and 4 under Chapter III, Part II.

“ I remained uniquely apart from Him in the state of “Suddha Siva Jagrata” (the tertiary poise of supermind). I reached and joined Him in the state of “Suddha Siva Swapna” (i. e. I as an individual self and soul moved unto Him and joined Him in the second poise or the apprehending supermind) and I became blissfully ripened in the state of “Suddha Siva Susupti” (i. e. I became ripened in Him in the apprehending poise of supermind where and when my soul and self became united in the Lord as Myself-Himself i. e. in Him I became Himself and He became Myself or in other words He became Myself and I became Himself, — a poise of self-issuing and self-returning தானாகித் தானாகி). I became one in self-identity with Him in the state of “Suddha Siva Turya” (i.e. in the Comprehending or first poise of supermind where and when I became wholly as Himself, the universal All-Existence without anything else to confront; this state corresponds to the sixteenth level in the ascending gradations). In the state of “Suddha Siva turyateeta” I became absolutely identified with the Infinite and eternal Sivam, the Satcitananda சிவமயமாய் நிறைந்தேன் which is beyond birth, beyond the Universes of All-existence and yet has become the All (i.e. this particularly refers to the summit supermind as opening into eternal Ananda Loka above and, also generally to the worlds of Satcitananda beyond). O maid-friend! I have realised all these gifts because I had realised the blissful Divine of Cit Sabha at first in my soul (Cit Sabha in its lesser and derived significance means the soul's space or sky, either at the heart centre or at the Ajna centre as the case may be, where the soul and the Divine in the soul are usually realised as the first step of experience which makes it possible to ascend into the Cit Sabha proper in the last stage). I live on blissfully ”.

NOTE: See Charts 4A and 4B in Chapter III, Part II in Vol. I and the connected passages of SR and SA on the 13th to 17th levels of experience in Ch. III, Part I. Cit Sabha of the soul in the heart or the ajna is derived from Cit Sabha proper (the Comprehending Supermind), otherwise called Suddha Cit Sabha or Suddha Jnana Sabha.

“ When I embraced the beautiful golden body of the God of Grace-Light who is my Lord-Husband in love with me, all the tatvas of Darkness became dissipated and dissolved away and there pervaded everywhere the infinite Light. When He embraced me There, clearing off the forces of Obscurity and Ignorance, I became Sivanandamaya, i.e. I became of the nature of the infinite and eternal Bliss of Satcitananda. I have verily entered into that high and divine session of Samarasa Sanmargha Sabha (i.e. the tertiary poise of Truth-World a field of the unity of objective mutuality) and remained together with my Divine Lord-Husband (in a close embracing union)”.

NOTE: Tiru(ch) Sabha or Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha refers to the tertiary poise of Supermind where one embraces the body (Tiru mēni) of the divine Lord. Here in the context, tatvas of Darkness refer to the tatvas of physical material body also. In this stanza the mutual bodily embrace of the Swami with the Lord, and of the Lord with the Swami, is clearly mentioned to take place in Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha the tertiary supermind.

“ When my Lord-Husband embraced me in union in the outer level of my being it was the occasion when I ate or enjoyed fresh amrita of bliss and became filled up with it. But how to describe the bliss of union in the inner level which He effected in an unique subjective consciousness. ? It is not an objective birth-giving sense-experience to describe easily Pure, divine, infinite and integral Satcitananda (Suddha Sivananda Perum Bhoga) flooded everywhere for my supreme enjoyment, when in a consciousness ever-awake without the least forgetfulness I became It, It became Myself. It was an integral state of Cin Maya Tan Maya, i.e. a state of self-being and self-becoming by self-identity ”.

NOTE: In this and the preceding stanza, it is seen that the Bliss of an embracing union with the Lord in the outer level (i.e., in the tertiary poise of Supermind) can lead to or become an occasion for an absolute self-identity with the Divine in the Comprehending poise of Truth-World.

“The supreme and universal Lord joined me in an union in the outer level, and in an union in the inner level. When He united with me in the outer I attained a deathless mould of body, by receiving the pure Light. But how can I describe the blissful inner Union?”

NOTE: In the foregoing stanzas 94 to 99, the Swami has consistently used the word “Vadivam” to indicate the physical mould of his body. So too he speaks of the Lord’s Body as “Thiru Meni” or Pon Meni, as the golden Body of the divine Lord. Thus the Swami gives us to understand the very rare and direct method of mutual bodily embrace for the deathless transformation of his physical body. This was supported also by an inner union in Por Sabha, the apprehending supermind. See also stzs. 12-39-6, 7 and 10.

However we would like to point out that deathlessness of one’s physical body is achieved not by a mere entry into the tertiary supermind. For this, an embracing union with the body of the divine Lord is necessary. Though the bodily embrace of the Lord takes place in the tertiary supermind, it does not happen until after one has realised firmly the summit supermind and possessed the whole of Truth-Consciousness. This is hinted by stz 92 and also by stzs 96 and 97 taken together. See also stz 12—20—2, 9. In such a case, even the experience of embrace at the outer level which is obtained in the tertiary supermind leads to the inner experience of self-identity with the Divine in the comprehending supermind or its summit. Stz. 98 suggests this type of experience. However the tertiary supermind has its own importance in that it is where the Truth-Consciousness becomes the Truth-form in perpetual Substance.

Again, apart from the embrace in the tertiary supermind, the Lord also came down to the earth to embrace the Swami bodily See 12—17—1 and 9; 12—41—1; These are the unique features of the Swami’s deathless transformation of physical body. By the divine bodily embrace of the Lord, his physical body becomes filled with the Light, gets transformed into the golden deathless physical body. The supramental Light or the Grace-Light transformed his physical body by its own power. But added to this process, the God of Vast Grace-Light Himself gave his Substance and Body to the Swami by direct bodily embrace both in the Supermind and on the earth. Thus, the deathless golden physical body is realised by the Grace of the Divine.

Now again we have to distinguish the unique or special kind of bodily union of the Lord on the earth with the Swami's deathless physical body (i.e. after his body had become deathless) as is referred to in a last stz 12-44-53. It is meant for a collective fulfilment of the earthly evolutionary life and it was done by the divine will for dematerialising his deathless body and for fixing its deathless substances and powers into the earth-nature and by that process enabling the Swami to enter into all the physical bodies. It was an earthly embrace of the Lord with the Swami's body, meant more as a mode of its sacrifice by which the Lord or His divine Light could have a stable manifestation on the earth especially at the Swami's place but with its potentialities for an universal manifestation of the Light imminently or later on in due course of time. We have already seen that the Lord gave the Swami a deathless body for a collective fulfilment of the earthly life (stzs. 12-20-11 and 9; 12-39-6, 7, 9 and 10; 12-44-1).

Even before the said special embrace and the resulting dematerialisation took place, the Swami's deathless physical body was inseparable from the Lord's Body. It was not a separate entity. In stz 12-38-8 the Lord Himself declared the nature of such a body which was unified with the Lord's own. The Lord's Body and the Swami's body were unified on the earth so as to result in or become Lord's own double or biune body on the earth itself. “எம்முடம்பு உம்மை இணைத்து இங்கு எமக்கே ஈருடம்பு என்கின்றார்”. So, we may say that this earthly biune body of the Lord was finally dematerialised for a collective fulfilment above referred to.

12—43

This poem may be considered to be the last one at the end of the twelfth book (in Balakrishna Pillai edition) sung in gratitude to and in praise of Cit-Shakti, the supreme Mother, the Consciousness-Force of the Divine who has bestowed Her Grace on the Swami by giving him all siddhis such as Karma Siddhi, Yoga Siddhi and Jnana Siddhi and an immortal deathless body. The Cit-Shakti is addressed in beautiful and glorious terms such as Jnana Siva Kama Kodi, the Shakti of Knowledge-Will of the Divine, Siva Dharma Kodi, the Shakti of the Law of the Divine, Siva Bhoga Kodi, the Shakti of the Enjoyment of the Divine, Mei Jnana Kodi, the Shakti of Truth-Consciousness, Ananda Swarupa Kodi, the Shakti of Supreme Bliss, Iraivar Valap Bhaga Kodi, the Shakti on the right side of the Divine (i.e. the supreme and universal Shakti, according to the Swami as explained also in the Book of Upadesha, p. 42, item 45, is seen, on actual realisation and possession of the Truth-World, to be seated on the right side of the Divine Lord and not on His left side).

Kodi also means flag. Hence this poem on the glory of the Shakti was composed perhaps on the occasion of the flag-hoisting on 22-10-1873 at the Swami's premises to celebrate the effective beginning of the Sanmarga movement and also the revelation of the Mahamantra of Arut Perum Joti which the Divine gave him as a gesture of forecasting His imminent manifestation on the earth as the Vast Grace-Light. This song is sung by his followers on the annual flag-hoisting day of the Sanmarga Sangha at every place.

“O Ananda Shakti of Bliss! Thou hast dispelled away all the great fears and anxieties, and removed all the critically serious dangers and hast remained ever in my thought and will. Thou hast fed me with Amrita of Bliss and Grace. Thou hast taken me into Thy Hands of Truth and Grace and into Thy Possession. Thou hast blessed me saying, “O Son! Here are all the siddhis. Take them!” and accordingly Thou hast given me all siddhis. May Thy Grace be ever with me”.

NOTE: The said fears and dangers seem to refer particularly to those arising in the course of transformation of body into its deathless state as there are critical attacks from the Inconscient Darkness in the form of great fears and big dangers in the crucial stages of such transformation. In an earlier poem (12—23), we have seen that the Swami married according to the divine Will, the supreme Grace-Shakti to overcome such difficulties and thus he becomes one not only with the supreme and universal Lord, but also with the supreme Shakti. Further, poems 12—28 and 12—29 describe the Swami's attainment of Mastery over all the forces of darkness and death.

NOTE : The supreme Brahman, the supreme Divine, becomes as the supreme and universal Divine in the first poise of the Truth-World (i. e., the comprehending supermind). Swami refers elsewhere to this poise by saying that “Truth has become Truth” மெய்யே மெய்யாகி, “He has become Himself” தானே தான் ஆனான். In this stanza the second poise or apprehending supermind is referred to by saying that He (the Universal Lord) has become myself (i.e., as one individual jivatman), I become Himself நானாகித் தானாகி or in other words “He became myself, became Himself”. The tertiary poise of Supermind is referred to by saying that “He (the Universal Lord) has become myself and Himself”; The first poise is also hinted in this stanza by saying that “He (the Supreme Divine) became the Sky of Heaven”. The next two sentences following it imply His becoming in the second and third poises of supermind.

Thou shower on me Thy infinite ocean of compassion, giving me boons when the great godheads of firm strength and power such as Brahma and Vishnu feel wonder in their hearts”.

NOTE; “Parā Para and Param Para” in the context, denote respectively the apprehending and comprehending sessions of the Truth-World of Knowledge. Jnana Cidambaram is the Sky or Heaven of the Truth-World of Knowledge as a whole. The triple-eyed Light seems to refer to the triple Powers of Light. Compare with Rig Veda “Three Powers of Light uphold three luminous worlds divine” (V—29—1), Rig Veda, as quoted by Sri Aurobindo in his “Life Divine” under the Chapter “Triple Status of Supermind”, p. 132.

I have attained the state of Samarasa Sanmarga (the state of Purity, Truth and Harmony, i. e., of Truth-Knowledge). This is the wonder”.

NOTE: The partaking of Amrita, attainment of the state of Samarasa Sanmarga, and the Knowledge-body imply attainment of a deathless physical body. The next stanza deals with its nature.

He is the omnipotent Conscious Power (Siddhan) of Knowledge manifest in Cit Sabha, (the all-comprehending world of Truth-Knowledge). He is the all-achieving Purity of Power. He is the Pure One. NOTE: The Swami prepares the people for a collective universal Manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light. He requests the people of the world to receive the supreme Lord of Light who is coming to the earth to rule by His Grace, in full honour befitting the occasion. It is also implied that the Lord of Light is to be received and enshrined in the heart of each. In stz 12-25-5, the Swami said that he was an instrument of the supreme and universal Divine for the progressive manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light for the joy and progressive evolutionary growth of this whole world life on the earth and move about in joy. The rule of the divine sceptre of Grace will be respected everywhere”.

The dead will resurrect to

NOTE : The above corresponds with the substance and spirit of the Swami's last written message on 30. 1. 1874 called “ Sabai Villambaram ” wherein he said that people could see the miracles of resurrection of the dead, and transformation of the aged into youth taking place in the future at Vadalur because at that time the God of Vast Grace-Light presided or was concretely present, even according to and in fulfilment of His own expressed Will, i. e. in order to settle down there and manifest Himself through such divine miracles. The preceding two songs (12—44—50 & 51) also point towards the imminent manifestation of the Divine on the earth.

This is the truth I know and declare because of the great Tapas, (conscious Power of realising things) proper to my being O maid-friend of luminous waist ! You will come to know the significance of my word after the passing of the hour.”

NOTE : This is the last song of the Swami which throws a vague hint of his dematerialisation or dissolution of body expected to result by the coming of the Divine at his place and uniting with his enlarged body. The foregoing last songs (12—44—50 to 53) and the last written message of the Swami on 30. 1. 1874 as in his “ Sabhai Villambaram ” and the last words spoken to the disciples and as recorded by them evidently indicate that the Swami's dematerialisation was not for its own sake but took place by or in a process expected to bring about the divine manifestation of Vast Grace-Light on the earth more especial through his place as a representative place of the earth, and as a result of which the performance of divine miracles such as resurrection of the dead, and transformation of even the aged into youth would become the order of the day, at some time or other in the future.

LXX
(LYRICAL SONGS)

INTRODUCTION

The lyrical songs composed by the Swami have been published by the well-known editor, Balakrishna Pillai in a single book, i. e. as the First Book. However, most of these lyrical songs belong to the later part of the Swami's life when he had attained the Truth-Consciousness and even perfected his body into its deathless state. Considering the period and substance of their composition, we have arranged them in our book to be compiled at the end of or after Book 12 of the said Balakrishna Pillai's edition. However, we may also observe that these lyrical songs as a whole (excepting a few early songs which touch upon aspiration for Truth-Consciousness), may be considered as part of Book 12 itself. Further, these lyrical songs as published are not strictly in a chronological order.

These lyrical songs which were meant by the Swami for carrying his message and attainments to the devotees through musical medium have become popular even among the common people. They contain the Swami's highest experience and realisation of Truth-Consciousness, deathless transformation of body, and his promise of the coming of the Divine on the earth and as a result, the due performance of Siddhis by the Divine and by His Truth-Conscious devotees—siddhis such as resurrection of the dead into bodily life, transforming the aged into youth and transforming the body into its deathless state, etc.

We have translated in full the lyrical songs entitled “Mei Arul Vyappu” (1—V—10) and “Siva Siva Joti” (1—V—3), “Anip Ponnambalam” (1—V—7) and “Varuvār Alaiyththu Vādi” (1—VII—5).

In the lyrical song “Mei Arul Vyappu” (1—V—10—57) the Swami observes that because of his possession of Arut Cit Joti (the Light of Consciousness-Force manifesting Grace), the god of death was shaken in his foundation and ran away from him in fear of being shrunk or dissolved. This clearly points out the state of the Swami's spontaneous and natural deathlessness of body without the necessity of maintaining the deathless state by a sort of vigil and personal effort or by a personal power of yoga-siddhi. But his siddhi was rather a natural Siddhi of Grace maintained by Grace itself. Further, after he attained deathlessness of his physical body, he lived and preached body's deathlessness to the people, as seen in a stanza in "Pandu Adal" (1-III-5-5) ; Further according to a stanza of the poem "Pandu Adal" (1-III-5-7), the Swami, by the Grace-Siddhi of his deathless body and power of resurrection, could bring about a corresponding collective atmosphere (i.e. bring to bear a collective influence) over the collectivity of the sincere disciples (the individual effect of the influence possibly varying according to their opening] and receptivity) who followed up his way called Samarasa Suddha Satya Sanmargha which had as its goal the realisation of the Vast Truth-Conscious Grace-Light (Mei Arut Joti or Arut Perum Cit Joti) and transformation of nature and attainment of a deathless physical body. He observes clearly in the said stanza that "a state of body's deathlessness prevails in the atmosphere of Suddha Sanmarga".

Stz. 1 “ O Dancer who playeth in Thy own Vastness in the Transcendence (Turya Peria Veli, i. e. Turya Peru Veli) manifesting Light within Light ! O Hero ! O Master of Knowledge, abiding in the Heart of the Great, inseparable and ever loving. ! ”

Another lyrical song "Enna Punyam" (1-VII-6), which is evidently an earlier one, mentions that the Swami had intimations from the divinely inspired musical sounds that the Lord was coming to see and embrace him, play with him, join and unite with him in his collective capacity as earth itself, i.e. as the very embodiment of earth, both in its origin and evolution காரணமும் காரியமும் தாரணி நீயாக உன்னைக் காண வந்தார் (i.e. as a representative of the earth-consciousness) and that the Divine was purposely coming forward by His own will to give him who was His acknowledged representative of the earth, the deathless transformation of body. Thus, from this it is clear that the Swami's deathless body was wilfully intended by the Divine for a common world-purpose and the background of sacrifice of his deathless body by dematerialisation also proves the same purpose.

SARAṆAMSONG OF SURRENDER AT THE DIVINE FEET

Stz. 5 “O Refuge! I am surrendered to Thee who art pure and hast opened in me the consciousness of a supreme intuitive Knowledge so as to know or get intuitions of Knowledge within (intuitive) intelligence. O Refuge! I am surrendered to Thee who art seated in the heart of the true and self-absorbed devotees. O Lord! I am surrendered to Thee who infuse soul into the body harmonising them in this world of Ignorance and suffering. O Master! I am surrendered to Thee who feel within me (or has made me feel within me) that I am one being (among Thy many beings) ”.

NOTE : The truth of the last line in the above stanza may be compared with Saint Manickavasagar's declaration : “The Lord has made me become a being ” என்னையும் ஒருவன் ஆக்கி (பொற்றித் திரு அகவல் வரி 129) and “The Lord has at last made me become verily a being of existence கடைமுறை என்னையும் இருப்பதாக்கினன் ” (திரு அண்டப் பகுதி வரி 179) This is a state which Swami Ramalingam also aspires for, according to an early song (see Bk 10—I-12—4). He now realises it. It is a state in which one realises one's true individual self as one (or a) centre of the Supreme and Universal Divine (among the many such individual centres) i. e. as a portion of the Divine, as “Amśa Sanātana ” (Gita). This state develops further into the integral supramental Knowledge of Truth-Consciousness.

Stz. 6 “O Refuge! I am surrendered to Thee. Fill my thought and feelings with sweetness of Bliss, making my mind and heart become softened as a ripe fruit. O Refuge! I am surrendered to Thee. Thou keep myself and Thyself established in an uniting contact of oneness or unity”.

NOTE : The said union is characteristic of the tertiary poise of supermind where the Lord and the individual soul mutually enjoy in a blissful dualism of relationship, but yet maintained in a mode or form of unity. This is a subsequent development that takes place after one realises one's true individual self as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine as indicated in the preceding stz. 5.

Stz. 1 “It gives equality of State. It is an all-pervading Existence in equal self-extension. (Podu). It has the equal goodness of all. It plays in the equality of Knowledge. It is verily the Heaven. It is the Supreme State. It is the Supreme Truth It is Sivam. O Supreme! O Supreme ! O Supreme!.”

Stz. 1 “O Lord of concentrated Goodness in Ponnambalam, the Golden World of Knowledge which is verily Thy own world (Than Ambalam) of massive Strength and Force of Knowledge (where the individual Self is also brought into the play of self-manifestation)! O abiding Over-Soul of the universal Family poised in the concentrated Heaven of massive Strength and Force of Knowledge!.”

Stz. 2 “The Brahmins worship well the harmonious or harmonising world of Truth-Knowledge (Manru) by chanting the Mantra (i.e. Gayatri mantra) of metrical composition, regularly for ever in the morning and evening. O Sankara, the auspicious and benevolent Lord! O Shambu, the calm and blissful Lord!.”

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passage :

NOTE : “And in the Gayatri, the chosen formula of the ancient Vedic religion, the Supreme Light of the Godhead Surya Savitri is invoked as the object of our desires, the deity who shall give his luminous impulsion to all our thoughts”

(On the Veda—Ch. Surya, Light and Seer—p. 472).

“This Truth is the light, the body of Surya. It is described as the True, the Right, the Vast (Satyam, Rtam, Bṛhat); as the luminous Supramental heaven of Swar (p. 465—“On the Veda”).

Stz. 3 “By the divine Grace I was raised up from the ocean into a boat. I crossed to the shore. There was a Terrace luminous with Light (தேசுறு மாடம் Tējōmaya Mādam). In it was a divine platform of Gem or Diamond (i.e., a dais of Diamond Light of Knowledge “Deiva Maṇi Peetam”, elsewhere referred to as “Maṇi Mēdai” or Mei Jnana Maṇi Mēdai, the Platform of Diamond Light of Truth-Consciousness 11—36—14; 11—26—5, 9). I became full of joy as I saw the Flame of Light”.

NOTE: This Stanza throws light on the significance of Maṇi Mādam and Maṇi Mēdai. The Terrace (Mādam) is described here as luminous with Light. Elsewhere it is described as Deiva Mādam the divine Terrace, Maṇi Mādam the Diamond Terrace or Terrace of Diamond Light. In it is seen Maṇi Peetam, i.e., Maṇi Mēdai, the Diamond Platform or the Platform of Diamond Light of Knowledge. See also stz. 11—36—14; 11—26—1, 5, 9. Tertiary supermind is the realm of Maṇi Mādam and Maṇi Mēdai—the Diamond Terrace and Diamond Platform.

Stz 5 “The rich Country of Light is in the high-seated Mountain of Transcendence (Turya Malai). In it is seen the beautiful Home of Light (Maṇi Veeḍu) where the Lord plays in Knowledge. If he who has seen and realised the Home of Light of Knowledge looks on the dead, the later will resurrect into bodily life. Clap your hands and sing in glory of the Lord”.

NOTE: Maṇi Veeḍu is the beautiful Home of Light and it seems to signify the apprehending supermind or possibly the comprehending supermind, named respectively as Suddha Siddhanta Veedu and Suddha Vedanta Veedu in the poem “Siva Siva Joti” (See stzs. 17, 18, 21). But this stanza makes it clear that the Home of Light of Knowledge should not merely be seen in vision but also realised and possessed தோன்றும்.. மணியீடு தெரியும் அது கண்டவர்கள். Thus, “Kandavargal” கண்டவர்கள் in the context clearly signifies a realisation and not merely a vision, whereas தோன்றுதல், தெரிதல் signify a vision only (See also 1—I—41).

CINNAM PIDI
CATCH THE THROW, SINGING LORD'S GLORY
1—I—52

INTRODUCTION

The title of the poem “Cinnam Pidi” refers to a play in which youngsters play by catching the throw of a coin or a small metal plate or disc or any such symbolical sign. They are addressed by the Swami to catch the throw in play singing about his (Swami's) attainments verily as the glory of the Lord Himself.

NOTE : Deathless ether and non-burning air or gas, refer to divinised substances, which replace the nature's corresponding substances, in a divine transformation of body. Tirumoolar as well as the Swami affirmed that their bodies became cool and refreshing, possibly due to non-burning or non-heatable gas or air in the body. “ The transformed body is supple and plastic without breakable rigidity ; and it is non-burning"—TM 668. Stz. 10 "The Lord is playing in the manifestation of conscious powers of Knowledge and Perfection (Cittu āduthal). The dead will resurrect into (bodily) life here on this earth. The time is come for such things to happen".

NOTE : Stanza 5 and this stanza together indicate the Swami's promise of the coming of the Divine to the earth to do acts of Grace for the progressive good of all the people. Resurrection of the dead will be a play of His Grace. These acts of Grace are really the manifestation of His Siddhis or Powers of Knowledge for the collective evolution of the earthly life.

Stz. 4 “Can the knowledge acquired by learning of the Spiritual literature namely the four Vedas and Agamas ever become our own inherent Knowledge? It only makes for a noisy superficial learning as done in an open market place or shandy (Sandhai Padippu) I have attained the Knowledge of deathlessness of body which is proper to Suddha Sanmarga movement which is the desirable way. Directed into the north (from the famous town of Cidambaram) I have come and settled at Uttaram, i.e. Uttara Jnana Cidambaram or Vadalur which is the common meeting ground for all the people from all directions and which grows as an universal centre O girl friend! If you want to attain a deathless body, realise the infinitely Vast Grace-Light and play the ball, without questioning or doubting whether it is this or it is that”.

NOTE : “Sandhai Padippu” seems to allude to learning by heart the Vedas and Agamas through mechanical repetition by students jointly in chorus before a Pandit or Teacher who leads the chanting of verses.

Stz. 5 “By an error, people of the world are verily consenting to die. They will become shyful if they come to know that in their midst there lives one who has become free from death of body. I am verily that deathless person. I have realised the life of a deathless body to live on for ever anywhere and everywhere (i.e., without any limitation of time, place and circumstance). O my girl-friend! I bless you to live and prosper. Join me and remain firm without deviating from the path of the Light of Knowledge as expounded in the pure Suddha Sanmarga. Play the ball. O sister! Realise the Vast Grace-Light and play the ball”.

NOTE : This stanza clearly shows that the Swami attained a natural and spontaneous deathlessness of body so as to live for ever and in any place whatsoever i.e., even in the very conditions of unchanged earth and in the midst of untransformed people whom he addresses saying that they should be shy to know that there is one among them who has attained a deathless body and lives in their very midst when they themselves, by an error, are giving their consent for succumbing to death. His deathless shadowless body which did not cast its shadow on the ground was seen by many in his times. The Swami himself observes in stz. 3 of this lyrical poem that he got the great gift of a deathless body so as to be happily seen by all the people of the world. இன்பாலே உலகத்தார் எல்லாருங் காண இறவாப் பெரு வரம் யான் பெற்றுக் கொண்டேன். This stanza along with the subsequent stanzas in which the Swami also affirms his power of resurrecting the dead shows the finale of his attainment. This poem proves that he has lived among the people after attaining a deathless body and without being tied down to any limitation or inevitable necessity of at once dissolving the body by dematerialisation which is generally mistaken to be a result of such a deathlessness. The body of a Yogi may dematerialise even before its transformation. Further, this poem records, like the early direct disciples of the Swami who have written in the biographies of his life saying, that after attaining a deathless body the Swami openly preached deathlessness of body and the way to attain it. This poem also encourages even physical games and plays such as playing the ball and even as a means for realising the Divine Light. In this background, it seems that this poem should have been written some time about the period of the poem “Suddha Siva Nilai” (12—29).

Stz. 7 “I have the Knowledge that Sivam is the Truth Supreme. I have attained the Power to resurrect the dead. I live a state of Truth which is neither one nor two nor has any second for comparison (i.e. the Comprehending poise of Supermind which is one-in-one). Out of compassion I call you to realise the Lord who is doing Tapas so as to be seen by all. O sister! Play the ball with me in sincerity, without dislike or displeasure and without wasting time. Realise the vast Grace-Light. Play the ball”.

Stz. 8 “There is the state of body's deathlessness prevailing in the atmosphere of Suddha Sanmarga, the Fellowship of the Path of Truth and Purity and the Good i.e. among the true followers of the integral yoga of Truth and Harmony. It is indescribable. I have attained it by the unreserved Grace of the Divine. I have got too the power to resurrect the dead (into bodily life). O maid-friend! With your lower knowledge what will you do to face and tackle here, the grim and pain-giving problem of death? Without any more anxiety and fear in solving the problem of death, come and play the ball with me. Realise the Vast Grace-Light. Play the ball. O sister!”.

NOTE : In this stanza the Swami gives a clear assurance that he would protect people from death if they come to follow him up by discipline and move with him even by outer ways and means such as playing physical games with him. Further, this stanza shows that the Swami by the Grace-Siddhi or Arul Siddhi of his deathless body and power of resurrection, could bring about a corresponding collective atmosphere among or over the disciples who followed up his way called Samarasa Suddha Satya Sanmargha which had as its goal the realisation of the Vast Truth-Conscious Grace-Light (Mei Arut Joti or Arut Perum Cit Joti) and transformation of nature and attainment of a deathless body. This passage may also be read with the stanzas 1—VII—6—5, 6 and 7 which are however earlier in point of time and where the Swami observes that he heard the inspired message of divine musical sound that the Lord was coming to see and unite with him, here on the earth, in his collective capacity as the earth itself and as its cause and effect (i.e. as its embodiment both in its origin and evolution or as a representative of the earth-consciousness—" Kāraṇam (um) Kāryam (um) Dharani Nee Āka unnai Kāṇa ") and also to give him purposely the gift of a deathless body. Further, according to stz. 12—25—5, the Swami felt himself as an effective instrument for " the progressive manifestation of the ' Vast Grace-Light ' for the benefit of the whole world ". Above all, his body had attained, by the power of Grace-Siddhi, a natural and spontaneous deathlessness which is clearly proved when he says in stz. 1—V—10—57 & 61 that he inherently possessed Arut Cit Jothi (the Light of Consciousness-Force manifesting Grace) because of which the dark god of death (i.e. the dark inconscient force of death) was shaken in his foundation and ran away from him in fear of being shrunk or dissolved. So, in such a background, it is evident that he could bring to bear a collective influence on the disciples of his Sanmarga movement (though the individual effect possibly varying according to one's opening and receptivity) of which he always considered the supreme and universal God of Vast Grace-Light as its President and reserved for Him a cushion as seat of Honour and Worship and considered himself as one member among the others of the fellowship of Suddha Sanmarga. Above all, the trend of collective influence was sought to be preserved at Vadalur where he himself lived a life of deathless, sleepless and blissful body and he emphasised the importance of Vadalur saying that people should come to Vadalur, if they want to attain a deathless body (see the other stanzas of the poem " Pandu Adal " 1—III—5—4 and also stzs. of " Uttara Jnana Cidambaramālai " 11—32—4 & 5) and that Vadalur has the manifest power of the Divine even to resurrect the dead.

At one time in 1871 he even felt called to advise his immediate disciples and devotees (who had moved with him and followed him faithfully) that in case of their death, they should not burn the body but preserve it in burial in as much as the Divine was due to manifest at Vadalur soon and also resurrect them for the purpose of strengthening the fellowship of Samarasa Sanmarga Sangha which implies an intention for the gathering up of the momentum of the collective force of a representative collective community of a few direct disciples, to fulfil the divine mission on the earth for which the Sangha stood for—See Book of Letters, p. 105.

Further the Swami, in a more positive way, requested the people not only to realise the Vast Grace-Light but also the culminating achievement of transformation effected by It, i.e. body's deathlessness, and form a new and pure race (i.e. an evolved collective community) that could defy aging senility, disease and death, and that these would be pre-eminently possible if they came to Vadalur (alias Jnana Siddhi Puram, the Swami's resort) where the God of Light was also due to manifest soon (See 12—33—7, 9 & 10). Here also Vadalur's importance (possibly including its vicinities) is emphasised as the cradle for the growth of a collective community of a divine evolution. The Swami also envisaged unity of the world and a collective humanity, saying that as the God of Light was due to manifest on the earth, it was high time for the multitudes of the people of the world to live in a collective harmony (12—2—2; 12—36—2). Thus, from the above it is clear that the Swami wanted to build up not merely human unity of the masses but also a collective community of supermen. His vision and forecast of "Paksha Srishtis", the multi-winged orders of evolution, also prove the collective evolution that is to come about by the manifestation of the Divine on the earth and in which men will have different modes of birth, beginning from the ordinary birth through the womb by sex process and the evolved births of different grades in which birth will take place without sex process but by a will for conception of child in the womb (such will being expressed by and through the graded modes of action replacing the usual sex process—i.e. by and through touch or strokes of woman's body or sight or speech or word or even by mere aspiration for a child), and finally ending with the highest mode of birth which is a direct birth in which soul will take physical embodiment directly on the earth without resorting to even the means of a womb (see Upadesha, item 28 p. 29; item 36, p. 36). This last would indicate the pure supramental race* of beings. The various "Paksha Srishtis" also implied their co-existence and not necessarily a succession of one after the other.

Further the Swami made it clear that when the God of Light manifested on the earth all would be benefited by it and as a first and immediate result their vital desires and impurities will be cleared off, whether they pursue spiritual disciplines or not. This indicates the trend of a collective evolution for all. But those who wanted the great spiritual gains and transformation of nature and body have to pursue the spiritual discipline (See Upadesha, p. 132). These two orders of evolution however imply a collective evolution in the one case, and a collective-cum-individual evolution in the other, and both are envisaged after the manifestation of the Divine Light on the earth.

It is the full emergence of Jnana deha, the Truth-Conscious Knowledge-Body, into the physical, that is the sine qua non of a successful transformation, even necessarily of a quick transformation, leading to a spontaneous and natural deathless physical truth-body (வாய்மை உடம்பு) capable of living in the conditions of the very earth-nature itself. It is attained by the working of Grace and as Arul Siddhi or Grace-Siddhi, according to the Swami's experience and declarations. Swami's divinised deathless body was not a case of what Sri Aurobindo would call a "Yoga-Siddhi" by which one has to maintain or defend the body's deathlessness or its transformation by one's force of Tapas. Swami's Arul Siddhi was natural and spontaneous, taking its roots in the earth-nature. He considered his body's deathless state as an imperative gift of the Grace-Light. Never at any moment it occurred to him even as an idea that deathlessness of body could be only a possibility and it cannot be an obligatory result even in a supramental realisation and transformation by Truth-Consciousness; nor he ever considered that it cannot become a natural and spontaneous deathlessness of body.

Again by deathlessness of body the Swami evidently meant its eternal deathlessness, i. e., its eternal Purity and Conquest and Power over death, an eternal and not a temporary victory over the forces of death, though the soul's freedom was always there to depart from such a body leaving it behind intact in its transformed state (குலையாத வடிவம், அழியாத வடிவம்) without signs of decomposition and disintegration (see notes under stz. 1—V—9—10 and 1—V—10—38) which are the usual signs and symbols of the forces of death, or in the alternative to dematerialise the deathless body in the earth-nature. The Lord gave him deathlessness of body, and also gave him the power of knowledge not only to keep the soul inseparable from the body but also the will and power and freedom to separate it and enter if necessary into a new body (as suggestively implied in stzs. 31 of the Keertan "Mei Arul Vyappu"), in the latter cases of which though death and birth occur in principle they will have entirely new spiritual and evolutionary significances and values as suggested above in this paragraph and as given in the above said higher kinds of "Paksha Sristis" referred to in the Book of Upadesha. In effect, the deathlessness of his golden physical body implied an essential permanence of a limitless deathless golden physical existence

(other than the subtle-physical) as well as a practical permanence of a deathless golden physical material body. Only as such, the Swami's vast deathless golden body could have taken its roots in the earth-nature, and at his place.

Again we find that the Swami's body was not only deathless in its own right and had become indestructible and decayless (decayless even if the soul were to depart from the deathless body by voluntary or divine will), but also it kept on an ever progressive growth, that is to say, it maintained a progressive change of its substances apart from renewing them constantly; and in fact it grew into a large body as it had its roots and extensions in the deathless golden physical space of the earth. [cf: எந்நாளும் இவ்வுடம்பே இறவாத இயற்கை பெற்றேன் 12-44-1; கூற்றை உதைப்பித்து ஒழித்துச் சிதைவு மாற்றியே 1-V-10-38; மரணம் உருத் திறம் தந்து அழியாத் திரு அளித்த கருணை நிதியே (12-18-11); கூற்றை ஒழித்து நீரும் உலகில் அழியாத பெருநிலை மேல் வைத்து (12-24-7); இறவாது என்றும் ஓங்கும் வடிவம் எனக்கு வந்ததே (1-V-10-69); இன்னருள் அமுதனித்து இறவாத் திறம் புரிந்து என்னை வளர்த்திடும் இன்புடைத் தாயே (12-1-553); உடம்பு பூரிக்கின்றது பொன்மலை என்னவே 1-V-10-36; எனது பேருடம்பில் கலந்து உளத்தே பிரியாமல் இருப்பார் 12-44-53].

The first indication of the emergence of Jnana deha into the Swami's physical body bringing about a quick transformation simultaneously in all the cells and in all the parts of the body is found in 'Joti Agaval' poem.

In addition to living a life of deathless body, the Swami had also the vision of collective evolution of earthly life in the wake of the manifestation of the divine Light which was to become progressively growing in its Riches, nay, even the vision of the golden plane of earth and states of perfect matter in which were also the life-forces and mind-forces. So in the background of these facts, his body's deathlessness was meant for a collective purpose and fulfilment and had acquired a collective influence (see notes on Stz. 1-V-10-61). This made him observe in the stanza now under consideration that there was a state of deathlessness of body realisable in the atmosphere or collective environment of the fellowship of Suddha Sanmarga.

The Swami, in his last days, expected the God of Light to manifest on the earth so as to settle down at Vadalur and perform the siddhis of Grace such as resurrection of the dead and transformation of even the aged into youths, and avoid the quick rounds of death in general before man could attain a sufficient growth of consciousness, and also usher in a new era of true love, true compassion, true knowledge, true goodness and true actions in the world of human life (See “Siru Vinnappam” & “Sabhai Vilambaram”). In fact the Divine Himself had already expressed to the Swami His solemn will to settle down there for playing all the siddhis of Grace for an eternal time and in fulfilment thereof, He became manifestly or concretely present thereat as the Being of Vast Grace-light.

When the Divine Being was so concretely present at his place on 30—1—1874 for the said purpose the Swami sacrificed his deathless body by dematerialisation and by this he should have identified his deathless body with all the physical bodies universally (possibly to enable the people at some time or other to get transformed in body also,—even if they were aged, and to make them resurrect even if they become dead). We may also say equally that the Divine Himself performed His Siddhi of Grace by dematerialising the Swami’s deathless body and universalising its powers and substances so as to make him enter into all the physical bodies. In this background of events and by the said Siddhi the Divine may be considered to have stably manifested thereat and, the subsequent event of “Superman Consciousness” entering into the body of the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram in 1969 to help her in the transformation of her body justifies this inference, in as much as the said consciousness possesses a power of infiltrating itself into all the bodies, which is the same as the purpose of the Swami’s dematerialisation, and that it is identifiable with the Swami’s dematerialised consciousness. (See Vol I Ch XVIII—part 3 for more details).

The Swami’s dematerialisation served as a prelude to the universal manifestation of the divine Light on the earth which took place in our times in 1956 and was brought about by the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram. From the internal evidences of Swami’s writings it is evident that he aspired, promised and worked for the universal manifestation of the Light and for an open play of the divine Siddhis even in the physical level of earthly collective life and he felt himself an instrument of the Divine for this purpose and played his part.

NOTE : In stzs. 12—34—26 and 24 the Swami emphatically holds that his Sanmarga abolishes death itself and asks the people to join him, join the Sanmarga, the path of the Divine Himself என் மார்க்கம் இறப் பொழிக்கும் சன்மார்க்கம் தானே and that the Divine was to manifest imminently on the earth to give us a life of Truth and Compassion and, play His Siddhis of Grace upholding the Sanmarga everywhere on the earth by His Manifestation as the Being of Vast Grace-Light (12—36—12, 13, 17, 27).

It says in effect that he got established in the high ealm of Truth-Consciousness and he was no more put to the necessity of descending into the Ignorance, by breaking off his connection with the Truth-World; and thus he could descend into the Ignorance but without falling down into its obscuring half-consciousness or unconsciousness.

Stz. 87 “O Lord who art without a second for comparison! Come. I am Thy own Son in this world bearing a Nature which is incomparable. O Lord! Come. O Lord who transcend the three Voids (Mup Pāl)! Come”

NOTE: Pāl means heaven, world, sky, void. Mup Pāl the three Voids are the three transcending levels or states namely Nirmala Jeeva, Para and Siva—the psychic, spiritual mental and overmental. Elsewhere it is referred to as the three Turyas, the three transcendences. By crossing over them, one reaches into the pure Transcendence, the supramental Sky of Truth-Knowledge.

Stz. 94 “O Lord! Thou have kindled a desire or aspiration to rise up from within sound by making the vibration of a subtle sound. Come. O Lord who have cut off the bonds and attachments of my Ignorance! Come”.

NOTE: “Āsai” may mean here an inspired will of desire or aspiration that rises up from within the inner being. Even the desire for mental knowledge is rooted in a desire for the sound of words and thoughts. Thought itself, at a lower level, is a form of sound heard in the brain. Tirumoolar refers to the desire born of sound, the clamour of desire that sound makes ஓசை உரைக்கின்ற ஆசை (TM 436). But here in the context, the Swami seems to suggest that his desire for singing songs in words was essentially inspired by the Lord by making a subtle (wordless) and thoughtless sound.

Stz. 1 “ O Being of the essential form of the manifest Sat! Come to embrace me. O all-achieving Lord of Omnipotent Power! Come to embrace me. O Being of the manifest Cit of Consciousness-Force! Come to embrace me. O Being of Goodness benevolently disposed to all beings! Come to embrace me. O Being of the manifest Bliss of Ananda! Come to embrace me. O integral Being of the manifestation of all divinities (i. e. integral manifestation of Satcitananda) ! Come to embrace me. O Being of the integral Nature in manifestation! Come to embrace me. O my Lord! Come to embrace me” .

NOTE : In this stanza, the Supreme and Universal Divine as the manifest Sat of Existence, as the manifest Cit of Consciousness-Force, as the manifest Ananda of Bliss or as the combination of these, refers to His manifestations in the third and second poises of the Truth-World of Supermind. The Supreme and Universal Divine as the integral manifestation of Satcitananda refers to His manifestation in the first poise of Truth-World (i. e. the Comprehending Supermind or the summit poise as opening into the Ananda Loka above). The one, infinite and eternal and indivisible Satcitananda has become the Universal manifestation of the triune or integral Satcitananda (in the Comprehending or Summit poise of Supermind), and as the manifest Sat, the manifest Cit, the manifest Ananda and as the combinations of these (in the tertiary and second poises of Supermind).

Stz. 6 O my Lord ! This is the right moment to embrace me here on the earth. Come embrace me here.

GENERAL NOTE : The keertan “ Enna Punyam ” (I—VII—6) describes very beautifully how the Swami received the message from the Divine through various kinds of musical sounds such as pipe, flute, pulsating nerve, throat and “ Omkara ” that the Great Lord of the Truth-World was coming to the earth to see him, unite with him, play with him and embrace him and give him, as the acknowledged representative of the whole earth, the boon of an ever deathless body.

NOTE : In Joti Agaval poem, the Swami says that the Divine gave him Grace-Light externally too in his hands. The triple Eye (of Wisdom) is the triple poise of Truth-Consciousness in the triple plane of Super-mind and it possesses even his physical eyes by transformation and uses them as its instrument for manifesting the Light in the conditions of earth-nature. Ajna centre (called derivatively as Cit Sabha) together with the two eyes is also spoken of as the triple eye.

NOTE: Veli within Veli refers to the biune or double infinite, Ubhayam-baram or Ubhaya Veli, constituted of Tat Para Veli within Cit Para Veli. It is the nature of the Supramental Vastness. So too Light within Light (Joti yut Joti), the Supreme Light of Reality within the Light of Consciousness-Force (Tat Para Joti within Cit Para Joti) refers to the nature of the Supramental Light in the Comprehending Supermind. NOTE: The Light of the World of Truth-Consciousness (Cidambara Joti, i.e. Cit Ambara Joti) is constituted integrally of the Light of the Supreme Reality (Tat Param Joti) and the Light of the Consciousness-Force (Cit Param Joti). Elsewhere in the next lyrical song 1—V—4 and in poems 11—21 and 11—16 this Light is referred to by the Swami as “Joti Yut Joti”—“Light within Light” in Tiru Cittrambalam or Cit Sabha, i.e. Tat Joti within Cit Joti, or, Tat Param Joti within Cit Param Joti. Each implies the other. In the text of “Karanateeta loka” the Swami refers to them as Ateeta Jnana Prakasa and Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa. They are inseparable.

This is the nature of Cidambara Joti the Supramental Light. It is the Cit Joti. Here, this Light is also spoken of as the Light of Compassion and in poem 11—21 as the infinitely Vast Light of Grace (Arut Perum Joti) in Tiru Cittrambalam where one becomes Itself in self-identity. It is also called Arut Perum Cit Joti (12—21—14). Within It is the supreme Divine Being or the Supreme Light of His Being, Tat Joti. (See 11—16—5; 11—21—3, 8, 2. See also Jnana Marundu stz 30).

It is the Light of Truth-Consciousness (Mei Joti). It is the Truth-Light (Mei Joti) that has brought me forth (i. e. brought my being into manifestation). It is the Light of eternal Bliss (Sadānanda Joti)”.

NOTE : Citmaya Joti is the same as Cit Joti or Cinmaya Joti. Tatmaya Joti is the same as Tat Joti or Tanmaya Joti. Their integral Light is the Truth-Light bringing the individual Self or Jivatman into a play of self-manifestation in the apprehending poise of supermind, i. e. Por Sabha.

NOTE : Though we have consistently translated “ Yut Joti ”, as “ the essential inner Light ”, in fact, it is the inmost Light capable of manifesting itself at all levels of existence from the inmost to the outermost. In stz 22 of this lyric (1—V—3) it is more specifically called as “ Swarupa yut Joti ”, the essential inner Light of Being or the essential Light within. The Light that manifests too in the supreme Void (Vetta Veli, the pure spaceless Infinite i. e. “ Avyakta Parātpara ” of the Gita)”.

NOTE : Peru Veli is the integral biune or double infinite (Ubhaya Veli). Peru Veli (the supramental Vastness) itself is spoken of as constituted by “ Tat Para Veli and Cit Para Veli, or as one within the other i. e. Tat Para Veli within Cit Para Veli. Vetta Veli here corresponds with Tat Para Veli whereas Peru Veli more properly with Cit Para Veli. It is a way of speaking. Vetta Veli is also spoken of as Veru Veli or Suddha Veru Veli and as containing the universal Space of Vastnēss (Peru Veli) and through it all the spaces. NOTE: The Path seems to refer to the plane of tertiary supermind whereunto all the different paths of spiritual disciplines “in their highest state of purity” reach (i.e., from Ignorance into Knowledge) and the said plane also serves as the pure Path (cf: Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha) in the world of Truth-Knowledge itself, leading from one level of divine Knowledge to another, until it reaches into the Home, the Home of Suddha Siddhanta the apprehending Supermind or the Home of Suddha Vedanta the Comprehending Supermind as the case may be (See stzs. 17 & 18). Mani Medai also is in the tertiary supermind (See 11—36—14; 11—26—1, 5, 9).

NOTE : Bindu and Nada are the terms of light and sound. Light of bindu means the light of soul. Bindu generally means a point of Light. Bindu is also the Ajna centre where according to the Swami soul can be realised. Parabindu and Paranada are mutually related and involved in each other and reproduce themselves in each plane. Their origin is in the range of overmind Gnosis or summit overmind. Parabindu may signify Cit-tapo overmind and Paranada the Sat overmind. Beyond Paranada (i. e. The Light which became myself and made me live as such (i. e. to exist and move as an individual self or jeevatman as whom the Universal Lord has become by His self-manifestation of Light in the apprehending supermind) ”.

NOTE: The five-fold universal functions include evolution of the individual and the collectivity and the Swami played his part by the power of the Grace-Light he possessed in his being, nature and deathless body. However the Swami also emphasised that the Vast Grace-Light was to manifest on the earth for the collective evolutionary progress of the earthly life.

The Light that has condescended to make me become Itself (or Himself) in order to rule”.

NOTE ON THE POISES OF SUPERMIND

Stz. 24 indicates the tertiary poise of Supermind where “a myself” (i. e. Swami) and the Supreme and Universal Lord are in the state of mutual objective relationship of a blissful dualism in unity ஒரு நானும் தானும்.

Stz. 30 depicts the apprehending poise of supermind where the supreme and universal Lord becomes myself, and having become myself becomes Himself i. e., makes me become Himself (“a state of relations of a free difference in unity” according to Sri Aurobindo), i e., a state of subjective-objective intimacy of relationship as Myself-Himself நானாகித் தானாகி, நான் - தான் (ஆகி).

Stzs. 32 and the later part of Stz. 27 again repeat the two stand-points of the same relationship saying that the Universal Lord became myself and allowed me to live as such, and He also allowed me to become Himself for governing all.

The first part of Stzs. 27 speaks of the experience of comprehending supermind in which I become by self-identity as the Supreme and Universal Lord. i. e., inseparably and simultaneously as the One and as the All என்னைத் தன்மயமாக்கி. In stz. 17 it is said that the Light of Truth has become Truth i. e., the supreme Truth has become the Universal Truth and this takes place in the summit supermind as opening into the Ananda Loka above. The summit supermind is called Samarasa Satya Sabha or Samarasa Sivananda Sabha, in the other poems of the Swami.

LIGHT WITHIN LIGHT

INTRODUCTORY NOTE:

This lyrical song closes at the end of each stanza with the refrain thus: "It is verily the Light that plays in Tiru Cittrambalam". The divine world or session of Truth-consciousness, the Comprehending Supermind or the supermind proper, is the said Tiru Cittrambalam. This Light is also spoken of as the "Light within Light"—Joti Yut Jot (See also Jnana Marundu stz. 30) i.e., the supreme Light of the Reality within the Light of Consciousness-Force, Tat Joti within Cit Joti, or Tat Param Joti within Cit Param Joti (see Stanza 10 of this poem and also stanzas 1 & 2 of poem "Siva Siva Joti" 1—V—3), or as the Supreme Divine within Arut Perum Joti or Arut Perum Cit Joti (11-16-5; and 12-21-14). The Light of the Supreme Reality or the Light of the Supreme Divine is called here in this lyric as Yut Joti, the essential Inner Light. Though we have consistently translated "Yut Joti" which is the supreme Light of the Supreme Divine as "the essential inner Light", in fact it is the inmost Light capable of manifesting itself at all levels of existence from the inmost to the outermost. In stanza 22 of the preceding lyric (1—V—3), it is called rightly as "Swarupa yut Joti", the essential inner Light of Being. The opening lines of this lyrical song addresses this Inner Light thus: "Joti yut Joti, yut Joti" Light within Light, the essential Inner Light. As the refrain of the song is, "It is verily the Light that plays in Tiru Cittrambalam", it is in the Comprehending Supermind where Tat Joti within Cit Joti integrally and inseparably manifest and, so each implying the other and both together indicating the Light of Tirucittrambalam (see Poem 11—21 stzs. 3 & 4; 11—16, Stz. 5); A common name for "Joti yut Joti" or Tat Joti within Cit Joti" is Cidambara Joti, the Light of the World or Sky of Truth-Consciousness (see stzs 1 & 2 of the poem "Siva Siva Joti" 1—V—3). It is also referred to simply as Joti Malai the Mountain of Light (See 1—I—43—6; 12—37—44) or as the Truth-Light (Mei Joti, Satya Joti) i.e., the Light of Truth-Consciousness.

But “Joti yut Joti yut Joti” may literally mean “Light within Light within Light”, i. e. “the Light of Supeme Reality within Light of Consciousness-Force” within the Light of the individual self or soul. This development may be considered to take place in the apprehending supermind or Pon Ambalam the Por Sabha. The integral or integrated Light is pointed out by the different names as in the opening lines of 11—17—2: “Tat Joti, Satya Joti of my soul, the uniquely sovereign Cit Joti, the Flame of Light in Manru (the apprehending Supermind)... ” See also the opening line of I.VI-3-8 “O Light. O Light within Light within that Light ! ” (i. e. O Light of soul! O “supreme Light within the universal Light of Consciousness-Force” within that light of soul).

“Light within Light, the Inner Light. The light of Purity, the Light of Truth (Siva Joti), the Light within Light. The Light within Light, the Inner Light”.

NOTE : The opening and closing lines are identical. It may also be rendered as “Light within Light within Light”.

NOTE : Tirumoolar in his Tirumantram 2940 also refers to the triple realms of transcendence beyond which is found the effulgent Light. “That effulgent Light beyond the three levels of transcendence (moonru turyam) is triple in that ‘rare Turya State’ (i. e. the Pure Transcendence most difficult to attain) where It expands and contracts, swallows and ejects. Stz. 9 O men! It is verily the Light that plays in Tiru Cittrambalam (the comprehending supermind) and reveals Itself (or by It the supreme and universal Divine reveals Himself) and reveals distinguishably the divine Shakti Parai (i. e. in an objective distinction from Himself) by a poise of play raising up His leg in dance (i. e. in the apprehending supermind). It reveals Itself far above and beyond the realms of Adi and Parai the cosmic and overmental Shaktis by unveiling the screen of Ignorance.

NOTE : Parai is the Shakti of the summit overmind elsewhere called Ādhāra Parā Shakti or merely as Parai or as Parā Shakti (see item 101 under ‘Tatva Lokas’ in S.No. 101, Vol.II). Adi or Adi Shakti is the cosmic Shakti under the domination of the overmental Parā Shakti or Parai (see also chart 15 in Vol. I; and S.No. 104 & 105 for Adi Shakti in Vol.II) With the added necessary qualifying words, “Parai” is used rarely in its highest sense to signify the supramental Shakti and the sense is inferred according to the context and the qualifying words that go with it as in the first part of this stanza or as in Joti Agaval stz. 94. “The Vast Garce-Light that manifests in the seat of Parai who gives the supreme state of consciousness சேதனப் பெருநிலை திகழ் தரு ஒரு பரை ஆதனத்து ஒங்கிய அருட்பெருஞ்ஜோதி” The Swami names “Arut Cit Shakti” or “Arut Shakti” (the Shakti of Grace) more commonly to signify the supramental Shakti.

Stz. 10 “O men! It is verily the beautiful Light that plays in Tirucittrambalam (Tiru Cittrambala Tiru Nata Joti). It is the essence of the Supreme Reality (Tat Param Vadivāki) exceeding and developing itself (in the descent) as an unique or supreme Form (of Light) within the field of the Supreme Shakti or Consciousness-Force (Cit Param the Comprehending Supermind)”.

NOTE: Tat Param is the summit poise of the Supermind as opening into Ananda Loka above. Cit Param is the Comprehending Supermind proper. The Light of the Supreme Reality (Tat Joti) contains and enters within the Light of Consciousness-Force (Cit Joti) to become the Light of Tiru Cittrambalam, the divine Cit Ambalam, the Comprehending Supermind. Its Light is commonly known by a general name, i. e. Cit Ambara Joti, which is the Supramental Light. Here in this stanza Tat Param is spoken of to be within Cit Param, Cf: the “biune or double infinite” or Ubhayāmbaram or Ubhaya Velī constituted of Tat Para Velī and Cit Para Velī. See 10-II-2-2. They are commonly indicated by a general name as Peru Velī, the supramental Vastness.

Stz. 11 O Men! see and realise the divine dynamic Light of Play in Tiru Citrambalam which is the Mid-Heaven or Space (Nadu Veli, the central or middle) within which is the spaceless infinite of the divine Law (Needhi Siva Veli i. e. Suddha Siva Veli or Suddha Veru Veli)—the Mid-Heaven or space which is the heart or core or essence of the nine spaces which come under four ranges.

NOTE : The nine states (nava nilai), nine essential forms (nava vadvu) and nine spaces (nava veli) are referred to in stz 1—1—17—2. The nine states are explained by the Swami in “Upadesha”. They correspond to the nine spaces. They are namely (1) Bindu (2) Nada (3) Para-bindu (lower) (4) Para nada (lower) (5) Dikranta (6) Adikranta (7) Sammauna (8) Suddham (9) Ateeta. They respectively correspond to 1) the psycho-spiritual state at the Ajna 2) the Spiritual Higher Mind at the Sahasrara 3) Illumined Mind 4) Intuitive Mind 5) Selective overmind 6) global overmind 7) overmind gnosis or summit overmind 8) Threshold of the Vastness of Supermind 9) The Supermind. The supreme Reality of Satcitananda is said to be the essence at the core or heart of the nine spaces, and it is so experienced manifestedly in the summit supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka above. This summit supermind is spoken of here as the Mid-Heaven (cf: வாள் நடுவாகுய் 12—1—449, 448) as it commands at once simultaneously the experience of the infinite and eternal Satcitananda with its worlds above, the supermind with its planes and poises as the middle, and the lesser and lower worlds of Knowledge-Ignorance which end in the worlds of Ignorance below.

The Swami holds the summit supermind as the goal to be realised by us. It is beyond the said nine spaces or states, but at the same time forming as their core or heart. See also stz 10—1—2—80 where the nine states are said to consist of four states of form, four states of the formless and one state of the formless-form which is evidently the supramental state.

The nine spaces fall within four broad ranges which may be in the horizontal or vertical level or both. The horizontal and the vertical may correspond also with the individual and universal. The four horizontal ranges according to the Swami are the inmost, inner, outer and outermost. The four vertical ranges are 1) Psycho-spiritual range of Suddha Maya (lower) with its involution in Asuddha Maya 2) Spiritual Mind range of Suddha Maya 3) Overmind range of Suddha Maha Maya 4) the pure realm or range of Cit-Shakti.

The nine spaces or states are also hinted in “Joti Agaval” poem. See stzs. 473, 526 and 641. Stz 473 refers to the ninth state as the summit supermind which is the integral state of Siva-Shakti in their absolute unity, differential unity and mutual unity, and also exceeding unity itself as the supreme Reality. The said absolute unity implies that either of the Two can become the other, as the supreme Person. அவனோடு அவளாய் அதுவாய் அலவாய் நவமா நிலை மிசை நண்ணிய சிவமே.

However we may add that the Swami by a more elaborate classification refers to sixteen states of experience instead of nine. Then, what is here stated to be the ninth would correspond with the sixteenth of the other detailed classification. (See Joti Agaval stzs. 447 to 449).

Stz. 23 “I had been going through the sufferings of repeated births. But O men! Now see that the Divine Light playing in Tiru Cittrambalam has made the flesh of my body shine excellently with Light, and has given me thus the great and permanent liberation from the cycle of birth and death in Ignorance (i. e. physical birth in and through the womb and physical death of body as in the usual rounds of Ignorance).”

NOTE: This freedom from the ignorant rounds and modes of birth and death does not and need not exclude taking to birth in this world again in the fulness of Knowledge and departing from this world in the fulness of the body's deathless perfection, i. e. by dematerialisation of the body in Knowledge, or by leaving the deathless body intact in its transformed state without decay or decomposition, though such birth and departure will be to fulfill the divine Mission of a collective evolution of the earthly life here; and in their highest and purest state such a birth would mean taking up a divinely physical embodiment directly on the earth without the means of a human womb and such a departure would involve the leaving behind of a divinised or wholly divine deathless physical body intact without decomposition or alternatively resorting to its dissolution by dematerialisation:

The Divine Feet in Play of Dance. The Divine Feet playing in Manru, the World of Truth-Knowledge. The Divine Feet in the firm poise of play. The Divine Feet playing in Manru, the World of Truth-Knowledge.

NOTE: Manru refers to the apprehending supermind, the Golden Sabha. The above is the refrain of the poem repeated at the end of each stanza. As the “Divine Feet” implies unity in and of the universal Manifestation, we have chosen to use the word IN THE SINGULAR; the Divine Feet of the Lord is also a state of biune oneness.

ĀNIP PONNAMBALAM

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

The poem “Ānip Ponnambalam” records a variety of the Swami’s successive experiences such as vision, symbolical vision, ascent, inward-going movements into the depths of soul, direct vision in the golden world of Truth-Knowledge and meeting the biune Male-Female God (Ardhanāreeshwara), seeing the supreme and universal Divine Mother “Ananda Valli” and finally entering into the Presence of Lord Nataraja the supramental Ishwara.

The poem opens with the vision of a Mountain of Light, very possibly the Supramental Light or Cidambara Joti, as seen from an immediately lower plane, say, from the realm of Paranāda, i.e. Sat Overmind (cf : 12—42—54) or from a lower border realm of summit overmind, particularly from the golden gnostic overmind (See Charts 5 & 6). Then arises the symbolical vision of the seven-storeyed Palace, possibly symbolising the seven earths of summit overmind as described by Sri Aurobindo in his epic poem “Savitri” :

(Savitri : Bk 11—cto 1—p. 754).

After this vision comes the Swami’s ascent over a golden pillar, overcoming the tempting insinuations of thousands of goddesses on the way and reaching the highest peak-point of the pillar which is just above the zone of Nada (Sound) which is symbolised by the top portion of the pillar called Mani Mudi, i.e. the top-part of pillar where hang bells of sound. At the top-most peak-point of the pillar there arises in vision a temple of the purest refined gold. This vision of the golden temple of the purest gold marks a stage of the upward ascent and it seems to be a vision in the highest range of summit overmind, i.e. Sat Overmind which is in direct contact and communication with the golden world of Truth-Knowledge above, and receives from it the divinities of Light, Knowledge and Presence. Now the Swami meets, in the successive inner levels of his soul's consciousness, innumerable gods and goddesses of different colours and of benevolent disposition, then the five godheads; later when in a yet deeper inner depth of his soul's consciousness, he meets the twin Male-Female God (i.e. Ardhanāreeshwara). This may possibly mark the stage of his soul's passing into the golden-world of Knowledge at first into its lower level (i.e. tertiary supermind). Further, in the deepest level of his soul, the Swami sees Mother Ananda Valli who gives him Amrita of Bliss, and in Her Grace She takes him into the Presence of Lord Nataraja. He is with the Lord all alone and receives His blessings and boons. This is the final experience of the Swami and the context implies that it should be in Ānip Ponnambalam the highest and purest Golden World of Truth-Knowledge, i.e. the apprehending Supermind. This view may be supported by the following lines of "Savitri" where Aswapathy in his soul's travel into 'a road of pure interior light' sees nameless Gods, tremendous Presences, then the Two-in-One (i.e. Ardhanāreeshwara) and finally sees the mystic outline of the Face of the Mother, the Omnipotent Goddess, and partakes of Her "deep golden spiritual wine" of Bliss. "This golden spiritual wine" of bliss suggests that its experience takes place in the Golden world of Truth-Knowledge, Anip Ponnambalam (See also the interpretation of this poem in Vol. I Chapter 2).

"Along a road of pure interior light,
 Alone between tremendous Presences,
 Under the watching eye of nameless Gods,
 His soul passed on, a single conscious power,
 Towards the end which ever begins again,
 Approaching through a stillness dumb and calm
 To the source of all things human and divine.
 There he beheld in their mighty union's poise
 The figure of the deathless Two-in-One,
 A single being in two bodies clasped,
 A diarchy of two united souls,
 Seated absorbed in deep creative joy;
 Their trance of bliss sustained the mobile world.
 Behind them in a morning dusk One stood
 Who brought them forth from the Unknowable.
 Ever disguised she awaits the seeking spirit;
 Watcher on the supreme unreachable peaks;
 Guide of the traveller of the unseen paths,
 She guards the austere approach to the Alone ...

Above them all she stands supporting all
 The sole omnipotent Goddess ever-veiled ...
 He saw the mystic outline of a face.
 Overwhelmed by her implacable light and bliss...
 Tossed towards the shores of her ocean ecstasy
 Drunk with a deep golden spiritual wine ...

(Savitri — Bk 2 — cto 14 — p. 333 - 335).

And at the unimaginable end
 Of the huge riddle of created things
 Appeared the far-seen Godhead of the whole,
 His feet firm-based on Life's stupendous wings.
 Omnipotent or lonely seer of Time,
 Inward, inscrutable, with diamond gaze. ”

(Savitri — Bk 3 — cto 1 — p. 348)

Here is another passage in which Savitri delves into the depths of her soul and meets the Gods and Goddesses, the biune Siva and Shakti, Radha and Krishna, and finally the Mother seated on a golden seat.

“ A light that dwelt within and saw within
 As thus she passed in that mysterious place
 Through room and room, through door and rock-hewn door,
 She felt herself made one with all she saw.
 A sealed identity within her woke;
 She knew herself the Beloved of the Supreme :
 These Gods and Goddesses were he and she
 The World-Puissance on almighty Shiva's lap,
 The Master and the Mother of all lives
 Watching the worlds their twin regard had made,
 And Krishna and Radha for ever entwined in bliss
 The Adorer and Adored self-lost and one.
 In the last chamber on a golden seat
 One sat whose shape no vision could define,
 Only one felt the world's unattainable fount ...
 An invisible Beauty, goal of the world's desire
 A sun of which all knowledge is a beam ”

(Savitri — Bk 7 cto 5 — p. 595 - 596)

NOTE: “The last chamber” and the “golden seat” and “One sat” — — these would indicate the Ishwara or the Mother of the Golden World of Knowledge seen as such in the soul's depth.

“The visions I had in Āṇip Ponnambalam, the purest Golden World of Knowledge are verily wonderful. O girl! how wonderful they are!”

NOTE : This is the refrain of the song repeated at the end of each stanza. The whole song is translated herein and reproduced.

“ There appeared a Mountain of Light and in it was seen a Path. As I walked on the path, I came across a Platform. I got up over it. There was a front-hall over the Platform. As I entered it I found a seven-storeyed Palace (or seven-terraced Palace or Palace of seven states). What a wonder awaited me in that seven-fold state! In one storey or state a luminous pearl (of white) changed into white bead or gem (i. e. another shade of white) which in turn changed into a sapphire of light blue colour. In another storey or state a deep blue gem changed into a coral of orange colour. Yet in another state, an emerald of green colour changed into a ruby of red colour.

NOTE : So far the change of colours symbolises descending planes. Now the ascending planes are symbolised again by change of colours. See Chapter II in Vol. I for their interpretation.

Then in one state a big pearl (of white) changed into a big diamond. In another state a well-formed coral transmuted into a white bead or gem (i. e. of another shade of white). Yet in another state the many gems of different colours, set in a harmony, changed into golden bead or gem. In a supreme state all the said gems became a crystal.

Above and beyond the seven-fold state or seven-tiered state, there arose a harmonious golden pillar. As I ascended over it I saw many wonders which are beyond words. There were also oppositions which I came across as I climbed it up. There at one stage, Shaktis or goddesses came in thousands and tried to tempt me. But by the power of grace I overcame their insinuations and rose up to the top portion of that great pillar, i. e. top portion with (hanging) bell (Mani Mudi). Over it above was the flag-point or the peak (Kodi Mudi) of pillar.

NOTE : The bell-point and the flag-point are in the top portion of the golden pillar (possibly they are symbolised by the golden flag-post or flag-pillar of South Indian temples — i. e. the dhvaj Stambha). The bell-point is the top portion where bells of sound are hung and the flag-point is the peak point where flag or symbolical form of flag is kept.

Over the flag-point which is the peak of the golden pillar there stood a golden temple made of the purest gold of 1008 carat purity or refinement. Seeing the temple I entered into its main gate without shyness or reservation (in mind). At the gate were seen innumerable crores of gods and goddesses. They were in five different colours such as white, red, etc. They made kind enquiries among themselves as to who I was. I went ahead and reached into an inner gate where there were the five gods (i. e. the five godheads namely, Brahma, Vishnu, Rudra, Maheshwara and Sadasiva). They directed me further to a beautiful inner gate or inner gate with hanging bells on the doors (or inner gate and its doors studded with gems of light—Mani Voyil), where two beings of Male and Female (i. e. Ardhanāreeshwara) met me and showed the gate of the inmost sanctum of the Temple. I saw it in love, and in the inmost sanctum I found the Mother Ananda Valli, the Mother of Bliss. I received Her Grace and took in Amrita of Bliss. By Her upholding Grace, I entered into the Presence of Lord Nataraja, the Supreme and Universal Dancer or Player in Knowledge. What I got in His Presence, the Lord alone knows.

“The vision I had in Anip Ponnambalam, the purest golden world of Knowledge is verily wonderful, O girl ! it is verily wonderful. ”

Stz. 10 "The body of Ignorance itself has become transformed in this very life into a body of Grace (i. e. Knowledge-body) and as a result of which it has become deathless for all times and in all places (i. e. in all the worlds and in any and every place and situation) and it cannot die by any means whatsoever. I have got such a Grace-body What a wonder! What a wonder!"

NOTE: The stanza clearly shows that the Swami's transformed deathless physical body could live on for all times in any place and circumstance, i. e. even in the conditions and surroundings of the untransformed subconscious earth-nature and in the midst of men of unevolved nature with their gross physical bodies being submerged in subconscious nature. There is no dilemma, here, that having become a deathless body it should inevitably disappear by dematerialised dissolution, unable to live on in such conditions as aforesaid. So it is a case of natural and spontaneous deathlessness as suited to an earthly life. According to the Swami, the attainment of Grace-body or Knowledge-body always implies the attainment of the triple deathless body at the physical, subtle-physical and causal levels of existence. The Swami signifies the triple deathless body as constituted by Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha (or Arul deha, the Grace-body). When Jnana deha the Knowledge-body or Grace-body fully emerges into the physical the transformations of the other two bodies already under states of partial transformation are also taken up and quickened, completed and even spontaneously perfected to attain their deathless states, overcoming all obstacles and difficulties due to the contagion from the unregenerate universal Subconscious and due to the interchange of bodily forces from the untransformed people around. Joti Agaval poem is a first pointer to such an emergence when there takes place finally a simultaneous transformation of all parts and cells and their substances of the Swami's physical body also. This stanza now under consideration points out the permanence of the transformed and divinised state of physical body in its own right. The states of the material physical body itself both that not only death was cancelled but the disintegration and decomposition were also done away with and even changed (i.e. changed into the positive values of integration). In fact the Swami speaks of his deathless, decayless and indestructible physical body as ever-growing and ever-prospering. It became like a full grown golden mountain, a vast enlarged body (பேர் உடம்பு), because of the integral deathless nature of the triple body—physical, subtle and causal (See Vol I—ch XVII—significance of eternal deathless body).

Thus, we see that the Swami's eternal deathless body implied a permanent indestructibility in its own right as a material physical body of the earth, that is to say, such a body would continue to have its own physical existence intact without decomposition even after the departure of soul. However, it may be noted that in the case of his dematerialisation of body, his soul was one with and inseparable from his vast deathless body, and the Supreme Divine manifested on the earth at his place in order to become identified with him both in body and soul for a collective purpose and thereby bring about the unique dematerialisation (12—44—53) and fix the deathless substances of his body into the earth-nature. It was a divinised body—we may say the Divine's own earthly physical Body—that was so sacrificed in the concrete Presence of the Divine—a Presence as confirmed in "Sabai Villambaram". The Swami often said that the Lord gave him here His Body, His Substance and His Grace—nay, whole of Himself unreservedly. தன் உடலும் தன் பொருளும் தன் உயிரும் என்னிடத்தே தந்தான் (12—29—36); தன் தேகம் எனக்கு அளித்தார் தம் அருளும் பொருளும் தம்மையும் இங்கு எனக்கு அளித்தார் (12—41—1).

Further, the Swami's reference to his triple deathless and indestructible body அழியாத வடிவம் அவை மூன்றும் is of much significance and it implies that each of these is deathless and eternally indestructible in its own right and existence and that they are so, also in their total integral existence. This means that the Swami had supramentalised his mind, life and the physical in each of the said three bodies, each in its own way having become deathless and indestructible for eternal time, apart from their deathless integral existence by which he could move and operate simultaneously in all of them together. As a corollary, we deduce that if the Swami's soul had departed from the body instead of dematerialising it, it would be evident that his transformed golden material physical body (after the soul's departure) would have continued to exist in its own right and remain indestructible for an eternal time, even possibly influencing the bodies around in the matter of transformation. But his dematerialisation had a greater collective purpose and so it was done by the divine will.

“I was lying in the ocean of darkness without the chance of seeing any shore whatsoever. But the supreme Divine gave me his Refuge and possessed me by His Grace and took me to the other Shore and gave me too His Grace which is the Sugar of Bliss. What a wonder ! What a wonder !

NOTE : The above song as well as the one in “the collection of songs ” (11—40—21) record the fulfilment of the Swami’s aspiration and prayer to cross over the dark ocean of Inconscient Darkness by the Substance of the Great Light and reach the other Shore of Bliss as referred to in 12—21—1. பொருட் பெருஞ்ஜோதிப் புனை தந்து இருட் பெரும் கார் அள்ளற் கடல் கடத்தி அக்கரை மேல் ஆனந்தம் கொள்ளற்கு அபயம் கொடு.

I take in Amrita of Bliss which dispels distress and afflictions. I have all-comprehending Knowledge by the power of Grace-Light. By the Grace-Light I have become also the Substance and Body of Knowledge and attained immortality of soul and body. My body has become cool. My life is jubilant full of vigour. My heart has grown and prospers (in the fulness of Love and Bliss). I am filled up with the true Substance of the nature of Truth. The Siddhi or Power of Knowledge and Perfection has come into me so as to cancel all the difficulties and dangers. INTRODUCTORY NOTE AND HIGH LIGHTS OF THE LYRICAL POEM :

The whole of this lyrical poem is translated and reproduced here. The Swami makes a review of his past and present experiences, the difficulties and sufferings undergone in the up-hill Journey, showing how he ascended into the world of Truth-Consciousness and how finally he got transformation of the physical body and attained its natural and spontaneous deathlessness. This may be considered to have been written after “Joti Agaval” poem (12—1) and also after the poem “Pon Vadivap Peru” (the boon of the golden body 12—21).

Now we shall deal with the highlights of this lyrical poem. Stanzas 1, 2, 18, 75 & 76 speak of the Swami’s ascent into the Truth-World by climbing up the Pillar of Transcendence (Turya Stambha) and he was kept beside the Supreme and Universal Lord on His right side. The Lord adorned the Swami’s hand with a golden bracelet—stz. 4; the Lord enraptured him with bliss by raising him up there into the divine seven-tiered Terrace or Terrace of seven-fold states (i.e. Tertiary Super-mind), and in one of its ascending levels (literally, a Mountain), the Lord gave him a concavely open umbrella, fine clothing and golden coins and above all the gift of a Divine Life—stz. 42.

The Lord made him ascend into the high-seated Truth-world and formed all the steps for descending but without descending (as it were)—stzs. 18 & 62. The Swami affirms his unity with the Divine in Being and Nature thus: “The Lord is within me and I am within the Lord. What I am and have is verily what the Lord is and has”—stz. 25. The Lord showed him the Play of Knowledge and the Realm where He plays—stz. 19. The physical body is filled with the Great Divine Light in its inner and outer levels—stz. 22. The Lord showed him or gave him the Knowledge as to how the souls are linked up with or infused into the bodies (i.e. in birth) and how soul could be separated from the body (i.e. in death) and also how it could be kept up inseparable from the body (i.e. in its deathless state)—stz. 31. The Lord showed him the subtle physical world as integrated with the gross physical, removing the cover of falsehood between them—stz. 32. The time had come to possess the infinitely Vast Golden Light of Grace and he possessed it and all the impurities have been burnt away and the ego has been rooted out and the body, being filled with the golden Light, has grown full like a luminous golden mountain, i.e. it has become a vast or vastly extended deathless golden physical body—stzs, 36. 37. By revealing to him the Knowledge-Play of Cittrambalam (Supermind) the Supreme Divine (Sivam) became revealed and the Lord has crowned him with a crown (i.e. a crown of direct Light) giving him the all-achieving Knowledge-Power (Siddhi)—stz. 94 and 98.

By The Divine Light the Divine possessed and ruled him first as His servant of Love, then as His child of Love, then as His friend of Love and finally made him enter into an all-embracing oneness with Himself declaring that He and the Swami were one—stz. 72 & 96. Thus, love as of the servant, love as of the child, and love as of the friend are all taken up and subsumed in the supreme Love for the Divine which gives him the realisation of the integral Truth-Consciousness which is at once Love, Light, Power and Knowledge. The Swami observes that Lord, the Father, has proclaimed him as His endearing Son—stz. 83.

The three poises or planes of the Truth-World are also referred to in this poem. By climbing up the Pillar of Transcendence (Turya Stambha) he ascends into Davala Mādam the white terrace, i.e. Sat Overmind—stz. 75; he is lifted up by the Lord into the seven-tiered divine Terrace (Deiva Mādam, i.e. Tertiary Supermind) and he is kept beside the Lord on His right side in the Shore and Realm of the Transcendence (stz. 42, 68, 76). He realises the Supreme and Universal Divine, Sivam, in Cittrambalam—stz 94. He realises the play of the Divine Light in Cittrambalam and Ponnambalam, the Comprehending and Apprehending Supermind (stz. 99 and 100), where the Divine becomes respectively one-in-one and two-in-one (stz. 44). He sees all the crores of worlds, andas, their contents and workings and, also all the crores of bodies, pindas—stz. 93. He affirms his oneness with the Divine—stz. 96

Stzs. 40 to 43 are consecutive in their sense and significance. The seven-tiered divine Terrace (ஏழு நிலைகள் ஒங்கும் தெய்வ மாடம்) or seven-fold state of divine Terrace refers to the tertiary supermind into which he is lifted up by the Divine. The Divine Terrace (Deiva Mādam) is elsewhere spoken of by the Swami as Pon Mādam, the Golden Terrace, or Maṇi Mādam the Diamond Terrace, i.e. Terrace of Diamond Light, or Mei Jnana Mani Medai, the Terrace of Truth-Knowledge (11-26-5). This divine Terrace is beyond Davala Mādam, the white Terrace which is Sat Overmind, (stz. 75) and is beyond the reach of the three god-heads (stz. 40), and is in the realm of the Mountain of Light (Joti Malai) where God is realised and Amrita of Bliss and the Unique Consciousness are attained (stz. 41), and the beings of this Heaven (the Heaven of the Blessed) bless him (stz. 43)—cf: “I am kept by the Lord in the midst of the beings of this country of diamond Terrace” (11-36-14 & 15, 48). The poem “The Island Sun” of Sri Aurobindo, though quoted elsewhere in another context, is again repeated here to indicate the seven-fold state of this high-seated heaven (i.e. the tertiary supermind).

“I have sailed the golden ocean
And crossed the silver bar;
I have reached the Sun of Knowledge
The earth-self's midnight star.

- (1) Its fields of flaming vision,
- (2) Its mountains of bare might,
- (3) Its peaks of fiery rapture,
- (4) Its air of absolute light,
- (5) Its seas of self-oblivion,
- (6) Its vales of Titan rest,
Became my soul's dominion,
- (7) Its Island of the Blest.
Alone with God and silence,
Timeless it lived in Time”.

(Last Poems—“The Island Sun”—p. 33—Numbers 1 to 7 are given by us)

NOTE: Golden ocean and silver bar refer to the golden gnostic overmind and the white Sat Overmind respectively.

Now we like also to distinguish this seven-fold state which is here spoken of clearly to be in the Divine Terrace (தெய்வ மாடம் Deiva Mādam) ascended and realised by the Swami, from another seven-fold state seen by him only in vision at a lesser level, i.e. in the range of Overmind Gnosis before reaching into the Truth-World. The latter may correspond possibly with the “seven immortal earths beneath a triple mystic Heaven” of Supermind pointed out by Sri Aurobindo in “Savitri” Bk 11—cto 1—p. 754. This latter seven-fold state is mentioned in the poem “Anip Ponnambalatte” (1—V—7) which begins with a vision of the mountain of Light (Joti Malai) and the Swami also ascends a golden pillar to reach into the Truth-World. So, it should be a vision in Paranāda, i.e. in the range of Overmind Gnosis, because in the poem “Anubhava mālai”, the vision of the Mountain of Light is mentioned in stz. 54, i.e. the Light of Truth-World is seen from an immediately lower level. Elsewhere the Mountain Light is spoken of as in its own realm proper, i.e. as in the Truth-World (12—37—44; 12—1—693). However, the distinction between a mere vision from a lower level below the Truth-World and an actual vision and realisation in the Truth-World proper is brought out by the Swami's consistent use of the word தோன்றிற்று for the former, and the word கண்டேன் (Kandēn) for the latter. "Kandēn" in Tamil not merely signifies vision but also realisation. The context has to be however kept in mind.

In the poem "Anip Ponnambalattē" it is described that after the vision of the said Mountain Light and the seven-storeyed Palace symbolising seven-fold state (i.e. vision in the lower level below Truth-World), the Swami ascends a golden pillar and reaches the top portion and from here are marked seven pure stages or states of the upward and inward going consciousness, namely, (1) diamond top (Mapi Mudi) or possibly the top border point of Sound, (2) the flag-point or the peak (Kodi Mudi), (3) the golden temple of absolutely pure gold, (4) the main gate, where numberless gods and goddesses (pure without a tempting nature as in the lower levels) are met with, (5) the inner gate where the five godheads guide him further, (6) the beautiful inner gate where the twin God and Goddess Ardhanāreeshwara are seen, (7) the inmost sanctum where the Mother Ananda Valli blesses him and feeds him with Amrita and finally leads him into the Presence of Nataraja, the Supreme and Universal Divine and he is alone with the Divine, i.e. in His Presence.

How coming back to the subject matter of the Keertan "Mei Arul Vyappu", the swami touches upon the difficulties encountered and sufferings undergone in the uphill-steps of his spiritual journey (படியிற் பட்டபாடு), since the age of twelfth year and upto the day of his full and complete realisation referred to in this poem. Possibly this denotes that he started seeking the Divine seriously and earnestly since his twelfth year. The difficulties and sufferings referred to would include not only those in the lower steps of the spiritual journey before realising the soul and self, and the Truth-Consciousness but also those of the physical transformation even after realising Truth Consciousness such as the difficulties mentioned under one of the "Vinnappams", i.e. disease, process of senility, fear, and attacks of death, etc. These difficulties encountered in transformation of the body were due to the ego of the physical body and they were eventually overcome by the Light, and deathlessness is attained (see poem 12-28). If one hears those difficulties, his heart, even if it be made of iron or stone, would be moved to melt. Now the Swami has reached unto the Divine and enjoys the Bliss and Grace. Making a review of the earlier difficulties and sufferings, he observes that they have all been overcome and they have turned good so as to lead him unto Bliss (stz. 77-79); his heart rises up in gratitude to thank the Lord for what all he owes to the Divine Grace. His present exalted state of Bliss and transformed deathless body bring into him the feelings of an intense gratitude combined with a sense of extreme humility and consequently in some of the stanzas (stzs. 66, 67 & 75) he recalls or refers himself as mean as a dog and even meaner than a worm within a worm, possibly because of remembering his earlier dog-like or worm-like bodily animal nature which should have given him much difficulty particularly in the transformation of his bodily cells. The Mother, Sri Aurobindo Ashram, also has mentioned about the crucial difficulties, pain and sufferings that one has to undergo in transforming the animal nature of the human body.

"I have a queer feeling that a kind of.....as though scales or bark of trees, scales of tortoise were melting and the body itself is not like this (Mother makes the gesture opening out as though the body were bursting and towards the Sun)as though some thing hardened that must fall away because it does not receive.....It is a strange sensation. If one could sustain long enough for the thing to melt then that would be true beginning"—(Bulletin, Nov. 71 - P. 103).

However, one effect of this lyrical poem which was sung for the common people at large is that it brings into a keen contrast the extreme humility of the Swami's being and nature, and his exalting state of Bliss and unity with the Divine made possible by Grace—the Grace that could transform him into the deathless nature of mind, life and body, despite the difficulties of a mean animalistic bodily nature including atavistic tendencies of the body derived not only from the immediate and remote human heredity and parentage but possibly also from the distant animalistic heredity of the by-gone ages. This being a poem on the Grace of Truth, the Swami highlights the power of Grace and observes that even his love for the Divine was made possible because of His Grace—stz. 10. But, elsewhere in other poems, and in contrast to the above said humility, he speaks in an affirmative tone with overriding personal authority but in a divine mood or exalted state saying, "I can perform the five universal functions. I am one with the Divine". People will consider me verily as God" (12—9—9). "I am an instrument through whom the infinite Vast Grace-Light will progressively manifest for the whole benefit of the world" (12—25—5).

In stanzas 14, 29 & 98, the Swami observes that he (i. e., his body) was trained by the Divine into the science and Knowledge of deathlessness of body and for that he was crowned with the direct crown of Light. Sri Aurobindo envisages the possibility of even a quick and sudden transformation of the physical body if the Light stays overhead, though this view stands in contrast to his earlier observation that it would take more than 300 years for the physical transformation of the material body to become complete (see "Perfection of the Body" in his book "Supramental Manifestation"—p. 28 & 33).

As for the training in transformation of body by the Divine, we may quote here the Mother's observations, rather Her body's reactions, in the course of its transformation after the universal manifestation of the supramental Light, which transformation as a consequence implies also a collective impact on the earth-nature and its gaining of the ground therein for a new creation, however imperceptible that impact and gain now may be to the outer view of the people.

The Mother's body still continues to be under a progressive transformation and it is not yet completed' on the date of these observations.

"As for the body it is being trained to live only through the Divine, on the Divine, for everything when the physical will get converted it will be a solid thing ... a concrete realisationso the body is in the process of training itself... a process of adaptation is neededThe transition It is a question of plasticity. To be able to bear and transmit .. presenting no obstruction to the Power that wants to manifest Itself". (Bulletin Nov. 71, p. 97—99).

"What we call egoism—the egoism of Matter .that does not want to submit. I am catching my body all the while, here, there. there is the feeling...(for the cells I mean) life or disintegration and then if they do not contract as they have usually the habit to do, everything goes all right. But they too are learning ...It is as though by a kind of compulsion the body was being taught eternity"—(Bulletin, April 72, p. 75—77).

"Now with the supramental manifestation that experience (i. e. the experience of the higher consciousness and Light) has come in the body. The body has raised its head up and felt its freedom and independence".... "And this new vibration in the body (i. e. due to the supramental manifestation) has made me understand the mechanism of the transformation. It is not a thing that comes with a Higher Will, a higher consciousness imposed upon the body, it is the body itself that wakes up in its cells, it is a freedom of the cells themselves, altogether a new vibration, and the disorders are mended, disorders even antecedent to the supramental manifestation " (Bulletin, February 1958).

In stz. 69, the swami affirms that he got a deathless physical body that ever prospers. In stzs. 36 & 37 he declares that he has received the infinitely Vast Golden Light and that all the impurities and ego have been burnt away and his body has become fully grown as a luminous golden mountain. In effect, he affirms that his body has been transformed into a vast golden deathless physical body In stz. 38, he Her transformation was not completed and She with drew from her body on 17-11-1973.

says that the Lord kicked out the angry god of death, and cancelled death of his body and gave it an ever decayless state and he lived or came to live the many and long aeonic ages of the gods. The Swami speaks of the nature of his deathless body from different stand-points.

The concrete sense of living the life of a deathless body for limitless aeonic ages is exemplified by Tirumoolar who observes in his Tirumantram that he has actually lived the life of a transformed physical body for seven crores of years (i. e., for long ages) after realising the Divine Play in the Golden World of Knowledge and that his body has become plastic and supple and cool and that if the body is allowed to live on (by the free will of the soul) it will continue to live for numberless crores of years and that he will depart from the body only by the call of the Divine and not at the bid of the god of death (see TM: 74, 80, 93, 668, 2968). Tirumoolar's realisation of a deathless body which could live as long as he willed to live, essentially agrees with Sri Aurobindo's views of a deathless body, that is to say, a deathless body does not mean that one will be fettered to live for ever in the same body—though it is transformed into its deathless state—without ever having the freedom to depart from it and leave it behind, especially even after the Divine mission on the earth is over, but that one can choose to live as long as one likes.

Tirumoolar further observed in TM: 2968 that if god of death were to come upon him he would kick him out by the sword of knowledge and he asks, "who can stand against him (Tirumoolar) who is full of Tapas in his consciousness?" Possibly this last hint of Tirumoolar may agree with Sri Aurobindo's following observations distinguishing a personal yoga-siddhi from a natural collective Siddhi which imply according to our understanding the fixing of the powers of transformation and deathlessness of the body into the earth-nature or at the least an endeavour towards such fixation by bringing into manifestation the Divine Light on the earth (universally or at one's place) as a preliminary requisite.

"..... the endeavour towards this achievement (i. e. supramental transformation) is not new and some yogis have achieved it, I believe—but not in the way I want it. They achieved it as a personal siddhi maintained by yoga-siddhi—not a dharma of the nature" (On Yoga Tome I—p. 102).

"..... The complete change down to the physical was only sought for by a few and then more as a "siddhi" than anything else, not as the manifestation of a new Nature in the earth-consciousness"—Ibid, p. 110).

However, we would like to point out an essential difference between Tirumoolar's state of deathlessness and the Swami's. In stzs. 22, 57 and 61, the Swami says that he has received Grace and Substance of Truth; and Arut Cit Joti, the Light of Consciousness-Force manifesting Grace, has entirely possessed him and filled his physical body within and without (Pinda) and it has become inherently his own and that the dark god of death, i. e. a force of Inconscient Darkness, runs away from him, shaken in his foundation, and in fear of being shrunk or dissolved away by the touch of Arut Cit Joti. Elsewhere in poem "Suddha Siva Nilai" the force of Darkness is said to recoil back from him out of fear (12—29—10). In other words, the Divine Light in him has invaded into the Realm of Inconscient Darkness and gained ground or foothold there. That realm is also said to have been illumined by the Light stationed in his adhara ("Joti Agval", stzs. 751 and 752). In another lyrical poem which refers to his attainment of an ever deathless body without limitation of time, place and circumstances, a state which even the pure and the great by attainment of Knowledge of the Transcendence (Turya Pada) could not reach, the Swami also mentions that he crossed over the ocean of Darkness i. e. Inconscient Darkness and reached the other Shore of Bliss. (Anandap Parivu—stzs 3, 7, 10 and 11).

Sri Aurobindo in his symbolical epic poem Savitri foresees the eventual fate of Death, and describes how Savitri the incarnate Mother blesses god of Death allowing him to live awhile but as Her instrument and orders him to obey Her will and relieve the "soul of the world called Satyavan" from his black mask. The God of Death refuses to obey Her. Savitri applies her divine Force and Light on him and he suffers the consequence.

"Light was a luminous torture in his heart
 His darkness muttered perishing in her blaze
 He called to Night but she fell shuddering back,
 He called to Hall but sullenly it retired;
 He turned to the Inconscient for support,
 From which he was born, his vast sustaining self;
 It drew him back towards boundless vacancy
 As if by himself to swallow up himself:
 He called to his strength, but it refused his call.
 His body was eaten by light, his spirit devoured.
 At last he knew defeat inevitable
 And left crumbling the shape that he had worn.
 Abandoning hope to make man's soul his prey
 And force to be mortal the immortal spirit.
 Afar he fled shunning her dreaded touch
 And refuge took in the retreating Night.

In the dream twilight of that symbol world
 The dire universal Shadow disappeared
 Vanishing into the Void from which it came."
 (Savitri, Bk 10—cto 4—p. 748—749).

The Swami also was aware of the universal problem of Death and its solution on an universal and collective scale (see notes on stz. 1—V—10—61 and the relevant stz. 12—22—20). His utterance agrees with Sri Aurobindo's above lines, in spirit and substance.

Thus, we see that whereas Tirumoolar had the power of tapas or yoga-siddhi not only to defend himself from any possible attack of the god of death but also to overthrow him by the sword of Knowledge, that is to say, to maintain his deathless state of body by his force of yoga or yoga-siddhi, the Swami on the other hand had a natural and spontaneous deathless state of body rather due to the powers of Grace and Light which set the god of death to run away in defence and safety lest he should be shrunk or dissolved by the Light of the Swami's transformed body. This marked contrast has to be noted particularly in the background of the remarkable transformatory changes in the Swami's body that culminated in its deathless state and his foreseeing of the imminent Manifestation of the Supreme Divine Light on the earth and his drive for its collective fulfilment. He even felt himself to be an instrument for the progressive manifestation of the Vast Grace-Light for the whole benefit of the world. He openly assured the people of the imminent manifestation of the Divine and applied himself for its fulfilment and also preached deathless transformation of physical body. He himself claimed and affirmed in an unambiguous language that the Divine gave him a triple deathless body in order to give himself in self-play to one and all everywhere and that he had the power even to resurrect the dead into bodily life. (See "Irai Vara Vyambal" 12—25—5; "Ulakap Pēru" 12—30; "Suddha Siva Nilai" 12—29—stzs. 17, 27, 33, 34 & 39).

From his last written meessages, songs and spoken words to the disciples, it is evident that the Swami has played a role or part in the endeavour for bringing into manifestation and fixing the divine Light here on the earth at his place as a preliminary to or for the further eventual and consequential play of the Light (called the Grace-Play of the Divine) in transforming even the aged into youth and resurrecting the dead into bodily life. With his deathless body he also wanted to enter into and become one with all the physical bodies universally. For these purposes at once collective and evolutionary, he had to sacrifice his deathless body by dematerialised dissolution, though after living for about a year or two since attaining a triple deathless body.

Possibly Sri Aurobindo thought of his dematerialised dissolution of body like other general cases of dematerialisation in which body is dissolved to disappear before effectively realising the Truth-Consciousness and even before attaining transformation of the physical body, or much less before reaching its state of deathlessness. So it appears that Sri Aurobindo dispensed with the necessity of considering the Swami's case in its more essential details, and further, his attention was not drawn to the passages containing the unparalleled transformatory changes in the Swami's body.

However, in the background of the Swami's eventful life, his material physical body is proved to have acquired the characteristics of a natural and spontaneous deathlessness, more as a natural siddhi of Grace, with a natural and inherent power not only to live in the very ignorant conditions and surroundings of an untransformed earth-nature without any imperative or inevitable necessity of dissolving the body, but also to aim and work for bringing about the necessary conditions for transforming the earth-nature and for which he eventually sacrificed his deathless body by consciously resorting to an uniquely new process of dematerialised dissolution.

NOTE : This is the refrain of the lyrical song repeated after each stanza.

1. தனக்கு நிகர் இங்கு இல்லாது உயர்ந்த
தம்பம் ஒன்று அதே
தாவிப் போகப் போக நூலின்
தரத்தில் நின்றதே
கனக்கத் திகைப்புற்று அங்கே நானும்

Stz 1. “ As I climbed up and up an incomparably high towering pillar, it became fine like a thread when I got perplexed with great anxiety; but, O Lord! Thou drove away my fear and removed the anxiety and lifted me up and placed me firmly into the high State or Home (i.e. the Truth-world of Supermind) ”.

2. இங்கு ஓர் மலையின் நடுவில் உயர்ந்த

Stz 2 “As I ascended up and up a high pillar towering from above a mountain, it became thinner and thinner like a fine thread when I began to shake in fear and anxiety. O Lord, Thou, removed my anxious fear by raising me up and placing me firmly in the high-seated State and possessing me for ever in Thy Service”.

Stz. 10 “ When I remember Thy supreme Grace, my body becomes thrilled in ecstasy and my love grows into its fulness as if hunger is fully satisfied by taking food. The word of the wise that abiding love alone can fulfil seems to have lost its value, because Thou hast given Thyself in Grace to me, to one who is without a trace of love ”.

NOTE : The Swami observes that by Grace, Love also develops. In other words, when by Grace one is open to God, i.e., remembers Him as a Presence in the heart Love naturally expressess itself. It is not as if that one has to make efforts to love Him. This is one way of saying about Love. Love flows spontaneously when one remembers and feels His Presence by His Grace. God is verily Love.

Stz. 11 “As I remember Thee over and again, sweetness comes into my thoughts of remembrance. My heart shudders to think of going to any one else other than Thee. Shall I call Thee Mother, as Thou hast possessed my whole being removing all the sufferings whatsoever? O my Mother, I do not bear love for Thy Feet (in this birth). But then, had I love for Thee in my past birth (to merit Thy Grace in this birth)?”

Stz. 13 “Thy Grace, which is equal for all beings, specially sought me and showed me the State which is hardly attainable even by efforts of discipline over a very long time, and established me in the Light filling Thyself within my inner and outer being. Why have Thou specially chosen me? Is it Thy play here on the earth in honouring me by giving a seat of honour to one, a dog-like creature?”

Stz. 14 “O Lord! Thou gave me the Ambrosia of Knowledge which I took in and grew in concentration but to the astonishment of Brahma, Vishnu and Indra who bit their teeth (in jealousy). O Compassion which trained me (my body) into the body's knowledge of deathlessness. What recompense shall I make to Thee? It is difficult for me to say. O Ordainer.”

NOTE: The physical body is tamasic, full of inertia. The body knows a thing only by doing it. Body's knowledge of deathlessness means its attainment. It is not a mental knowledge. For the body, to know a thing is to do it, to realise it (for e.g., it knows bodily exercises such as swimming only by doing it). The Swami's body had become conscious by its divine Light which trained it into its deathless state.

Stz. 31 “Thou recognised my will of desire to know all the varied nature of the expansive universe and its worlds, and accordingly, gave me that knowledge by kindling the consciousness. Then Thou also gave me the Knowledge as to how souls are infused into the bodies (in birth) and how soul departs or separates from body (in death) and how it can remain inseparable (as in the state of deathlessness of body i.e. to live a deathless bodily life).”

NOTE : The Knowledge of the relationship between soul and body in birth, death and deathless state cannot be a mere mental knowledge. It must be, in the context, an inborn or inherent knowledge in and of the body itself which has undergone transformation. This stanza also suggestively implies that the Swami or as a matter of fact any one who has attained deathlessness of body, would have also the freedom and power of his soul to depart from such a body in accordance with the divine will or by its own free choice and also to enter into a new body or take up a new divine body.

Thou showed me the state by which the gross physical nature got linked up or fused with the subtle-physical and the other tatvas (Bhūtādi), removing completely the falsity governing them ”.

NOTE : This stanza refers to the process of creation of the gross physical world and its link or unity with the subtle-physical world and the other worlds of the tatvas. The Swami saw the creation of the true physical matter, without the falsity governing it in its relationship with the other worlds (Bhūtādi).

NOTE : This stanza suggests the integrally unified functioning of heart, mind and body. It also indicates the nature of his luminous golden body, large or vast as a golden mountain. The Swami's body was filled with the golden Truth-Light and it had grown like a golden mountain. The integral working of the triple deathless body had made him attain a vast golden physical body (See ch XVII in Vol I—the significance of an eternal deathless body at the end of the chapter).

Stz. 37 “ Whenever there arose obscurity of consciousness within and without, Thou readliy removed it and gave me happiness (of the clarity of Knowledge). Thou playeth with one leg implanted down firmly (in the lower world of nature) and the other raised up in play of the dance of Knowledge. All the five impurities that gave troubles and sufferings have been rooted out ; and the sap of their root burat up ; the time came to possess the infinite Vast Golden Light of Grace and duly I have possessed it ”.

Stz. 38 “ Hail Victory to Thee ! O Lord ! Like the one Thou possessteth, Thou hast given me to possess the third eye of the Ajna centre and by which Thou hast burnt the power of desire and lust (Madana i. e. Kama) and reawakened it in a formless form (i. e. in its transformed pure nature or as pure Kama, the divine Will). Thou hast kicked away the angry god of death and cancelled death and even stopped decay or disintegration of body and changed it (i. e. into its integration). Thou hast made me live many long aeons of the age of gods (Kalpa). ”

NOTE : This stanza indicates that the Swami's body became not only deathless but also decayless or indestructible in its own right as the material body.

Tirumoolar observes that he lived in the transformed physical body for seven crores of yugas (i. e. for long ages) after realising the divine play in the Golden World of Knowledge and that his body became plastic and supple and cool and that if the body were allowed to live on (by the free will of the soul), it would contine to live for numberless crores of years and that he would depart from the body only by call of the Divine and not at the bid of the god of Death (TM : 74, 80, 93, 668, 2968).

NOTE: The Divine Terrace here refers to the tertiary poise of supermind. The seven-fold states indicate Sat, Cit, Ananda, Satya Jnana, (Truth-Knowledge) and Truth-forms of Mind, Life the vital, and Matter the physical, as obtaining in the lower Supermind.

Stz. 48 “Thou hast shown me the truth behind the Tamil alphabets அ (a) and உ (u) which (also) denote the numbers eight and two respectively Thou hast taken me up into the highest state of the vast Truth-world by combining or uniting அ & உ (the self and soul of my being or Tat Padam and Cjt Padam). Thou hast lit up the Flame of Knowledge within me and kept it up ever burning without the necessity of trimming it as

NOTE : The first letter of the Tamil alphabet அ (a) represents the self above; and the letter உ (u) the soul within, which comes out eventually into frontal manifestation. Self and soul join to realise the supermind. Both the said alphabets together form the letter ஒ (o) of the Omkara sound. In a long pronunciation of O, the sound of O naturally ends with the nasal sound of M, thus making invariably the sound of OM. Some of the Tamil alphabets are also used for denoting numbers. Thus, அ, உ denote the numbers 8 and 2 respectively. So by the numerical significances, the respective alphabets can be indicated.

God of Death is shaken in his foundation and runs out in fear of being shrunk or dissolved (by the Light of the Swami's body).

Sri Aurobindo in his symbolical epic poem “Savitri” foresees the eventual fate of Death, and describes how Savitri the incarnate Mother, blesses God of Death allowing him to live a while but as Her instrument and orders him to obey Her Will and relieve the “soul of the world called Satyavan" from his black mask. The God of Death refuses to obey Her. Savitri applies Her divine Force and Light on him and he suffers the consequence.

"Light was a luminous torture in his heart ...
His darkness muttered perishing in her blaze ...
His body was eaten by light, his spirit devoured ...
And left crumbling the shape that he had worn ...
Afar he fled shunning her dreaded touch ...
Vanishing into the Void from which it came ..."

Stz. 60 “ In a morning hour Thou fed me, when alone, with the sweet blissful Amrita of Grace and thereby made me cross over the cycle of birth and death. Thou gave me the high State (of Truth-Knowledge). All my songs, intuitions and enjoyments of Bliss are centred around or come from Thy Golden Feet and are verily Thy Feet. My consciousness will never pursue the obscuring sense-pleasures of the world ”.

NOTE : The cycle of birth and death here refers to its mode of operation in Ignorance. This has not only been surpassed and overcome, but replaced by a positive and divinely evolved spiritual mode of birth in Knowledge in this very life with powers of transformation and perfection leading to a physical deathless bodily life and, with such attainment the Swami can take birth directly in a new and divine physical embodiment in the future freely in Knowledge to fulfil the further divine mission of progressive evolution of the collective earthly life in Truth-Consciousness.

Stz. 61 "O Lord ! By becoming one with Thee I have received Grace and Substance of Truth. No more Shall I have even the least trace of fear for the Maya and Karma. O Arut Cit Joti (the Light of Consciousness-Force manifesting Grace), which is manifest in my inner and outer being and nature, sets the dark god of death to run away (in fear of being touched by the Light). O Supreme Source !."

NOTE : Arut Cit Joti which the Swami realised and possessed has transformed his physical material body into its natural and spontaneous state of deathlessness so as to live in the very conditions of the earth-nature. So Arut Cit Joti spontaneously keeps away the god of death and in stz. 57 dark god of death is said to run away to escape from being eaten by the Light. In the Poem Pon Vadivap Pēru (stz 14) the Divine is addressed as the Player of Knowledge in the Truth-world of the Vast Grace-Light of Consciousness-Force (Arut Perum Cit Joti). In stz. 12-22-20, the Swami in an hour of his victorious transformation commands Death or God of Death to withdraw and run away from the earth and the heaven and all other worlds and from the vast supporting base and realm of the dense mass of intense darkness (i. e. the Inconscient Darkness), becoming exhausted of the pith and strength of his existence He threatens him that he (the Swami) would wholly wipe him out of existence by inflicting wounds, in case he remained here any more. As the dear Son of the Great Godhead of Vast Grace-Light he (the Swami) has His sanction and command and so asks him (God of Death) to run away from him who is now a fortress of victorious strength. The first part of the stanza makes it clear that the Swami was well aware of the universal problem of death and its solution on an universal and collective dimension.

— தத்துவ வெற்றி பா 20

According to the lyrical song " Mei Arul Vyappu " (I-V-10-61), the god of death in fact fled away from the Swami, i. e. from his Truth-conscious physical Truth-body full of Arut Cit Joti, being shaken in his foundation and mortally afraid to be shrunk and dissolved by the Light of the Swami's deathless body. Thus, he obeyed the Swami's command as envisaged in the said reference or he had to flee away from the latter for his own safety of existence. This proves the Swami's essential victory over the force of death as operating in the earth-nature as also from its supporting base, the dark Waste of the Vast Inconscient. According to other stanzas (12—28—3 and 12—29—10), all the forces of darkness became afraid and recoiled back of their own accord and became in effect cancelled in the atmosphere of Swami's transformed being, nature and deathless body. Thus, it is seen that the forces of darkness, death and disintegration were finally conquered by the Swami, though individually, but with a collective impact and influence at his place as a representative place of the earth (see stanza 12—33—9 ; and I—III—5—4) and in the environmental atmosphere and fellowship of his Suddha Sanmarga (1—III—5—8 and 12—34—24, 25) and in his own atmosphere by which he could also self-give himself to anyone and everywhere for transformation of the nature and body (12—29—17).

However, the universal conquest of death by liquidating him universally as a collective evolutionary fulfilment is the next step ; and this has to be done in the very inconscient depth by the universal manifestation of the divine Light. It is in this line of fulfilment that the swami sacrificed his deathless and eternally indestructible body by dematerialisation in order to enter into all bodies universally and also in an attempt to bring and fix the Divine Light on the earth more especially at his representative place when and where the God of Vast Grace-Light was then manifestly present for the purpose. By the embracing union of the Divine with the Swami's deathless body on the earth, the Swami should have descended into the Inconscient with the Truth-Light of his being and nature and thereby dematerialised his deathless body. He was not seen in his closed room or elsewhere after 30—1—1874 (see stz 12—44—53 and “ Sabhai Vilambaram ” dated 30—1—1874)

Stz. 72 “O Lord ! Thou hast removed the anguish of despair and helplessness. Thou hast made me realise Thee by making me Thy loving servant, then Thy loving child or son, then Thy loving friend and finally the self-identified lover one with Thee in self-identity. Those on the earth below and those in the heaven above regard the reservation of Thy love for me as a case of partiality and they would consider Thee to have become partial”.

NOTE : This stanza gives a clue to the basis of the Swami's disciplined or Sadhana. Swami's love for the Divine as His consecrated and devoted servant or as His instrument of service, his spontaneous and guileless love and surrender for the Divine as of a child, his love for the Divine on an equal footing in the mutuality of loving friendship— all these are taken up and subsumed in the final all-absorbing and supreme Love for the Divine in self-identity which results in the integration of Knowledge, Power, Light and Love of the integral Truth-Consciousness. Sri Aurobindo said, though in another context, that in order to realise the Divine one should become at the same time and integrally a Brahmin, Kshatriya, Vaishya and Shudra—a man of learning and knowledge, a man of courage, valour and nobility, a man of mutual exchange in creative production of wealth and a man of physical labour and service.

Stz. 8 “O Light! O Light within the inner Light of that Light (i. e. Joti yut Joti yut Joti)! O Vastness of Space! O Infinity that contains all spaces through the said Vastness)! O Flame-Light of Lamp! O Treasure of Compassion that plays uniquely in the sky of Knowledge (Ambalam or Ambaram)! O Grace! Thou hast given me Amrita of Bliss.”

NOTE: Light within Light (Joti yut Joti) is the Supreme Light of the Supreme Reality within the Light of Consciousness-Force, i. e. Tat Joti within Cit Joti, or Tat Para Joti within Cit Para Joti. This is the integral nature of the Truth-Conscious Light as experienced in the comprehending supermind and it goes by the common name Cidambara Joti, the Light of the Sky of Truth-Consciousness and this is the supramental Light. “Light within Light within Light” (Joti yut Joti yut Joti) signifies the further development of the Truth-Conscious Light in the apprehending poise of Supermind where the Light of the individual soul also comes into a frontal manifestation.

“The Infinity containing all spaces through the Vastness of Space” (elsewhere referred to as “Infinity within the Vastness of Space”) signifies the “double infinite” of Sri Aurobindo, i. e. “Ubhayāmbaram” or “Ubhaya Veli” constituted of Tat Para Veli and Cit Para Veli, the biune infinite of Swami Ramalingam. It signifies the nature of the Truth-World, the Supermind. It is the spaceless infinite (வெறுவெளி) within the vast universal space (வெளி).

O Soul of my soul (or O Lord who has brought me forth)! O Lord of the eternal and great (or greater) Golden World of Knowledge (Pon Pēr Ambalam)! O Life of Cit Sabha that enjoys the Supreme Bhoga of Truth (Siva Bhogam)! O Love! Thou hast given me Amrita of Grace and Bliss”.

NOTE: Compare the word “Pon Pēr Ambalam” the great (or greater) Golden World of Knowledge with its synonyms “Peria Por Sabha” (10—II—13—2); and “Pēr Ādaka (p) Podu”, Āni (p) Pon Ambalam (Joti Agaval lines 52 & 47). Cf: “Udhiththu Oljir Pon Ambalam” (i.e., the source or beginning of Pon Ambalam 12—20—2) It refers to the apprehending supermind, called by Sri Aurobindo also as the greater supermind. The lower level or poise of Pon Ambalam or Por Sabha corresponds to the tertiary or lower supermind, and the higher level or poise of Pon Ambalam to the apprehending or greater supermind.

“The Lord will come. Receive and welcome Him to Vadalūr which is in the northern direction (i. e., north of the famous town of Cidambaram). If He comes, you can receive all the good boons”.

NOTE: This is the refrain of the song.

Stz. 1 “The Lord of Dance, who by raising his leg (in dancing pose) plays and excels in the beautiful and prosperous PON AMBALAM, the Golden World of Knowledge, will come (soon here on the earth). He is Lord of the Sky of Knowledge, Siva Cidambaram Bōdha (r). He is President of the divine session of the Truth-World (Deiva Sabhā Nātha (r).” “O Lord! Though there above is Peru Veli, the great Vastness of Universal Space (the Supermind) where Thou playeth, Thou hast decided to play in rhythm Thy dance of Knowledge here (too) in this (earthly) space (i. e. on the earth, on the large open ground of Vadalūr) so that those who become settled in Knowledge, by seeing Thy dance to the joyous satisfaction of their hearts and by drinking the Amrita of Sivananda, may serve Thee well ; O girl, if you tell the Lord thus He will come here (too) to play, in spite of His playing in Peru Veli, the Vastness of the Truth-World. So receive and welcome Him ''.

Stz. 2 “ There is no constriction of space (here on the earth at the large open space of Vadalur) for Thy play of dance. Here is (ample) space for Thy play of Knowledge. There Thou hast the Vastness of Universal Space for Thy play (i. e. Truth-World) where unto one can reach. Stz. 3 “ It is to enrapture Thy Sweet-natured Consort Sivakama Valli (the Shakti of Love and Conscious Will) by playing in dance with Her here, to free us (people of the earth) from the ignorant mode of Karma, to illumine us with Light and give us illimitable Bliss. This is the opportune time. Thou can play and abide here (on the earth at Vadalur) as well as there (in the Truth-World, at the same time) ” O girl ! if you tell the Lord thus He will come here surely.

O girl ! The Lord will come. Welcome and receive Him at Vadalur which is in the north direction (i. e. north of the famous Cidambaram town). If He comes you can receive good boons from Him.

NOTE : In the above poem, the Swami observes that the Lord of the Golden World of Truth-Knowledge has decided to come to the world at his large open space of Vadalur, though he plays in the Vastness of the Truth-World above. The secret of His remaining hidden or involved in the constricted narrowness of the Inconscient (ஒடுக்கில் இருப்பது என்ன உளவு கண்டு கொள்வீர் என்னால்) is to manifest His happy play here with the Goddess Siva Kama Valli, the Shakti of Love and Conscious Will, (i. e. to manifest the power of Love and Consciousness in evolution of the earthly life) and to free us all from the tangle of Karma and give us illimitable bliss. The divine Lord can afford to play here on the earth as well as there in the Vast Truth-World at the same time. In another poem (12-26), the Swami invokes the sleeping Lord who is the God of Vast Grace Light to get up from sleep. He calls the Lord, who has awakened him from darkness into light and transformed his body, to get up from sleep. The idea of the sleeping Lord (12-26) and of the hidden or involved Golden Lord in the constricted narrowness of the Inconscient (as in the above Keertan I—VII—5) agrees with that of the Being of the Inconscient referred to by the Mother, Sri Aurobindo Ashram. For details see Vol. I — Ch. XVIII-Part 2 - item 44 (A to F).

Further, this poem seems to make Vadalur, the Swami's resort, a symbolical and representative place of the earth and invokes the Lord to come at Vadalur to manifest by the Power of His Shakti the plays of Knowledge in order to purify us and our actions and give us enjoyment of bliss. Elsewhere in the poem "Pandu Adal" (1—III—5—5), the Swami observes that Uttaram or Uttara Jnana Cidambaram, i. e. Vadalur will be a universal centre common to all the people from all the directions உத்திரம் எனும் ஓர் பொதுவளர் திசை நோக்கி.

Further in the poem "Enna Punyam" (1—VII—6—6), he (the Swami) is called, in an inspired message of the Divine, as a representative of the earth, wholly identified with it, and with its evolution (kāraṇamum kāryamum Dharma Neeṃyāka). In "Joti Agaval" poem there are several stanzas which show that the supreme and universal Divine entrusted the Swami with the Mission of ruling the whole earth and all its people by the powers of his illimitable Grace-Light and his transformed nature and deathless body and thus make for a collective progress and fulfilment (12—1—99, 118 to 120 168, 169, 784 to 789, 793 to 795. See also 12—29—17, 34). In the poem "Irai Vara Vyambal"—"The coming of the Divine" (12-25-5)—he feels himself an instrument for the progressive manifestation of the divine Vast Grace-Light for the entire benefit of the world.

Stz. 5 “ The subtle divine sound, Ōmkāra nāda, inspires me with this message : “ The Lord who has a wonderful divine beauty, who is beyond the reach of words, who plays in Bliss in Manru the world of Truth-Knowledge so as to be worshipped in love by all the devotees, who is Cit Para(r) the Lord possessing Consciousness-Force in Cit Param or Cit Sabha (the Comprehending Session of the Supermind) and who is also the omnipotent Tat Para(r) the Supreme Reality, is quickly coming here (on the earth) to unite with you ”.

NOTE : This lyrical poem evidently belongs to an earlier period of the Swami's life, before the transformation of his body had set in. The Swami hears the subtle inner sound (Omkara sound) inspiring him with the intimation that the Divine Lord is coming to the earth to become united with him, i. e., in the conditions of earth-nature.

Stz 6 “The music of the divine Flute inspires me with this intimation : The Lord who is worshipped by Brahma and Vishnu and other godheads as Poorana(r), the Supreme and integral Divine, who is the Lord of Truth Consciousness (Meyyar), and who is the all-achieving Lord of Knowledge-Power (Ellām Valla Siddhar), is coming surely to see you who are verily the earth and its cause and effect ” (i e , its nature and embodiment, “ Kāraṇam (um) Kāryam (um) Dharaṇi Nee Āka Unnai Kāṇa”).

NOTE : This stanza shows that the Swami has a prevision and inspired intimation from the Divine that He is coming to the earth to see him not merely in his personal capacity as an individual but also or more properly as a collective individual, i. e. as the collective representative of the earth-consciousness, nay, as the very embodiment of the earth—and also to embrace him, play and unite with him (in the conditions of earth-nature) and give him purposely and wilfully the deathlessness of body (See other stanzas of the poem). Thus the divine sanction for deathlessness of body came to him only in recognition of his collective representative role of the earth-nature. Thus, stanzas 6 & 7 imply that his deathless body was meant for a collective world-purpose. Later when the Swami attained the state of triple deathless body he observes that it is meant for his self-giving of himself to all the people everywhere (12—29 -17) i. e. in transformation of their nature and body. This deathless body, again, he sacrifices after a year of active earthly life and that is done out of his universal compassion for all and in the effort for bringing and fixing the divine Light on the earth more especially at his place as a representative place of the earth, and also for entering into and identifying with all the physical bodies. The result was his dematerialised disappearance which was a method of sacrifice which he consciously chose for a divine and collective world-purpose.

Stz. 7 The powerful divine sound (Nada) inspires me with its firm message : “ Siddhar the divine Lord of Knowledge-Will who plays in the beautiful world of the Diamond Light of Knowledge (Maṇi Maṇṇu, i e. apprehending supermind) is Himself coming (here) to give you purposely by His imperative Will or by His compelling Grace, the gift of an eternal deathlessness of body. AN EXPOSITION ON “TATVA LOKAS” AND “KĀRANĀTEETA LOKAS” AND SOURCE OF THE TRUE WORD

The Swami's book of “Vyakhyana ” contains the subject “ Peria Purana Urai ” which is an explanation on the poem of Saint Sēkkiḷār. The Swami has dealt with the subject under five chapters. The Swami, in explaining the true source of inspiration for the true Word and more particularly for the opening line of the poem of Saint Sekkilar called “ Peria Puranam ”, “ the great history of saints and sages ”, has elaborated upon the gradations of worlds in the said five chapters. The five chapters are as follows :

1. “ Tatva Lokas ”, the worlds of tatvas or principles and powers of existence, and in this chapter the Swami gives the gradations of worlds from bhuta loka, the world of the elements upto Parā Shakti and Para Siva lokas and Paranāda loka—the worlds of the Cosmic Maha Shakti and Cosmic Ishwara, and the high Realm into which the most subtle sound called Paranda is received from the pure divine World farther beyond ;

2. “ Tātvika lokas ”—the gross worlds of evolution, i. e. the worlds of Brahma and Vishnu as evolved and evolving from the said tatvas or principles ;

3. “ Ādi Nitya Prēraka Mukti lokas ”—the intermediary link worlds of Rudra, Maheshwara, Sadasiva, Bindu and Nada who or which take their formations and positions in Suddha Maya or the Purer Nature but inspire and overrule, in and through their counter parts at lower levels and through their sub-powers, the realms of Earth or Prithvi, Prakriti Maya or Asuddha Maya (the impure Maya), Suddha-asuddha Maya (the mixed pure and impure Maya called Mohini). These intermediary worlds are the effectual (Karya lokas) or derived worlds, derived from their more immediate causal sources described under items 25 to 33 of the “ Tatva lokas ” ;

4. Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya lokas—the purer worlds of experiences that are attainable by spiritual disciplines such as Vedanta, Ashtanga yoga, various denominations of Saiva Religion and Saiva Siddhanta philosophy and other general ways of psycho-spiritual disciplines ;

5. Kāranāteeta loka, i. e. the integral experience of the super-causal worlds which not only includes all the lokas or worlds of tatvas and tatvikas given in the other chapters but also the farther world of Truth-Knowledge with its three or even more poises or sessions in the realm of “Vyapaka Vyapya” i. e., the supermind in which the Supreme Light of Being (Ateeta Suddha Jnana Prakasa, i. e. Tat Joti) and the Light of Consciousness-Force (Poorana Cit Prakasa, i. e. Cit Joti) integrally manifest and become the goal of supreme realisation (Iakshya anubhava), and also the yet farther worlds of Satcitananda. It also refers to the one indivisible Satcitananda and finally the Absolute, the Sivam.

The Swami has developed the above subject on the basis of his own integral realisation of the Truth-World and the worlds of Satcitananda. By his rich experience he has sought to explain the true source of inspiration for the opening line of Sēkkiḷār's poem which runs thus “உலகெலாம் உணர்ந்து ஒதற்கு அரியவன் Ulakelām yunarndu Ōdarku ariyavan—all the worlds being known, He is yet beyond description”. Swami Ramalingam observes that the first word “Ulakelām” (all the worlds) came to the saint-poet Sekkilar directly from the pure and transcendent world or Sky of Knowledge, Cidākāśa (i. e. the Truth-world of Knowledge, the supermind) which is beyond nada (nadateeta) and beyond all the manifested worlds or skies of Suddha Maya. It is the Word of Truth as it has manifested in and from Cit Sabha, the supermind proper, i. e. the comprehending supermind. The gradations of worlds have not been given by the said poet Sekkilar himself in his poem “Peria Puranam”. But Swami Ramalingam has elaborated upon this divinely inspired word “Ulakelām, all the worlds” and has given us the gradations of all the worlds and their ramifications in the said five chapters rather as a commentary.

We have dealt with the correlation and correspondence between the “Tatva Lokas” and the “Karanateeta loka” under a separate chapter. These tatvas to a large extent correspond with the tatvas dealt with in the Shakta and Saiva systems of Tantra school and more especially with the Saiva Siddhanta of the South which is its special development. A knowledge of these systems will give a general background for understanding the Swami's exposition of the gradations of worlds; however, it may be remembered that the Swami's connotations of the terms are more comprehensive and cut new grounds of experience far beyond the reach and scope of any of the said systems of spiritual discipline both on the mantra side and on the tatva side. However, in a larger sense, we may say, that he has made a synthesis of the truths of the traditional Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta systems with his newly found Truth-Knowledge, realised by ascent and possession of the Truth-World and the Worlds of Satcitananda. Even this treatment of the subject herein is only one mode of presentation of his new and early experiences of the Truth-World and the Beyond, in and through the adaptation of a language and terminology common to these schools.

He uses other ways and other modes of expression and presentation in his Tamil poems, coining new words and terms to express his mature realisation and transformation of nature and body. He has also adapted the terminology of the Truth-Conscious Yogi-Siddhar Tirumoolar of the bygone ages. So, as a matter of precaution and to avoid confusion in terminologies, we have to remember the context and purport of the language than rely on the outer forms of words. For example, the series of gradations of worlds as expressed by the Swami after the mode and style of Tirumoolar such as Para Jagrata, Swapna and Susupti and Turya (i. e. the Para states of waking, dream, sleep and super experiences within the Spiritual Mind Range) may get confused when the same is sought to be expressed by the Swami in his "Tatva lokas" and "Karanateeta Loka" as in the range of apara shaktis (i.e. apara iccha, jnana and kriya shaktis), apara bindu and apara nada. What is para in one system becomes qualified as apara in another system.

Further the Para shaktis (i.e. Para Iccha, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis), Parā Shakti and Para Siva, Para bindu and Paranada as used in the chapters "Tatva Lokas" and "Karanateeta Loka" come more properly in the range of summit overmind or overmind Gnosis. This para range is different from the above said Para states of Para Jagrata, Para Swapna, Para Susupti and Para Turya as adapted after Tirumoolar.

Further, even within similar systems and modes of expression on the mantra side, i.e. in terms of nada and bindu, we find that what the Tantra systems signify as Paranada (or Mahanada) and Parabindu (or Mahabindu or Kāraṇabindu) are denoted by the Swami respectively as (apara) nada and apara bindu of Suddha Maya, because he mentions karya bindu, karya nada and vak (i.e. bindu, nada and bija forming the tri-bindu) as derived from apara bindu (see items 28, 29, 32 & 33 of the "Tatva Lokas" and corresponding terms under "Karanateeta Lokas").

Further, it seems that the Swami has also attempted to present his findings in a new and free mode of expressions. This is seen particularly in the gradations of worlds described on the basis of the chain of series of bindu and nada (light and sound or vision and hearing or drushti and sruti). Here the words para and apara assume double significance i.e. higher and lower or former and latter. See Chart 7, Vol. I, and notes thereon. Para and apara assume a relative significance, without a rigid classification.

The Swami synthesises all systems with his Truth-Knowledge of the Truth-World (Cidambara Satya Jnana), by adapting their respective terminologies but always giving a more comprehensive and fuller or integral sense and significance to them.

Except for a few Tamil words of conjunction, the whole text consisting of the said five chapters has been wholly written by the Swami in Sanskrit words as adapted to Tamil language. The Text has been transliterated into the Sanskrit words but in the Roman script, showing within brackets the translation of the few Tamil words of conjunction used occasionally here and there.

In a preamble to the said five chapters, the Swami has made an exposition on the true source of the word of Truth and on this basis he has given the gradations of all the worlds that are meant and covered by the first inspired opening word of Saint Sekkilar's poem, i.e. "Ulakelam" meaning "all the worlds".

(A) The Swami distinguishes various sources of inspiration, i.e. of the inspired word and speech namely :

1. the word of man derived from his lower egoistic nature,
2. the word of devas or gods from the equally stressed gunas of ego (Sama guna ahankara shabda),
3. the word of the munis from the higher gunas of ego,
4. the word of Brahma and Vishnu from the Prakriti of nature,
5. the word of Rudra and Maheshwara from the realm of Suddhāsuddha Maya which is the cause of the worlds manifested by and through the pure-impure sound and sense (Suddhāsuddha Shabdārtha prapancha Kāraṇa), the said word being the effectual word (Karya) i.e. expressive word derived from the four kinds of Vak or speech namely sukshma (possibly a grade of para vak) the subtle and higher word, pashyanti the seeing word or word which carries the vision of its idea and image of substance, madhyama the middle kind (i.e. mentally formulated thought) and vaikari the gross form of speech (i.e. the four effectual kinds of speech being formulated and heard and spoken out or expressed in and by the pure-impure heart and mind, though derived or descended from higher and purer levels to which as yet there is no direct access by ascent),

6. The Pranava word of Sadasiva, the true effectual word of expression, spoken or written, though carrying a force of truth, is derived from Aparā Bindu of Suddha Maya (see items 30 & 33 of Tatva Lokas) which is the cause of the worlds manifested by and through the purer sound and word and speech (Suddha Shabdārtha Prapancha). In the Chapter "Adi Nitya Preraka Mukti Lokas", it is found that Sadasiva has a purer and subtler Pranava substance (Sukshma Pranava Anu of Suddha Maya) than Rudra and Maheshwara ;

Impelled by the Bindu (i.e. Aparā Bindu) Shakti above him, he delivers his Pranava word carrying pranava force and substance. So the expressive word and speech coming from him is regarded by the Swami as containing a force of truth, though it is not the ideal Word of Truth itself as received from the Transcendental Cit-Shakti. Sadasiva has his own world which contains a part as “Pranava Sadasiva Loka”, i.e. a creative subtle world of Sadasiva, possibly connected with Pranava sound and also the subtle life and mind substances and energies.

(B) All the above six kinds do not constitute the “True Word” as they are not derived directly from the divine transcendental source of Grace திருவருட் துரியத் திருவாக்கு but at their best arise from Aparābindu, (Illumined Mind) which has its still higher source in Parabindu (in summit overmind). The “True Word” is the ideal Word (lakshya vak) which is the cause of the transcendental and universal world of names and forms (Turya Shabdārtha Prapancha Kāraṇa) and which the Supreme Cit Shakti manifests by impinging or impressing Herself upon Parabindu (in the overmind Gnosis or summit overmind range), and as a result, a rhythm or vibration of sound (nada matra i. e., without formulation of expressive word or form of speech embodying the truth of idea) is produced and it brings out the word. This impinging or impressing of Cit Shakti upon Parabindu is described by the Swami as meant for bringing out the true intuitive significance or substance (பொருட் புலப்பாடு) of the rhythm of inner sound (நாதம்), and as a close operation (பக்கமும் பக்கத் தன்மையும்) between Cit Shakti of the Transcendence and Sukhārambha Cit Shakti (i. e. Parabindu) of summit overmind which is close to the Transcendent Cit Shakti, and also as a close operation between Parabindu and Nada which arises in Parabindu itself (see items 100 to 103 & 32—“Tatva Lokas”)—cf : SA : Passage (2) herein below.

“பொருட் புலப்பாட்டின்கண் சிற்சத்தியானது பரவிந்துவில் பதிதலும் அதனால் அதன் கண் நாதம் உண்டாதலும் உண்மை ; ஆதலில் பக்கமும் பக்கத் தன்மையும் பெறப்பட்டன.”—(வியாக்கியானம் ப 38).

The rhythm of inner sound becomes embodied or clothed as the expressive word of Truth (வரலாற்று புலப்பாடு i. e., as the true expressive word) and is received in its own native language, without mixture or diminution and alteration (சிதைக்கப்படா அளவை), in transmission into the non-intervening silent mind and heart of the recipient in order to purify his inner and outer being “வரலாற்று புலப்பாட்டின் கண் அகத்தும் புறத்தும் சுத்தி செய்தற்கு கருணையால் அன்றி அம்மொழி தோன்றாது. ஆதலில் சிதைக்கப்படா அளவைத் திறன் பெறப்பட்டது.”—(வியாக்கியானம் ப 38).

This True Word is called by the Swami as திருவருட் பர வயிந்துவத்துவ துரியமொழி அல்லது பரசிவ திருவருட் துரியமொழி i. e., the True Grace-Word of Transcendence manifested through Parabindu or the True Word of Transcendence manifested through Para Siva (the Cosmic Ishwara) or shortly as the true Word of Transcendence (turya vak). It is not like the pranava word of Sadasiva that rises up from aparabindu (Illumined Mind) and dissolves in it. Aparabindu is a derived formulation of the Parabindu (of the overmind gnosis); and though its word rises by the force of Parabindu which is a field of Grace, it has a beginning and end, as it is not directly formed out of the transcendent source.

“தாம் திருவருட் பரவயிந்துவ சத்தியான் அபரவிந்துவின் கண் உற்பத்தியாய் அதனிடத்தே லயம் ஆதலில் ஆதியும் அந்தமும் உடைத்து” —

(னியாக்கியானம் ப 39)

We may note that Parabindu and Paranada, Parā Shakti and Para Siva are closely inter-related and they are in the ranges of summit overmind which falls in Suddha Maha Maya. The powers or Shaktis of the Summit overmind are called as the Para Shaktis (see Chapter “Karanateeta Lokas” and also corresponding items 97 to 103 in the Chapter “Tatva Lokas”; see Chart 20). From the Swami’s above modes of naming the “turya vak” as Parasiva turya vak, or Parabindu turya vak, it is evident that Para Siva, the Cosmic overlord also comes within the realm of Para Bindu. As formulated powers of the supreme Cit Shakti, Parā Shakti the Cosmic Maha Shakti, and Sukhārambha Cit Shakti (items 100 and 101 of TATVA LOKAS) come within Para Bindu, because under item 100 the immanent pervasiveness (vyapti) of Sukharambha Cit Shakti (possibly corresponding to Tapo overmind) is said to be co-extensive with the range of Parabindu and She extends further (Vyapaka) into the realm of Parasiva (see sub-items 4 & 5 of item 100 of “TATVA LOKAS”). So Parā Shakti (possibly corresponding to Cit-tapo overmind—item 101) and Para Siva (possibly corresponding with Sat overmind—item 102) shall also come within the range of Parabindu. Para Nada (item 103) is farther beyond Parā-shakti and Para Siva, though connected with them through Para bindu (see items 100 to 103 of “TATVA LOKAS”). See also notes on “Sukharambha Cit Shakti (Parabindu)” under Chapter S. No. 99.

To summarise the contents of what is said in the foregoing paragraphs : The True Word is said to descend from Cit Sabha of Cidākāśa, the supreme session of the Sky or World of Truth-Knowledge (Supermind proper), i. e. from the pure Transcendence when the supreme and universal Cit-Shakti of the Cidakasa impresses upon or impregnates Para Bindu (in Suddha Maha Maya, i. e. in the overmind Gnosis) and as a result the pure undifferentiated rhythm of inner sound (nada matra) vibrating with its substance of truth (of idea, will, feeling, sense, etc) is heard and it clothes or embodies itself in its expressive word. This word of Transcendence is called Turya Vak, or Grace-Word of Transcendence manifested through Parabindu or Parasiva (Tiru Arut Para Baindava Turya Vak or Para Siva Tiru Arut Turya Vak).

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's lines :
[Last Poems-Word of Silence, p.19]

"But now I listen to a greater Word
Born from the mute unseen omniscient Ray :

The Voice that only Silence' ear has heard
Leaps missioned from an eternal glory of Day "

NOTE : The omniscient Ray seems to refer to Cit-Shakti and the eternal glory of Day to Para Bindu, and the Voice to Nada Matra.

(C) Words having a lesser source of inspiration may descend from Para Bindu (Overmind gnosis or Suddha Maha Maya) or even from the still lower planes such as aparabindu which would come more properly in Suddha Maya, the spiritual mind and overmind ranges. Thus, the realms of Parabindu and aparabindu are the fields or planes of Saguna, the Personal Ishwara.

(D) However, the Swami further defines the true word more comprehensively thus : " The transcendent Word of Grace (Tiru Arut Turya Vak) arises in the freedom of the being without any trace of ego and due to the sanction of the Divine Will when Cit Shakti brings it from the Transcendence or from beyond Nadanta (i. e. beyond Paranada) through her Ananda Shakti into the overflowing fulness of silence of the Siva Jnani, the perfect sage of Truth who receives it " —(Book of " Vyakhyana " p. 41).

" சிவ சுதந்தரத்தானும் நிரகங்காரத்தானும் சிற்சத்தி ஆநந்தசத்தித்
துவாரமாக நாதாந்தத்திருந்து சிவஞானிக்கண் மோதம் ததும்ப மொழிந்தருளிய
திருவருட் துரிய மொழி. " —(வியாக்கியானம் ப 41.)

Compare with Sri Aurobindo's lines :

" The sound of Wisdom's murmur in the Unknown
A gold supernal Sun of timeless Truth Poured down the mystery of the eternal Ray
Through a silence quivering with the word of Light "
SAVITRI, Bk 2, cto 11, p. 300.

(E) Elsewhere in the Book of " Upadesha " (p. 105) the Swami explains four kinds of Word and Speech thus :

1. " Apra Vak " is the gross word,
2. " Para Vak " is the asariri vak that is without body and is heard outside in the atmosphere,
3. " Turya Vak ", the Transcendent Word manifests in the Knowledge, i.e. in intuitive consciousness,

4. " Anubhava Vak " manifests itself in identity with and as the All " (i.e. as the Supreme and universal All-existence). Thus, the Anubhava Vak is the highest vak that arises or descends as the Supreme and direct Word of Truth of the Transcendence and seems to correspond with the said true Word which Cit-Shakti brings directly from Nadanta into the silent Siva Jnani.

The Turya Vak has been already elaborated as descending from the Transcendence but arising by the impinging of Cit Shakti on Para Bindu (in overmind Gnosis).

(F) Again in the book of " Upadesha " the Swami explains " five constituents of Pranava Word as constituted by the letters a, u, m, bindu (the point of Light symbolised by the point or dot) and nada (the audible sound vibration symbolised usually by a semi-circular curve called ardhachandra, possibly denoting part of a wave length). Then the five constituents go to make the subtle sound of " Om " symbolised by  Now the Swami proceeds to say that the five vaks or five kinds of word and speech arise in the Pranava sound " Om " and they are named as :

1. Panchami, possibly the Para Vak,
2. Sukshma, possibly a lesser grade of Para Vak which is yet subtle,
3. Pashyanti, the seeing Word,
4. Madhyama, the middle kind, i.e. the word of luminous mental thought, and
5. Vaikari the gross word of outer speech.

These are respectively located in the chakras or inner centres of the body namely mooladhara (Spinal base), nabhi (stomach), heart, throat and Ajna in the forehead (Book of " Upadesha ", p. 108) Thus " Pashyanti " corresponds to the heart centre, the usual source of the Mantra ; Para Vak to the Mooladhara.

(G) Now coming back to his preamble on the source of True Word in the Book of Vyakhyana : the seer-poet and yogi Swami Ramalingam finds that the first word " Ulakamelam " in the opening line of the said poem has come down from Cit Shakti into Sekkilar, which She has brought as a word of Nirguna from Cidakasa or Poorana Nishkala, i.e. from the sky of Truth-Knowledge the supermind or from the integral and partless Nirguna Brahman. This is known as nirguna vakya of Para Siva. The rest of the words of the said line " Yunarndu odarku ariyavan " has come down into Sekkilar as vakya of nirguna from the Ekadesha Nishkala and this too is the Nirguna Vakya of Para Siva. As the Word or Words spring from the silence of Poorana Nishkala Nirguna, this Nirguna shall not be mistaken for the Static Brahman of the various schools of philosophy which according to them is the wordless incommunicable Silence. Here, therefore, the Poorana Nishkala Nirguna refers to the transcendental silence of the pure, integral and partless Realm of Truth-Consciousness (the Supermind) which is at the same time capable of manifestation in word and which the Swami elsewhere calls as Nirguna Citguna (Bk 1—V—3—11). Or else it must be from a realm beyond the Truth-World which is Ineffable and yet can communicate, i.e. an Indeterminate capable of infinite determinations. We give below shortly hereafter some passages of Sri Aurobindo for comparison. Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages marked 3 (a), 1, 4 (e). Now the words coming from Ekadesha Nishkala Nirguna may correspond with the inevitable word and rhythm of sound from the summit overmind which draws the truths from the supramental source but gives them its overmental expression. Compare here with S. A. passages marked 1, 2, 4 (a), 4 (c) and 4 (d) herein below.

(H) The two kinds of nirguna words of Para Siva are commonly known as "Turya Vak ", though one is directly from the Cit Shakti of Transcendence and the other as drawn from that source by a lesser power, i.e. Cosmic Parā Shakti or Sukharambha Cit Shakti, but in both kinds Parabindu mediates. Anubhava vak is of still higher value and significance. Para Sukharambha Cit-Shakti is a power of the Supreme Cit-Shakti of the Truth-World, but formulated in the summit overmind. The details of Her description given under item 100 of the TATVA LOKAS point to this finding. She possesses a self-existent Light, which is her nature. She intervenes as the cause-effect instrumentation of the supreme Light of the divine Being (Karana karya ateeta prakasatva), which is her aspect as rupa or form. She can lead to the supreme Knowledge in the inner and outer levels of being, which is her aspect as swarupa or essential form (Bahya antara ateeta jnana sadhya). Her pervasive immanence (vyapti) is co-extensive with the field of Parabindu. She extends too (vyapaka) into the realm of Para Siva. She is the power of Bliss derived from Ananda and this is her general quality of nature. She has the Truth-discrimination (Satya Viveka) as her special power of nature.

(I) We see thus that Sukharambha Cit Shakti is the mediator, one with the realm of Parabindu, into which Cit Shakti of the Transcendence directly descends and impinges upon to produce the rhythm of nada for an eventual bringing out of the word of Truth. This word is here spoken of as "Para Siva Nirguna Vakya " (or as Nirguna turya vakya of Parabindu) from the Poorana Nishkala (i. e. from the pure, partless and integral Transcendence, the supermind or the ineffable Absolute as the case may be).

(Compare with Sri Aurobindo's lines in his "LAST POEMS"—

Word of Silence—p.19):

"But now I listen to a greater Word

Born from the mute unseen omniscient Ray :

The Voice that only Silence' ear has heard
Leaps missioned from an eternal glory of Day "

(J) Likewise or by a reflex action, Sukharambha Cit-Shakti can mediate and by her own accord or on her own motion draw upon from the Transcendence, the word of Truth through the Cit-Shakti. This seems to be here spoken of as Para Siva nirguna Vakya derived from Ekadesha nishkala (i.e. from the partial or derivative field of the pure Transcendence).

(K) Now, the Swami further observes that the saint Sekkilar felt the Divine Will and sanction for writing the epic on the life of saints, and that it could not be fulfilled by his lesser instruments unless helped by the Greatness of the Divine Grace and so he prayed to the Divine of Cit-Sabha in love and in aspiration for Grace. In response to his aspiration the Divine gave him the inspired Word of Truth not only into his outer being, i.e. the first opening Word "Ulakamelam" which was heard outside (i.e. as "asariri vak" மருள் இன் (அ-து மருளில்லாத) மெய்ம் மொழி வான்நிழல் கூறிய பொருள்) and which word was meant for purifying his outer instruments, but also inspired him with the rest of the line "yunarndu odarku Ariyavan" which was put into his inner being so that his inner being too may become purified and its veil rent open so as to make him experience spiritual vision and knowledge. The swami further observes that the true, idea will, feeling etc, the substance or stuff, (பொருட்புலப்பாடு), the rhythm of the wordless inner sound (நாதம்), and expressive language or word of the truth (வரலாற்றுப் புலப்பாடு) so inspired and the greater or larger and deeper and higher sense and significance behind the words (உறழ்ச்சிப் புலப்பாடு) than is conveyed by their ordinary or direct and surface mental meaning (தேர்ச்சிப் பொருள்) are the characteristics of the inspired Word of Truth from the Transcendence received intact without undergoing distortion or dilution (சிதைக்கப்படா அளவைத் திறன்) or mixture of lesser inspiration while in transit through intervening planes, that is to say, it is transcribed or conveyed purely in its own native language (அளக்கப்படுகை மாறுபடாமை), i.e. without being translated by the human mind into a mental language.

"பொருட் புலப்பாட்டின்கண் சிறு சத்தியானது பர விந்துவில் பதிதலும் அத னால் அதன்கண் நாதம் உண்டாதலும் உண்மை ; ஆதலில் பக்கமும் பக்கத் தன் மையும் பெறப்பட்டன. வரலாற்றுப் புலப்பாட்டின்கண் அகத்தும் புறத்தும் சுத்தி செய்தற்கு கருணையால் அன்றி அம்மொழி தோன்றாது. ஆகலில் சிதைக்கப்படா அளவைத் திறன் பெறப்பட்டது. உறழ்ச்சிப் புலப்பாட்டின்கண் தேர்ச்சிப் பொருள் வான் புறத்து எழுந்து அகத்து நிரம்புதல் எங்ஙனம், அங்ஙனம் திருவருட் பர வீயிந் துவப் புறத்து எழுந்து வாக்கு அகத்து நிரம்புதல் கூடும் ; ஆகலில் அளக்கப்படுகை மாறுபடாமை பெறப்பட்டது." (வியாக்கியானம் ப 38)

(L) The Swami further justifies that the Word of Truth can also rise and be heard at first in the outer being (i.e. as asariri "வான் புறத்து எழும் வாக்கு,” “ வான் நிழல் கூறும் பொருள் ”), then fill up the inner being, as happened in the case of Sekkilar and this mode of inspiration has also the purpose of purifying the inner and outer instruments of the recipient. Sekkilar himself admits in a stanza that it was heard outside as asariri as a word of truth coming to him in response to his aspiration for accomplishing the Divine Will for writing the epic poem.

Now we quote below the text and translation of the opening stanza of Sekkilar's epic poem and the stanza concerning his hearing the substance of the asariri vak under an inspiration. Sekkilar was a saint and poet who lived in the eleventh century A. D. His works was dedicated and presented to the Lord Nataraja of the Cidambaram Temple in the times of the then Chola King, Rajendran I, and was codified then as the twelfth Thirumurai or volume of Tamil spiritual literature.

“ All the worlds being known, yet He is beyond description. He is the infinite Light dancing in play in the Sky of Wisdom and Knowledge. Let us glorify and worship His lotus Feet bearing tinkling anklets—the Lord who wears moon over his plaited hair (i. e. containing Moon of Bliss in the Sky of Tapas).”

“ I shall declare it to be the Waters of clarified Knowledge which as inspired words of expression come or descend knowingly to accomplish the divine work of Grace (i. e. the work of writing epic). I shall say that it is the true substance of the Word of Truth without any mixture or trace of Ignorance that comes to be conveyed by the bodiless or impersonal sound ” (வான் நிழல் asariri) heard in the atmosphere.”

S. A. PASSAGES

Now we quote below some passages of Sri Aurobindo which would support the above points :

1. "The mantra (not necessarily in the Upanishads alone) as I have tried to describe it in "The Future Poetry" is what comes from the Overmind inspiration. Its characteristics are a (i) language that says infinitely more than (ii) the mere sense of the words seems to indicate, a (iii) rhythm that means even more than the (vi) language and is (iv) born out of the Infinite and disappears into the Infinite and the power to convey not merely some mental, vital or physical contents or indications or values of the thing it speaks of, but (v) its value and figure in some fundamental and original consciousness which is behind them all. The passages you mention have certainly the Overmind accent (i. e. the Mundaka Upanishad on the transcendent and universal Brahman and the Gita's Vision of the Cosmic Spirit). But ordinarily, as I have said, the Overmind inspiration does not come out pure in human poetry. It has to lift it by a seizure and surprise from above into the Overmind largeness; but in doing so there is usually a mixture of the two elements, the uplifting influence and the lower stuff of mind. You must remember that the Overmind is a superhuman consciousness and to be able to write always or purely from an Overmind inspiration would mean the elevation of at least a part of the nature beyond the human level. But to write of these things would need a greater length of exposition than I can give you at present."

"But how do you expect a Supramental inspiration to come down here when the Overmind itself is so rarely within human reach? That is always the error of the impatient aspirant, to think he can get the Supermind without going through the intervening stages or to imagine that he has got it when in fact he has only got something from the illumined or intuitive or at the highest some kind of mixed Overmind Consciousness" (1934)—"Life-Literature-Yoga" p. 55—56.

2. "The (i) Overmind is not strictly a transcendental consciousness; that epithet would more accurately apply to the supramental and to the Sachchidananda consciousness—though (i) it looks up to the transcendental and may receive something from it and though it does transcend the ordinary human mind and in its full and native self-power, when it does not lean down and become part of mind, is super-conscient to us. It is more properly (i) a cosmic consciousness, even the very base of the cosmic as we perceive, understand or feel it. It stands behind every particular in the cosmic and is the source of all our mental, vital or physical actualities and possibilities which are diminished and degraded derivations and variations from it and have not, except in certain formations and activities of genius and some intense self-exceeding, anything of the native Overmind quality and power. Nevertheless, because it stands behind as if covered by a veil, something of it can break through or shine through or even only dimly glimmer through and that brings the Overmind touch or note.... Or we can draw upon it from time to time without ever ascending into it if we have established a line of communication between the higher and the ordinary consciousness. What comes down may be very much diminished but it has something of that....The essential character is perhaps that there is something behind of which I have already spoken and which comes not primarily from the mind or the vital emotion or the physical seeing but from the (i) cosmic self and its consciousness standing behind them all and things then tend to be seen not as the mind or heart or body sees them but as this greater consciousness feels or sees or answers to them. In the direct Overmind transmission (ii) this something behind is usually forced to the front or close to the front by a (iii) combination of words which carries the (iv) suggestion of a deeper meaning or by the force of an image or, most of all, by an (v) intonation and rhythm which carry up the (vi) depths in their wide wash or long march or mounting surge" (SAVITRI, p. 922—923).

3. (a) "There is also a speech, a (i) supramental word, in which the higher knowledge, vision or thought can clothe itself within us for expression. At first this may come down as a word, a message or an inspiration that descends to us from above or it may even seem a voice of the Self or of the Ishwara, vani, adesha. Afterwards it loses that separate character and becomes the normal form of the thought when it expresses itself in the form of an inward speech Or the thought may come not as silent perception but as (ii) speech self-born out of the truth and complete in its own vision and knowledge. Then it is the word revelatory, inspired or intuitive or of a yet greater kind capable of bearing the infinite intention or suggestion of the higher supermind and spirit. The supramental word manifests inwardly with a light, a power, a rhythm of thought and a rhythm of inner sound that make it the natural and living body of the supramental thought and vision and it pours into the language, even though the same as that of mental speech, another than the limited intellectual, emotional, or sensational significance. It is formed and heard in the intuitive mind or supermind and need not at first except in certain highly gifted souls come out easily into speech and writing, but that too can be freely done when the physical consciousness and its organs have been made ready, and is a part of the needed fullness and power of the integral perfection"—SYNTHESIS OF YOGA, p. 955-956, Ch XXII).

3. (b) "A Truth-gaze shapes its beings and events (ii) A Word self-born upon creation's heights Voice of the Eternal in the temporal spheres, Prophet of the seings of the Absolute, Sows the Idea's significance in Form And from that seed the growths of Time arise" (SAVITRI—Bk 2—cto 11—p. 308).

4. (a) "but (iii) overmind on its summits draws enough of the supramental light to see what the Supermind sees and do what the Supermind does though in a lower key and with a less absolute truth and power."

Compare with S.R :

- i) Poorana nishkala nirguna vakya of Para Siva or Turya vak of ParaSiva or Turya vak of Cit Shakti in Parabindu
- ii) Direct Word of Cit Shakti from Nadanta into the silence of the Siva Jnani or A nubhava vak.
- iii) Ekadesha nishkala nirguna vakya of Parasiva or Turya vak of Para Siva, i. e. a second kind.)

4. (b) "On an inferior level Overmind may use the language of the intellect to convey as far as that language can do it its own greater meaning and message."

4. (c) but (ii) on its summits Overmind uses its own native language and gives to its truths their own supreme utterance... For there truth itself is highest poetry and has only to appear to be utterly beautiful to the vision, the hearing, the sensibility of the soul. There dwells and from there springs the mystery of the (ii) inevitable word, the supreme immortal rhythm, the absolute significance and the absolute utterance"—(4a to 4c—"Letters on Savitri in "Savitri"—p. 935, 1954 edition).

4. (d) "But sometimes there comes down a supreme voice, the (ii) Overmind voice and the Overmind music and it is to be observed that the lines and passages where that happens rank among the greatest and most admired in all poetic literature.....It would not only bring in, the occult in its larger and deeper ranges, but the truths of the spiritual heights, the spiritual depths, the spiritual intimacies and vastnesses as also the truths of the inner mind, the inner life, an inner or subtle physical beauty and reality. It would bring in, the concreteness, the authentic image, the inmost soul of identity and the heart of meaning of these things, so that it could never lack in beauty—(Ibid 'SAVITRI', p. 939).

4. (e) “ It (inspiration of overmind poetry) might even enter into the domain of the Infinite and inexhaustible, catch some (i) word of the Ineffable, show us revealing images which bring us near to the Reality that is secret in us and in all of which the Upanishad speaks.

“ The One unmoving is swifter than thought, the gods cannot overtake It, for It travels ever in front ; It moves and It moves not, It is far away from us and It is very close ”.

The gods of the Overhead planes can do much to (iii) bridge that distance and to bring out that closeness, even if they cannot altogether overtake the Reality that exceeds and transcends them ”—Ibid “SAVITRI ”, p. 940).

Compare with S.R :

- i) Poorana nishkala nirguna vakya of Parasiva, or Turya vak of Parasiva or Turya vak of Cit Shakti in Parabindu.
- ii) Ekadesha nishkala nirguna vakya of Parasiva or Turya vak of Parasiva, i.e. of a second kind.
- iii) Apra baindava karya vakya, eg. Pranava vakya of Sadasiva.

4. (f) “ But of course all Overhead poetry is not from the Overmind more often it comes from the Higher Thought, the Illumined Mind or the pure Intuition. This last is different from the mental intuition which is frequent enough in poetry that does not transcend the mental level. The language and rhythm from these other Overhead levels can be very different from that which is proper to the Overmind ; for the Overmind thinks in a mass ; its thought, feeling, vision is high or deep or wide or all these things together ; to use the Vedic expression about fire, the divine messenger, it goes vast on its way to bring the divine riches, and it has a corresponding language and rhythm ”.

4. (g) “ The Higher Thought (i.e. from the Higher Mind) has a strong tread often with bare unsandaled feet and moves in a clear-cut light : a divine power, measure, dignity is its most frequent character ”.

4. (h) “ The outflow of the Illumined Mind comes in a flood brilliant with revealing words or a light of crowding images, sometimes surcharged with its burden of revelations, sometimes with a luminous sweep ”.

4. (i) “ The Intuition is usually a lightning flash showing up a single spot or plot of ground or scene with an entire and miraculous completeness of vision to the surprised ecstasy of the inner eye ; its rhythm has a decisive inevitable sound which leaves nothing essential unheard, but very commonly is embodied in a single stroke ”.

4. (j) “ These, however, are only general or dominant characters ; any number of variations is possible. There are besides mingled inspirations, several levels meeting and combining or modifying each other's notes, and an Over-mind transmission can contain or bring with it all the rest, but how much of this description will be to the ordinary reader of poetry at all intelligible or clearly identifiable? There are besides in mental poetry derivations or substitutes for all these styles"—(f to j—Ibid "SAVITRI", p. 926—927).

5. (a) HIGHER MIND :

"In the Higher Mind we are aware of a sealike downpour of masses of a spontaneous knowledge which assumes the nature of Thought but has a different character from the process of thought to which we are accustomed"—LIFE DIVINE.

"The Higher Mind is the first plane where one becomes aware of the Self, the One everywhere and knows and sees things through an elevated thought-power and comprehensive mental sight—not illumined by any of the intense or upper lights but as in a large strong and clear daylight"—LETTERS, Vol. III.

5. (b) ILLUMINED MIND (i)

"Beyond this Truth-Thought (i.e. Higher Mind) we can distinguish a greater illumination instinct with an increased power and intensity and driving force, a luminosity of nature of (ii) Truth-Sight with (iii) thought formation as a minor and dependent activity"—LIFE DIVINE.

Illumined Mind, a Mind no longer of higher Thought, but of Spiritual light. It has "an intense lustre, a splendour and illumination of the Spirit: a play of lightnings of spiritual truth and power breaks from above into the consciousness and adds to the calm and wide enlightenment...a fiery ardour of realisation and a rapturous ecstasy of knowledge. A downpour of inwardly visible Light very usually envelops this action"—LIFE DIVINE

- ii) Nirmala ākāra bindu swarupa;
- iii) Nirmala karaṇa bindu rupa—under Karya Bindu, item 28.

"As the Higher Mind brings a greater consciousness into the being through the spiritual idea and its power of truth, so the Illumined Mind brings in a still greater consciousness through a Truth-sight and Truth-light, and its seeing and seizing power"—LIFE DIVINE.

5. (c) INTUITION (i)

"Still beyond can be met a yet greater power of the Truth-Force, an intimate and exact Truth-vision, Truth-thought, Truth-sense, Truth-feeling, Truth-action, to which we can give in a special sense the name of Intuition.

For though we have applied that word to a Supra-intellectual way of knowing, yet what we actually know as Intuition is only a special movement of Self-existent Knowledge"— LIFE DIVINE.

Intuition gives close perception—it "is more than sight, more than conception : it is the result of a penetrating and revealing touch which carries in it sight and conception as part of itself " LIFE DIVINE.

Intuition is identity, "concealed or slumbering " which remembers or conveys its contents.

"Intuition (i) has a four-fold power. A power of revelatory (ii) truth-seeing, a power of inspiration or (iii) truth-hearing, a power of (iv) Truth-touch or immediate seizing of significance, ... a power of true and automatic (v) discrimination of the orderly and exact relation of truth to truth"—LIFE DIVINE.

Cf : SR : (i) — Nada tatva (item 32 of Tatva Lokas) ; (ii) to (iv) — Anugraha Nada for Prati rupa, for mantra and for sankalpa ; (v) Tatva Jnana Vibhaga Preraka nada (ch : "Adi Nitya Preraka Mukti Lokas ").

5. (d) OVERMIND

"At the source of this (vi) Intuition we discover a superconscious cosmic Mind in direct contact with the Supramental Truth-Consciousness, an (i) original intensity determinant of all movements below it and all mental energies—not Mind as we know it, but an Overmind that covers as with the wide wings of some creative Over-soul this (vii) whole lower hemisphere of Knowledge-Ignorance, (iv) links it with that greater Truth-Consciousness while yet at the same time with (v) its brilliant golden Lid it veils the face of the greater Truth from our sight, intervening with its flood of infinite possibilities as at once an (iii) obstacle and a passage in our seeking of the spiritual law of our existence, its highest aim, its secret Reality". It (viii) connects and divides the Supreme Knowledge and the cosmic Ignorance"—LIFE DIVINE.

"In its nature and law the Overmind is a delegate of the Supermind Consciousness, its delegate to the Ignorance"—LIFE DIVINE.

"Overmind Consciousness is (ii) global in its cognition and can hold any number of seemingly fundamental differences together in a reconciling vision"—LIFE DIVINE.

"The Overmind is a principle of cosmic Truth and a vast and endless catholicity is its very spirit"—LIFE DIVINE.

"Overmind is a creator of truths, not of illusions or falsehoods: What is worked out in any given (i) overmental energism or movement is the (ii) truth of the Aspect, Power, Idea, Force, Delight which is liberated into independent action, the truth of the consequences of its reality in that independence"—LIFE DIVINE.

Overmind "is concerned predominantly not with absolutes, but with what might be called the (i) dynamic potentials or pragmatic truths of Reality"—LIFE DIVINE.

"In the Overmind we have the first firm foundation of the experience of universal beauty, a universal love, a universal delight".

"It is indeed one of the (ii) chief functions of the Overmind to separate the main powers of the consciousness and give to each its full separate development and satisfaction.... It is the function of Overmind to give to every possibility its full potential, its own separate kingdom. But also there is (iii) another action of Overmind which sees and thinks and creates in masses, which reunites separated things, which reconciles opposites"—"Letters on Savitri—Savitri"—p. 934—935).

"For as the consciousness sinks from the supreme levels through various degrees towards the Inconscience the general sign of this descent is an always diminishing power of its intensity, intensity of being, intensity of consciousness, intensity of force, intensity of the delight in things and the delight of existence. So too as we ascend towards the supreme level, these (iv) intensities increase.... The Overmind looks also straight at and into the soul of each thing and not only at its form or its significance to the mind or to the life; this brings to it not only the true truth of the things but the delight of it. It sees also the one spirit in all, the face of the Divine everywhere and there can be no greater Ananda than that; it feels oneness with all, sympathy, love, the bliss of the Brahman. In a highest, (iii) a most integral experience it (Overmind) sees all things (v) as if made of existence, consciousness, power, bliss, every atom of them charged with and constituted of Sachchidananda. In all this the Overmind aesthesis takes its share and gives its response; for these things come not merely as an idea in the mind or a truth-seeing but as an (vi) experience of the whole being and a total response is not only possible but above a certain level imperative" (LETTERS ON SAVITRI— "SAVITRI"— p. 931, 933).

- iii) Samaveta adharatva Kutila visesha shakti
- iv) Nibida jnana sadhya Kutila vyapaka shakti
- v) Atma jnana vikalpatva Kutila guna shakti (i. e. as against Suddha atma jnana of integral knowledge of Self and the World).
- vi) SUDDHA SAMVEDA bahya bahya, bahya, bahya antara, antara, and antarāntara rupa svarupa svabhava VYAPYA VYAPAKA Poorvottara Paryanta Pratyaksha anubhava (See under the Chapter " Karanateeta Lokas " : the total and direct and pure overmind knowledge of form, essence and nature of all things at all levels of being before transforming itself into Supramental integral knowledge, i. e. POORANA BODHA VYAPAKA VYAPYA).

" The Overmind is essentially a spiritual power. Mind in it surpasses its ordinary self and rises and takes its stand on a spiritual foundation. It embraces beauty and sublimates it; it has an essential aesthesis which is not limited by rules and canons; it sees a universal and an eternal beauty while it takes up and transforms all that is limited and particular. It is besides concerned with things other than beauty of aesthetics. It is concerned especially with truth and knowledge or rather with a wisdom that exceeds what we call knowledge; its truth goes beyond truth of fact and truth of thought even the higher thought which is the first spiritual range of the thinker. It has the truth of spiritual thought, spiritual feeling, spiritual sense and at its highest the truth that comes by the most intimate spiritual touch or by identity. Ultimately, truth and beauty come together and co-incide, but in between there is a difference. Overmind in all its dealings puts truth first; it brings out the essential truth (and truths) in things and also its infinite possibilities; it brings out even the truth that lies behind falsehood and error; it brings out the truth of the Inconscient and the truth of the Superconscient and all that lies in between. When it speaks through poetry, this remains its first essential quality ” —(LETTERS ON SAVITRI—SAVITRI—p. 842).

The Swami further indicates that aparabindu is a formation of Para Bindu but in a lower range (aparatva) and hence whatever is formed having a beginning in apara bindu will also end in it, that is to say, it will have Udbhava, adhikara and laya operating within its own range.

But Parabindu (see item 100(4) of the TATVA LOKAS—Para Sukhārambha Cit Shakti which has the realm of Parabindu as her range) has no beginning and end in itself but receives from and returns into the pure Transcendence beyond and it has only the power of control or transmission, adhikara. As a matter of fact all the six powers namely Atma Cit Shakti (the soul-power), Para Iccha Shakti, Para Jnana Shakti, Para Kriya Shakti, Para Sukhārambha Cit Shakti and Adhara Parā Shakti (items 96 to 101 of the Tatva Lokas) are characteristic in that they have neither beginning nor end (i. e. udbhava and laya) in their own ranges but have only adhikara and they are called Anadi Nitya Para Shaktis belonging to the summit-overmind. They have their beginning and end in the Truth-world beyond and only operate as its transmitting or communicating powers in and through their own realms. Compare here with passage (1) of Sri Aurobindo in the foregoing list of quotations which speaks of the language or word of the overmind inspiration as born out of the Infinite and disappearing into the Infinite. The powers beginning from Kutilai and Tirodha, the global overmind and its veiling sky or golden lid (items 93 & 95 of Tatva Lokas) down to Bhuta loka the physical world, have their own or rather a delegated or secondary formulations of Udbhava, adhikara and laya. This factor is decisive to determine the border between global overmind and its veiling sky on the one hand and the overmind Gnosis or summit overmind on the other. Tirodha marks out this border. The powers below and above it are called apara shaktis and para shaktis respectively.

Now the effectual pranava word of Sadasiva has its source in aparabindu which is the cause of purer world of Sound and sense (Suddha Sabdārtha Prapanca). So the Swami observes that this effectual word of aparabindu may be treated as the truly spoken or expressive word having and conveying a sense of truth, thought it is not the direct and the highest or ideal Word of Truth itself. Aparabindu corresponds to the Illumined Mind. It has its formulated powers of Apra Iccha, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis of Will, Knowledge and Action. And again from it is derived the effectual or Karya bindu (See items 33 and 28 of

The words of the gods namely Rudra, Maheshwara, and Sadasiva are derived from their respective Pranava worlds, i.e. the creative subtle worlds of their own. Sri Aurobindo points out the “World of Word-Music” from which the Vedic Rishis mostly received its rhythm and flow of words in the form of mantra. The Swami mentions such a world, when he refers it as “Mantra anugraha nada loka” under the chapter “Adi nitya Preraka lokas” wherein is listed different formulations of the worlds of Nada such as “Pranava nada loka”, “Sarva mantra sristi nada loka”, “Kalâdi bandha preraka nada suddha loka”, etc. The rhythm, form and word of poetry flow down spontaneously, under a continuous or sometimes intermittent inspiration, into the receiving heart and mind of the poet, giving him a creative joy in his subtle vital. “Prati rupa anugraha nada loka” may give him the vision of the form, symbol and image of the truth of a thing or poem whereas, “Mantra anugraha nada loka”, the rhythm and word of mantra or poem needed to correspond with the substance of truth of the poem. Nada (the Intuitive Mind) and its effectual power Karya nada come under items 32 and 29 of “Tatva Lokas”.

In the same chapter on the worlds of Sadasiva and Maheshwara and Rudra including their respective Pranava worlds, “Pranava anu” worlds are also mentioned. However, we may remember that these worlds and provinces formed by Nada and Bindu and by the gods as related to Pranava are intermediary formulated worlds in the subtle vital and mental. Nada by itself belongs to the Suddha Maya of the spiritual Mind and Overmind ranges. The Swami found that Agamas and Vedas mostly had the source of their inspiration in the worlds of the gods such as Rudra, Maheshwara and Sadasiva and from the Realm of Saguna, the Personal Godhead.

S. A. : PASSAGES ON INSPIRATION AND MANTRA

Now passages from Sri Aurobindo having a bearing on the foregoing matter are quoted below :

A. THE WORLD OF WORD-MUSIC

“N seems to have put himself into contact with an inexhaustible source of flowing words and rhythm—with the world of word-music, which is one province of the World of Beauty. It is part of the vital world no doubt and the joy that comes of contact with that beauty is vital but it is a subtle vital which is not merely sensuous. It is one of the powers by which the substance of the consciousness can be refined and prepared for sensibility to a still higher beauty and Ananda. Also, it can be made a vehicle for the expression of the highest things. The Veda, the Upanishad, the Mantra, everywhere owe half their power to the rhythmic sound that embodies their inner meanings" dated 2—3—1936, (S.A. : Centenary Edition—"THE FUTURE POETRY"—p. 340).

B. "It is quite usual for poets and musicians and artists to receive things—they can even be received complete and direct, though oftenest with some working of the individual mind and consequent alteration—from a plane above the physical mind, a vital world of creative art and beauty in which these things are prepared and come down through the fit channel. The musician, poet or artist, if he is conscious, may be quite aware and sensitive of this transmission, even feel or see something of the plane from which it comes. Usually, however, this is in the waking state and the contact is not so vivid as that felt by R" dated 9—6—1935 (S. A: Centenary Edition—"THE FUTURE POETRY", p. 341).

C. CREATION BY THE WORD

"The word is a sound expression of the idea. In the supra-physical plane when an idea has to be realised, one can by repeating the word-expression of it, produce vibrations which prepare the mind for the realisation of the idea. That is the principle of the Mantras and of Japa. One repeats the name of the Divine and the vibrations created in the consciousness prepare the realisation of the Divine." dated 6—5—1933 (SA : Centenary Edition THE FUTURE POETRY, p. 507).

D. READING AND POETIC CREATION AND YOGA

"A literary man is one who loves literature and literary activities for their own separate sake. A Yogi who writes is not a literary man for he writes only what the inner Will and Word wants him to express. He is a channel and instrument of something greater than his own literary personality" dated 11—9—1934 (SA : Centenary Edition—THE FUTURE POETRY, p. 503).

E. THREE ELEMENTS OF POETIC CREATION

"Poetry, or at any rate a truly poetic poetry, comes always from some subtle plane through the creative vital and uses the outer Mind and other external instruments for transmission only. There are three elements in the production of poetry ; there is the original source of inspiration, there is the vital force of creative beauty which contributes its own substance and impetus and often determines the form, except when that also comes ready made from the original source ; there is finally the transmitting outer consciousness of the poet. The most genuine and perfect poetry is written when the original source is able to throw its inspiration pure and undiminished into the vital and there takes its true native form and power of speech exactly reproducing the inspiration, while the outer consciousness is entirely passive and transmits without alteration what it receives from the godheads of the inner or the superior spaces. When the vital mind and emotion are too active and give too much of their own initiation or a translation into more or less turbid vital stuff, the poetry remains powerful but is inferior in quality and less authentic. Finally if the outer consciousness is too lethargic and blocks the transmission or too active and makes its own version, then you have the poetry that fails or is at best a creditable mental manufacture. It is the interference of these two parts either by obstruction or by too great an activity of their own or by both together that causes the difficulty and labour of writing. There would be no difficulty if the inspiration came through without obstruction or interference in a pure transcript—that is what happens in a poet's highest or freest moments when he writes not at all out of his own external human mind but by inspiration, as the mouthpiece of the Gods.

“ The originating source may be anywhere ; the poetry may arise or descend from the subtle physical plane, from the higher or lower vital itself, from the dynamic or creative intelligence, from the plane of dynamic vision, from the psychic, from the illumined mind or Intuition—even though this is the rarest, from the Overmind widenesses. To get the Overmind inspiration is so rare that there are only a few lines or short passages in all poetic literature that give at least some appearance or reflection of it. When the source of inspiration is in the heart or the psychic there is more easily a good will in the vital channel, the flow is spontaneous ; the inspiration takes at once its true form and speech and is transmitted without any interference or only a minimum of interference by the brain-mind, that great spoiler of the higher or deeper splendours. It is the character of the lyrical inspiration, to flow in a jet out of the being—whether it comes from the vital or the psychic, it is usually spontaneous, for these are the two most powerfully impelling and compelling parts of the nature. When on the contrary the source of inspiration is in the creative poetic intelligence or even the higher mind or the illumined mind, the poetry which comes from this quarter is always apt to be arrested by the outer intellect, our habitual thought-production engine The poet labours in anguish to get the one true word, the authentic rhythm, the real divine substance of what he has to say, while all the time it is waiting complete and ready behind ; but it is denied free transmission by some part of the transmitting agency which prefers to translate and is not willing merely to receive and transcribe. When one gets something through from the illumined mind, then there is likely to come to birth work that is really fine and great” dated 2-6-1931 (SA : Centenary edition—THE FUTURE POETRY—p. 291-292).

F. THE CREATIVE POWER OF INSPIRATION AND THE HUMAN INSTRUMENT

A poem may pre-exist in the timeless as all creation pre-exists there or else in some plane where the past, present and future exist together. But it is not necessary to presuppose anything of the kind to explain the phenomena of inspiration. All is here a matter of formation or creation. By the contact with the source of inspiration the creative Power at one level or another and the human instrument, receptacle or channel get into contact. That is the essential point, all the rest depends upon the individual case. If the substance, rhythm, form, words come down all together ready-formed from the plane of poetic creation, that is the perfect type of inspiration; it may give its own spontaneous gift or it may give something which corresponds to the idea or the aspiration of the poet, but in either case the human being is only a channel or receptacle, although he feels the joy of the creation and the joy of the āvesa, enthousiasmos, elation of the inrush and the passage. On the other hand it may be that the creative source sends down the substance or stuff, the force and the idea, but the language, rhythm etc. are found somewhere in the instrument; he has to find the human transcription of something that is there in diviner essence above; then there is an illumination or excitement, a conscious labour of creation swift or slow, hampered or facile. Something of the language may be supplied by the mind or vital, something may break through from somewhere behind the veil, from whatever source gets into touch with the transcribing mind in the liberating or stimulating excitement or uplifting of the consciousness. Or a line or lines may come through from some plane and the poet excited to creation may build around them constructing his material or getting it from any source he can tap. There are many possibilities of this nature. There is also the possibility of an inspiration not from above, but from somewhere within on the ordinary levels, some inner mind, emotional, vital etc. which the mind practised in poetical technique works out according to its habitual faculty. Here again in a different way similar phenomena, similar variations may arise.....

If the parts of a poem come from different planes, it is because one starts from some high plane but the connecting consciousness cannot receive uninterruptedly from there and as soon as it flickers or wavers it comes down to a lower, perhaps without noticing it, or the lower comes in to supply the continuation of the flow or on the contrary the consciousness starts from a lower plane and is lifted in the āvesa perhaps occasionally, perhaps more continuously higher for a time or else the higher force attracted by the creative will breaks through or touches or catches up the less excited inspiration towards or into itself. I am speaking here especially of the Overhead planes where this is quite natural; for the Overmind, for instance, is the ultimate source of intuition, illumination or heightened power of the planes immediately below it. It can lift them up into its own greater intensity or give out of its intensity to them or touch or combine their powers together with something of its own greater power—or they can receive or draw something from it or from each other. On the lower planes beginning from the mental downwards there can also be such variations, but the working is not the same, for the different powers here stand more on a footing of equality whether they stand apart from each other, each working in its own right, or co-operate ” 29-4-1937 (SA : Centenary edition—THE FUTURE POETRY, p 293-294).

G. “ Art is not only technique or form of Beauty, not only the discovery or the expression of Beauty—it is a self-expression of Consciousness under the conditions of aesthetic vision and a perfect execution. Or, to put it otherwise, there are not only aesthetic values, but life-values, mind-values, soul-values, that enter into Art. The artist puts out into form not only the powers of his own consciousness, but the powers of the Consciousness that has made the worlds and their objects ” 17-4-1933 (SA : Centenary edition—THE FUTURE POETRY, p. 333-334).

H—1 “ The Upanishads too, and much more, are not at all philosophic thinking, but spiritual seeing, a rush of spiritual intuitions throwing themselves inevitably into the language of poetry, shaped out of fire and life, because that is their natural speech and a more intellectual utterance would have falsified their vision ”—(SA : Centenary edition—THE FUTURE POETRY, p. 33).

H—2 “ The Mantra is not in its substance or form poetic enunciation of a philosophic truth, but the rhythmic revelation or intuition arising out of the soul’s sight of God and Nature and the world and the inner truth—occult to the outward eye—of all that peoples it, the secrets of their life and being (SA : Centenary Edition—THE FUTURE POETRY—p. 34).

H—3 “ I have spoken in the beginning of the Mantra as the highest intensest revealing form of poetic thought and expression. What the Vedic poets meant by the Mantra was an inspired and revealed seeing and visioned thinking, attended by a realisation, to use the ponderous but necessary modern word, of some inmost truth of God and self and man and Nature and cosmos and life and thing and thought and experience and deed. It was a thinking that came on the wings of a great soul rhythm, chandas. For the seeing could not be separated from the hearing ; it was one act, nor could the living of the truth in oneself which we mean by realisation, be separated from either, for the presence of it in the soul and its possession of the mind must precede or accompany in the creator or human channel that expression of the inner sight and hearing which takes the shape of the luminous word. The Mantra is born through the heart and shaped or massed by the thinking mind into a chariot of that godhead of the Eternal of whom the truth seen is a face or a form ” (SA : Centenary edition—THE FUTURE POETRY ”, p. 199-200).

H—4 “ But poetry is the Mantra only when it is the voice of the inmost truth and is couched in the highest power of the very rhythm and speech of that truth. And the ancient poets of the Veda and Upanishads claimed to be uttering the Mantra because always it was this inmost and almost occult truth of things which they strove to see and hear and speak and because they believed themselves to be using or finding its innate soul rhythms and the sacrificial speech of it cast up by the divine Agni, the sacred Fire in the heart of man. The Mantra, in other words, is a direct and most heightened, an intensest and most divinely burdened rhythmic word which embodies an intuitive and revelatory inspiration and ensouls the mind with the sight and the presence of the very self, the inmost reality of things and with its truth and with the divine soul-forms of it, the godheads which are born from the living Truth. Or, let us say, it is a supreme rhythmic language which seizes hold upon all that is finite and brings into each the light and voice of its own infinite ” (SA : Centenary edition—THE FUTURE POETRY, p. 200).

INTRODUCTORY NOTE ON TATVA LOKAS

The Swami lists the tatvas which come to as many as 103 tatvas beginning from Bhuta tatva the first and ending with the last eight tatvas namely Anadi Nitya Atma Cit Shakti, the universalised soul and its power (item 96), Anadi Nitya Iccha, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis, i.e. the universal Para Iccha, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis (items 97 to 99), Sukhārambha Cit Shakti i.e. a formulated power of Cit Shakti coming into a frontal revelation more and more to help the soul in its transition into the Truth-World (item 100), Adhara Parā Shakti or Parai i.e. the cosmic Maha Shakti (item 101), Para Siva the cosmic overlard (item 102 and Paranada (item 103)—see chart 20. Except for the last eight tatvas above mentioned, he gives as many as 34 details, i.e. 34 aspects or powers for each of the tatvas and each such aspect or power is said to be a loka or world of experience either manifested by the Shakti or possible to be manifested by her and hence called a Shakti loka. Under the first tatva, i.e. Bhuta tatva we have shown prominently or underlined the terms that occur commonly in all the said 34 details under each tatva. Of these 16 details could be treated as more important and they comprise the first thirteen details together with three others following them namely Udbhava, adhikara and laya. There are 18 further details which are only an elaboration or ramification of the said three, i.e. udbhava, adhikara and laya. Thus, the said 16 main details and 18 sub-details together form a total of 34 details above referred to in respect of each tatva.

Now again, the Swami refers to the sixteen main details as derived from an essential four which may be rupa, svarupa, svabhava and visesha powers of a tatva or possibly rupa, svarupa, svabhava and vyapti powers. The said essential four develop within themselves or bring out the next four and successively the next two other sets of four. Thus in the poem “Arul Villakkamalai”, the Swami speaks of the development of sixteen aspects or powers within or from out of an essential four of each tatva (see Arul Villakkamalai 11-36-28 to 38 stzs). We have elsewhere correlated the said poem with the “Tatva Lokas” and “Karanateeta Lokas” (See Chart 20). The said sixteen planes or states which are the aspects or powers of a tatva are shown by the following example.

Such an example is best provided under “Jnanendriya vishaya tatva loka” (see item 4 of the Tatva Lokas in the Book of Vyakhyana). The main essential aspects or states are (1) Rupa the form, (2) Swarupa, the essential form

(3) Swabhava, the essential nature, (4) Visesha, the special nature. The next four aspects or states namely, (5) Vyapti, the power of immanent pervasiveness, (6) Vyapaka, the power of extension, (7) Guna, the general quality, (8) Varna, the seed-sound characteristically representing the truth of tatva are the respective developments from out of the main four aspects or states namely rupa, svarupa svabhava, and visesha. The next set of four aspects or states, i.e. (9) Bhava idea-will of the truth of tatva, (10) Paratva, its higher formulation in the higher world (i.e. in the range of Summit Overmind), (11) Aparatva, its lower formulations in the lesser world (i.e. in the overmind and in Spiritual Mind and in the worlds of Ignorance below), (12) Nimitta, the immediate instrumental cause for the formulations and manifestations of the tatva, i.e. movement of the tatva from its possibilities into actualities are again the respective developments of the main four aspects or states in the same above order namely, rupa, svarupa, svabhava and visesha. The next set of four aspects or states of a tatva, i.e. (13) Visesha Nimitta, the special instrumental cause or instrumentation for the formulations and manifestations, i.e. movement of the tatva from its possibilities into actualities, (14) Udbhava, birth or creation, (15) Adhikara, power of rule and control or maintenance, (16) Laya dissolution or destruction which may be correlated with the main four aspects or states, though in a different order, i.e. visesha nimitta with visesha, udbhava with rupa, adhikara with svarupa, and laya with svabhava. Thus, the said sixteen aspects or states (also called lokas or planes) of a tatva are essentially developments within its first main four planes or states according to the poem "Arul Villakkamalai" (stz. 28 to 38). However, the four main planes or states of a tatva may be taken as its rupa, svarupa, svabhava and vyapti (instead of visesha) powers (i.e. in the same order as given in the Chapter 'Karanateeta Lokas') and on this basis the other twelve derivations or developments can be also correlated. Thus, 16 main details or states of a tatva are indicated in the above.

The 18 sub-details that develop out of the udbhava, adhikara and laya aspects of a tatva are as follows. The said udbhava, adhikara and laya develop six common sub-details under each of them. They are (1) adhikaraṇa, (2) karaṇa, (3) parva, (4) karma, (5) upakara, (6) upakara preraka—faculties and super-faculties (of mind), time and function or operation (of life power), and impulsion towards actualisation and help towards actualisation (in the subtle-physical and the physical). Thus, the 16 main details and 18 sub-details form a total of 34 details for each tatva. For a more elaborate explanation, see last part of chapter IV of Vol. I and the chart 8B.

Now, the said eight higher tatvas (items 96 to 103 of the Tatva lokas), do not have udbhava and laya powers but have the adhikara power only, because they come in the realm of Paratva or summit overmind and have their beginning and end in the Truth-World Beyond and only serve as its manifesting and communicating or transmitting mediums or powers in the universal manifestation. This speciality distinguishes them from the other tatvas that immediately come below them in a lower range namely Tirodha and Kutila with the associate and connected universal principles and powers of Anava the ego and Karma the cycle of determinism of actions and results. These four form, as it were, a nexus or border between the Paratva and Aparatva and they themselves can be classified as more properly belonging to Aparatva. The details of information given in respect of Kutilai and Tirodha suggest that they are global overmind and its veiling sky respectively. The Anava (ego) and Karma here referred to are rather the universal sources of their respective principles and powers which operate in conjunction with Kutilai and Tirodha. These four and all the rest of the tatvas coming under them (i.e. items 1 to 95 of the Tatva Lokas have all the said 34 details for each of them. They have their own or rather a secondary or delegated manifestation through their udbhava, laya and adhikara powers.

Tirodha stands at the highest border line between Paratva and Aparatva and it may be regarded as Parāpara or the Parigraha state corresponding to the golden lid, the golden gnostic overmind; its veiling power or its nature can overshadow the high realm of Parabindu under which realm come Sukhārambha Cit Shakti (item 100) and Parā Shakti or Parai the Cosmic Maha Shakti (item 101). Its shadow can even enter or extend into the highest realms, i.e. the realms of Para Siva and Paranada (items 102 and 103) of the Tatva Lokas. It cannot enter into the Truth-World Beyond. However, the Powers namely Sukharambha Cit Shakti, Cosmic Parā Shakti or Parai, Para Siva and Paranada bring in their special powers of grace to lift the soul or lead it into the pure Transcendence of the Truth-World.

Items 25 to 29 of the Tatva Lokas are the Suddha tatvas under the aegis of Suddha Maya. They are namely Suddha Vidya (Rudra), Maheshwara, and Sadhakya (Sadasiva) tatvas, (Karya) bindu and (Karya) nada tatvas. They are the immediate impelling powers or inspiring hierarchical powers (Preraka) behind the workings of forces of impure nature such as Asuddha Prakriti, Asuddha Maya, and the pure-impure nature of Suddhāsuddha Maya. So the said five suddha tatvas have their operations in and through the graded lower forces of nature, though they themselves are founded and established in the range of Suddha Maya (Suddha Maya sthapana) the purer Nature, where they have their purer workings. They have also the special power of access or entry, i. e. of gaining ground and foothold or seat of operation in the Paratva (Paratva Sthana) i. e. in the overmind-summit. Thus, there can be formulations of these tatvas in Paratva or Suddha Maha Maya, and in Aparatva or the Suddha Maya and in the lower impure and pure-impure ranges of Maya through aparatva. Thus, for example bindu and nada have their counterparts as Para bindu and Para nada in the Paratva ; apara bindu and nada (i. e. apara nada) in the aparatva, and karya bindu and karya nada in the lower ranges of Ignorance. Therefore, the two aspects of these tatvas namely (a) vyapti range and (b) vyapaka range (see items 25 to 29 of tatva lokas) are omitted to be mentioned among the usual 34 details of each tatva. So we have only 32 details for each of the said five tatvas (items 25 to 29 of the tatva lokas). Their further elaborations come under the chapter “Adi nitya preraka mukti lokas”, because they also form the intermediary and link worlds including Pranava worlds between Suddha Maya and Suddhāsuddha Maya, apart from forming their respective own worlds in Suddha Maya.

APARA AND PARA TATVAS

Now, there are 103 items under the Tatva Lokas. Of these, items 34 to 92 are not tatvas themselves but rather developments of the Adhwas such as varnas, padas, mantras (and vaks), bhuvanas, etc under the effectual or Karya Suddha Maya tatva, i. e. selective overmind—see item 30. When these are excluded, we may observe that there are 36 tatvas constituted of items 1 to 33 (i. e. from Bhuta tatva upto Aparabindu tatva), Kutila or causal Suddha Maya tatva (item 93), Anava (item 94) and Tirodha (item 95). Now the said 36 tatvas relate to the tatvas in the field of Aparatva (global overmind with its veiling sky above and the ranges below) i. e. in the ranges below Tirodha, the original veiling power, or the Parigraba Shakti at the border between Apara and Para (i. e. Parāpara Parigraha). There are seven more main tatvas which come in the field of Paratva (the Summit Overmind) and they come within the items 96 to 103 i. e. (1) Anadi Nitya Atma Cit Shakti, the soul power, (2) Anadi Nitya Iccha, (3) Jnana and (4) Kriya Shaktis, (5) Anadi Nitya Para Sukhārambha Cit Shakti and Adhara Parā Shakti, (6) Para Siva and (7) Paranada.

NOTE : Sukhārambha Cit Shakti and Parā Shakti (items 100 and 101) may be treated as one tatva in as much as under the Chapter “Karanateeta Lokas” the former is omitted to be mentioned, because Sukhārambha Cit Shakti transforms herself into the original Supreme Cit Shakti on the eve of transition into the Truth-World, the Supermind. Thus, we have in effect 36 tatvas in the Aparatva and 7 in the Paratva (instead of eight mentioned earlier) making a total of 43 main tatvas.

In the book of “Upadesha” page 44, under the heading “deathless ether, non-burning gas or air and non-flowing water “சாகாததலை, வேகாக்கால், போகாப்புனல்” the Swami observes that these are the respective principles or tatvas of ether, air and fire (agni) which give the science and knowledge of deathlessness of body. Fire is associated with liquid principle.

NOTE: In “Keertans” and “Joti Agaval” poems the Swami mentions the Truth-World as the source of the science of deathlessness of body and that its Truth-Light of Grace transforms the body into its deathless state. Possibly the said divinised or transformed three elemental three substances show themselves in the transformed body by or through their respective effects namely, intermittent nervous current (i.e., vibration and pause of the nerves), non-burning cool breath of air and cool and refreshing body, and condensed blood within, which has its heat—See Joti Agaval stzs 725, 727, 729, 732). The material cells and the physical body as a whole including bones & muscles become plastic and inter penetrable by and through earthly gross matter, (தடுக்கப்படுதல் இல்லாத தனி வடிவம் 12-4-2). They are represented respectively by the Rudra bhāga (or kalā) of Rudra tatva, Maheshwara bhāga (or Kala) of Maheshwara tatva and Sadasiva bhāga (or kalā) of Sadasiva tatva and they permeate in and through all the 43 states or principles (tatvas) of existence comprised of the 36 “Atma Tatvādi Siva Karāṇas” and the 7 “Nirmala Guru Turyateeta states” and existing in the four levels of body (pinda) and the four levels of ānda, the universe (i.e., in the inmost, inner, inner-outer, and outer levels)—see Book of Upadesha, p. 44 & 71. Brahma who is in the first state of experience (i.e. bhuta tatva out of the 43 states) enjoys an aeonic life of one kalpa. Those who realise all the 43 states and transcend them are Kālāteeta, that is to say, they can live beyond all limitations of time, and become deathless of body.

Now in respect of the above passage it appears that the 36 aparatva tatvas and the 7 paratva tatvas listed above respectively seem to correspond with or refer to the foregoing 36 “Atma Tatvādi Siva Karāṇas” (of the overmind and below) and 7 “Nirmala Guru Turyateeta states” (of the Overmind Gnosis or Summit Overmind but opening themselves or entering into the Supramental Vastness or more properly the seven supramental states or principles which descend into the summit overmind). The total of 43 tatvas seem to have correspondence also with the 43 triangles of Sri Chakra of the Tantra system. As the said three principles of deathless body are found in all the 43 states, it is implied that their respective gods namely Rudra, Maheshwara and Sadasiva or their kalās or formulations have their working in the 43 states or tatvas. According to the Swami’s Upadesha the three godheads have their more usual centres of operation in the body at the heart, throat and uvula of the head respectively. It is implied that because of the existence of the three divine physical elements or substances in the said 43 states from the physical world to the world of Supermind, and because of the transformed or divinised physical body, one shall be able to ascend and descend to and from the Supermind through all the intervening worlds even physically i.e., enjoy the whole universe physically also by travelling to and fro the Supermind. So, the Divine too embraces such a body both in Supermind as also on the earth. The power to travel to and fro the Supermind is also supported because of the existence of the pillar or column of adbhara rising up right from Mooladhara the Physical base to the realm of Suddha Siva, the Supermind (See Upadesha : on “Pinda anubhava lakshana” p. 54) and also by the fact of narration by the Swami that the divinised or transformed physical body has the power to travel not only in and through the objective medium of adhara but also through the objectless or non-supporting realm of niradhara (See Jeeva Karunyam Ch. II on the powers of transformed body : ஆதாரத்திலன்றி நிராதாரத்திலும் அவர், தேகம் உலாவும்). The fields of objective and non-objective realms (adhara and niradhara are in a relative sense) are filled by the one divine substance which gives the physical body and operates as the common base of all substances for all kinds or ways of attaining deathlessness of the body. (Joti Agaval stz. 533. சாகாக் கல்வியின் தரம் எலாம் கற்பித்து ஏகாக்கரப் பொருள் ஈந்த சற்குருவே). Here the Swami declared to say that he or rather his physical body was trained into all kinds or ways of attaining deathlessness of the body. This one substance that formed the common base of all the divinised physical elements and substances is also referred to as “Vastu Pratyaksha anubhava” (Upadesha p. 48) that gives the triple deathless body namely Suddha deha, Pranava deha and Jnana deha, along with the power of mastery over all the tatvas both of the body and of the universe, individually and universally (anda pinda tatva swatantra). This common substance is hinted to be the “non-flowing liquid” i. e., as the common base even among the divinised physical substances of deathless ether, non-burning air or gas, non-flowing liquid or waters, soundless fire or heat, and non-obstructing or pliant earthly matter (சாகாத்தலை, வேகாக்கால், போகாத புனல், ஒலியாத கனல், இடியாத புவி 12-15-2 ; 11-36-56), because it is stated that by the non-flowing liquid the Swami was established in the “common or equal state” (Podu Nilai) which could not be attained even by those having the purity of (deathless) physical body (Suddha deha) (போகாத புனலாலே கத்த உடம்பினராம் புண்ணியரும் நண்ணிய பொது நிலையும் தந்தீர் : 12-15-2 ; முத்தரும் சித்தரும் யாவரும் பெற்றிடா இயல் எனக்கு அளித்தனை 12-I-791). Possibly the said “non-flowing water or liquid” is the Waters of Ananda which is the common base for earthly matter too. Elsewhere in an early song, the Swami observed that by the divinised physical substances such as non-burning air etc. one can form or bring forth into existence all kinds of substances, i. e., including the bodily substances (11-1-28)

SUKHARAMBHA CIT SHAKTI (PARA BINDU) AND ADI SHAKTI :

Though the Swami has mentioned (karya) bindu and aparabindu (items 28 & 33) and (karya) nada and nada (i.e. aparanada) and Paranada (items 29, 32 & 103) as tatvas, he has not mentioned Parabindu as a separate tatva. But Parabindu is referred to under the tatva namely Sukharambha Cit Shakti (item 100) as the field of her immanent pervasiveness (vyapti). So we may practically treat Sukharambha Cit Shakti as representing or identified with Parabindu. And as her power extends further (Vyapaka) into the realm of Parasiva (item 102), we may treat Cosmic Para Shakti

(101) also as the field of Parabindu. Paranada is the last tatva (item 103). We have already seen in Chapter S. No. 98 that the Supreme Cit Shakti descending from Her transcendent realm of the Truth-World impinges upon Parabindu producing "Nada matra" which gets formulated eventually as the expressive true word called Turya Vak. of Parabindu or of Para Siva. This "Turya Vak of Parabindu" is really that of "Sukharambha Cit Shakti", which is a formulated power of the Supreme Cit Shakti in the field of Parabindu. Again, Sukharambha Cit Shakti formulates herself in her effectual aspect as Adi Shakti (Sukha Priya Adi Shakti) or (Karya) Adi Shakti in the intermediary worlds and She stands next to a similar formulated power of cosmic Para shakti or Parai (see Chapter "Adi Nitya Preraka Mukti Lokas") and they overrule the Iccha, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis under them and enter into relations with them in the said intermediary worlds.

In respect of Sukharambha Cit Shakti, compare with the following passage of Sri Aurobindo :

"Even before the dynamic Knowledge-Ignorance is removed, while it still remains as an inadequate instrumentation of the spirit, the supreme shakti or Super nature can work through us and we can be aware of her workings ; but it is then by a modification of her light and power so that it can be received and assimilated by the inferior nature of the mind, life and body. But this is not enough there is needed an entire remoulding of what we are into a way and power of the divine Supernature.....An eternal Truth-Consciousness must possess us and sublimate all our natural modes into its own modes of being, knowledge and action....." — (THE LIFE DIVINE, p.562).

KUTILA

Kutilai may be regarded as the global overmind. It is otherwise called Suddha Maya or Kundali. However, its causal source (i. e. global overmind) comes under item 93 of the Tatva Lokas whereas its effectual Power and function (Karya) with a trend or tendency towards individualisation and particularisation (i. e. as selective overmind) comes under item 30 of the Tatva Lokas under which are grouped the many formulated worlds of the higher gods and goddesses and the principles and powers of word, mantra, syllable and letters and speech, etc. (Items 31 to 92).

Kutilai is the seat and source of Omkara Nada—93(1); its general nature is towards individualisation and particularisation Sadā Viyaktitva) by and through many veils (anēka patākāra), though capable of giving intensity of knowledge (nibida jnana sadhyatva—93 (2 to 5). It has also the basis for a synthesis or a totality of knowledge (Samaveta adharatva—93(7), which is its special nature. It is the source of all sound and word and sense and through them the source of all the manifested worlds over which it has an inseparable and total and general overruling governance (Sarva sabdartha prapanca sadharana samavaya adhikaratva) (See Parallel or identical quotations 5(d) of Sri Aurobindo in the preceding chapter.

ANAVA

Anava, the ego, is the principle of darkness and root of the Ignorance and brings about states of Ignorance (avasthas). It is a universal tatva and has its more effective rule upto Nadatatva (i. e. Intuitive Mind (see item 94(7)—Nada paryanta adhikatva anava visesha Shakti), that is to say, all the formulations of ego not only in the mind but also in the vital and in the physical consciousness (except in the material body), get dissolved in the Intuitive Mind, i. e. before entering into overmind which is beyond Nada, the Intuitive Mind. Mental ego is dissolved even in the Higher Mind (where the self is realised), i. e. well before one enters into the Intuitive Mind. The ego of the material cells of the material body will be dissolved only after realising the Light of the Truth-World and the completion of transformation of the body by it, though philosophies generally speak of elimination of ego by self-realisation—see the Fourth Vinnappam of the Swami.

TIRODHA

We may note that the range of veiling power of Tirodha is much greater than that of Anava as it overshadows even the high realms of Parabindu and Paranada which are beyond Nada. While Anava is instinct with separativeness of individuality forming a dark core of ignorance, Tirodha throws its shadow to check the inflow of the divinities from the supreme and universal Truth-World or to dilute and weaken the intensity and purity of their powers when they descend into Paratva, the summit overmind, but it is meant as a help for purification and perfection and equality of desires and action (see item 95 (3&6) Karma and Pāśa Samānatva Tirodha Shakti). It is the principle of knowledge-Ignorance. In the Tantra and Saiva Siddanta systems its function is regarded as one of Grace in disguise.

ATMA CIT SHAKTI (item 96)

The principle and power of soul is indicated as a tatva, and as a power of the Cit-Shakti (cf. Cidātma Shakti—p. 8 Book of Vyakhyana) because it grows and evolves in the field of Nature until it becomes the true individual self on the eve of transition into the Truth-World, when it is known as Suddha Atma (Pratyeka Rupa Pratyaksha Jnana Atma; Yathartha Suddha Atma Rupa Pratyaksha Jnana— See KARANATEETA LOKAS).

TATVA LOKAS Vs. KARANATEETA LOKAS

We may say on a broad basis that the chapter “Karanateeta Lokas” gives the gradations of the tatva lokas or worlds (from Bhuta loka upto Parā Shakti and Para Siva Lokas) and exceeds the realm of Paranada (the last tatva loka) and crosses into Paranadanta which develops further into the integral world of Truth-Knowledge (i. e. Supermind) with its triple poise and finally leads into the worlds of Satcitananda. The whole chapter "Karanateeta Lokas" is one integral experience in which all the worlds, the lower and the higher, Truth-World and the worlds of Satcitananda are held and possessed integrally as a whole, whereas the Chapter "Tatva Lokas" describes separately the details of each tatva loka from the lowest Bhuta loka upto the Parā Shakti and Para Siva Lokas and the Paranada loka giving 34 common details for each tatva loka ; each such detail is considered a world of experience in itself, a loka of its aspect. So a tatva loka with its form, essence and nature includes also its possibilities of manifestation, along with its actualities. So the tatva lokas coming under the Chapter "Tatva Lokas" may be regarded as worlds within the jurisdiction of the summit overmind, i. e. of the realm of Parā Shakti and Para-Siva, the Cosmic Maha Shakti and the Cosmic Ishwara; and the essential details of their manifestation, their possibilities and actualities are indicated in that chapter from the stand-point of the overmind Gnosis, rather than from that of Supermind, but the Swami who has written the said two chapters has done so, clearly by his overall vision and integral realisation of the Truth-World, the Supermind which includes all the worlds mentioned in all the chapters of the Text. Chart No. 20 herein following gives a correlation of the Chapters "TATVA LOKAS" and "KARANATEETA LOKAS" and shows too the Karanateeta Lokas proper which are beyond the Tatva Lokas.

ATMA OR ATMA CIT SHAKTI Vs. SUDDHA ATMA

Atma Cit Shakti, the soul, is elsewhere spoken of by the Swami as cidātma, Cidātma Cit Kalā Shakti, Cidātma Shakti (see Bk. 3, p. 8—10). Atma or Atma Cit Shakti is regarded as a tatva (see item 96 of the TATVA LOKAS) until it becomes transformed in Paranadanta (i. e. in transition into Supermind) as Suddha Atma the pure and true individual self and soul, i.e. as one centre of the supreme and universal Divine, when it comes to possess an integral Knowledge of the Divine Self and the World, i.e. the Supramental Knowledge which is the subject matter of the Chapter KARANATEETA LOKAS. Now the details as given under item 96 of the TATVA LOKAS indicate the essential form and nature of Atma Cit Shakti, the soul and its power.

It has all potentialities or seed-truths of existence for manifestation, because by its essential nature it is connected or related with all tatvas (tatva paryanta sambandhatva atma svabhava shakti 93-3) Its scope of immanent pervasion covers all the tatvikas, i.e. the evolutes of tatvas, that is to say, it is co-extensive with evolutionary tatvas as evolving here in the physical world of life (tatvika paryanta atma vyapti shakti 96-4). By its special power it can transcend all tatvas and enter into relation with the super-causal realm beyond the tatvas (tatvateeta sambandhatva atma visesha shakti 96-7). In the super-causal realm called vyapaka vyapya (the supermind) is the real-source of involution and evolution of all tatvas and tatvikas in their true essence and purity (tatva tatvika layodaya VYAPAKA VYAPYA Suddha Jnanateeta anubhava loka—see last items 1-16 of the KARANATEETA LOKAS). Soul has the inseparable powers of will, knowledge and action (i.e. intuitive Will or intuition, Revelation or vision by illumination, and Inspired Word and action by inspiration) as its form (Iccha jnana kriya samavayatva atma rupa shakti : 96-1). In the closing part of the chapter “Suddha tatva Sadhana Sadhya Lokas” under S. No. 107, the pure five-fold powers of soul, namely, will, knowledge, action, an initiating power of bliss and a total or universal power of Ananda are mentioned as related to the corresponding visesha para shaktis the special formulated powers of the higher shaktis in the realm of Suddha Maha Maya, the summit overmind (Paratva), namely, Para Iccha, Para Jnana and Para Kriya Shaktis and Para Sukharambha Cit Shakti and Para Anubhava Adhara Parā Shakti (the Cosmic Maha Shakti). Because of these universal special powers of the summit overmind, the soul's powers integrate bringing the presence of the Divine in it. Soul has its essential form and sense of “I” and “mine” which is expressive of the truth of its individuality of existence and is unconnected with the dividing separative principle of ego (Ahankara mamakaratva atma svarupa shakti 96-2). Its general quality or nature is its governing knowledge over the field of Paratva the Summit Overmind or Overmind Gnosis (Para tantra jnanatva atma guna shakti 96-6); “Para tantra jnanatva” may be also interpreted as the knowledge dependent on the field of Paratva, though it does not seem proper in the context; much less does it indicate soul's subjection to others or other powers. The soul's power of manifestation and extension can cover the eight siddhis which are its possibilities (Ashta siddhi anubhava sadhya atma vyapaka shakti 96-5). According to Tirumoolar, the ancient yogi-siddhar of Tamil Nadu, the eight Siddhis include deathlessness of body. Therefore, with the attainment of deathless body by transformation the soul's field penetrates and extends into the Inconscient also.

Under the Chapter “Karanateeta Loka”, the soul of the universalised individual in the range of summit overmind, though as yet possessing, in regard to its manifestation, only partial powers of Conscious Force (Ekadesha Cit), is described as Suddha Samvedāntarāntara atma rupa svarupa svabhava VYAPYA VYAPAKA ādi poorvottara paryanta pratyaksha sakti loka. When it becomes identified with the Parā Shakti and Para Siva it comes to possess total and global powers of Conscious Force (Sanga Cit) for its universal manifestation, and a total and universal presence one with the Cosmic Divine (Sanga Sat) respectively. In Paranadanta, it becomes one with the Nirguna Brahman (Paranada parityaganta sahaja kevala) and then realises itself as the true individual Self (Pratyeka rupa pratyaksha jnana atma) i. e. as Suddha atma and as such develops into a pure being of the Truth-World, the supermind, possessing the integral knowledge of the divine Self and the World (Poorana bodha VYAPAKA VYAPYA samaveda samavaya yathartha suddha atma rupa pratyaksha jnana anubhava loka). In other words, a first initial integral knowledge of the divine Self, the world, and the self and soul of the individual is realised by entering into the supramental Vastness—an experience at once transcendental, universal and individual. Then the three poises of the Truth-World and the worlds of Satcitananda are experienced and it finally becomes one with the Indivisible Satcitananda, the Absolute (see items 1 to 16 in the closing part of the Chapter “Karanateeta Lokas” and the items immediately preceding them).

NOTES ON CHART 20

1. Suddha Maya tatva (item 30) formulates these apara tatvas such as Yoga Maya tatva (item 31), Apara nada (item 32) and Apara bindu (item 33), Apara Shaktis (items 34 to 37) and their aspects of Kalā shaktis or attendant shaktis 38 to 41, and through the Aparā Shaktis the Adhwas such as Bhūvanas (item 61 to 92), Mantras (item 60), Padas (item 59) and Varnas (item 58) and the four Vak (item 54 to 57 and Kalās (i. e. Kalās of Nada items 47 to 53 and Kalās of Bindu items 42 to 46).

2. Above Suddha Maya (corresponding to selective overmind and covering the range of spiritual Mind) is its causal source called Kutilai (item 93) the causal Suddha Maya (corresponding to global overmind). Beyond it, is the seed or causal source of Knowledge-Ignorance, i. e. Tirodha Tatva corresponding to gnostic overmind, the golden lid (item 95) which forms a nexus between Kutilai the causal Suddha Maya and its Aparā Shaktis of the Aparatva (items 30 to 37) on the one hand and Para Shaktis of the Paratva (items 96 to 100) on the other. Tirodha, the original veiling power is helped by the other dividing principle of Anava the ego (item 94) which is described as the most ancient impurity and both these are called as Anadi nitya tatvas, though “anadi” (beginningless) is used in a relative sense. The rule of Tirodha at its highest extends even into the pure realm of Parāpada. Thus, Tirodha, Kutila, Anava and Karma (the destiny or determinism of the cycle of Karma) are the four Powers of Knowledge-Ignorance at their highest universal source. In the other chapter “Karanateeta Loka” also Kutila, Tirodhana, Anava and Karma are mentioned as a group of powers in between Aparā Shaktis (i. e. Aparā Iccha Jnana and Kriya Shaktis, Aparā Bindu and Aparā Nada) on the one hand and Para Shaktis (i. e. Para Iccha, Para Jnana and Para Kriya) on the other.

3. Though the tatva lokas are here shown both under columns 1 & 2, the nature of their experience differs. In the former, it is the total and global and direct experience of all the tatvas at the five levels of being—outermost, outer, inner-outer, inner and innermost—in their form, essence, nature and special and general qualities, immanence and extension etc. (Suddha samveda bahya bahya, bahya, antara bahya, antara, antarāntara, rupa svarupa svabhava vyapya vyapaka visesha gunadi poorvottara paryanta pratyaksha anubhava) which transcend themselves and lead into the Truth-World of Supermind beyond ; and in the later their experiences are obtained separately each or in combinations but held and possessed within their own realms, i. e. within the bounds of the summit-overmind at the highest, though the truths of the tatvas, their essence, nature and form are originally derived from the Truth-World above (swarupa, swabhava, and rupa of the tatvas). The first is a base of transition to Supermind through overmind whereas the second is confined to overmind experience at its highest or to the experiences below it according to the gradations of the Tatva Lokas. So the first signifies an identification with the All, and an universalisation of the individual into a cosmic being leading to the discovery of the true individual self as a centre of the supreme and universal Divine which develops into the supramental integral knowledge of the Divine Self and the World and the individual self and soul.

4. Compare with Sri Aurobindo's passages :

"The transition to Supermind through overmind is a passage from Nature as we know it into Super-Nature.....In order that the involved principles of Overmind and Supermind should emerge from their veiled secrecy, the being and powers of the superconscience must descend into us and uplift us and formulate themselves in our being and powers ; this descent is a sine qua non of the transition and transformation"—(THE LIVE DIVINE, p.819) " the supramental Consciousness-Force from above and the evolving Consciousness-Force from behind the veil acting on the awakened awareness and will of the mental human being would accomplish by their united power the momentous transition"—(THE LIFE DIVINE, p. 820) " Thus, the individuality would become more and more powerful and effective in proportion as it realised itself as a centre and formation of the universal and transcendent Being and Nature... the being would emerge into and put on—even as there would emerge in him and descend into him, assuming him into it—a greater light of Consciousness and a greater action of Force ; his natural existence would be the instrumentation of a superior Power, an OVERMENTAL AND SUPRAMENTAL CONSCIOUSNESS-FORCE, the power of the original Divine Shaktithe action of the Omnipotent and Omniscient World-Mother raising the being into herself, into her supernature.....there would be a Super-Nature of the Divine Gnosis and the individual soul would be its conscious, open and free field and instrument, a participant in its action, aware of its purpose and process, aware too of its own greater Self, the universal, the transcendent Reality, and of its own Person as illimitably one with that and yet an individual being of Its being, an instrument and a spiritual centre"—THE LIFE DIVINE, p. 824.

NOTE : Sukhārambha Cit Shakti (item 100 of the Tatva Lokas) who is a formulated power of the Supreme Cit-Shakti acting in the field of summit overmind mediates this transition of the universalised individual into the Truth-World of Supermind by transforming him into a true individual self of the supreme and universal Divine (Yathartha suddha atma). This Sukhārambha Cit Shakti seems to correspond with the "superior Power, an overmental and supramental Consciousness-Force" in the above passage of Sri Aurobindo.

5. " But there can be many formulations of overmind consciousness and experience..... " In place of an uncentred and unplaced diffusion there may be the sense of the universe in oneself or as oneself, but there too this self is not the ego ; it is an extension of a free and pure essential self-consciousness or it is AN IDENTIFICATION WITH THE ALL—the extension or the identification constituting a cosmic being, a universal individual.....But with a strong influence or full action of the overmind a very integral sense of governance, a complete supporting or overruling presence and direction of the cosmic Self or the Ishwara can come in and become normal ; or a special centre may be reave-led or created overtopping and dominating the physical instrument, individual in fact of existence, but impersonal in feeling and recognised by a free cognition as something instrumental to the action of a transcendent and universal Being. In the transition towards the supermind this centralising action tends towards the discovery of a true individual replacing the dead ego, a being who is in his essence one with the supreme Self, one with the universe in extension and yet a cosmic centre and circumference of the specialised action of the infinite"—THE LIFE DIVINE, p. 845.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE ON TĀTVIKA LOKAS

In this chapter the outer and outermost evolutionary manifestation of tatvas called tatvikas or evolutes of tatvas is dealt with. It is mainly the field of Brahma in the outermost manifestation of nature and of the corresponding instrumental beings in mind, senses and the physical elements and also in the material constituents of the physical body. The senses or Indryas are the field of Indra ; the mind and its faculties are the field of Prajapati. Both Indra and Prajapati come under the rule of Brahma who is the over-all ruler as far as the outermost field of evolutionary manifestation is concerned. The outer-inner or rather the outer level of existence, from which the outermost manifestation is derived and with which it is related, falls within the range of Vishnu and its seven tatvikas of limitation namely time, determinism (of place and circumstances), executive function, limited knowledge, desire, agency of instrumental being and finally Nature to which the others (i. e. the other six) are related for its (the said Nature's) experience and enjoyment through the instrumental being—Kāla, nyati, kalā, vidya, raga, purusha and maya—come under his rule and play.

Thus in the broad outermost field of evolutionary manifestation we have Brahma loka proper (moola or mūla Brahma loka), its planes and kingdoms or provinces and sub-regions and particular fields (anga, upanga, pratyanga Brahma lokas) for the creative manifestation of Brahma both in the level of being and in the level of nature. Thus we have in the opening lines of this chapter (1) Bhuta Sristi Brahma loka, (2) Karaṇa Atmiya Brahma loka, (3) Bhautika Sristi (i. e., Material physical) Brahma loka (4) Tanmatra Atmiya Brahma loka, (5) Prakriti Atmiya Brahma Loka (6) Anga Brahma loka (7) Upanga Brahma Loka, (8) Pratyanga Brahma loka, (9) Mūla Brahma loka. See another line of interpretation at the end of this chapter. See also chart 8 B in vol I.

Thus for e. g. "Bhuta Sristi Brahma Loka" refers to the creative manifestation of the bhuta tatvikas in nature whereas "Karaṇa atmiya Brahma Loka" seems to refer to its corresponding outermost instrumental being (in the outermost mind and vital and the physical).

The following passages from Tantra and Vedanta systems are quoted for a general comparison and not as identical with the Swami's treatment of the subject, because terminologies and stand-points of vision and experience differ. Brahma referred to by the Swami may roughly correspond to Hiranya Garbha of the Vedanta system.

“When an object (Vishaya, artha) affects the senses (Indriya), being attended to by that function of mind which is called manas, there arises in the mind a modification (vritti) of its substance which is an exact counterpart of the external object. As Prakriti Shakti is “material”, not as being scientific matter but as the subtle material cause of all things, all its effects (Vikriti) are necessarily of the same character as their cause and, are material. These vikritis may be divided into the two parallel groups of Mind (antahkarana) and its outer instruments or senses (Indriya) and Matter of Pancha bhuta derived from the more rudimentary forms of infra-visible “matter” which are the Pancha Tanmatras. These are beyond the threshold of sensation of the ordinary jiva” —(“Garland of Letters”—by Author Avalon alias Sir John Woodroff—“Varnamala” p. 15).

In the above chapter the Swami makes a mention of the two-fold character of each tatva (including its tatvika) i.e., its nature and its corresponding instrumental being. Thus for all tatvas under Brahma, Indra and Prajapati of the outermost physical and material nature in regard to mind, senses and physical elements and the material body and for all tatvas under Vishnu of the outer subliminal nature (i.e. in the outer-inner physical, vital and mental) for which their respective tatvikas are created in the outermost and outer levels, the two-fold liberation of tatva due to the separation of Prakriti and Purusha (as in Sankhya) is mentioned for eg. “Buddhi tatva mukti loka” and “Buddhi atmiya mukti loka”; “Indriya mukti loka” and “Indriya atmiya mukti loka”. Thus in this chapter we find the first stages of liberation of mind and its faculties, senses and body by separating the instrumental beings from their corresponding nature parts and also by way of transcending such tatvas of nature both in the outermost and outer-inner or rather the outer levels of existence under the respective rule of Brahma and Vishnu. There is also the total withdrawal from the tatvas of these ranges so as to completely negate their experiences. These are described thus as for eg, gandha nāśa, bhuta nāśa, deha nāśa, karma nāśa, guna nāśa, karaṇa nāśa and prakriti nāśa “Mukti lokas.” Similarly there are “nāśa mukti lokas” for kālā, nyati, raga, kalā, vidya, Purusha and Maya in the range of Vishnu. Here “loka” denotes experience or a field of experience. Thus the chapter leads to the next chapter which deals with the inner levels of existence coming under the jurisdiction of Rudra, Maheshwara and Sadasiva, Bindu and Nada. who or which according to the book of Upadesha represent the heart, throat, uvula, Ajna and Sahasrara centres. Brahma represents mooladhara the physical centre; Vishnu the nabhi or umbilical centre.

the material evolution and that of body from the view points of Tantra and Vedanta.

1. In the Saiva Siddhanta system of philosophy 36 tatvas and 60 tatvikas are enumerated. The tatvikas denote mainly material constituents of the physical body such as muscles, bones, skin, nerves, blood, brain, hair etc. and material functions of the body such as eating, sleep, walking etc, and the many kinds and functions of nadis or nerves and of air (vayu), and of sound etc. Thus tatvikas are the evolutes of the tatvas in the most outer physical and material existence.

Some extracts on "Bhuta and Bhautika Sristis" from the book of Garland of Letters are quoted below to give a general background of Knowledge of the Tantra and Vedanta systems on this subject.

2. "The mind as subject has apprehension (Pratyaya) of objects (artha) and names those objects by word (Shabda) or language. In man shabda, artha and pratyaya are connected but distinct. Like everything else they are three effectual manifestations of the movement (Spanda) which is the common causal Stress. At the stage of Causal Shakti however the three are one" — (Garland of Letters—Ch. II — p. 13).

3. "But the transcendent Brahman or Chit (Brahma swarupa) is quiescent and changeless. Therefore it is said to be without motion (nishpanda) and without Shabda (Ashabda). From out of this Chit (for there is but one) but without affecting its own changelessness, there arises a creative stir or stress which evolves into the universe. This is the work of the active Brahman or Ishwara; just as the Parabrahman is Ashabda, Ishwara is Shabda Brahman or Para Shabda. As the former is Nishabda, the latter, as Maya Shakti, is with motion (Saspanda). Para Shabda, Para Vak or Shabda Brahman are each names for the Brahman as the cause of the manifested Shabda. Para-Shabda is the causal body of sound. Shabda tanmatra is the subtle body of sound, and Akasha is the gross body of sound which (though a guna of the akasha) is only apprehended through the medium of air, the sound waves in which strike the ear... Though the latter and mind the sensation of sound is experienced. Shabda tanmatra is pure natural sound as apprehended by Hiranyagarbha or yogis who share his experience. Gross sound is of two kinds namely Vaidika sound (Shrauta shabda) or approximate natural sound either primary or secondary, and Laukika shabda, the speech of the ordinary average mortals other than Vaidika Shabda. Taking "cognizance" to mean "direct apprehension", Ishwara has cognizance of all kinds of Shabda (Para Shabda, Shabda Tanmatra, Shrauta Shabda, Laukika Shabda), Hiranyagarbha or Sutrmatra of the last three, Rishis of the last two and, ordinary men of the last only" (Ibid p. 22).

4. "Ishwara, Hiranyagarbha and Virat are three forms of creative manifestation corresponding cosmically to the Sushupti, Svapna and Jagrat.....

Ishwara has direct apprehension of all three collectively, causal, subtle and gross. The cause involves the effects. As Hiranyagarbha He apprehends directly the second and third (Swapna, Jagrat) and as Virat He apprehends the third (Jagrat) " — (Ibid p. 24)

5. " Shabda (i.e., Para Shabda) is the Cosmic Stress itself which takes place in the Primary Ether or Saspada Shakti which produces the Shabda Tanmatra which evolves into Akasha Bhuta and then into the Vayu and other Tanmatras and Bhutas. These according to Vedanta are Panchikrita, that is, each tatva has four parts of its own elements and one of each of the four others. Through the Bhautika Srishti or indirect causation of Hiranyagarbha there takes place the combination of the tatvas (which were) produced by the Bhuta Srishti in direct causation (Sakshat—Kartritvam) of Ishvara, producing (or finally bringing forth) the gross world of the human senses which is Virat " —(Ibid p. 36). Explanatory words within brackets have been added by us.

6. " The world process is thus divided into three stages of Srishti (creation), Sthiti (maintenance) and Laya (dissolution) which is a passing from a state of homogeneity (Laya) to one of heterogeneity (Srishti and Sthiti) and back to homogeneity again, in an unending series of evolution (Srishti) and involution (Laya) with periods of rest between. The growth of the universe is thus a pulsing forth of the Bindu holding potentially within itself as massive (ghani-bhuta) Shakti, all into which it subsequently evolves. Evolution (Srishti) and involution (laya) are going on even during Sthiti "—(Ibid p. 42).

7. " Creation proceeds from the generic to the specific. When laya as a state of potential stresses passes into Srishti which is a system of kinetic stresses we have first the most generic condition of the latter namely Samanya Spanda, that is general undifferentiated movement. It is the manifestation of the tendency of Laya to pass into Srishti. From the stand-point of consciousness it is the first stage of "seeing" (Ikshana) that is Cosmic ideation on the part of Ishwara...It is a kind of massive undifferentiated state containing potentially all specialities. The Shabda (or acoustic) aspect of this tendency of potential stress to pass into kinetic stress is the Pranava or Mantra "OM".

This tendency realises itself in the first place in Bhuta Srishti by Ishvara. Ishwara has consciousness of his Anandamaya Body and Causal Body. The latter means the experience "I am all" (Sarvatmakatva). He experiences Himself as all whether as a whole, as general or particulars. As Knower of all He is Sarvajna, as Knower of its varieties He is Sarvavit...The state of Ishvara though not governed by, is yet associated with, Maya and is therefore not that of supreme Moksha. Ishwara wills to be many and the Bhutas issue from him. As Ishwara He does not think Himself to be their creator. The creation of the Bhutas (Bhuta-Srishti) according to the Vedantic order means the evolving of (a) the Apanchikrita Bhutas or Tanmatras and (b) their primary compounds which are again (aa) Sukshma that is Antahkarana, Indriya and pranas and (bb) Sthula that is the Panchikrita Bhutas. Broadly speaking these are the elements of creation, the creation of which implies also their natural names or Bijas... Thus from Om are evolved the Bijas of the Bhutas... these elements are special (visesha) in relation to the tendency and general movement (Samanya Spanda) above mentioned but are general (Samanya) in relation to the derivatives which follow.

There then follows Bhautika Srishti by Hiranyagarbha that is the creation of the secondary compounds ; that is again the mixing up of the elements into diverse forms ; first the typical and then the variational. This is done by Ishwara in His aspect as Hiranyagarbha. These too have their natural names (Shabda) Hiranyagarbha who is the Lord of Brahma loka thinks himself to be a creator. This is a state of duality in which he thinks that all things are His. Hence Hiranyagarbha as affected by Maya is a Jiva.... (Ibid p. 45).

Lastly coming to the completed Sthiti we have the actions and reactions of the Bhutas and Bhautikas, such that they continue as a system of the Kinetic stresses ... '' (Ibid p. 46).

ANOTHER LINE OF INTERPRETATION ON TATVIKA LOKAS

Under the chapter "Tatvika lokas" we first come across the formations of the following outermost worlds under the rule of Brahma : (1) Bhuta srishti Brahma loka (2) Karaṇa atmiya Brahma loka (3) Bhautika srishti Brahma loka (4) Tanmatra atmiya Brahma loka and (5) Prakriti atmiya Brahma loka (6) Moola Brahma loka. Thus it is seen that under the first stage of evolution the "Bhuta srishti Brahma loka", the world of the phenomenal elements was formed and even as it was so emerging there was the "Karaṇa atmiya Brahma loka" i. e. the potential world of mental instruments underlying it. Because of this the next creation of "Bhautika srishti Brahma loka", the worlds of the material or physical compounds was made possible, that is to say, the compounds of physical matter (as also of the individualised physical body) were formed by the veiled intervention of the said underlying potential principle of mind, because of which the infinitesimally divided and disaggregated and distributed atoms of phenomenal elements aggregated themselves in various proportions to form different compounds and different physical bodies. The "Tanmatra atmiya Brahma loka", the potential world of the subtle elements was also underlying secretly behind the aggregation of physical elements (as is seen in material physical body) and behind it again was formed the world of Prakriti (Prakriti atmiya Brahma loka).

Now in the next stage of evolutionary creation under Indra, a power of Brahma, Indriya tatvikas of Jnanendriya and Karmendriya, the evolutes of the outermost senses of knowledge and action, emerge with sense-desire (ishana) born in them. This is evidently the creation of instruments of Tanmatra which was previously in the potential state (Tanmatra atmiya Brahma loka).

Now, in the third stage under "Prajapati", another power of Brahma, mental instrumentations emerge for the four faculties — the thinking, reasoning, individualising and storing faculties of mind—manas, buddhi, ahankara and citta. This is evidently the creation of the instruments of Karanas which were previously in a potential state ready to enter into the evolutionary creation (Karaṇa atmiya Brahma loka). Again under Prajapati are formed the instruments for "Guna Traya Prakriti"—tamas, rajas and satwa—inertia, dynamism and happy poise of peace and light. This is evidently the creation of instruments of Prakriti which was previously in the potential or formative state, "Prakriti atimaya Brahma loka". Thus far the evolutionary creations under the over-all rule of Brahma. But Brahma has not completely exhausted his store of evolutionary creation. More yet remains to be released into evolution in the future from his "Moola Brahma loka", the seed-state of Brahma or His nucleus of involved state. With each new creation, the earlier ones also change progressively.

Next under Vishnu, the tatvikas or instruments for kāla, nyati, kalā, raga, vidya, purusha and maya—time, determinism, executive function, desire, limited knowledge, agent or experiencer and the nature which constitutes these—have emerged in evolution. This is evidently the creation of instrumentations of Mohini Maya (i.e. Suddāsuddha Maya) who has also emerged out in evolution due to the stress or rule of Vishnu over her. CIV
INTRODUCTORY NOTE ON
ĀDI NITYA PRĒRAKA MUKTI LŌKAS
(PERMANENT FREE WORLDS OF CREATIVE INSPIRATION)

This chapter may be broadly divided into five parts.

1. The first part deals with the formulated worlds and provinces and kingdoms of the gods Rudra, Maheswara and Sadasiva and of the powers and principles called Bindu and Nada. They have also their respective formulations of Pranava lokas the creative subtle (vital) worlds under them.

The godheads Rudra, Maheshwara and Sadasiva are dealt with under items 25, 26 & 27 of the Tatva Lokas ; the effectual or karya Bindu and the effectual or karya nada under items 28 and 29 and the causal or kāraṇa Bindu (i. e., apara bindu) and the causal Nada (i. e., aparanada) under items 33 & 32 of the Tatva Lokas.

The elaborate formulations of their worlds are the subject matter of the first, second and third parts of this chapter. These gods and the principles of bindu and nada have their foundation in Suddha Maya i. e., Spiritual Mind and Overmind Ranges (Suddha Maya sthāpana) and have also their access and place of working in Suddha Maha Maya i. e., summit Overmind in the Paratva (Paratva sthana). Items 25 to 29 of the Tatva Lokas give some common details about them such as their Suddha Maya sthapana, Paratva sthana, and Ādi nityatva. The last term indicates that they are the permanently established or formulated sources of inspiring creative powers (adi nitya preraka mukti lokas) who by and through their formulated intermediary link worlds, impel the lower worlds of Suddhāsuddha Maya and Asuddha Prakriti Maya, though they themselves are founded in Suddha Maya, which is of the spiritual Mind and overmind Range, and have their hierarchical organisation in it. Suddha Maya at its highest would correspond to the overmind.

2. The second deals particularly with the formulated worlds of Nada as a further elaboration of the Nada Loka mentioned in the first part. Here Nada is clearly seen as the creative principle and power creating, maintaining, and destroying or dissolving its formulated worlds (Sristi nada loka, Rakshaka nada loka and Samhara or Saṅkāra nada loka). It acts also as the source of inspiration or Truth-hearing of Mantra (mantra anugraha nada loka), the source of will, a will that generally signifies intuition or intuitive will and vision (Sankalpā anugraha nada loka), and the source of forms and symbols and images (Prati rupa anugraha nada loka) i. e. as seen or received in vision and perceptions. Nada also serves as the force of impulsion or as an inspiring force to separate and differentiate (i. e. discriminate) between light and darkness, capacity and incapacity and their combinations (Prakasa vibhaga andhakara sayoga Preraka nada Suddha loka; Sakti vibhaga asakti sayoga preraka nada suddha loka). It also inspires the discrimination between tatvas, the principles and powers of existence. (Tatva jnana vibhaga preraka nada suddha loka). Again nada is the impelling source of inspiration that is connected with and working behind the inspired arts and sciences (Kalādi bandha preraka nada suddha loka). It is also the impelling force of will for the happy enjoyment of sense-pleasures i. e., refined sensibility of the senses (Vishaya sukha iccha preraka nada suddha loka). However we may observe that these formulated powers of nada which include intuition, vision, inspiration and discrimination or differentiation, have their workings not only in its own realm proper i. e., in Intuitive Mind but also in the lower Spiritual Mind Ranges and in the lesser worlds below i. e., into the inner and outer instruments of mind, life and body of man due to its inherent inspiring or impelling force (Preraka) and power of infiltration (antara anugraha nada loka; bahya anugraha nada loka).

3. The third part shows the formulations of the godheads Rudra, Maheshwara and Sadasiva and of the principles and powers of Bindu (Shakti) and Nada (Siva) as the creative subtle (vital) worlds constituted of different grades of subtlety of (vital) substances (Pranava anu lokas). They have their source or access into the Suddha Maya of the spiritual mind and overmind ranges. These worlds are spoken of as their respective "Preraka Pranava anu lokas," implying their worlds of creative impulsion by Pranava atoms of substance and energy and hence partaking largely or mainly of a subtle life or vital nature and character. The grades of "Pranava anu" are stula, maha stula, sukshma, maha sukshma and kāraṇa and are formed as formulations in the broad range of Suddha Maya. Thus each of these godheads and the bindu (Shakti) and the nada (Siva) have their respective Pranava worlds. Thus it is seen that Sadasiva has a purer and subtler grade of Pranava substance than Rudra and Maheshwara and so he gives a purer inspiration to the rishi or the man under the spell of inspiration, but as and when impelled or inspired by the higher power namely Bindu Shakti (i. e., apara bindu). This, the Swami refers to, in his preamble to the Tatva Lokas, as the spoken or expressive Pranava word of Sadasiva which is an effectual word of apara bindu and carries a sense and force of truth, though it is not the ideal word of Truth from the supreme Transcendence, the pure and wide and supreme Sky of Knowledge (Cidambara or Parama Ākasa).

4. The fourth part deals with the five-fold permutations of Ichha, Jnana, Kriya shaktis (items 97 to 99 of the Tatva Lokas), Sukha Priya Adi shakti (see item 100 of Tatva Lokas i. e. Sukharamba Cit Shakti) and Parai (i. e. Sukha pūrana or para anubhava Parā Shakti, the Cosmic Parā Shakti item 101 of Tatva Loka) but permuting in the three broad realms of Ignorance i. e. Asuddha or Prakriti Maya, Suddhāsuddha or Mohini Maya and the effectual or Karya Suddha Maya or Bindu. The relationship of the five powers with the three fields of varying obscurity, i. e. the three Mayas is one of combination or conjunction (sa-yoga) rather than of synthesis or integration or of inseparable union (Samavaya). The said five powers are not the causal but effectual powers or Karya Shaktis namely Karya Ichha, Jnana, Kriya, Adi and Parai (i. e., shaktis or powers as derived or descended from their corresponding original Powers in the realm of Suddha Maha Maya the summit over-mind—see items 97 to 101 of the Tatva Lokas) which here cause or bring about intermediary manifestations by their permuted combinations with the three forces of Maya i. e. Prakrti, Mohini and Bindu—Asuddha, Suddhāsuddha and (Karya) Suddha Maya—which give rise to the three avasthas of the evolving man i. e. Kevala, Sakala and Suddha—the submerged, half-awakened and awakened consciousness.

5. The fifth part of the chapter deals with the four-fold permutations of Carya, Kriya, Yoga and Jnana i. e., the four-fold steps of discipline and experience or rather the four-fold planes of consciousness under each of the veiling Maya powers namely (1) Asuddha Maya (2) Suddha Asuddha Maya (3) Kutula or Suddha Maya, here as its derived or effectual power Karya Kutilai or Karya Suddha Maya (see item 30 of Tatva Lokas) and under the effectual powers of (4) (apara) Bindu (see item 33 of the Tatva Lokas) (5) (apara) Ichha Shakti, (6) (apara) Jnana Shakti, (7) (apara) Kriya Shakti and (8) Adi Shakti i. e. the effectual Power of Sukharambha Cit Shakti (see items 97 to 100 of the Tatva Lokas which are their original or causal Powers ; see also notes at the end of this chapter).

In this classification, Karya Parai the effectual of cosmic Parā Shakti (item 101 of the Tatva Lokas) which finds a place in the fourth part of this chapter is omitted here but apara bindu or bindu figures in as an item. Apara bindu falls within the range of Suddha Maya.

Under the chapter “ Karanateeta Lokas ” we find apara bindu as the source of apara Ichha, apara Jnana and apara Kriya shaktis ; under the chapter “ Tatva Lokas ” the Sukharambha Cit Shakti (equivalent to Parabindu of Suddha Maha Maya range) stands as the immediate source of Para Ichha, Para

Jnana and Para Kriya Shaktis. Kutīla the causal Suddha Maya comes in between the two. In the next chapter of "Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya Lokas," experiences obtained in the realms of Suddha Maya and Suddha Maha Maya are dealt with. In the last chapter i.e. "Karanateeta Lokas", the integral Knowledge of the Truth-World and the Beyond becomes its subject-matter.

A SUMMARY OF THE FORMULATED WORLDS OF NADA :

Thus Nada, it appears, has four levels of formulations, according to the chapter as a whole, namely, "Adi nitya preraka mukti lokas". Nada loka proper with its pranava nada loka i.e. its creative subtle (vital) world, and Upa nada and Pratyanga nada lokas (its provinces and kingdoms) form one category under the first part of the chapter. Then, Nada as the creative Power bringing forth, maintaining and dissolving the manifestations of all jeevas, desires and attachments, mantras, energies and eternality or Time-continuity (Sarva jeeva, pasa, mantra, shakti and nitya nada lokas) form another group derived from the Nada Loka i.e., Nada Tatva. A third group of formulation of Nada as "Vibhaga preraka nada Suddha lokas" i.e. the pure nada lokas inspiring differentiation or discrimination between light and darkness, capacity and incapacity, and discrimination of tatvas inter se, etc is listed. In this comes also the inspiring creative force behind all kalās i.e. arts, sciences & actions.

Then Nada anugraha lokas i.e., the creative powers of Nada as intuition or intuitive will (Sankalpa anugraha nada), as inspiration or truth-hearing of mantra (mantra anugraha nada), as vision of images and forms (Prati rupa anugraha nada), and as the (liberating and transforming) force which brings its powers into the inner and outer being (antara anugraha nada loka, bahya anugraha nada loka) are listed. Thus the second and third groups of formulations of Nada come under the second part of the chapter.

In the third part of the chapter Nada as a causal and most subtle pranava substance, rather of a subtle vital character (Kāraṇa Pranava anu), one with Siva is said to be formulated in Suddha Maya itself, and according to the subtlety of its Pranava (vital) substance, it assumes a most subtle inspiring force or impelling causal force (Maha sukshma Preraka nimitta) operating in and through its subtle (vital) world, provinces and kingdoms (Pratyanga adhikarana, Upa adhikarana, and Sanga adhikarana) corresponding to the formulations of nada in the first part of the chapter (i.e., Pranava nada loka, Upa nada loka, Pratyanga nada loka). The said impelling causal forces of a most subtle pranava (vital) substance of Nada are behind the other worlds below it in the hierarchy of Suddha Maya, such as Bindu, Sadasiva, Maheshwara and Rudra who or which also have their respective grades of pranava (vital) substance and creative subtle pranava (vital) worlds, provinces and kingdoms (Pranava lokas, Upa and Pratyanga Pranava lokas).

These “Preraka nimitta ... Pranava anu lokas” of the hierarchy of Rudra, Maheshwara, Sadasiva, Bindu (Shakti) and Nada (Siva) have been considered here as belonging to the creative subtle worlds of many grades of subtle substances and energies (Pranava anu-s) more especially of a subtle vital or life nature, because they form the intermediary worlds having impulsions of Pranava substances and energies. Pranava as such does not mean the vital exclusively. In Kutila, the causal Suddha Maya, “Omkara Varna” the seed-sound and letter of Om is said to arise (item 93—1), and again its syllable as a pada or word is said to arise in the effectual Suddha Maya (item 59 of Tatva lokas) and the four Vaks also arise therein (items 54 to 57), that is to say, Pranava omkara has its origin and function in the overmind as a force and substance largely of Mind. Here in this chapter “Adi Nitya Preraka Mukti okas” of an intermediary nature, the Pranava worlds with their Pranava atoms (Pranava anu-s) or Pranava substances are spoken of as Preraka mukti lokas, as the freely impelling creative worlds or worlds of creative impulsions. Hence here they largely or mainly partake of a subtle vital nature, substance and energy and they have their source or access into the Suddha Maya (cf. Maha Sukshma Preraka Nimitta Sāṅga Adhikaraṇa Suddha Maya Kāraṇa Pranava Anu Siva loka).

NOTE : 1 Kutilā means Kutilai in Tamil and here it signifies the effectual Kutilai i. e., the effectual Suddha Maya corresponding with item 30 of the “Tatva Lokas”, as distinguished from the causal Kutilai (i. e. Kundali or Suddha Maya) corresponding with item 93 of the “Tatva Lokas”. Here the further developments of the effectual Kutilai are given. Kundali or Kutila loka is the coiled universe (see notes on Para Siva under S. No. 109—Ch. V.)

NOTE : 2 The permutation of the four-fold series of carya, kriya, yoga and jnana signify here the steps or gradations of the planes of experience, rather than the steps of discipline as found in Saiva Siddhanta system of philosophy. Thus Carya, Kriya, Yoga and Jnana represent the outer, outer-inner, inner and inmost steps or levels within each given range of world such as Suddha Maya or Kutila, Suddhāsuddha Maya and Asuddha Maya.

Now, within the range of effectual Suddha Maya (see item 30 of “Tatva lokas”) i. e. effectual Kutilai are the formulation of Aparā Bindu (item 33), and the further formulations of Ambika, Vama, Jyeshta and Raudri (items 34 to 37). These five formulations correspond respectively with the Bindu or Baindava Shakti, Adi Shakti, Iccha Shakti, Jnana Shakti and Kriya Shakti, terms occurring here in above, each with its four-fold steps or gradations of carya, kriya, yoga and jaana. Further in the chapter "Karanateeta Lokas" a closely identical correspondence is found with the Aparā Shaktis i. e., Aparā Bindu and its formulations namely Aparā Icchā Shakti, Aparā Jnana Shakti and Aparā Kriya Shakti, as much as with the Parā Shaktis i. e. Parabindu or Sukharambha Cit Shakti (of which Adī Shakti is the derivative effectual power), Parā Icchā, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis (see items 97 to 100 of "Tatva Lokas"). Now, again, these Shaktis namely Ambika, Vama, Jyeshtha and Raudri which are herein represented by Adī, Icchā, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis respectively seem to correspond with the four vaks (see items 54 to 57 of the "Tatva Lokas") i. e. Sukshma Vak (corresponding to Parā Vak), Pashyanti, Madhyama and Vaikari. This correspondence seems to be hinted in the Tantra system also as given out by Arthur Avalon in his book "Serpent Power" which is quoted herein below :

"In the body unmanifested Parā Sabdha is in Kundali-Sakti. That which first issues from it is in the lowest chakra, and extends upwards through the rest as Pashyanti, Madhyama and Vaikari-Sabda. When Sakti first "sees", She is Paramakālā in the Mother-form, Ambika-rupa, which is the supreme speech Parā-Vak (i. e. here as Sukshma Vak) and supreme Peace, Parama Santa. She "sees" the manifested Sabda from Pashyanti to Vaikhari. The pasyanti state of Sabda is that in which Icchā-Shakti (will) in the form of a goad (Arṇkuṣā-kāra) is about to display the universe, then in seed (Bija) form. This is the Sakti Vama (so called because She vomits forth the universe). Madhyama Vak which is Jnana (Knowledge), and in the form of a straight line (Rjūrēkha) is Jyeshtha-Sakti. Here there is the first assumption of form as the Mātṛkā (Mātṛkātvam upapanna) for here is particular motion (Viśeṣa spanda). The Vaikari state is that of Kriya sakti who is Devī Raudri, whose form is triangular (i. e., a triangular pyramidal figure of three dimensions, Śṛṅgātaka) and that of the universe"—("The Serpent Power"—p. 100—101).

SUDDHA TATVA SADHANA SADHYA LOKAS

This chapter i.e., Chapter 4 of the Text contains five parts. The heading suggests that these are realisations in the field of Suddha Maya and Suddha Maha Maya where the principles and powers of existence (tatvas) operate in their relative purities.

The first part leads through four steps of discipline namely carya, kriya, yoga and jnana to the realisation of the pure inmost Light of soul with the inmost or true mental being, vital being and physical being. (Nada Udbhava Suddha Nishkala Samanya Bindu Vedana). Elsewhere the Swami mentions the realisation of the inmost light of soul taking place in the heart or at the Ajna (called Bindu centre) and that of the Self above the head taking place in the Sahasrara (called Nada centre). In the above passage "Samanya bindu" would refer to the pure partless light of the inmost soul of an individual.

The second part deals with "Ashtanga yoga", the eight-fold discipline. The Swami lists the postures of Asanas, modes of Pranayama, Pratyahara, Dharana, Dhyana, Yama and Nyama and the several kinds or states of realisation in Samadhi and finally the Siddhis that follow such as anima, mahima, garima and laghima etc. Under "Samadhi" which is the eighth limb or step of "Ashtanga yoga", mention is made of the liberated states (yoga mukti) under Pratishtha, Vidya, Shanti and Shantiateeta kalās and under Bindu kalās of "Shakti Tatva" and under Nada kalās of Siva Tatva. These states correspond with most of the items mentioned under the chapter "Tatva Lokas" under Suddha Maya (see items 30 to 37, 43 to 53). They also seem to correspond with the Nada kalās of Siva Tatva and Bindu kalās of Shakti Tatva under Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta systems.

The third part contains the distinctive goals of realisation under various denominations of Saiva Religion and Vaidika Saiva Siddhanta system of philosophy. Under the latter mention is made of the states of Siva jagrata (or Paraturya), Siva swapna (or Vishvagrāsa) and Siva susupti (or Upasānta) corresponding respectively with the selective overmind, global overmind (Vishva grāsa) and gnostic overmind (or the veiling state of Parigraha which is a state of intense Peace and Silence, Upasanta).

The fourth part contains the goals of realisation under another system of discipline which classifies between two states, the liberated and the unliberated, Mukti and Baddha (possibly the liberated and the less liberated states, or rather the liberated spiritual states and the partially liberated and transformed nature parts of the being, or the exclusively in-drawn spiritual liberated states and their corresponding dynamic states of consciousness which still remain not fully but partially transformed in regard to the nature parts of the being) on the basis of four progressive conditions of the aspirant—sakala, kevala, suddha and kāraṇa (possibly the subliminal and psychic, the spiritual mental, overmental and the summit-overmental which is turned downwards). Thus there are two broad classifications of mukti and baddha, the liberated and less liberated states under each of the four conditions (sakala, kevala, suddha and kāraṇa). Suddha and Kāraṇa may be treated even as one classification, because under the chapter “Karanateeta Lokas” only three avasthas namely sakala, kevala and kāraṇa are mentioned or distinguished under each of the groups of Mukta and Baddha (cf. “Ubhaya vidha sakala kevala kāraṇa avastha traya” rupa svarupa svabhava vyapya vyapaka vishesha gunadi poorvottara paryanta pratyaksha sakti loka). This quoted passage occurs after the four principles and powers namely Kutīla (global overmind), Tirodha (gnostic overmind or veiling border), Anava (universal source of ego) and Karma (universal source of determinism of action and results) but preceding the Paratva Shaktis of Para Iccha, Para jñāna and Para kriyā which are in the realm of Summit overmind or overmind Gnosis which is turned upwards or looks into the supermind above. Further as Mukti and Baddha states are distinguished under this chapter which bears the title “Suddha tatva sadhana sadhya Lokas”, the word “baddha” cannot mean here the unliberated gross state of Ignorance.

Now in the fifth part of this chapter the Swami gives the quintessence of experience possible in the realm of Suddha Tatva i.e. within the range of Suddha Maha Maya, the overmind Gnosis but before crossing into the realm of the Light of Cit-Shakti i.e., the World of Truth-Light, the Supermind which is the subject matter of the next chapter “Kāraṇateeta Lokas”. Thus the closing part of this chapter indicates the five pure powers of the soul in its pure psychic and spiritual state which are said to be caused or manifested or brought in by the five corresponding universal special powers namely Viśeṣha Icchā, Jñāna and Kriyā Shaktis and Viśeṣha Sukhārambha Cit Shakti and Viśeṣha Sukha Poorana Parā Shakti which are the special formulations of the Para Shaktis listed as items 97 to 101 of the “Tatva Lokas”. The Soul thus comes to possess and enjoy the pure powers of will, knowledge, action, power, of an initiating bliss (Sukhārambha) and power of a total or global bliss (Sukha Poorana as distinguished here from Poorana Sukha, the integral bliss). Now the Text gives permutations of these five powers and as a result twenty five states of experience accrue to the soul bringing in the inseparable presence and experience of Siva, the Divine (Siva Samavaya Samvedana). Will, knowledge and action—Ichha, Jnana and Kriya—correspond with intuition or intuitive will, revelation or illumination, and inspiration with inspired word and action. The initiating bliss of Sukhārambha Cit Shakti and the total bliss of Cosmic Parā Shakti are also powers of the soul, when it becomes one with them. Will, knowledge and action, joy or rapture and bliss of soul result in the experience of the presence of Siva. Thus these five powers of the soul are related to the corresponding special universal Powers; and the soul's powers of will, knowledge, action, Light of initiating bliss due to Sukhārambha Cit-Shakti (the Light of Consciousness-Force as descended into the field of summit-overmind) and a total universal Ananda or Bliss (when one with the Cosmic Parā Shakti who is Sukha Poorana) integrate the being, and as a result it is lifted up into the Truth-World Beyond which is the subject-matter of the next chapter.

Here the said five special powers (Visesha Shaktis) enter into relations with the soul giving it their respective pure powers. In an earlier chapter of the Text i.e., “Adi Nitya Preraka Mukti Lokas” (see under its fourth part), the same five powers are mentioned but in their effectual aspects (Karya Shaktis) namely, Karya Ichha, Jnana and Kriya, Sukha Priya Adi and Sukha Poorana Parai Shaktis.

The said five special Powers (visesha shaktis) occur in the Realm of Para or Paratva, the summit-overmind and they here enter into their respective and combined relationship with the pure soul (atma); and these six principles and powers (i.e., including atma which is called Atma Cit-Shakti) are mentioned as items 96 to 101 under the “Tatva Lokas”.

When the pure soul and self (atma) gets universalised and integrated so as to be lifted up into the Transcendence of the Truth-World by the power of Cit-Shakti who had at first poured Herself partially (Ekadesha Cit) into it as Sukhārambha Cit Shakti, then totally or universally (Sanga Cit) as the Universal Cosmic Maha Shakti or Parā Shakti, and now finally revealing Herself integrally (Poorana Cit) in Her full glory as the supreme Cit-Shakti of the Truth-World, it (the soul and self) is considered to have become transformed as “Suddha atma” and as one centre of the supreme and universal Divine; the Sukhārambha Cit-Shakti gets transformed as Poorana Cit-Shakti or as the “Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa Shakti” (see items 3 and 7 among the last items 1 to 16 under “Karanateeta Lokas”)

The increasingly revealing powers of the divine Cit-Shakti are also exemplified in the passages of Sri Aurobindo already quoted elsewhere (see quotations under Note 4 on Chart 20 ; and under S. No. 99 Introductory note to "Tatva Lokas " Subhead : Sukharambha Cit Shakti).

NOTE : The above passages indicate the progressive steps of discipline and realisation as similar to Saiva Siddhanta system. The four-fold permuted steps of carya, kriya, yoga and jnana represent respectively (1) the outermost and (2) outer forms of worship of a personal god, (3) the inner jeeva and its nature with the inner mind, life and the physical and (4) the realisation of the inmost soul and its nature with the inmost mental, vital and physical beings. For the sake of a clear and ready understanding of the steps, the said permutations are here shown by us within brackets, though they form continuous part of the text and should be read as if there are no brackets.

As in the first and second series of the four-fold steps, the opening words "Baindava udbhava" (i.e. Born of Bindu the inmost soul) shall be implied for the third series also, though omitted to be mentioned. The inner being (jeeva) of nature and its inner instrumental nature of mind, life and the physical are said to be born of the inmost soul, the Bindu. The fourth series begin with the opening words "Nada Udbhava Suddha Nishkala Samanya Bindu Vedana" which mean "Born of Nada the self is the pure and partless soul with its knowledge". Thus the inmost soul (Bindu) is born of Nada the individual self, and so too the inner jeeva or being is born of Bindu the inmost soul.

We may further add that the Swami in his book of Vyakhyana mentions the innermost soul and the true mental, vital, and physical souls in the inmost level and this occurs at the opening of the said fourth chapter "Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya lokas" (see p. 117). It deals with bindu yoga. Four levels or steps of that discipline, the inmost, inner, outer and outermost, are given, each containing a further four sub-steps of carya, kriya, yoga and jnana. The innermost soul, the innermost mental, vital and physical souls or beings (purushas) are respectively stated as the liberations of Jnana Jnana, Jnana yoga, Jnana kriya, and Jnana carya. The Swami describes the soul as "nada udbhava suddha nishkala samanya bindu" in its four states of "sukshma vishesha, sukshma, sthoola visesha, and sthoola" corresponding to the psychic soul (antaratma), mental soul (mano purusha), vital soul (prana purusha) and physical soul (annamaya purusha). We may remember that the Swami identifies Sahasrara as nada centre, the centre of Self, and Ajna as Bindu centre, the centre of the inmost soul. Soul is born of the individual self and it is its deputy, so to say, in the field of Nature. The inmost or true mental, vital and physical souls or beings are also formations of that self, as the true instrumental beings in nature. The individual self in the Sahasrara is one with the cosmic or impersonal Self, the infinite Self.

Similarly, the inner jeeva, inner mental, inner life and inner physical are respectively formed by the inmost soul, inmost mental, vital and physical beings. They are said to be formations of Bindu. [cf “(Bindu udbhava or Baindava udbhava) suddha sakaḷa nishkaḷa samanya suddha karaṇa”—with its four states namely, sukshma vega saṅkalpa viśeṣa (inner jeeva), sukshma vega saṅkalpa (inner mind), sukshma saṅkalpa viśeṣa (inner vital), and sukshma saṅkalpa (inner physical) respectively referred to as yoga jñāna, yoga yoga, yoga kriya, and yoga carya]. Similarly it deals with the outer and outermost levels (Sthoola saṅkalpa and sthoola karma) but in their relatively purified states which occur under Suddha Tatva as the heading of the chapter signifies. They are also referred to specifically as formations of bindu, though the inner level is not so openly specified but by implication they are necessarily derived from the Bindu as stated above (for more details see Joti Agaval stz. 342).

NOTE : Items 10 to 13 correspond with items 43 to 46 of the chapter “Tatva Lokas”. Except Nivritti kalā, other four kalās are mentioned here as yōga mukti lokas. Nivritti kalā of Mooladhara here seems to be indicated by item 7 “Ādhāra yōga Mukti loka”.

- (19) Vyāpinī yōga mukti lōka
- (20) Samanā yōga mutki lōka
- (21) Unmanī yōga mukti lōka

NOTE : Bindu yoga Mukti (item 14) indicates realisation of soul at the Ajna, and Nada Yoga Mukti (item 16) that of the self in Sahasrara. Items 14 to 21 seem to correspond with some of the names of the 12 causal Shaktis of the Pranava which bring out the universal manifestation and are listed in the Netra Tantra of Kashmir. They are (1) Unmani, (2) Samani or Samana, (3) Vyapika or Vyapini, (4) Anjani (i. e., here possibly shown as Shakti yoga mukti, item 18), (5) Mahanada (i. e. nadanta) (6) Nada, (7) Nirodhini (possibly here shown as nirosada), (8) Ardha Chandra, (9) Bindu, (10) Ma-kara, (11) U-kara, (12) A-kara. Unmani comes under Siva tatva; Samana, Vyapini and Anjani under Shakti Tatva; Mahanada (or Nadanta i. e. Kāraṇa nada) and Nada (i. e. Kārya nada) and Nirodhini (or Nirotsada) under Sadasiva Tatva; Ardha Chandra and Bindu under Ishwara tatva; Ma-kara under Rudra tatva (or Maya tatva); u-kara under Prakṛiti tatva (or in some texts as Vishnu tatva); a-kara under Brahma tatva (see “Garland of Letters”—ch. 19 “Causal Shaktis of Pranava” p. 189—191). Similarly Swami Ramalingam speaks of the twelve causal shaktis of the letter A (अ) of the Pranava—see his Upadesha p. 98—99

According to Tirumoolar the sixteen kalas or states of consciousness are counted from the physical base (Medhadi) upto and including the highest plane of summit overmind (Paranada)—TM 1705. ஈரெட்டாம் அந்தத்தின் மேதாதி நாதாந்தமீதாம் பராசத்தி போதாலயம்—மந் 1705 ; மேதாதி ஈரெண் கலாந்தத்து விண்ணெளி போதாலயம்—மந் 1707 ; உண்மைக் கலாந்தம் இரண்டு ஐந்தொடு ஏழ் அந்தம்—மந் 2383. The Supermind is here called Bodhalaya which is beyond 16 kalas or is the 17th state of true goal (anta) of realisation. The soul is realised generally in the heart or the Ajna i.e. either at the fifth or sixth state. Therefore after realising the soul (bindu yoga mukti) one ascends into the over-head state of consciousness beyond the sixth, realises the self (nada yoga mukti) and reaches by successive ascent of planes into the highest of summit overmind, the sixteenth state, according to this classification of gradations of planes or states of consciousness (kalas). In the more generally accepted classification there are twelve gradations reaching the summit overmind. Here in the above said classification the summit overmind is further elaborated by listing its five planes from the twelfth to the sixteenth. Tirumoolar observes in TM. 2680, 1705 and 1707 that both the classified gradations lead to the same goal of supermind. See also TM 2202—2206.

Now Swami Ramalingam enumerates the 16 kalas or states (or perhaps the 17 as in some Tantra texts which speak of them rather as chandra kalas near sahasrara). To the 16 kalas beginning from “Pratishta (kala) yoga mukti to Anashrita yoga mukti”, items numbered 10 to 25, may be added Nivritti (kala) yoga mukti which is indicated by “Adhara yoga mukti” (see item numbered 7). Nivritti kala is essentially the kala of Mooladhara. After mentioning the successive ascent of these planes or states of consciousness, the Swami deals with the successive integration of these states (possibly effected as and when they are realised and transcended) or of the dynamic powers represented by their planes in terms of the groups of five, eight, ten, twelve and sixteen kalas under the definition of “Nata Bindu Madhya Yoga”. The final integration of 16 kalas naturally leads to the supermind. The above integration also gives preliminary siddhis which are mentioned as “Siddhi yoga mukti”.

- (22) Vyōma rūpiṇī yōga mukti lōka
- (23) Ananta yōga mukti lōka
- (24) Anātha yōga mukti lōka
- (25) Anāshrita yōga mukti lōka

NOTE : Item 22 to 25 correspond with items 50 to 53 of the chapter “ Tatva Lokas ”. They are some of the 10 nāda kalās of Siva Tatva under the Tantra system namely (1) Anāshrita, (2) Anātha, (3) Ananta, (4) Vyōma rūpiṇī, (5) Vyāpini, (6) Ūrdhva gāmini, (7) Mōchika, (8) Rōchika, (9) Dīpika and (10) Indhika. The first four items occur here in this chapter as well as in the Chapter “ Tatva Lokas ”; the last 7 to 9 only in chapter “ Tatva Lokas ”. (see items 47 to 49 ; see also “ Garland of Letters ” chapter 27 p 250).

- (26) Pañca naṭa bindu madhya yōga mukti lōka.
- (27) Aṣṭa naṭa bindu madhya yōga mukti lōka.
- (28) Daśa naṭa bindu madhya yōga mukti lōka.
- (29) Dvādaśa naṭa bindu madhya yōga mukti lōka.
- (30) Shōḍaśa naṭa bindu madhya yōga mukti lōka.

NOTE : Items 26 to 30 seem to represent the various groupings of Kalās or Parts i. e , dynamic aspects or movements of forces of the Bindu (nata bindu) or Shakti representing its group-nature and functions—under some Tantra Texts (such as Shatchakra Nirupana), Samana is considered as the creative Shakti, the sixteenth kalā Shakti (i. e. implying the existence of sixteen kalās), and above it, is the supreme mode of Shakti which is of the nature of Chinmātra svabhāva (ever-existent changeless chit)—(See “ Garland of Letters ” p.199 ; ch.20). The sixteen kalās of Bindu which include and overlap the Nada kalās (which are usually twelve of which four are mentioned in items 22 to 25) are made out by the foregoing items from 10 to 25. Out of these sixteen, five, eight, ten, twelve are combined to make the above formations of kalās. The sixteen are also combined to make a whole formation.

They are almost repeated also in the sixteen items, 42 to 57 of Tatva lokas but the four kalās of speech (Sukshma, Pashyanti, madhyama and Vaikari are added in this list (See notes on items 4 to 57 of the Tatva lokas in ch.I). For details on “Kalās and Pranayama according to Tirumantram of Tirumoolar, see the part at the end of this sub-chapter.

- (31) Kuṇḍali yōga mukti lōka.
- (32) Ajapa yōga mukti lōka.
- (33) Praṇava yōga mukti lōka.

1. AṆI AṆIMĀ
2. MAHI AṆIMĀ
3. GARI AṆIMĀ
4. LAGHU AṆIMĀ (ITYĀDI AṆGĀN YUKTA)

NOTE : The said four siddhis of Ashtanga yoga are not exactly those in the eight siddhis spoken of by Tirumoolar (TM 649, 668, 682, 706, 671-690) which include deathlessness of physical body as one siddhi and the said eight siddhis are realised after realising the Pure Transcendence, the beautiful world of divine Light i. e. the Supermind (TM 641,671) and they are said to be attained within a period of twelve years after the firm realisation and possession of supermind (TM 645, 643).

Now as the Swami names the siddhis in a different style namely aṇi aṇima, mahi aṇima, laghi aṇima, gari aṇima etc, and mentions them under Siddhi yoga mukti in this chapter which preceeds that of ' karanateeta loka ' the Super-mind, it is evident that the said siddhis are not the result of realisation of the Truth-World, but are of a secondary nature though related to the transformation of bodily consciousness, and they are effected evidently in and by the summit overmind which can draw some power of the Truth-Light from the Truth-World which is beyond the sixteen kalas or Shodasa nata bindu (cf : TM 709 and 1707 : "The Great Light of Heaven beyond the sixteen kalas" according to Tirumoolar). The Swami speaks of them in his Upadesha as the siddhis of religions and philosophical schools particularly of Saivism which also speak of transformation of body to live for relatively long periods of deathlessness according to the aeonic age of the overmental godheads or principles. He has further observed that they are not the true siddhis of Suddha Sanmarga whereby the body is transformed into its eternal deathless state by the direct power of Truth-Conscious Light of Grace.

Therefore the Swami has in mind here the siddhis of Ashtanga yoga in general including those of the Patanjali school but not those of Tirumoolar. For more details see the subject of "Process of Transformation of body" at the end of vol. I. of the book.

ACCORDING TO TIRUMANTRAM OF TIRUMOOLAR

In Tirumantram (TM) of Tirumoolar, we get the various shades of meaning for kala. These various shades of meaning are not accidental or mentally and artificially given and created, but born in the experience of knowledge. They are connected and correlated. But still however one has to look to the context for the exact sense and reference. Thus, kala has come to mean light, ray of light, knowledge. It signifies also the 51 letters of alphabets (TM 963 to 965), the 12 parts constituting a letter such as the vowel “A” (அ) corresponding to the 51 petals of chakras (TM 1704, 1709), the 5 kalas of speech (TM 1994) namely Para Vak, Sukshma, Pashyanti, Madhyama and Vaikari. the 16 planes or states of consciousness (TM 1705, 1707). 12 centres of being (TM 2191). The 16 planes or states of consciousness and the 12 centres of being are duly represented by the 16 Chandra kalas of the symbol of Moon and the 12 Surya kalas of the symbol of Sun respectively. Kala also means matra, a time-measurement, the time of pronunciation of Om or a bija mantra (seed-mantra) or of a short vowel or a syllable of a word. Kala means part of anything, part of time, part of a whole.

Kala is the manifestation of Siva and Shakti which arises by interaction or impinging of Paranada on Parabindu. Nada and bindu (sound and light) by their conjoint operation are said to bring about the kalas, the modes or aspects of Siva and Shakti.

It is said in Tirumantram of Tirumoolar that after transcending the sixteen planes or states of consciousness beginning from the physical base of material body (Mēdhādi...Kalānta Bodhālaya one reaches the world of divine Light and Knowledge which transforms the mind, vital, and the body and the senses (TM 1707 மேதாதி ஈரெண் கலாந்தத்து விண்ணொளி போதாலயம் ...). The same 16 planes as leading to the high-seated World of Knowledge and Para Shakti (i e., the Truth-World of Supermind) is denoted in TM 1707—the 16 planes from Medhadi, the first or the physical to Nadanta the last or the sixteenth (Mēdhādi NādāntaParā Shakti Bodhālaya) Thus kala here signifies planes of consciousness. See also TM 185, 709, 1070.

“ Kalas ” is also used to mean centres of being or the parts of nature as the case may be. Thus. Chandra kalas the modes or parts or aspects of Shakti, the female, the power of Nature here symbolised as the moon, are said to be sixteen in number. Chandra the moon is associated (in the yoga literature of Tirumantram) with Bindu (or light), Shakti, soul (antaratma), the left side of the nervous system, the left nostril in breathing controlled by its nerve (Ida kala). The 16 parts of nature (i. e., mind, vital, and physical in each of the four levels namely the inmost, inner, outer and outermost,—being the twelve parts, and the conjoint operation of mind, life and the physical in each of the four levels or fields—being the other four) are possibly represented by the 16 kalas of moon (cf : Swami's JOTI AGAVAL poem, stz. 257 to 272). Surya kalas, the modes or aspects or parts of Siva, the male, the principle of being here symbolised as the sun, are said to be twelve in number. Surya the sun is associated (in the yoga literature of Tirumantram) with Nada (sound), Siva, the self, right side of the nervous system, right nostril in breathing controlled by its nerve (Ping kala). The 12 centres of being are of the self and soul and the inner jeeva and, the instrumental beings of the mental, vital and physical in each of the three levels—the inmost or psychic, inner and inner-outer (TM 2191. 854, 855, 577). The reference to 12 Adityas or 12 suns (TM 1124) seems to signify the 12 centres of being, the 12 beings that rule the 16 parts of one's nature.

Now the conjoint operation of chandra and surya, or Bindu and Nada, or soul and self, bring the consciousness into the central golden Pillar (Meru) with its yogic fire or agni which leads into the Truth-world of Supermind and opens to the flow of the heavenly Amrita of Supreme Bliss (TM 619, 865, 854, 856, 857, 961, 589, 709, 710, 1757 and 1758). Chandra is associated with Chandra mandala, the head part of body from throat to Sahasrara, Surya with Surya mandala, the part of body from heart up to throat, Agni with Agni mandala in the lower body from Mooladhara up to the heart. But the central Agni of the central golden Pillar (Meru or Sushumna) is to be distinguished and it is said to have 64 Kalas (TM 854,855), and therefore considered Poorna or full and complete. The Agni of the lower body, i. e., of the Agni mandala is said to have 10 kalas only (TM 852, 991). When all the kalas of chandra. surya, agni and the stars which are respectively 16, 12, 64 and 4 in number arise in their full capacities and join in the central pillar, the Supreme and universal Divine is realised (TM 857). The total kalas are thus 96 in number. The reference to the kalas of star (Taraka), agni (lower), surya and chandra correspond to the petals of chakras respectively at the Mooladhara (physical base), Nabhi (stomach), heart (Anahata), and throat (Visuddhi)—4, 10, 12, 16. There are also references to the higher Surya represented by the up-turned 12 petalled lotus in the Sahasrara and to the higher Chandra represented by the sixteen kalas of the chandra mandala in the region of Ajna or rather the sixteenth kalas of the other chandra mandala in the Sahasrara. To this point we shall come later. There—S'iva and Shakti, or Nada and Bindu are said to join in the Sahasrara (TM 1852, 1853, 1971, 1988, 619).

According to the Upadesha of Swami Ramalingam, Agni which is poorna or full and complete contains 64 kalas, surya 16 and chandra 16. Out of its 16 kalas Surya gives 4 to Chandra, and Chandra in turn gives 4 kalas to Taraka, the star. So Agni, Surya, Chandra and Taraka come to have 64, 12, 16, 4 kalas respectively. They total up the 96 kalas of the adhara, the physiological and psychological system of man. The 96 kalas are also spoken of as the 96 tatvas of the adhara. See also TM 854 to 857, 860, 862, 864 and 1990. Star is the spark of soul, which when realised by joining of sun, moon and agni, grows to become the All. அங்கிச்சி கதிர் கூட அத்தாரகை தங்கி அதுவே சகல முமாமே—மந் 864.

In the above said TM 1705, the twelve beings and sixteen planes of consciousness and their range from the physical to nadanta (i. e. Paranādānta) have been hinted and beyond them is the Truth-World of Knowledge, the Heaven of Parāshakti (Parā Shakti Bōdhālayam) by which the physical cells become transformed (Bodha Mēdhādi). ஈராறு நாதத்தில் ஈரெட்டாம் அந்தத்தின் மேதாதி நாதாந்த மீதாம் பராசக்தி போதாலயத்த விகாரம் தனில் போத மேதாதி ஆதார மீதான உண்மையே—திருமந்திரம் 1705.

The sixteen planes of consciousness again referred to in TM 1707 as the 16 kalas (மேதாதி ஈரெண் கலாந்தத்து விண்ணொளி போதாலயம்) are explained in TM 2202 to 2205 as the permuted states of Jagrata, Swapna, Susupti and Turya which give rise to 16 states; and beyond the sixteenth is the Ateeta Turya of Truth-Consciousness (or Turyam Turyam) with its four states of Ateeta Turya Jagrata, Swapna, Susupti and Turya which are mentioned in TM 2206 (அறிவு அறிகின்ற அறிவு நனவாம்...அறிவு அறிவாகுமான துரியமே). See also TM 2199, 2361, 672, 2357-9, 2271, 2273.

The twelve beings are indicated in TM 2191 (Purushadi anma eerāru புருஷாதி ஆன்மா ஈராறே...) and the twelve principles they govern correspondingly are listed in TM 2190 which are the same by name. They are (1) Sivam (the self); (2) Shakti (the soul); (3) Sadasiva (4) Isa or Maheshwara (5) Rudra or Suddha Vidya (6) Mahāmāyā; (7) Rāga; (8) Vidyā; (9) Kalā (action) (10) Nyati (11) Kāla (time) and (12) Purusha. Possibly the principles 3 to 5 represent the instrumental beings of mind, life and the physical in the inmost psychic and spiritual level; 6 to 8 the same mental, vital and physical principles in the inner or subliminal level derived respectively from 3 to 5. The items 9 to 11 are derived from the same three principles 6 to 8 in the inner outer level. The last, the twelfth, is Purusha, the jeeva which or whom the inmost soul has put forth into the frontal nature to purify it, and also purify the whole nature and thereby evolve and discover the distinctive instrumental beings of nature (3 to 11) and realise the original self and the inmost soul (1 and 2)—see also TM 1124 in respect of the twelve suns

Possibly the twelve beings or twelve centres of being and the sixteen planes of consciousness are indirectly referred to in the Tantra literature respectively by the upward-turned twelve petalled lotus in Chandra mandala in the Sahasrara, representing Hamsa the Sun as antaratma, and by the sixteen adharas connected with the 16 petals of Visuddhi (throat centre) under the other Chandra Mandala i.e. lunar region of the Ajna—see “Serpent Power” by Sir John Woodroffe, p 128, 210, 235, 250, 391, 398, 436, 484, 497. The sixteen adharas are listed as (1) Mooladhara (2) Swadishtana (3) Manipura (4) Anahata (5) Visuddha (6) Ajna chakra (7) Bindu (8) Kalāpada (9) Nibhodika (10) Ardhendu (11) Nada (12) Nadanta (13) Unmani (14) Vishnu-vaktra (15) Dhruva mandala and (16) Siva, and it is said they are hard of attainment by the yogi (Ibid, p 398 ; and Kulārnavā Tantra Ch IV ; Pādukā Panchaka V. 1, 7, ; Shat Chakra Nirupana V. 33, 43).

Thus, the twelve beings of one's existence include not only the original self and its deputy the inmost soul and its representative the inner jeeva in the field of nature but also the instrumental beings of nature, i.e. the mental, vital and physical beings (or Jnana, Iccha and Kriya Shaktis) in the three levels of existence—the inmost, inner and inner-outer.

The self and soul are indicated by Swami Ramalingam as nada and bindu (விந்து என்பது ஆன்மா, நாதம் என்பது பேரான்மா-உபதேசம்) So in effect, the soul and the jeeva and instrumental beings of nature are derived from the self in the Sahasrara. Thus, all the said beings which are 12 in number are spoken of by Tirumoolar as the twelve anmas or as the twelve nadas (TM 2191 and 1705 புருடாதி ஆன்மா ஈராறே ; ஈராறு நாதத்தில்). In fact, the inmost soul, the inmost mental, vital and physical beings (items 2 to 5 second to fifth) are derived from the self of the individual. The inner mental, vital and physical beings (6 to 8 sixth to eighth) are derived from their corresponding inmost beings (3 to 5 third to fifth) ; the inner-outer mental, vital and physical beings

(9 to 11 ninth to eleventh) are derived from their corresponding inner beings (6 to 8 sixth to eighth) ; Purusha the last or the twelfth is jeeva the inner or inner-outer being derived from the inmost soul. This purusha may be considered as governing the instrumental beings of the inner-outer and the inner levels. The inmost soul may be taken as governing the instrumental beings in the inmost level. However, we may say that in effect all of them (2 to 11) are derived from Nada the self. Hence the twelve beings are said to be the twelve anmas or the twelve nadas. This is a way of saying or representing the said twelve entities. Essentially there is only one individual self in the Sahasrara above the head with its inmost self formed as the soul in the inmost level or depth of the heart. Self and soul (nada and bindu) rise and join in the central golden pillar and reach into the Truth-world of beautiful Light (TM 619). The individual self (amsa sanatana) is always one with the supreme and universal self, the Divine. The above interpretation would also correspond with the exposition of Sri Aurobindo on self, soul, evolving being and the instrumental beings of mind, life and the physical.

We may also correlate the first five, i.e. Sivam, Shakti, Sadasiva, Isa and Rudra or Suddha Vidya with the corresponding five principles or tatvas mentioned in Swami's book on "Tatva Lokas"—see items 29 to 25 of the Tatva Lokas viz. Nada, Bindu, Sadhakya (or Sadasiva), Ishwara and Suddha Vidya. The last three are said to impel or incite or activate at a lower level (i.e. inner level) Mahamaya, Raga and Vidya—the impure Nature of works and actions, desire or will and knowledge or, Kriya, Iccha and Jnana Shaktis (Ibid items 27 to 25 of the Tatva Lokas), and they in turn bring about Kalā (works and actions), Nyati (determinism of result) and Kāla (time)—Ibid items 19 to 17, 21 and 20). Raga, Vidya and Kalā (Ibid items 21 to 19) are considered as the beings of Iccha, Jnana and Kriya Shaktis—Anmopara kriya lēsa...Kalā; Anmo para jñanalēsa...Vidya ; Anmo para iccha lēsa... Raga. Under the chapter of "Tatvika Lokas" (i.e. evolutionary states of tatvas), Swami Ramalingam speaks of the instrumental beings of nature for kalā, vidya, raga, maya, purusha (as the centralising or governing agent of experience), kāla and nyati, indriyas, karaṇas, bhuta deha, etc., for example as kalā ānmiya loka, rāga ānmiya loka and so on.

Again Swami Ramalingam refers to the three kalās of male and the four kalās of female. Man is said to have the principles of anma unarchi (psychic consciousness), prakriti (power of nature) and akasa (the sky of etherial space) as his characteristics which are characterised by his seminal fluid, sukla. Woman has the principles of Vayu (Iyamānan or life power, uyir), Agni, Appu and Prithivi—air, fire or heat, water and earth—in her and they are characterised by her menstrual fluid, sronita. The seven principles of man and woman found in sperm and egg-cell combine to form the seven kinds of cells of the physical body—skin, muscles, bone, brain, semen, (lymph) blood and secretions (rasa). Thus, we find that the male and female powers intermingle in each person and male is found in the female, the female in the male. Thus, for example, akasa, the ether which is a male tatva enters into prithivi the earth, a female tatva, and vice versa (UPADESHA p 65, 76, 32). The four female kalas and the three male kalas bear the same proportion as the 16 bindu or chandra kalas and the 12 nada or surya kalas

In the above passage, we find that the male principle of any person irrespective of sex has the aspect of being, whether original being of the soul or its formation of beings in nature, but represented by akasa and anma unarchi, and prakriti viz., etherial sky and soul and nature, whereas the female principle has the aspects or parts and powers of nature represented by the elements other than ether. Sky is the ether of being, the sky of soul's being and consciousness, the sky of mental, vital and physical beings. It is the male principle. But mind, life and body with their respective lights (bindus) are the parts and powers of nature, the female principles (cf: Annamaya bindu, Prana bindu and Min oththa bindu TM 1965, 1966).

Swami Ramalingam makes it clear that Nada is the self (Paramatma) and bindu the soul (anma). As between Nada and Bindu as original principles, Nada is the Lord and Bindu is the Shakti. As between Bindu and the tatvas which are also spoken of as kalās, Bindu becomes shaktan or shaktiman the ruling lord or being, and the tatvas or kalas become the shaktis or aspects of nature so governed.

Bindu is thus given various shades of meaning such as light, ray of light, shakti, soul, form of manifestation, point, point of vibration, seminal fluid and its life-power. Nada means sound, wave of sound, Sivam, formless manifestation, expansion and sky of being, the self or the central being that is the true source for the soul and the instrumental beings of knowledge, will and action (i. e. mental, vital and physical beings), menstrual fluid and its life-power of the egg-cell. Nada and Bindu are inseparable and by their combinations tatvas and their kalas result. Though Bindu is the Shakti, bindu as a material tatva of seminal fluid is male in character. So too Nada is the Lord, but nada as a material tatva of menstrual fluid with its egg-cell is considered as female in character.

The ninety-six kalas constituted of 64 kalas of Agni, 12 kalas of Surya, 16 kalas of Chandra and 4 kalas of Taraka make up the 96 tatvas of adhara the physiological and psychological system of a person—(TM 856, 857). They are considered as common to all systems of yoga and spiritual disciplines, though the tatvas themselves are numberless and Tirumoolar counts it at a huge number of about four crores, more precisely at 4,00,48,500 (TM 2178). But he observes they are reducible to 96 which again become the 36 tatvas of Tantra and Saiva systems, 28 of the Vedanta system, 24 of the Vaishnava system and 25 of the Mayavada — TM 2179.

Tirumoolar observes in his chapter of Ashtanga yoga that as a first step in transformation of physical body after the realisation of Supermind, all its cells (Bhuta padai) shall become conscious and bear the Presence of the divine Shakti in them. That is to say, each cell of the body becomes a conscious centre of being. Possibly the staggering number of tatvas which he mentions to the tune of four crores forty eight thousand and five hundred (4,00,48,500) includes all the cells of the body. Therefore, it is evident that in the case of a transformed body the centres of being are not limited to the twelve but become numberless or at the least as many as all the cells of the body. Each cell with the conscious Presence of the Shakti in it gets transformed (TM 679, 682, 684). Each cell becomes a being, if we may say so, and all the bodily cellular beings are unified and integrated with the soul.

A (select) combination of sixteen kalas constituted by four kalas of Agni (possibly from Mooladhara belonging to the Agni mandala), six kalas of Surya (possibly from the 12 Nada kalas of the heart belonging to the Surya mandala) and six kalas of chandra (possibly from the 16 Bindu kalas of the throat in the head belonging to Chandra Mandala) is also regarded by Tirumoolar as complete in as much as the conjoint 16 kalas become illumined with divine Light and they lead to the realisation of the beautiful world of the unborn and good Agni (i.e. the Truth-World of the divine Flame of Light ... நாரூ நல் அங்கின் ஆர் ஞாலங் கவர் கொளப் பேருங் கலைமுற்றும் பெருங்கால் ஈரெட்டு மாருக் கதிர் கொள்ளும் மற்று அங்கி கூடவே—மந் 853.) which is the fulness of the Vast Heaven (அகல் உவா ஆமே—மந் 878, 1988 முதல் 1990 வரை). For the above said stanza, we might give an alternative meaning that the six Surya kalas and the six Chandra kalas represent the six beings of the six chakras (from Mooladhara to Ajna) and the corresponding six parts of nature; the four kalas of Agni possibly represent the inmost soul, and the inmost mental, vital and physical beings (TM 853). All the seven centres or chakras become opened by the unity of Nada and Bindu (or Sound and Light) in the Lord (TM 767, 768).

The six kalas of sun and the six of the moon referred to in the above are the equalised or harmonised dynamic aspects of being and nature which give the full life-power of pranic energy of “twelve finger breadths” (TM 876 as explained in the coming pages) and to them are added the four kalas (TM 1990) which are spoken of as those of star representing the spark of soul in the physical body and its senses (TM 862), or of the hidden sun in the subconscious depth (TM 1980) or of the submerged Agni (TM 853, 878). As a result they become the whole sixteen kalas of integration leading into the Truth-world (TM 1990, 1988, 878 853: ஆகும்ப் பூரணை; உவா அதுவாமே; அகல் உவா ஆமே; நாரூ நல் அங்கின் ஆர் ஞாலம்) The said conjoint 16 kalas seem to exemplify or illustrate the sixteen divinities of the symbol of the Mother of Sri Aurobindo Ashram in which the four fundamental divinities of Love, Power, Knowledge and Light are shown in a central circle, the twelve others derived from the said four, being shown in a surrounding circle. Tirumoolar seems to explain the same in another way. He observes that the twelve suns (or the twelve kalas of sun) get increased to the fulness of sixteen when they recover back the Light of the four good and powerful suns (or four kalas of the sun) from the subconscious depth of well (i.e. the physical centre or physical body) where they had sunk into the darkness and misery (TM 1980), and as a result the supramental Sun of Truth-Knowledge shines and manifests in its full glory not only in the chandramandala above Ajna where there is also a flower of 16 up-turned petals but also in the throat centre of sixteen petals (TM 1979, 1711) which is the other chandramandala below the Ajna and also the field of play for sixteen kinds of Vayu (TM 796). The four suns or four kalas of sun seem to be referred elsewhere by Tirumoolar as the four kalas of star (the light of soul) or of the hidden and submerged Agni (i.e. in and below the Mooladhara the physical base of the Agni mandala—TM 853, 878, 862), or as the light of soul hidden in the forest—TM 683. சோதித்திலங்கும் நற் சூரியன் நாலாம் கேதமுறும் கேணி சூரியன் எட்டில் சோதி தன் ஈட்டில் சோடசம் தானே —மந் 1980. அலைபுற்ற ஈரெட்டு இதழாம் வட்டத்தில் அலைவற்று உதித்தனன் ஆதித் தனுமே —மந் 1979. (கேதமுறும் கேணி = குற்றமும் துன்பமும் கூடிய பாதாள கீழ் நிலைக்கிணறு, அதாவது இருள் ஜடமாகிய தூல தேகக் கிணறு என்று; எட்டில் = இருள் குழ்ந்த தூல தேகத் துன்பக் கிணற்றிலிருந்து அதில் மறைந்துள்ள சூரிய ஒளிகிடைத்தால்; ஈட்டில் = கேணியிலுள்ள சூரிய ஒளி முழுதும் சேர்ந்து கூடப் பெற்றால், அதாவது மந் 683ன் படி கான விளக்கொளி (ஆன்ம ஒளி) கண்டு கொண்டால் என்று).

The above may be explained from another point of view. Man, who ordinarily inhales and exhales respectively for 12 and 16 matras of time and loses pranic energy thereby, can recover or increase the inhalation by four matras by means of yoga or pranayama. The now equal incoming and out-going breaths are said to be of sixteen matras each (in terms of time-measure of breath) or six kalas each (in terms of the measure of pranic energy of breath). This equalisation also results in that of the kalas of surya and chandra, the sun and moon, (in terms of the powers of divinities in being and nature) which now become equal as the sixteen kalas of each. The respective 16 kalas of moon and sun again become equated with the 64 kalas of the central Agni, the Heat of Fire in the sushumna representing Agni of the Truth-World. This implies that the 16 kalas have resulted in their extended and full manifestation as the 64 kalas of the original Fire ($16 \times 4 = 64$). Before the said equalisation, the kalas of sun, moon and Agni were 12, 16 and 64 respectively but they could not combine or integrate and they remained apart. But the four kalas of star (soul-spark) which may be considered as the hidden sun or Agni of the subconscious darkness activates as the catalytic agent bringing about the integration and equal harmony of the otherwise separate kalas of moon, sun and Agni, by joining with them totally ($12 + 4 + 16 + 64$)—see TM 1990, or we may say, by joining with the kalas of sun so as to increase them from 12 to 16. Now all the kalas of sun, moon and Agni ($16 + 16 + 64$) make a total of 96. The fulness of the 96 kalas is also represented by the fulness of the sixteen conjoint kalas formed by Agni, sun and moon ($4+6+6=16$), that is to say, the kalas formed by the liberated four kalas of the lower Agni hitherto submerged in the subconscious, the liberated six kalas of being in the six centres or chakras and the liberated six kalas of nature parts in the said chakras respectively.

Thus, in Tirumantram of Tirumoolar the sixteen kalas have come to be signified variously such as the sixteen kalas of moon or Bindu, sixteen planes or states of consciousness that lead to the Truth-World of Supermind, or the sixteen conjoint kalas of fulness as formed by a combination of the kalas of moon, sun and agni in a right proportion ($6+6+4$) as the case may be. But the sixteen mātras or measure of breathing time in inhalation (pooraka) have to be distinguished, though they are evidently related to the above sixteen kalas or the 16 petals of the throat centre (Visuddhi chakra) or of the chandramandala above Ajna—see stzs. 796 and 1711. Incidentally, we may point out that Tirumoolar has stressed the importance of the throat as a key centre for concentration in order to transform the physical body (TM 581, 582, 599, 758, 1506, 1979, 636, 1999, 1711, 796, 2267). The thirty two matras or measure of breathing time in exhalation (Rechaka) seems to be related to twice the number of petals of the throat centre (or a permutation of the two petals of Ajna centre with the sixteen of the throat in the head) which again equals to the total number of the petals of centres below the head. i.e. Mooladhara, Swadishtana, Manipuraka and Anahata chakras ($4+6+10+12$). The sixty four matras or measure of the time of retention of breath (Kumbhaka) seems to be represented by twice the said 32 petals.

The Pranayama practice of inhalation of breath, retention and exhalation which are linked up with a time-measure of matras in the proportion of 16: 64: 32 seems to be related to the sixteen kalas. A matra is the time taken, for pronouncing a short vowel or a syllable of a word. Sitting in the posture of Padmasana with the head and shoulders erect, one shall do Pranayama in the early morning hour when the stomach is empty. Inhalation is done through the left nostril and exhalation by the right (TM 568, 573), and in the next round the inhalation by the right and exhalation by the left (TM 571) and so on. The retention of breath (i.e., holding the breath inside the lungs) is made in the meanwhile between the inhalation and exhalation in the two rounds which together make one full Pranayama course (TM 571 and 573 ஏற்றி இறக்கி இரு காலும் ; இவ்விரண்டு ஓமத்தால்—அதாவது இரண்டு முறை முச்சாகிய வேள்விப் படிந்சியால் ஏ-று). The timings of breathing practice of inhalation, retention and exhalation are more usually measured by or connected with the time taken for repetition of a mono syllabic mantra such as Om which takes one matra of time (TM 568, 572, 573, 793, 732, 796, 576, 906). For example, “Siva Siva” mantra which has four syllables takes four matras of time for rhythmic pronunciation, and the said breathing practice may be done along with or synchronising with the mental chantings of this mantra in the proportion of 4 : 16 : 8 in inhalation, retention and exhalation.

It is seen that the said proportion of the number of mantras so chanted is equivalent to the time-measure of 16 : 64 : 32 in matras, which in turn practically synchronises with the proportion of 4 : 16 : 8 seconds of time. An easier and more practical and sure method is to remember the Divine and do the breathing practice in the proportion of 4 : 16 : 8 seconds of time, without chanting any mantra or counting the time or number but by referring to a seconds-hand watch. Roughly, thirty seconds of time is taken for one round of breathing practice. In one minute two rounds may be completed.

Tirumoolar does not speak of chanting a mantra or om when doing Pranayama practices, because after Pranayama he leads to the separate practices of mantra and meditation as the successive steps of the Ashtanga yoga, the eight-fold steps of yoga. He only gives the proportion of timings (mâtrâs) under the heading of "Pranayama" (TM 564 to 577). However he considered the proportion of matras viz, 16 : 64 : 32 for inhalation : retention : exhalation as the most sacred and inviolable and that it is as sacred as doing the Japa or repetition of the Mantra of Siva (Namah Sivaya—TM 576) because the breathing practice is meant to gain the full life-power of pranic energy which is "twelve finger-breadths" or the twelve footed or twelve stepped breath of Prana (as "the twelve footed horse-power of breath"—TM 722, 728) and finally it leads to the transformation of the breath of air into the luminous Air of the Lord's Breath (TM 720, 716). Besides, it gives the subtle power of hearing the inner mantra of the Divine (TM 576). The vibration of inner sound of mantras and other subtle sounds is felt in the nadis or nerves which purifies the nervous system from desires, passions, grossness and impurities (TM 606, 661, 667). Prana becomes harmonised with the mind and speech and word of thought, and thus it comes completely under the control of mind (TM 567).

However when dealing with the topic of Mantra Japa as a yoga and the role of Mantra under the Tantra system of Shakti worship, he suggests, though not invariably as a strict rule, the chanting of mantra at a particular centre or chakra along with the breathing practice in the order of inhalation, retention of breath and exhalation, but evidently without the necessity for observing the proportion of their timings (TM 1088, 1091, 1095, 951). When mantra practice is thus combined with that of breathing, the sound of the mantra and breath of air become subtle and get harmonised (TM 1091). Tirumoolar observes in TM906 that by the Mantra as combined with breathing practice, the golden Feet of the supreme and universal Lord will be realised and the body will get transformed into a golden body with golden feet and golden sense-organs. பொன்னுன மந்திரம் புகையுண்டு பூரிக் கில் பொன்னாகும் வல்லோர்க்கு உடம்பு பொற்பாதமே ; பொறி கிஞ்சகத்தாகும். கிஞ்சகம்==கிஞ்சக மரத்தினது போன்ற சிவப்பு மலர்கள்.

The said time-measure of breathing practice whether done with or without mantra is meant to attain the full life-power of breath which is measured quantitatively as twelve "finger-breadths" of pranic energy. Ordinarily in man there is the current of breathing of air both in inhalation and exhalation to the extent of eight finger-breadths of life-power (TM 576, 645, 722, 728). The life-force or the vital (Vayu) is intimately connected with the mental and where there is mind there vayu also is (TM 620, 1178 மன்மனம் எங்குண்டு வாயுவும் அங்குண்டு). Mind is to be controlled and kept peaceful. For this the Pranic energy of the breath shall have to be purified and harmonised with the mind and it is attained by Pranayama practices (TM 567, 568, 573). One attains by Grace of the Lord the will-power of fulfilment (வேட்டு வளியன்) by harnessing the mind with the rhythmic and equalised or harmonised vital current of air (TM 569 : தெளிய குருவின் திருவருள் யெற்றால் வளியினும் வேட்டுவளியனுமாமே).

The time of breathing practice in the proportion of 16:64:32 matras is the normally desirable maximum. This, we have already seen, is equivalent to 4:16:8 seconds of time in which if necessary the short four syllabled mantra of "Siva Siva" can be also mentally chanted in the numerical proportion of 4:16:8 times. It would be difficult to reach the maximum suddenly. Without a day to day practice over a period in well-regulated and graded proportions, say, 1:4:2, 2:8:4, 3:12:6 and finally reaching 4:16:8 seconds of time, it would injure the health, and so Pranayama practice and regulation of timings are to be taken up according to the needs of each person and along with the purification of nature effected by elimination of vital and sex desires and passions and by control of mind. To complete the Pranayama as part of yoga, one shall take up the other method, after the above has been done for a few rounds and after due rest. It is mentioned in TM 573 and the order of Pranayama is given as inhalation, exhalation and retention in the same proportions of 16:32:64 matras, all the other processes being the same as in the former. Even without Pranayama practices, mind and the vital can be purified and harmoniously regulated by the chanting of the mantra with the loving remembrance of the Divine and as a result the breath becomes calm and rhythmic and balanced, and gets centralised in the spinal nervous system (sushumna)—which is the general aim of Pranayama. "Nadi Suddhi" is a simpler practice of rhythmic breathing by which current of breath is inhaled by the left nostril, filling the lungs with fresh or pure air, and exhaled through the right, and in the next round breath is inhaled by the right and exhaled by the left and so on (TM 866 and 801). By repeated interchange of nostrils for inhalation and exhalation, inhaling always by the same nostril by which breath is exhaled, purification and harmony of the nervous system which is the physical base for the flow of equal vital or pranic energy is attained. In this practice, breath may or may not be retained, and if retained between inhalation and exhalation, it may be done so for a conveniently small time to begin with, and it may be gradually increased over a period for as long as can be comfortably held without inconvenience. The fixed proportion of timings given for the practice of regular Pranayama need not be observed or followed for the breathing practice meant for “nadi suddhi” i. e., for purification of the nerves and the nervous current. Breathing shall be done rhythmically both during inhalation and exhalation. Nadi Suddhi may be done with or without mantra. If tiresomeness is felt, the body may be given rest by resorting to normal or natural breathing for a time. It may be observed that even in the natural breathing there is a resting pause of a small period between exhalation and inhalation. Nadi Suddhi is a preliminary practice done over a fairly long period before taking up the regular Pranayama.

Tirumoolar also gives formal methods of breathing practice without resorting to the said fixed proportion of timings as between inhalation, retention and exhalation (See TM 572 and 574). But concentration at a particular centre or chakra is added. Thus in TM 572 he advises that one shall inhale to the fulness of his capacity so as to fill the whole adhara—above, below, middle and sides—with the current of Prana (i. e. by filling the lungs with fresh and pure air or Prana by deep breathing and also feeling a sense of fulness in the nervous system which is the vehicle of inner Prana), then exhale feeling the current as inwardly settled and then retain the breath (i. e. restrain or hold the breath outside without inhalation and exhalation for a little time or as long as can be comfortably so held concentrating it in the umbilical centre, after which the inhalation again starts). In this method, retention of breath is of a different kind and is done at the end, that is to say, breath is held out. In this process, the order of practice is inhalation, exhalation and retention. By this he assures that one can reserve the Grace of the Supreme and Universal Lord (TM 572). Here, exhalation is not to be done too long (Bāla Rēchaka) so as to make the body uncomfortable or get tired and exhausted by emptying the lungs too much (See TM 572.). Now in TM 574 which is another method, exhalation is done first in the manner above suggested and then inhalation is done to the full extent so as to feel all the main ten nerves as filled up with Prana or pranic force. One is advised to concentrate at the Ajna centre (தட்டம் இருக்க) and the order of practice is exhalation, inhalation and retention. Here, in the retention, the upward going air of breath (prana) and the downward going air of the intestines (apana) are not allowed to escape but retained without movement. This is technically called in yoga literature as Moola Bandha done during the period of retention of breath.

The aim of Pranayama is the purification and harmonisation of the nervous system by equalising the current of Prana in inhalation and exhalation and thereby increasing the pranic energy to its maximum of "twelve finger-breadths". In TM 876 the inhaled and exhaled breaths are said to be equalised to become six kalas each, i.e. six measures of life-power each and they together attain the full measure of twelve finger-breadths, which is the full life-power of Pranic energy and this is evidently attained by Pranayama practice, otherwise inhalation and exhalation are not balanced in man both as regards time and energy, and the ordinary man on the basis of time exhales sixteen measures and inhales twelve measures. By Pranayama practice, inhalation is increased to become sixteen measures (matras) of time. In terms of energy, inhalation and exhalation become six kalas each and their total life-power or energy becomes twelve finger-breadths and this is the sense of the above said stanza TM 876. In man, ordinarily, the total life-power by both inhalation and exhalation remains at eight finger-breadths. By Pranayama, the life-power of breath is increased by four and thus it reaches its fullness of twelve finger-breadths which was the case just at the time of birth with the starting of breathing when the Shaktis or powers of inhalation and exhalation entered in (TM 576 and 645, 722 876, 577, 728 and 2764). But it is immediately reduced to eight finger breadths, because the said shaktis cut it by four measures as soon as they entered the body or the adhara. The life-power of twelve "finger-breadths" is said to start by its entry into the body through the head just at the time of birth and that it remained so only for a short duration as above explained (TM 2764).

Thus, from the above, it is found that the sixteen kalas of chandra the moon representing the 16 planes of consciousness, and the twelve kalas of sun representing the twelve beings aforesaid are connected respectively with the time-measure of inhalation of sixteen matras (in Pranayama practices) and the pranic energy measure of twelve finger-breadths.

Incidentally we may note that like Swami Ramalingam, Tirumoolar too indicates that the soul (Moolam) is realised at the Ajna centre which has two petals and then is realised the Divine Feet (மூலங்கண்டு ஆங்கே முடிந்து முதல் இரண்டும் காலங்கண்டான் அடி காணலுமாமே)—TM 1704 and 1380. In the said mantra he gives the number of petals for each chakra and after the Visuddhi of the throat which has 16 petals the soul is said to be realised in the Ajna of the two petals. He further observes that above the much sought flower (of the two-petalled Ajna which is the centre for the flame of soul) is the beautiful flower with its up-turned sixteen petals (ஆயு மலரின் அணி மலர் மேலதுவாய இதழும் பதினாறும் அங்குள தூய அறிவு சிவானந்தமாகிப் பேராய் மேய அறிவாய் விளைந்தது தானே—மந் 1711, 2359) where the Knowledge integrates with the supreme Bliss and becomes the pure and supreme Knowledge of the supreme and universal Divine (i.e. the supramental Truth-knowledge, Sivananda Bodhā).

The sixteen petal led-lotus here referred to is the one above the Ajna in the chandra mandala of the Sahasrara where Nada and Bindu, Self and soul, or Siva and Shakti unite. This is an unusual experience of Supermind, realised in Ajna or the head. The sixteen petals are also spoken of as 16 kinds of Vayu or 16 kalas which may be taken as the fulness (i.e., the conjoint liberated kalas of the moon and sun and Agni in the above said proportion of 6 : 6 : 4). The sixteen Vayu or 16 petals are said to integrate with the powerful Supermind (வலி பேராய மனத்தைப் பொருதுகின்ற ஆதாரம் - மத் 796) - TM 795, 796, 1070, 1707, 709, 863 : See also TM 1704, 1711, 1380, 1971, 619, 961, 964, 2358 and 2359. The successive combinations of kalas into ten (4+6), twelve (6+6), and finally into sixteen (4+6+6) seem to be indicated by Swami Ramalingam as dasa nata bindu madhya yoga, dwadasa nata bindu madhya yoga and shodasa nata bindu madhya yoga respectively in his book of Vyakhyana when dealing with the Ashtanga yoga. The said combinations of kalas seem to arise in and around Ajna centre (bindu madhya) or above it in the last case of 16 kalas. The combinations of the kalas as ten, twelve and sixteen are also indicated by Tirumoolar (TM 878, 876, 853, 863). The grouping of 16 kalas may also be explained as the successive combinations of the powers of six adharas (six chakras or centres) under Shakti of the soul, and the six adharas (or rather the six niradhara overhead centres up to overmind) under Siva of the self, and the four last adharas of Siva and Shakti (Self and soul) in the summit overmind which is a realm of increasing integration between Nada and Bindu, Siva and Shakti, or Self and soul. The fulness of the integrated sixteen kalas (6+6+4) leads one into the Supermind beyond (See also TM 853).

NOTE : This is the fifth and last part of this chapter indicating the five pure powers of soul. Now the text is reproduced herein below only with this modification, that is, we have put in brackets the permuted principles in each line, for a ready and easier understanding of the trend of the developing experience. The reader is advised to read the text as if without brackets. The first five items are the basic ones and the others are their permutations. GENERAL NOTES ON

KALĀS IN TANTRA & SAIVA SIDDHANTA SYSTEMS

According to the Tantra system, "Siva has two aspects Nishkala (Nirguna) and Sakala (Saguna). The former is therefore without Kalā. The latter is with Kalā. Shiva is never without Shakti, for the two are one and the same, and Shakti in Herself according to Her proper nature (Shakti-swarupa) is consciousness or Chaitanya (Chaitanya rupini). Thus there are said to be no kalās in Unmani which is in the Shiva Tatva. Thereafter with Samani in Shakti Tatva the Kalās appear. Thus in Netra Tantra (of Kashmir) seven kalās are assigned to Samani (or Samana). (However in the verses 46 to 48 of the Tantra Text of "Shat Chakra Nirupana"—see "Serpent Power" by Sir John Woodroff—Samana Shakti seems to be indicated as the sixteenth kala (i.e. contains 16 kalas) and is possibly the same as "Ama kala", the receptacle of Nectar. See also "Garland of Letters" p. 198—199). The Shakti of a Devata is divided into sixteen kalās or "parts" of Power. That aspect of the Devata which has full power is called "Purna Kalāmurti". One sixteenth of that or any part of the whole (Purna) is kalāmurti. Shiva is partless. Shakti has parts (kalā). But parts as we know them do not exist until after the universe has evolved from Prakriti; that is, parts in the literal sense of the Mayik world. When therefore mention is made of Kalā in connection with so high a Shakti as Samani or any other Shakti which precedes Prakriti, what is meant is something which may be best expressed by modes or aspects of Shakti. Kala in short is a particular display of Power or Vibhuti"—"Garland of Letters" ch. 20—"The Kalās"—p. 193).

According to Netra Tantra, there are no kalas for unmani; seven kalas are given for Samani Shakti of which Samana is one; five for Anjani of which vyapini is one; one for Mahanada (or Nadanta) namely Urdhva gamini; and four for Nada i.e., Indhika, Dipika, Rochika and Mochika; five kalas for Nirodhini (i.e., Nirodada) of which Rodhini is one; five kalas for ardhachandra of which jyotsana is one; four kalas for Bindu namely Nivritti, Pratishtha, Vidya and Shanti; for the letters A, U, M (which constitute "OM") corresponding to Brahma, Vishnu, Rudra respectively, there are Rudra kalas of which Maya is one, Vishnu kalas of which Mohini is one, and Brahma kalas of which Medha is one.

Now kalas have also a comprehensive sense in regard to the four important kalas of Bindu namely Nivritti, Pratishta, Vidya and Shanti. Possibly they represent the four levels of being namely the inner, inner-outer, outer and the outermost. They are "the generalities (Samanya) of the Tatvas issuing from Prakriti, that is, the Tatvas are sub-divisions or differentiations of these four kalas".

"Nivritti kala is the working force and essential element in the Prithvi Tatva or solidity and is so called because here the stream of tendency is stopped and the manifesting energy turned upwards. When Prithvi has been reached by process of evolution, Shakti becomes Kundali (coiled, at rest). Her next movement which is that of yoga is upwards by involution retracing the steps of descent (Note: the involution and evolution have a reverse sense in the philosophy of Sri Aurobindo and in the Swami's works). According to the same view Pratishta (i.e., Pratishta kala) which is the same force in all the Tatvas from Ap to Prakriti is so called because while Nivritti supplies the outer covering, Pratishta as its name indicates, supplies the basis and inner framework on which the outer physical universe is laid. Vidya kala which is so called because it is limited knowledge, is the dominant kala in the Tatvas from Purusha upwards together with five kanchukas to Maya. Beyond Maya there is the consciousness which is peace (Shanti), for it is free of the duality which is the source of sorrow. The last kala is therefore called Shanta and is dominant in the glorious experience of the tatvas from Sadvidya (i.e., Suddha Vidya tatva of Rudra) to Shakti tatva. As the inner forces in the tatvas, the kalas group together into four great "eggs" (anda), that is, spheroids comprising those tatvas only of which a kala is the common dominant feature and inner force. These are (1) the Brahmanda comprising Prithvi tatva in which all others are involved, the bounding principle or envelope of which is ether (akasha); (2) Prakriyanda or Mulanda; (3) Mayanda; and (4) Shaktyanda of which the envelopes are Prakriti, Maya and Shakti respectively. Beyond all these in the centre thereof and pervading all is the Shiva Tatva in regard to which the Divine Shakti as a kala is an utter negation (Shunyatishunya), an empty space-giving or vacuity-producing power (avakāshadā) which is the negative pole of the conjoint Shiva-Shakti tatvas. The Shiva tatva is thus the Parama Siva or Para Samvit, the great Bhairava experience with its supreme experience of the universe negated.

Regarding then this ultimate Shakti also, in so far as it is a manifestation, as a kala or moving power, the thirty six tatvas of which the universe consists are but manifestation of five forces (Shaktis) or kalas into which the one partless Divine Shakti (i.e., Unmani) differentiates Herself in an infinite variety of permutations so as to produce the universe with parts: namely (1) Shantatita, (2) Shanta, (3) Vidya, (4) Pratishta and (5) Nivritti "... (Garland of Letters" ch. 20—p. 196—198).

Now according to Saiva Siddhanta, the above said five Kalas or broad fields or levels of experience including the inmost are classified with relevant details i. e., dynamic movements and aspects of manifestation under each—such as (1) presiding deity or devata and his function (2) Mandala or extent of Kala, (3) letters for Om (4) varna or letter, (5) the word or pada, (6) the sacred utterance of words or mantra, (7) the worlds or regions of experience i. e., bhuvanas, (8) the state of being or avastha, (9) the dominant centre or chakra in the inner body, (10) the nature and kind of impurity or mala, (11) the principles and powers of existence or tatvas and (12) the group to which they belong etc. They are summarised as follows under a chart (chart no. 21) with notes thereon—(See “Meikanda Shastra—Tamil II vol. p. 146—147—published by Tirunelveli Then India Saiva Siddhanta Nool Padippu Kalagam—1969 edition ; Also see “Garland of Letters ch. 27—p. 250 chart therein) Notes on Chart No 21 :

A) According to the Saiva Siddhanta and Tantra (see Garland of Letters ch. 27 and charts therein), the 18 bhuvanas of Shanta kala under Rudra, Ishwara, and Sadasiva are as follows : (1 Manonmani, (2 Sarva bhutadamani (3 Bala Pramathani, (4 Bala vikarani, (5 Kala vikarani, (6 Kali, (7 Raudri, (8 Jyesta. (9 Vama—under Suddha or Sad Vidya or Rudra tatva. (The same names are given by the Swami under “Tatva Lokas”—see items 85 to 80 and 75 to 73 of Tatva Lokas but coming under Suddha Maya. In his Upadesha the same names are indicated as ruling the letter and sound of the alphabet अ (A) of Omkara).

(1 Shikhandi, (2 Shri Kantha, (3 Trimurthi, (4 Eka rudra, (5 Eka netra, (6 Shivottama, (7 Suskshma and (8 Ananta—the eight bhuvanas under Ishvara Tatva. Except the first and the fourth which are omitted, the same names are given by the Swami under “Tatva Lokas” (see items 86 to 91 of Tatva Lokas but under Sudda Maya).

1) Sadasiva under Sadasiva Tatva ; Same name is given by the Swami under “Tatva Loka” (see item 92 of Tatva Lokas coming under Suddha Maya).

B) The 15 bhuvanas of Shantiateeta kala under Shakti Tatva and Siva Tatva are as follows : (1. Shantiateeta, (2 Shanti, (3 Vidya, (4 Pratishtha, (5 Nivritti—under Shakti Tatva. These five are also called Baindava puras possibly indicating the five levels of existence namely the inmost, inner, inner-outer, outer and the outer-most which are referred to by the Swami in the chapter on “Karanateeta lokas” before crossing into the Supermind. (The five are given by the Swami as items 42 to 46 of “Tatva Lokas” under Suddha Maya and the first four of them are again listed under “Ashtanga yoga” in the chapter “Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya Lokas”). | 12. Tatva Group | Asuddha tatvas | Asuddha tatvas | Suddhāsuddha tatvas | Suddha tatvas | Suddha tatvas |

(3 Rochika, (4 Mochika and (5 Urdhva gamini, (6 Vyapini, (7 Vyoma rupini, (8 Ananta, (9 Anatha (10 Anashrita—the ascending order of bhuvanas under Siva Tatva ; (Except the first, fifth and sixth—they are shown by the Swami as items 47 to 53 of the “Tatva Lokas” under the Suddha Maya. Again under the said “Ashtanga yoga” the last five from Vyapini to Anashrita are listed by the Swami ; Urdhvagamini which is Mahanada (or its only kalā) occurs under the name Nadanta thereunder).

C) Among the 27 bhuvanas under Suddhasuddha Tatvas of the Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta systems the Swami mentions a few of them for eg. Pingala (or Eka Pingala), item 71 of the “ Tatva Lokas ” which is rather its original formulation in Suddha Maya.

D) Among the 56 bhuvanas under Asuddha tatvas of the Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta systems, the Swami mentions a few of them for eg. Mandal-eshwara (or Adi Mandaleshwara), item 72 of the Tatva Lokas which is rather its original formulation in Suddha Maya.

E) Among the 108 bhuvanas under Asuddha Prithvi of the Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta systems, the Swami mentions a few of them for eg. Kālāgni (item 76), Aja, Budha or Bhujā—(items 61 & 62) which are rather the original formulations or counterparts in Suddha Maya.

F) In the above chart relating to Tantra and Saiva Siddhanta systems, the overhead centres are not marked ; or at the most, Sahasrara centre is indicated under the second detail “Mandala”. The Swami mentions many overhead centres in his “Upadesha” leading into the highest state or Suddha Siva Sthana, the Supermind. The bhuvanas which the Swami mentions under the Tatva Lokas (items 61 to 92) are neither fixed in number nor exhaustive but only representative as he points out elsewhere in “ Joti Agaval ” and other poems that there are numberless or innumerable crores of gods and their worlds. So they represent the formulated worlds of the godheads Brahma, Vishnu, Rudra, Maheswara and Sadasiva and of the principles of Bindu and Nada and their kalās, formulated in Suddha Maya itself, in a hierarchy so as to inspire and over rule their counterparts in the fields of Suddhāsuddha Maya, Asuddha Prakriti and Prithvi. The details of the said chart are given here only for the purpose of correlating them with those given by the Swami under the “Tatva Lokas” and “Ashtanga Yoga” on the basis of their common namings.

G) Now in regard to the ten bhuvanas under the Siva Tatva (see note B) we quote the following passages from “ Garland of Letter ” for explaining their significance and their places in the universal manifestation :

“ Thus to take the first and highest of Shivatattva and the associated Shaktitattva, the Bhuvanas are Anashrita, the Region or Bhuvana without support and self-sustaining, Anatha or Lordless because there is no higher Lord here, Ananta or endless, Vyomarupini in the form of the all-spreading Ether, Vyapini all-spreading, Urdhvagamini upward going, Mochika freed of all bonds, Rochika Beautiful or source of Beauty, Dipika illuminating, Indhika destroyer of all impurity. Such are the Bhuvanas of the Kala Shantyatita (Beyond even the high abode of Peace) and the conjoined Shiva and Shakti Tattvas. Five of these are called Shakta and the remaining five Nadorddhva (above Nada) Bhuvanas. The rest are various other divine bodies named after their divine residents. All these regions have been created by Paramashiva for the enjoyment of the Beings therein, there being an immense variety of beings in an ascending hierarchy from man up to the supreme Lord and Lady of all. The Beings in the Pure Regions (i. e. under Suddha Tatvas—see A and B above) are wholly Pure and the others Pure-Impure or Impure. Impurity or Mala is ignorance and is of three kinds, namely Mala (original Mala or Anava the ego), Maya and Karma. There are thus three classes of Passus or created beings, namely, Vijnānākālās enveloped by that ignorance which is called Mala, Pralayākālās enveloped in both Mala and Maya, and Sakala or those surrounded by the three forms of ignorance Mala, Maya and Karma. Above the Vijnānākālā are the beings called Mantras (under Sad Vidya or Rudra Tatva—see A). The Mala envelope (i. e., ego) when in the stage at which it is about to leave the being is said to have undergone Paripaka (Purification). The Vijnanakalas, whose Mala is in a high state of Paripaka, are the eight Vidyeshvaras... These Vidyeshvaras (also under Sad Vidya or Rudra Tatva) are higher spiritual Entities, by whose aid the lower orders of beings attain the higher stages of spiritual evolution. Next to the Vidyeshvaras come the Mantreshvaras (in Ishwara Tatva—See A). Having been given pure bodies (Tanu), instrument (Karana), regions (Bhuvana) and enjoyment (Bhoga), these gradually get rid of all Mala. Above the Mantreshvaras are the Mantramaheshvaras (in Sadasiva Tatva—See A) and beyond these are the Eternal and unproduced Shiva Tattva and Shakti Tattva (See B) ”—“The Garland of Letters” ch. 27—p. 251 to 253.

“ To sum up, Paramashiva (Parasamvit) in His aspects as Shiva Tattvas (i.e., Shiva and Unmani or conjoint Shiva-Shakti tattvas) is the Shunyātishunya, so called because in His experience there is not the slightest trace of objectivity whatever. Both these aspects are Shantārita Shakti then gradually unveils again the universe for the consciousness of Shiva who is Prakasha or the Illuminating Consciousness which is the Subjective aspect of things; and the experience which is summed up as Shanta Kala arises, extending from Shakti Tattva to Sadvidya, with the Shaktis, Samani, Vyapini, Anjani and their Kalas; and the Shaktis of the Nada and Bindu groups with their Kalas. This is the Spheroid of Shakti (Shaktyanda) which is the abode of those glorious Beings who are called Mantramaheshvara, Mantreshvara, Mantra and Vidyeshvara. The Vijnanakalas who are below Shuddha Vidya are also above Maya. From the unfolding of Bindu the other Spheroids emanate, which manifest the three principal forms of movement which go to the making of the universe. Next, in concentric circles arise the Spheroid of (Mayanda)...which is the Shakti producing the limited dual consciousness of all experiencers (Pralayakala, Sakala) below Sadvidya and in or below Maya. Lastly, the Spheroids of Prakriti and Brahma provide the vehicles in which the Experiencer called Sakala functions. These Experiencers comprise all things from Brahma downwards who are not liberated. Brahma, Vishnu and Rudra are the Lords of spheres from Prithivi to Maya; Isha and Anashrita Shiva (i.e. Sadasiva) of higher Tattvas; and lastly, Shiva of Shiva Tattva, which is the ultimate source of, but is Itself beyond, all Kalas"—"The Garland of Letters"—ch. 20 p. 200

KĀRAṆĀTEETA LŌKAS
(SUPER—CAUSAL WORLDS)

ATHA KĀRAṆĀTEETA LŌKĀḤ

1. ŚUDDHA SAMVĒDA BĀHYA BĀHYA, Sthūla Sāmānya (carya carya anubhava) BHŪTA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti lōka)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (carya kriyā anubhava) bhūta rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka).
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (carya yōga anubhava sthiti eva) bhūta rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (parityāga śakti lōka)

NOTE : The words in item 1 are to be read continuously in spite of brackets which we have purposely put. Words in brackets are part of the text. So, read the text as if there are no brackets. The same words or details as in item 1 are repeated in items 2 & 3, except the change or addition or omission of words indicated in the respective brackets. In the following passages also the same method of transliteration of the Tamil text into Roman Sanskrit (i. e., Sanskrit words in Roman letters) is adopted for an easier reading and understanding. The four-fold series of permutation of carya, kriya, yoga and jnana indicate here the developing steps of a total and universal knowledge and experience and not the steps of discipline. The translation of the above is given below more as a guiding line of interpretation.

1. “ The pure, total and direct knowledge at the outermost level of being (śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya) in respect of the world of the gross and general or undifferentiated elements (sthūla samanya bhuta) with their form, essential inner form (or essence) and nature (rupa, svarupa, svabhava) and also with their general and particular qualities and powers etc. (viśēsha guṇādi) formed and manifested by the conscious force or śakti, and as contained immanently in the universal pervasiveness and extending (vyāpya vyāpaka) in all the levels of universal existence from the inner to the outer and from the higher to the lower

“Poorvottara Paryanta ” would signify all the formulations of the concerned tatva and all the complexities of its movements in its internal and outer arrangements and moving infinitely or in endlessly infinite movements. In the second and third steps relating to a tatva this word is omitted.

2. “The pure, total and direct knowledge at the outermost level of being (in the permuted order or step of kriya in carya) in respect of the world of the gross and general or undifferentiated elements with their form, essence, nature and also their general and distinguished or particular qualities and powers, contained immanently in the universal pervasiveness and extending, and as formed and manifested by the conscious force in the field of the Ignorance (Acit pratyaksha sakti loka) ”.

NOTE : “Acit ” is here used in a special sense. All the manifestations below Tirodha and Kutilai, the global overmind and its veiling sky above (i.e., Aparatva) are described herein as “acit ”, whereas the manifestations above Kutilai and Tirodha i.e., in the realm of summit-overmind (i.e., Paratva) are at first partial manifestations and powers of the revealing Cit-Sakti (i.e., ekadesha cit) in and through Para Iccha, Para Jnana and Para Kriya Saktis, then become total manifestations and powers of the revealing Cit-Sakti (i.e., sāṅga cit) in and through the universal Maha Sakti (Parā Sakti or Parai) and cosmic overlord (Para Siva) ; and transcending the realm of paratva and even paranada, they become finally as integral manifestation and powers of the supreme Cit-Sakti in the fulness of Her glory in the Truth-World of Truth-Knowledge (Poorana Bodha or Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa Sakti).

3. “Putting behind and overpassing the above knowledge (Parityaga sakti loka). ”

NOTE : This needed step of experience (yoga in carya) is meant to lead into the next step of experience.

GENERAL NOTE :

(a) One characteristic feature noted in all the gradations of the lower worlds from bhuta upto the cosmic Ishwara (Para Siva) as dealt with under this chapter, is in regard to the triple aspected knowledge ; (1) direct knowledge aspect as such, Suddha samveda pratyaksha (2) a power of manifestation of that direct knowledge (Suddha samveda ... acit or ekadesa cit or sāṅga cit pratyaksha i.e. an obscure or partial or total power of manifestation as the case may be (3) a power of knowledge to put behind, the content of knowledge now under one's immediate experience, so as to overpass to the next world of experience (Suddha samveda.. parityaga or vasana parityaga as the case may be). Further each of the said three aspects or powers of knowledge in regard to each world of experience from bhuta upto Comic Ishwara is also referred to as a manifestation of sakti i.e., as Sakti Loka, as a world of experience.

(b) The second item shows that the manifestation of Sakti is not only in the field of the Subconscious and the Inconscious but also in the field of Ignorance in its vaster scope (Acit pratyaksha Sakti loka). The third item shows that by a power of the sakti, this knowledge is overpassed by withdrawing the regard for it (parityaga) for the purpose of passing into the next step of experience, but it is implied that the knowledge is held in the background, as it is no more "Pratyaksha" as in the other two items, and the words "Suddha Samveda" implying total and pure knowledge, invariably occur as the connective thread of link in all the three items and also in all the series of the triple aspected knowledge of tatva lokas that follow, until it is declared as held and possessed inseparably (Samvēda Samavāya) by the integral knowledge (Poorna Bhodha) of the Truth-World (Poorāṇa bōdha vyāpaka vyāpya Samvēda samavāya yathārtha suddha ātma rūpa pratyaksha jñāna anubhava lōka).

(c) The four-fold series of permutation of carya, kriya, yoga and jnana repeatedly run through all the gradations of tatvas in the field of Aparatva i. e., from bhuta upto Nada. Beyond that the series are not used.

NOTE ON SUDDHA SAMVEDA BAHYA BAHYA :

Under "Suddha Samveda bahay bahya" "the pure, total and direct knowledge at the outermost level of being" come the following tatvas

1. Sthula Samanya bhuta, the world of the five elements in its general or undifferentiated and gross or less subtle form
2. Sthula Samanya Indriya, the senses
3. Sthula Samanya Jnanendriya, the senses of knowledge
4. Sthula Samanya Jnanendriya vishaya, the objects of the senses of knowledge
5. Sthula Samanya Karmendriya, the senses of action
6. Sthula Samanya karmendriya vishaya, the objects of the senses of action
7. Sthula Samanya karaṇa, the four instruments or faculties of mind

NOTE: In the above, though mention is made as "Sthula samanya tatvas" their subtler and inner, special and specific formations are also covered because each tatva or principle in all its form, essence and nature (rupa, svarupa and svabhava) extends universally (vyapya vyapaka poorvottara paryanta) so as to form a total knowledge. This view is also supported by the Swami's more detailed descriptions of the essence, nature, quality and form, special and general characteristics and powers and possibilities of each tatva with its functions both in the fields of Paratva and Aparatva under the chapter “Tatva Lokas”.

8. Sukshma samanya guna traya prakrti, power of Nature with its three-fold subtle and generic qualities of satva, rajas and tamas in the realm of Impure Nature or Asuddha Prakrti Maya
9. Sukshma visesha kalādi suddhāsuddha tatva prakruti, the subtle and special but limiting or circumscribing principles of time, determinism, limited function, desire, limiting knowledge, the objectified experiencing consciousness or agent, and a power of nature constituting these and bringing into one's experience or enjoyment the subliminal limiting principles of kāla, nyati, kalā, raga, vidya, purusha and maya in the realm of pure-impure nature (Suddhāsuddha Maya). Text is now continued.
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (carya jñāna anubhava) INDRIYA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (kriyā carya anubhava pada) indriya rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (kriyā kriyā anubhava pada) indriya rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (parityāga śakti lōka)

Ittham Thus

1. Jñānēndriyāṇi
2. Jñānēndriya vishayaśca
3. Karmēndriyāṇi
4. Karmēndriya vishayaśca grāhyāḥ. These are also to be included.
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (kriyā yōga anubhava pada) KARANA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sāmānya (kriyā jñāna anubhava pada) karaṇa rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sthūla sūkshma sāmānya (yōga carya anubhava pada) karaṇa rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (parityāga śakti lōka)

1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma sāmānya (yōka kriyā anubhava pada) GUṆA TRAYA PRAKṚTI rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma sāmānya (yōga yōga anubhava pada) guṇa traya prakṛti rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma sāmānya (yōga jñāna anubhava) guṇa traya prakṛti rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (parityāga śakti lōka)
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma viśēsha (jñāna carya anubhava) KALĀDI SUDDHĀSUDDHA TATVA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma viśēsha (jñāna kriyā anubhava) kalādi suddhāsuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma viśēsha (jñāna yōga anubhava) kalādi suddhāsuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (parityāga śakti lōka)
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya bāhya sūkshma viśēsha (jñāna jñāna anubhava pada) ŚUDDHA VIDYĀ ŚUDDHA TATVA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. ŚUDDHA SAMVĒDA BĀHYA sthūla sāmānya (carya carya anubhava pada) śuddha vidyā śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla sāmānya (carya kriyā anubhava pada) śuddha vidyā śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi paryanta (parityāga śakti lōka)

NOTE ON SUDDHA SAMVEDA BAHYA :

Under “ Suddha samveda bahya ” i. e. , “ the pure, total and direct knowledge at the outer level of being ”, come the following tatvas or principles.

1. Sthūla sāmānya śuddha vidyā suddha tatva, the generic and less subtle but purer principle and power of knowledge represented by Rudra, god of śuddha vidya in the effectual realm of purer Nature i. e. in the effectual realm of purer principles of Suddha Tatva of Suddha Maya
2. Sthula samanya maheswara suddha tatva, the generic and less subtle but purer principle and power represented by god Maheswara in the effectual realm of Suddha Tatva of Suddha Maya

3. Sthula visesha sadhakya suddha tatva, the less subtle and special and purer principle and power represented by god Sadasiva in the effectual realm of the purer principles of Suddha Tatva of Suddha Maya
4. Bhuvana, the field or world of experience and enjoyment of the principles as a way to or as a result of purer knowledge and action
5. Mantra, experiencing the inner and inspired formation of a combination of sacred words or rising up of inner sound and rhythm of words with inner significance, as a way to or as a result of purer knowledge and action
6. Pada, experiencing the inner formation or rising up of a sacred word or syllable with its characteristic inner sound, rhythm and significance as a way to or as a result of purer knowledge and action

NOTE : (1 the principle of tatva (for e. g. Suddha Vidya, Maheshwara and Sadhakya or Sadasiva) together with the said (2 bhuvana, (3 mantra, (4 pada and followed by (5 varna and (6 kalā which fall in the next inner-outer level of experience namely “ Suddha samveda antara bahya ” are considered to be the well-known six adhwas, or six-fold Paths of Tantra system.

1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla sāmānya (carya yōga anubhava pada) MAHĒŚWARA ŚUDDHA TATVA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla sāmānya (carya jñāna anubhava) mahēśhvara śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla viśēsha (kriya carya anubhava) mahēśhvara śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (parityāga śakti lōka)
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla viśēsha (kriyā kriyā) SĀDHĀKYA śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA)
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla viśēsha (kriyā yōga anubhava) sādḥākya śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)

3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya sthūla viśēsha (kriyā jñāna anubhava) sādḥākya Śuddha tatva rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpaka viśēsha guṇādi (Parityāga śakti lōka).
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (yōga carya anubhava) BHUVANA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (Poōrvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA).
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (yōga kriya anubhava) bhuvana rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka).
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (yōga yōga anubhava) bhuvana rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (parityāga śakti lōka).
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (yōga jñāna anubhava) MANTRA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA).
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (jñāna carya anubhava) mantra rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka)
3. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (jñāna kriyā anubhava) mantra rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (parityāga śakti lōka).
1. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (jñāna yōga anubhava) PADA rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (poorvōttara paryanta pratyaksha śakti LŌKA).
2. Śuddha samvēda bāhya (jñāna jñāna anubhava) pada rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (acit pratyaksha śakti lōka).
3. Śuddha samvēda antara bāhya (carya carya anubhava) pada rūpa svarūpa svabhāva vyāpya vyāpakādi (parityāga śakti lōka)

NOTE : ON SUDDHA SAMVEDA ANTARA BAHYA :

Under “Suddha samveda antara bahya” the pure, total and direct knowledge at the inner-outer level of being, come the following tatvas :

1. Varna, experiencing the inner and subtler formation or rising up of a letter i.e., the inner sound of the letter, its rhythm and significance called technically as seed-sound, as a way to or as a result of purer knowledge. (The letter written or spoken is a gross form of the inner seed-sound of that letter).

2. KALĀ : Kalās here mean and signify the modes or aspects of a tatva such as nada or bindu or of a godhead or goddess, as the case may be and which or who is spoken of as having so many kalās each. Kalā is a particular aspect or display of a particular power or vibhuti. kalā also means part. The lesser and smaller gods and goddesses are also spoken of as the kalās of the higher godheads and shaktis. Kalā has also other significances in the Tantra system. Thus kalā is one of the five kanchukas, the enveloping and limiting powers of purusha, the limited experiencing agent, namely (1 kāla time, (2 nyati, determinism, (3 raga, desire, (4 kalā, limited functioning or working operation, (5 vidya, limited knowledge. These along with purusha the agent, and maya the nature who constitutes these and brings about them for the experience of the purusha are said to be the seven principles of working in the range of Suddhāsuddha Maya i.e., the pure-impure Maya. Again Kalā, means the inspired knowledge of arts and sciences received and worked out under an inspiration from higher powers or gods and goddesses. In a more comprehensive sense kalā means the kinds and ranges or levels of manifestation—the outermost, outer, inner-outer, inner and the inmost—and in this sense there are the five kalās of nivrīti, pratishta, vidya, santi and santiateeta having their correspondence with the inner centres or chakras in the body and also in the cosmic realms of Prithvi or Jada Prakriti Maya, Asuddha Maya, Suddhasuddha Maya and Suddha Maya and Suddha Maha Maya. The above informations are here given more according to the Tantra systems in general. For details on “Kalās and Pranayama” according to Tirumantram of Tirumoolar, see the last part of the previous chapter.

3. Nada karya vak, the expressive word and speech formed from inner sound and rhythm which carry its significance. Bindu, the element of inner light, and nada the element of inner sound generally go together. According to the Swami there are five kinds of Vak, namely (1 Panchami (possibly Para vak), (2 Sukshma, (3 Pashyanti (4 Madhyama, (5 Vaikari (see “Upadesha” p. 108). In the chapter “Tatva Lokas” the last four are mentioned. See items 54 to 57).

4. Bindu karya nada, the creative inner sound of manifestation as an effect of Bindu (i.e. Aparā Bindu)

5. Bindu karya bindu (i.e. apara bindu karya bindu), form of light giving vision of things and, manifested as an effect of a still higher light.

NOTE ON NADA, BINDU AND VAK :

Items 5, 4 & 3 above seem to indicate the tribindu of the Tantra i.e., bindu, nada and bija, or in another terminology as bindu, nada and kalā, and here as (karya) bindu, (karya) nada and vak or speech and words (i. e., inner and subtle kinds of sound pouring into outer speech); all the three are derived from a higher Bindu called Maha Bindu which is here referred to by the Swami as Aparā Bindu (item 33 of "Tatva Lokas")

In the Tantra systems this higher bindu is called variously as Maha Bindu, Kāraṇa Bindu or Para Bindu, but the Swami designates it as Aparā Bindu of Suddha Maya (i. e., in Spiritual Mind and Overmind Range). What the Swami regards as Para bindu which occurs in the field of Suddha Maha Maya and as related to Sukhārambha Cit Sakti and Adhara Parā Sakti i. e., the overmental cosmic Maha sakti (see items 100 and 101 of the "Tatva Lokas") in the range of summit overmind is not the same as "Para bindu of the Tantra system", but a far higher and purer formulated Power. Above and beyond aparā bindu of the Swami's classification (equivalent to Para bindu of the Tantra), occurs Nada (see items 32 of the "Tatva Lokas".) For the Tantra system, this Nada, is the final tatva and beyond that one enters into the unmanifest Siva or Brahman called Para Siva or Parama Siva or Para Samvit and this Nada is also called by it as Mahanada or Para nada. Thus in the Tantra system Nada and Bindu at their highest respectively denote Siva tatva or Siva aspect and Shakti tatva or Shakti aspect. But the Swami recognises still higher formulated principles and powers namely Para bindu proper and Paranada proper (items 100 and 103 of the Tatva lokas) which are in the realm of Suddha Maha Maya (i. e., in the summit overmind) and exceed the Aparā Bindu and Nada of the range of Suddha Maya (items 33 and 32 of the Tatva Lokas). These distinctions have to be kept in mind. The Swami's connotation of terms agrees with Tantra upto a stage only and beyond that it exceeds.

NOTE ON “SUDDHA SAMVEDA ANTARA ”

Under “SUDDHA SAMVEDA ANTARA the pure, total and direct knowledge of the inner level of being ” come the following tatvas :

1. Bindu karya Aparā Iccha (i.e., Aparā bindu karya Aparā Iccha)
2. Bindu karya Aparā jnana (i.e., Aparā bindu karya Aparā jnana)
3. Bindu karya Aparā kriya (i.e., Aparā bindu karya Aparā kriya)

NOTE : The above three terms represent respectively the purer forms of will, knowledge and action derived as effects of Aparā bindu. In their higher formulations they become (a) intuition or intuitive will with creative vision, (b) revelation or illumination of Knowledge by vision and (c) inspiration or creative thought-power, word and action.

4. Suddha Tatva Aparā Bindu
5. Suddha Tatva Nada
6. Kanma or Karma the power of separative action at its universal causal source.
7. Sahaja Mala or Ānava, the power of separative ego at its universal causal source.
8. Kutilai (i.e., the Suddha Maya or Kundali Maya) at its universal causal source.
9. Tirodhana the original veiling Power at its universal causal source.

NOTE ON ICCHA, JNANA AND KRIYA SHAKTIS :

In the first overhead plane i.e., in the Spiritual Higher Mind, corresponding to the effectual Nada (see item 29 of the Tatva Lokas), the higher and purer thought-will, Light of Knowledge with thought perception in vision-mind and, inspired thought and word are a common feature. They take a predominant form of revelatory Light of Thought i.e. Light of Knowledge by Thought (in its will, revelation or perception and action). Thus Aparā Iccha, Jnana and Kriya shaktis may each singly or in combination denote the Higher Mind. At their source of Aparā Bindu corresponding to the spiritual Illumined Mind they seem to operate individually or in combination but in a more intense blaze of Light taking a predominating form of an intense revelatory Light of vision (i.e. Light of Knowledge by Vision). Beyond aparā bindu i.e. at its source of the realm of Nada corresponding to the spiritual Intuitive Mind (see items 32&33 of the Tatva Lokas under Suddha Maya) these combine together taking a predominating form of Intuition or intuitive Light (i.e. Light of Knowledge by Intuition) carrying with it powers of intuition, discrimination, vision or revelatory knowledge and, inspired thought and word in regard to the truth of a thing or object realised. The nature of these powers of Nada is indicated by the Swami in the chapter “Adi Nitya Preraka Mukti Lokas” as “Anugraha Nada Lokas” of sankaḷpa (intuition and will), mantra (inspired Word and thought), Prati rupa (image and form of vision) and as “Nada Suddha preraka lokas” of Tatva guṇa vibhaga, Sakti vibhaga asakti, Prakasa vibhaga andhakara (discrimination or differentiation of the tatvas, capacity and incapacity, light and darkness etc). Beyond Nada, i.e., in Kutila or Suddha Maya corresponding to the overmind (see item 93 of Tatva Lokas) these powers i.e., Iccha, Jnana and Kriya shaktis are heightened, intensified, deepened and widened and they take a more synthetic or global form of operation in the yet more intensity of a wider Light of Knowledge. Beyond Kutila, in the realm of Para bindu proper i.e., in summit overmind these become the pure forms and powers of Will, Knowledge and Action, Para Iccha, Para Jnana and Para Kriya—the pure Intuition, Illumination and, inspired Thought and Word and Action of "Sukharambha Cit Shakti" and also operate under the aegis of the Cosmic Maha Shakti called Adhara Parā Shakti or Parai (see items 97 to 101 of the Tatva Lokas).

The Swami also refers to the four powers of Intuition namely, inspiration, vision, discrimination and intuition proper, in the poem "Mahadevamalai" (7-5-46) and each power is traced to its ultimate source in the Truth-World. Now the text is continued :

NOTES ON KUTILA, TIRODHANA AND SAHAJA MALA AND KARMA

The four-fold causal principles of Knowledge-Ignorance at their high universal source but eventually leading to Darkness and Ignorance at lower levels are (1) Kutila or Suddha Maya i.e. global overmind, (2) Tirodhana the original veiling power which is at the border between Paratva and Aparatva, or the Para shaktis of the summit overmind and Apra Shaktis of the overmind and below. (3) Sahaja Mala, the ancient universal impurity of ego (4) Karma the universal determinism of fate by the impurity of the cycle of actions and results.

NOTES ON SAKALA, KEVALA, AND KĀRAṆA AVASTHA

The four-fold causal states of Knowledge-Ignorance give rise to three in-drawn spiritual states of being in the liberation (mukta), namely, Sakala, kevala and kārāṇa (or Suddha) and to the corresponding three states of the less liberated nature (baddha) i. e., partially but progressively transformed nature in the corresponding dynamic states of consciousness. Sakala, kevala and kārāṇa (or suddha) would possibly indicate the psychic, spiritual mental and overmental states of spiritual liberation as well as their corresponding dynamic states of consciousness involving partial and progressive but incomplete transformation of nature which still acts as a drag or fetter on the soul's dynamic freedom. (See notes on the fourth part of the chapter "Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya Lokas"). However, incidentally we may remark that a more or less similar classification into Sakala, Kevala and Suddha occur in Tirumantram of Thirumoolar (8th Tantra 7th chapter), but it requires a deeper study for its correlation with the Swami's terms here.

NOTE ON TIRODHA AND ANAVA :

Under item 95 of Tatva Lokas the original veiling power of Tirodhana Shakti is described as immanently extended (vyapti) in the realm of Parabindu which is beyond Kutilai (Parabindu paryanta Tirodhana vyapti), and is extending (vyapaka) into the far realm of Paranada (paranada paryanta Tirodha vyapaka)—the realms of Parabindu and Paranada being in Suddha Maha Maya which includes those of Cosmic Maha Shakti and Cosmic Ishwara—whereas ego (anava) has a relatively tight hold or jurisdiction up to the realm of Nada i. e., upto Suddha Maya (nada paryanta adhikātva anava viśeṣa (see items 95 (4-5) and 94 (7) ; see also Introductory note to Tatva Lokas). So it is clear that there is increasing purity of soul and self in the realm of Suddha Maha Maya, the realm of overmind gnosis which is beyond Suddha Maya the global overmind, though entry into the absolute and pure transcendence of Supermind, can be had by crossing over Paranada.

NOTE : Compare the details in regard to Tirodha and Kutilai with the details in SA passage 5 (a) under the foregoing chapter S.No. 98. "Exposition on Tatva lokas and Karanateeta lokas and True Word". Sri Aurobindo seems to refer to the combined activities of Tirodha and Kutila under "overmind" in the said passage.

NOTE ON KUTILA :

Swami has added a note under Kutila (item 93 of Tatva Lokas) that Suddha Maya and Kundali are the same as Kutila. Now Kutila ordinarily means the crooked and also veil or screen. Kundali means the Coiled Shakti in her mood or state of tendency to issue forth into and as the world of forms and names. The heading shows that Kutilai is the potential causal power of the World of names and forms, "Sarva Sabdartha Prapancha", over which she has inseparable ruling power, "Sadharana samavaya adhikaratva" i. e., an undifferentiated global or total inseparable power of rule and control over the whole world manifested in and through sound, name and form. This indicates that her field is the global overmind. Sub item 93 [1] indicates that She is Omkara [Omkara Varna] of the seed-sound Om and its letter. Her power is a delegated or secondary power by which She makes a secondary creation in which she herself creates, maintains and withdraws or dissolves for a new creation or re-creation—Udbhava, adhikara and laya. All tatvas below her also derive their powers from her only, and each tatva in its turn has in its own sphere or in combination with other tatvas, similar powers of creation, maintenance and dissolution or return, whereas the higher and pure tatvas or principles such as soul [Atma Cit Sakti], pure powers of will, knowledge and action, Para Iccha, Para Jnana, Para Kriya, Para Sukharambha Cit Sakti, Cosmic Maha Shakti or Parā Shakti and Cosmic Ishwara or Para Siva [see items 96 to 102 of Tatva Lokas] are in direct touch with the Truth-world of Supermind and so they function as its adhikara or transmitting powers without going in for a secondary creation of their own as Kutilai does [However each tatva whether higher and purer or lower and impure has its possibilities in both the Paratva and Aparatva. Thus the lower and impure tatva too has its possibilities of alligning with the said Paratva powers, i. e., in conditions of purity]. She [Kutila] has all the possibilities of giving an intensity of Knowledge [i. e. deep and wide knowledge], nibida jnana sadhya [1-5], and She has a special nature and power to become the ground or common basis for a complete or total or universal knowledge including all its variations, Samaveta adharatva visesha [-7], while at the same time She has powers of veiling herself [i. e., her powers of consciousness] and the tatvas by a number of veils—aneka patakara [-2], and thus can ever pour herself into ever many particularities or independently separate manifestations and existences, Sada vyakti matra [-3]. This suggests that She can manifest so many gods and goddesses charging each of them with a particular aspect and form of manifestation as happens in the realm of what Sri Aurobindo calls "Selective Overmind" i.e. the realm of Karya Suddha Maya & Yoga Maya [items 30 & 31 of Tatva Lokas]. She has the potential energism or dynamism of creative action, kriya matra [-4]. She can cause modifications of spiritual knowledge of self and the world, atma jnana vikalpatva [-6]. Compare the above details with SA passage [5a] under ch. "Exposition of Tatva Lokas & Karanateeta Lokas and True Word".

The further immediate manifestations of Kutilai are indicated under items 30 to 92 of "Tatva Lokas". The main developments are given here under :

30. Sabdartha prapancha samavaya kārāṇa SUDDHA MAYA TATVA LOKA i.e., Kutilai in her effectual aspect just before entering into separative universal manifestations in and through sound (or names) and objects (or forms).

31. YOGA MAYA TATVA LOKA — The gathered or concentrated state of the shakti containing potentially the principles of Nada and Bindu—subtle sound and light.

32. NADA TATVA LOKA

33. APARA BINDU TATVA LOKA

NOTE : ON SUDDHA MAYA AND YOGA MAYA AND NADA AND APARA BINDU :

Karya or effectual Kutilai (or Suddha Maya) and Yoga Maya (i.e. items 30 & 31) seem to indicate the selective or lower overmind. Kārāṇa or causal Kutilai or Suddha Maya (item 93) seems to indicate global overmind. Under the effectual Kutilai or Suddha Maya, Nada (i.e., Aparā Nada) and Aparā Bindu manifest and they seem to correspond with Intuitive Mind and Illumined Mind. (Karya) Bindu and (Karya) Nada, items 28 and 29 of the Tatva Lokas, would correspond to the spiritual realisations at the Ajna centre and the overhead centre of the Higher Mind plane respectively. The karya Bindu is explained under the chapter "Karanateeta Loka" as bindu karya bindu i.e. (apara) bindu karya bindu which impels in turn nada to bring out vak or speech. In the chapter Tatva Lokas "this Karya bindu is referred to as "Vak karya nada preraka bindu". (Karya) nada mentioned as item 29 in the chapter "Tatva Lokas" seems to correspond with the "(Apara) bindu karya nada" under the chapter "Karanateeta Lokas", though its elaboration is found in the chapter "Adi nitya preraka mukti lokas". Now we shall reconcile the centres and planes as given in the chapter "Tatva Lokas" and "Karanateeta Lokas" and in the book of Upadesha and correlate them with Sri Aurobindo's corresponding terminology.

NOTE ON THE CHART :

What are referred to as Para bindu and Para nada in the Tantra systems correspond here with apara bindu and apara nada mentioned by the Swami under the “Tatva Lokas”. The Swami too mentions them as Para bindu and Para nada in the book of “Upadesha ”, possibly following the tradition of Tantra ; but he distinguishes them from the true and high-seated Para bindu and Paranada மேலைப்பர விந்து, இயற்பர நாதம், in the poem “Mahadeva Malai” [7—5—64] and under the “Tatva Lokas ” [items 100 to 101 and 102 to 103]. See also chart No.7 where the gradations of planes are marked as a series of bindu and nada with the words para and apara used in a relative significance.

- 34. Ambika loka
- 35. Vama loka
- 36. Jyeshtha loka
- 37. Raudri loka

The four shaktis may be spoken of as respectively governing the four speeches namely Para vak or Sukshma vak, Pashyanti, Madhyama and Vaikari. Again they seem to correspond at a lower level with their counter parts namely, Adi shakti, Iccha, Jnana and Kriya shaktis referred to by the Swami elsewhere under the chapter “Adi nitya preraka mukti lokas ”.

- 38 to 41. Jaya, vijaya, ajita and aparajita lokas.
- 42 to 46 Nivritti, Pratishta, Vidya, Santi, Santiateeta lokas.

These are considered to be the five kalās of shakti or known as Bindu Kalās.

- 47 to 53. Deepika, rochika, mochika, vyoma rupa, ananta, anatha, anashrita lokas.

These are the kalās or manifested aspects of Siva or known as Nada Kalās.

- 54. Sukshma [i. e. Para vak]
- 55. Pashyanti
- 56. Madhyama
- 57. Vaikhari lokas

These are the four forms of speech and word governed by the Shaktis Ambika, Vama, Jyeshtha, and Raudri respectively. Sukshma or Para vak is of overmental origin ; and Pashyanti is of the Intuitive Mind [according to Sri Aurobindo]. Madhyama vak may represent Illumined Mind. Vaikari is again said to be of two kinds, the subtle and gross, according to Tantra systems. The subtle vaikari may have the Higher Mind as its origin. Though the four speeches are said to have their overhead planes of origin, yet they have their centres of impact in the inner body of chakras and here they are in the reverse order. Para vak proper called Panchami rises up in mooladhara the physical centre, its lesser grade Sukshma in the nabhi centre, Pashyanti in the heart centre, Madhyama in the throat centre and Vaikari in the ajna centre according to the Swami [see item 17 "Pranava " in the book of Upadesha p. 108.]

58. Varnas such as letter [A] : Akara (अ)

59. Padas such as "OM"

60. Mantras such as Satyojāta

These represent the forms of inner sound and sound-significances with respect to Varna, Pada and Mantra i. e., letters, words and combination of words, and they are called the three adhvas of Shabda, the paths or ways of sound-symbols towards knowledge and experience.

61 to 92. Bhuvana, tatva and kalās [such as Pratistha for e.g.]

The three Adhvas or path-ways of Artha the objects and ideas of Knowledge—world or field of manifestation of the kalās or aspects of a tatva for enjoyment i. e., bhuvana, then the principle manifested i. e. tatva, and the aspects of the principle so manifested i. e. kalās. Items 61 to 92 are here the bhuvanas of Rudra Tatva [i. e. Suddha Vidya tatva], Ishwara Tatva and Sadasiva Tatva.

61 to 72. This group mentions some of the names of bhuvanas or worlds of the 108 Rudras who take their positions in Suddha Maya but to over-rule their respective sub-powers in the Suddha-asuddha Maya and Asuddha Maya and its Prakriti Maya and the earth Prithivi. A list of such gods is quoted in the book of Vyakhyana p.258 by a disciple of the Swami.

73 to 85. Nine of this group are kalās or parts which are said to contain also bindu and nada to constitute the sound and form of vowel letter "अ" [A] of the Omkara sound, according to the Swami [see chart 7 in vol. 1]. The several stages [or parts] in writing the letter अ [i. e. in their form and sound significances] are represented by the said nine goddesses or Shaktis namely Vama, Jyeshtha, Raudri, Kali, Kala Viharani, Bala Viharani, Bala Pramathani, Sarva Bhutadamani and Manonmani [see p. 21 Upadesha item 11 " Lakshanas of Akara i. e., letter अ [A]. These are spoken of here as bhuvanas or worlds of these goddesses According to Tantra, they are the nine bhuvanas of Suddha vidya tatva. So we may consider them as the manifested aspects or kalas of Rudra in Suddha Maya which he has worked out to fully bring out his tatva. Each kala or aspect of a tatva forms itself as a world of experience. [See also " Garland of Letters " by Sir John Woodroffe p. 250. Chart of kalas, tatvas & bhuvanas].

86 to 91. They are the bhuvanas of the Ishwara tatva of Suddha Maya. They may be considered as the formulated worlds of Maheshwara to work out his tatva in separate and utmost details or aspects but formulating them in Suddha Maya itself. Ishwara tatva is said to impel and overrule the inner subliminal desires in the field of Suddhāsuddha Maya [see item 26 of “ Tatva Lokas ”].

92. This is the bhuvana of Sadasiva representing Sadhakya tatva. He stands as the presiding deity over the others below him, namely Maheshwara and Rudra who also come within the range of Suddha Maya, and over Vishnu and Brahma who come in the range of Suddhasuddha Maya and Asuddha Prakriti Maya respectively. In particular Sadasiva tatva is said to impel and overrule the Asuddha Prakriti [see item 27 of Tatva Lokas ”].

GENERAL NOTE :

Thus we find many bhuvanas or formulated worlds of gods and goddesses, each of whom serves as one aspect or kalā of a over-ruling godhead immediately above them. All these come under the range of the effectual karya Suddha Maya [corresponding to the selective overmind]. A bhuvana is thus to be distinguished from the main tatva loka of a godhead. The godheads or their main powers or Shaktis take their formations by the interplay of Nada-Bindu (i.e. Siva tatva—Sakti tatva) which are the higher suddha tatvas of Yoga Maya under Suddha Maya [see items 30 to 33 of Tatva lokas]. Siva or nada kalas and Sakti or bindu kalas have been already indicated.

However we may note that these worlds of gods and goddesses herein shown are the leading land marks in the gradations of the worlds of the Saguna. The Swami observes in his Tamil poems and songs that there are numberless crores of the worlds of gods and goddesses. There are the many gods of the selective overmind, who become unified or harmonised under the one overruling and governing presence of the Ishwara and Ishwari in the overmind proper i. e., global overmind.

ON PARA ICCHA, PARA JNANA AND PARA KRIYA

Para Iccha is the Power of universal Will [by itself and as in the universalised individual soul] at the inmost level, but as yet expressing or manifesting itself only as a partial fulfilling power of Cit Shakti [ekadesa cit].

Para Jnana is the Power of universal Knowledge [by itself and as in the universalised individual soul] at the inmost level, possibly expressing or manifesting itself only as a partial fulfilling power of Cit Shakti as in the other two cases namely, Para Iccha and Para kriya. The Swami seems to have overlooked to write the second line under this item, as in the cases of Para Iccha and Para Kriya.

Para Kriya is the Power of universal Action [by itself and as in the universalised individual soul] at the inmost level, but as yet expressing or manifesting itself only as a partial fulfilling power of Cit Shakti [cf. ekadesa cit].

The three powers of Iccha, Jnana and Kriya have their operative play in the soul each separately or in combination [see item 96 [I] of Tatva lokas—Iccha Jnana Kriya Samavayatva Atmarupa Shakti]. The interplay of each such power in its purity i. e. as in summit overmind, is dealt with in the closing part of the fourth chapter of text “Suddha Tatva Sadhana Sadhya lokas”.

ON ATMA RUPA SWARUPA SWABHAVA [translations and notes]

“Pure total and direct knowledge and experience of the soul at the inmost level of being in regard to its form, essence and nature, immanence and extension or pervasiveness, general and special powers of qualities and nature etc. as manifested by the Shakti at all levels of existence from the inner to the outer and from the higher to the lower [poorvottara paryanta].”

Atma here would indicate the universal Individual i. e. the universalisation of soul, though its conscious force of manifestation as a fulfilling power of Cit Shakti still remains partial [ekadesa cit]. The next step of experience is that the universal individual, putting behind or overpassing its poise of absorption in the soul or status of being, gives itself entirely to the universal Mahashakti i. e. Parāshakti and identifies itself with her and wholly becomes her in essence and nature.

ON PARA SHAKTI RUPA SWARUPA SWABHAVA [translation and notes:]

“Pure, total and direct Knowledge and experience of Parā Shakti i. e. the universal Mahashakti at the inmost level of being in regard to her form, essence and nature, immanence and extension or pervasiveness, general and special powers of qualities and nature etc., as manifested by the Shakti at all levels of existence from the inner to the outer and from the higher to the lower [Poorvottara Paryanta].”

“The said manifestation of Parā Shakti as an universal conscious force, being global or total-multiple or composite [but not as yet integral] i. e. as global or total conscious force derived from Cit Shakti [sāṅga cit as distinguished from ekadesa cit and from Poorna cit]”.

“Putting behind and overpassing the experience of “Parā Shakti” [in order to move to the next step of experience, that is to say, to become identified with Para Siva, the cosmic overlord].

ON PARASIVA RUPA SWARUPA SWABHAVA [translation and notes:]

“Pure total and direct knowledge and experience of Para Siva, the universal overlord, at the inmost level of being in regard to his form, essence and nature, immanence and extension or pervasiveness, general and special powers of qualities and nature etc., as manifested by the Shakti at all levels of existence from the inner to the outer and from the higher to the lower [Poorvottara Paryanta].”

“ The said manifestation of Para Siva the universal overlord as the global or total universal being or Presence ” [Sanga Sat as distinguished from the integral status of being].

“ Putting behind and overpassing the experience of Para Siva ” [in order to move to the next step of experience, that is, the Paranada and Paranadanta].

“ Poorvottara Paryanta ”, as already explained in the opening stanza of this chapter would signify here all the formulations and all the complexities of movements of the universal Mahashakti or the universal Overlord, as the case may be, at once implying a totality and a complexity of internal and external movements of an infinite variety, moving in endlessly infinite movements. This above sense of “Poorvottara Paryanta ” seems to be indicated also by the Mother’s experience on 26—11—1915 in regard to the universal personality [i. e. universal Mahashakti] as noted in her “ Prayers and Meditations ”.

“ Then it felt that its body [i. e. Mother’s body and consciousness one with the global earth] was absorbed in the body of the universe and one with it. The consciousness became the consciousness of the universe, in its totality immobile, in its internal complexity moving infinitely ”

The Swami’s experience of Karanateeta lokas dealing with the progressive steps of identity of consciousness with the tatvas, one after another, from the bhuta [i. e. bhuta rupa swarupa and swabhava] up to Parā shakti the universal Maha Shakti, and upto Para Siva the universal overlord, and the Beyond may be compared with a parallel development of experience as narrated by the Mother in her diary on 26—11—1915 [see Prayers and Meditations p.246—247]. The Mother becomes identified at first with her physical being, then with the earth, then with the universal personality to which her being gave and abandoned itself [i. e., giving herself to Her who is possibly Para Shakti, the universal Mahashakti] and then with the total consciousness of the universe as moving towards the Divine [cf. S. R. “Sanga Cit ” and “ Sanga Sat ”], then with the radiant being of the universe [possibly Para Siva] and then with something immutable, formless Witness [i. e. the Supreme and eternal Witness] that yet contained all forms [possibly the Supramental Divine Being cf.: Swami’s words: Poorana bodha vyapaka vyapya samveda samavaya yathartha Suddha atma rupa Pratyaksha Jnana Anubhava ”], a first step of an integral experience of God, soul and self, and the world at the threshold of the Vastness of Super-mind) and finally into the unutterable, the Ineffable i. e. the Absolute Sivam. The experience of the supreme and eternal Witness at once formless and yet containing all forms seems also to correspond with the Gita's highest experience of Purushottama, the triple Purusha, the transcendental, universal and individual; but the Gita does not deal with or rather misses the full development of the experience of the Supermind i. e. its characteristic triple plane and the integral harmony of the Being and Conscious Force of the Divine. It seems to touch and overpass the Supermind as it were and takes its stand or poise in the status of the Being of the Absolute Divine, The Purushottama.

The Mother's experience on 26—11—1915 as given in her "Prayers and Meditations" is reproduced below : November 26, 1915 :

" The entire consciousness immersed in divine contemplation, the whole being enjoyed a supreme and vast felicity.

Then was the physical body seized, first in its lower members and next the whole of it, by a sacred trembling which made little by little even in the most material sensation, all personal limits fall away. The being progressively, methodically, grew in greatness, breaking down every barrier, shattering every obstacle, that it might contain and manifest a force and a power which increased ceaselessly in immensity and intensity. It was, as it were, a progressive dilatation of the cells until there was a complete identification with the earth : the body of the awakened consciousness was the terrestrial globe moving harmoniously in etherial space. And the consciousness knew that its global body was thus moving in the arms of the universal Personality, and it gave itself, it abandoned itself to Her in an ecstasy of peaceful bliss. Then it felt that its body was absorbed in the body of the universe and one with it ; the consciousness became the consciousness of the universe, in its totality immobile, in its internal complexity moving infinitely. The consciousness of the universe sprang towards the Divine in an ardent aspiration, a perfect surrender, and it saw in the splendour of the immaculate Light the radiant Being standing on a many-headed serpent whose body coiled infinitely around the universe. The Being in an eternal gesture of triumph mastered and created at one and the same time the serpent and the universe that issued from it ; erect on the serpent, he dominated it with all his victorious might, and the same gesture that crushed the hydra, enveloping the universe, gave it eternal birth. Then the consciousness became this Being and perceived that its form was changing once more ; it was absorbed into something which was no longer a form and yet contained all forms, something which, immutable, sees,—the Eye, the Witness. And what It sees, is. Then this last vestige of form disappeared and the consciousness itself was absorbed into the Unutterable, the Ineffable ''.

OUR NOTE :

The experience of the serpent enveloping the universe by its infinite coils and the Radiant Being standing over the serpent seem indentifiable with Kundali loka [i.e. the coiled universe or Kutila loka or Suddha Maya] and Para Siva respectively – see items 102 and 93 of “ Tatva lokas ” ; note 1 & 2 at the end of 93.

“ The return towards the consciousness of the individual body took place very slowly in a constant and invariable splendour of Light and Power and Felicity and Adoration by successive gradations, but directly, without passing again through the universal and terrestrial forms. And it was as if the modest corporeal form had become the direct and immediate vesture, without any intermediary, of the supreme and eternal Witness ”.

Coming back to the text of ‘Karanateeta’, the next steps are thus :

1. PARANĀDA PARITYĀGĀNTA SAHAJA KĒVALA PRATYAKSHA ANUBHAVA LŌKA
2. Paranāda Parityāgānta Kēvala Pratyeka Jñāna anubhava lōka

From out of the Paranadanta state of Sahaja Kevala, the ture individual self emerges and it develops into the supramental knowledge.

Aagin the text is further continued with translation and notes including translation of the above two paranadanta states. This is the last portion of the Text forming the essence of Karanateeta loka and the number and order of steps are given as in the text. Here the Vastness of the Truth-World [items 3 and 4] the Truth-World proper with its triple poise in a descending order [items 5 to 11], the infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda [items 12 to 14], the one indivisible Satcitananda [item 15] and the supreme Absolute Sivam [item 16] are mentioned as series of experiences.

Translations items 1 & 2 [i. e. experience in Paranadanta] :

“ The experience of the inherent status of immutable Brahman or the featureless infinite or void of silence ” [Sahaja Kevala] after crossing over the realm of Paranada ” [i. e. at the end of Paranada or in the Paranadanta state— a state beyond the source of potential and subtle Paranada sound. Hence it is the experience of the positive Void from which Truth-Knowledge develops later]

2. “ The experience of the sense or knowledge of exclusiveness of the state of immutable Brahman or the featureless infinite or Void of Silence [Sahaja Kevala] at the end of Paranada i. e. in Paranadanta state ” [In the self-absorbed self-immersion in the static Brahman as in Vedanta experience, this sense of the exclusiveness of the experience does not arise. But, here it is so experienced by an act of Grace].

Translations of items 1 to 16 [i. e. experience of Supermind, the worlds of Satcitananda, the one indivisible satcitananda and finally the Absolute] :

1. “ The experience of the true individual self ” i. e. the emergence of the true individual self from the Void of Silence [i. e. Positive Void] or the immutable featureless Brahman.—see explanations in Vol. I ch. III-Part I under the head “Paranada and Paranadanta ”

2. “ The experience of the absence of the ego and its modifications or losing completely the sense of the separateness of individuality and its modifications ”.

3. “ The pure and direct experience of the integral Truth-knowledge (poorana bodha) of the universal self-extension in and of the Infinity of the divine Being (Vyapaka vyapya), inclusive of the totality of the inseparable universal knowledge “ Samveda Samavaya ” (i. e. including the universal knowledge of overmind gnosis covering all the lower worlds but here as possessed by the integral knowledge of the Truth-world) as the true and own self-form of knowledge of the true and pure self (yathartha suddha atma rupa pratyaksha Jnana).”

4. “ The pure and integral Truth-knowledge, Suddha Jnana (of the universal self-extension in and of the infinity of the Divine Being— Vyapaka Vyapya) in which there is the simultaneous involution and evolution (or dissolution and birth) of all the tatvas and tatvika:, the principles of existence and their evolutes (tatva tatvika layodaya).”

5. “ The supreme or a highest state of integral Truth-knowledge (Suddha Jnana Ateeta) of the universal self-extension in and of the infinity of the Divine Being (Vyapaka Vyapya) manifesting the involution and evolution of all principles of existence and their evolutes (tatva tatvika layodaya).”

6. “ The state of experience in which is realised as the goal (lakshya anubhava) the supreme Light of the Divine Being which transcends Truth-Knowledge itself (i.e. transcends Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge Ateeta Jnana Prakasa) after manifesting in that summit poise the plenitude of universal self-extension of being and becoming in and of the infinity of the Divine Being (Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya). ”

7. “ The state of experience in which the concentration of the integral or supreme and universal Light of the supreme Consciousness-Force (Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa Yoga) is realised as the goal (lakshya anubhava). ”

8. “ Standing back or withdrawing from (or dissociating or disengaging or weaning away from) the impression or experience (vasana nivritti) of the poise of concentration of the comprehending integral Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge (Ateeta Jnana Yoga) in order to move into or pass over to, the next step of experience (i. e. here by way of descending into the apprehending poise or plane of the Truth-World).”

9. “ The experience of the enjoyment of the excelling Truth-Knowledge of” the concentrated Light of the supreme Consciousness-Force (Ateeta Cit Prakasa Yoga Atisaya Jnana Bhoga).”

10. “ Standing back or holding back (more objectively) or withdrawing from (or dissociating or disengaging or weaning away from) the impression or experience (vasana nivritti) of the fore-going poise of excelling Truth-Knowledge of the concentrated Light of Consciousness-Force (i. e. of the apprehending poise of Truth-knowledge), in order to move into or pass over to the next or succeeding experience (of an excelling Enjoyment of the essential form of the Divine, Swarupa Sakshatkara, by concentration in Truth-Knowledge, Jnana Yoga Bhogateeta).”

11. “ The state or poise which gives the most excellent and direct enjoyment of the essential form of the Divine [Swarupa Sakshatkara] in concentration of Truth-Knowledge [Jnana yoga bhogateeta] in the field of universal self-extension in and of the Divine Being [Vyapaka vyapya]— the poise which is called Jagratateeta Suddha Avastha ”.

12. “ The supreme Cit Shakti manifesting the Infinite and eternal world of the dynamic Bliss [Sukha Swabhava Loka] on the sheer or mere [or bare absolute] basis of the existence of the Divine Being [Sanmatra]”

13. “ The supreme Cit Shakti manifesting her own infinite and eternal world of essential Consciousness-Force along with the other principles viz. essential Ananda [Sukha Swarupa] and the form of Sat the Divine Being [Sat Rupa] ”.

14. “ The supreme Cit Shakti manifesting the infinite and eternal world of the essential Existence of the Divine Being [Sat Swarupa Loka] along with the form of Bliss [Suka rupa] ”.

15. “ The state of experience that comes by identification with the onesupreme and indivisible Satcitananda in its infinite and eternal unity [i.e. indivisible unity] ”.

16. “ The state of experience that comes by identification with Sivam the Absolute beyond the supreme Bliss [i. e. beyond the supreme Bliss of the one indivisible Satcitananda] ”.

TRANSLATION AND NOTES :

ON PARANADANTA STATE OF GRACE AND EMERGENCE OF TRUE INDIVIDUAL SELF.

1. “ The experience of the inherent status of immutable Brahman or the featureless infinite or void of silence [Sahaja Kevala] after crossing over the realm of Paranada ” [i.e. at the end of Paranada or in the Paranadanta state—a state beyond the source of potential or subtle Paranada sound. Hence it is the experience of the positive void from which Truth-Knowledge develops later]

2. “ The experience of the sense or knowledge of exclusiveness of the state of immutable Brahman or the featureless infinite or Void of Silence [Sahaja Kevala] at the end of Paranada i.e. in Paranadanta state. “ [unlike in the vedanta experience of the static Brahman, here, there is the sense of exclusiveness of the experience which is an act of Grace].

EMERGENCE OF THE TRUE INDIVIDUAL SELF

1. “ The experience of the true individual self ” i.e. the emergence of the true individual self from the Void of Silence [i.e. positive void] or the immutable featureless Brahman [see explanations in Vol. I—ch. III Part I under the head “ Paranada and Paranadanta ”] and

ENTRY INTO VASTNESS OF TRUTH-WORLD AND INTEGRAL KNOWLEDGE

3. “ The pure and direct experience of the integral Truth-Knowledge [Poorana bodha] of the universal self-extension in and of the Infinity of the divine Being [Vyapaka vyapya] inclusive of the totality of the inseparable universal knowledge “ Samveda Samavaya ” [i.e. including the universal knowledge of overmind gnosis covering all the lower worlds but here as possessed by the integral knowledge of the Truth-World] as the true and own self-form of Knowledge of the true and pure self [yathartha suddha atma rupa pratyaksha Jnana].

NOTE ON POORANA BODHA AND SAMVEDA SAMAVAYA

The integral Truth-Knowledge called “ poorana bodha of vyapaka vyapya ” includes the total or universal knowledge of vyapya vyapaka [i.e. overmind gnosis and below] at the inmost, inner, inner-outer and outermost levels of existence—suddha samveda antarantara, antara, antara bahya, bahya and bahya bahya as described in the foregoing stanzas and which are covered here by the word “ Samveda Samavaya ”.

This is the first entry into the threshold of the world of Truth-Knowledge. Thus we see that the emergence of the true individual self [items 1 and 2 above] leads to the first step of integral knowledge of the Truth-World i. e. into the Supramental vastness [vyapaka vyapya or Peru Veli—item 3]. It seems that the Gita's highest goal of "Amsa sanatana" bringing the experience of Purushottama the triple Purusha—the transcendental, universal and individual Divine Being—would be indicated by this first step of experience at the threshold of the Supermind, though the Gita does not specifically deal with its full and leading developments such as the triple plane or poise of supermind and with the worlds of Satcitananda which are the subject matter of the closing part of this chapter 'Karanateeta Lokas' as developed in items 1 to 16, more especially in items 5 to 16. The Gita seems to touch, as it were, the threshold of the supramental vastness but overpasses the supermind [items 5 to 11] proper, taking its poise beyond it in the Absolute or Supreme Being, Purushottama or Paratpara Purusha. And it regards this experience as the highest, uniting the Kshara and the Akshara in the Purushottama. It regards the highest state of the soul or the eternal individual [amsa santhana] as a dwelling in the Purushottama, "nivasishyasi mayeva".

This view is supported also by the next stanza [item 4] of the Swami's text dealing with Suddha Jnana Anubhava and also by Sri Aurobindo's observations on the Gita quoted thereunder. The further developments as contained in items 5 to 11 are special features of the world of supermind proper which, here according to the text, begins with its highest poise [items 5 to 7] which is characterised as "Suddha Jnana Ateeta Anubhava" integrating the Being [vyapaka vyapya] and the Becoming [tatva tatvika layodaya], and as "Poorana vyapaka vyapya" with the possession of both the Light of the Supreme Being beyond Truth-Knowledge [i.e. beyond Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge itself Ateeta Jnana Prakasa Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya nirbodha lakshya anubhava] and the integral concentrated Light of Consciousness-Force manifesting the fullness of an integral Truth-Knowledge [i. e. Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa Yoga lakshya anubhava]. The possession of this highest poise possessing simultaneously both the said inseparable Lights is set forth by the Swami as the goal [lakshya anubhava] and it is to be followed by the other two poises [here mentioned in a descending order—see items 8 to 11]. Thus the world of supermind proper with its comprehending or summit poise [items 5 to 7] and the apprehending poise [items 8 and 9] and the tertiary [items 10 and 11] are wholly covered under items 5 to 11.

It may be noted that item 5 i. e., Suddha Jnana Ateeta, the comprehending supermind [in the ascent], leads to the summit supermind [as opening into Ananda Loka above and beyond Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge—item 6] in the fullness of universal self-extension, Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya. Then from this highest poise the descending order of poises starts. The first is item 7 which evidently is the comprehending poise again but here as in the descent and as in close connection with the summit Supermind, that is to say, it is formed at its foundational source as a principle and power of a full and whole integral Truth-Knowledge [i. e. Truth-Consciousness] but yet distinguished from the summit poise where there begins an exceeding or transcending of Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge itself. In other words we may say that one shoots into the summit poise [item 6] through a first comprehending supermind [item 5] and from there and with the possession of the Light of supreme Being [Ateeta Jnana Prakasa] comes back to possess the full and whole integrality of Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge and all the poises, through the possession also of the integral and concentrated Light of Consciousness-Force [Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa] as manifest in the comprehending supermind but now as in its highest source [item 7] closely connected with the summit poise. This comprehending poise at its highest source is referred to as Ateeta Jnana Yoga [see also item 8] much in the same way as "Suddha Jnana Ateeta" [item 5]. Item 8 in essence refers to a movement of withdrawal or dissociation from the earlier experience [item 7] which is designed as Ateeta Jnana Yoga, denoting Comprehending supermind. Thus in essence items 5 and 7 both speak of the Comprehending supermind though in its different levels and consequences or the former indicating ascent towards the summit and the latter the descent therefrom.

With a full understanding of the developing steps of experiences in the comprehending and summit supermind, we have treated their poises as one poise i. e. as comprehending or summit poise or rather as comprehending summit poise by taking into consideration items 5 to 7 together as in the foregoing paras in order to arrive at its [supermind's] essential three poises namely comprehending or summit poise [items 5 to 7], apprehending [item 9] and tertiary or lower poise [item 11]. If the supermind is to be considered in a four-fold poise in the descending order then item 6 will be the summit poise, item 7 the comprehending, item 9 the apprehending and item 11 the lower, which are respectively denoted by Sri Aurobindo in his "Synthesis of Yoga" under the chapter "Supramental Sense" as [a] Primary Self-awareness of self-knowledge and World-Knowledge [b] Vijnana [c] Prajnana and [d] Sanjnana. The same four poises are indicated by the Swami in his "Satya Jnana Vinnappam" as [a] Samarasa Suddha Jnana [b] Suddha Jnana [c] Mudi Nilai the greater poise and [d] Adi Nilai, the lower poise. The Swami reduces the four into the fundamental two poises namely Cit Sabha or Suddha Jnana Sabha, and Por Sabha, [a] and [b] coming in the former, [c] and [d] in the latter. When he takes them as three poises, they are indicated as Cit Sabha, Por Sabha and Samarasa Sanmarga Sabha, [a] and [b] coming in the first, [c] in the second and [d] in the third. However apart from these classifications and groupings Cit Sabha proper and Por Sabha proper will essentially indicate the comprehending and apprehending supermind.

4. "The pure and integral Truth-knowledge, Suddha Jnana [of the universal self-extension in and of the infinity of the Divine Being—Vyapaka Vyapya] in which there is the simultaneous involution and evolution [or dissolution and birth] of all the tatvas and tatvikas, the principles of existence and their evolutes [tatva tatvika layo-daya]".

NOTE : Now we shall compare with the Gita as expounded by Sri Aurobindo.

"In the words of the Gita, Krishna the Lord says "I am the birth of the whole world and so too its dissolution"; there is nothing else supreme beyond Me" It is evident that it is this Parā Prakriti supreme Nature of his being which is both these things The birth is the movement of evolution of this Conscious Energy out of the Spitit, Para Prakriti Jivabhuta, its activity in the mutable universe ; the dissolution is the withdrawing of that activity by involution of the Energy into the immutable existence and self-gathered power of the spirit. That then is what is initially meant by the supreme Nature."

—Essays on the Gita—Sri Aurobindo—[p.359-360]

"Krishna the Lord further declares "Know me to be the eternal seed of all existence, O son of Pritha ". This eternal seed is the power of Spiritual being, the conscious Will in the being the seed which, as is said, elsewhere, the Divine cast into the great Brahman [i. e. Mahat Brahman] into the supramental Vastness and from that all are born into phenomenal existence. It is that seed of spirit which manifests itself as the essential quality in all becomings and constitute their Swabhava ".

Essays on the Gita—Sri Aurobindo [p.366]

"It is the essential quality in its spiritual power that constitutes the Swabhava. It is the force of spirit so manifesting, it is the light of its Consciousness and the power of its energy in things revealed in a pure original sign that is the self-nature. That force, light, power of the eternal seed from which all other things are the developments and derivations and variabilities and plastic circumstances " (Ibid p. 366).

"The Eternal puts all this movement forth as his self-creation. He is at once the Father and Mother of the Universe ; the substance of the infinite idea, Vijnana, the Mahat Brahman, is the womb into which he casts the seed of his self-conception. As the over-Soul he casts the seed, as the Mother, the Nature-soul, the Energy filled with his conscious power, he receives it into this infinite substance of being made pregnant with his illimitable and yet self-limiting Idea. He receives into this Vast of self-conception and develops there the divine embryo into mental and physical form of existence born from the original act of conceptive Creation ". (Ibid p. 573-574).

NOTES ON ITEMS 1 to 4 CONSIDERED TOGETHER :

Items 1 to 4 of the Swami's text shall be regarded to mean as the first entry into the threshold of the world of Truth-knowledge i.e. into the Supramental Vastness which is made possible by the emergence of the true individual self (items 1 and 2). In other words the emergence of the true individual self naturally leads to the first step of the integral knowledge of the Truth-World (Poorana bodha of item 3). i.e. into the supramental Vastness of the Divine Being, the Mahat Brahman (Vyapaka vyapya). Item 4 refers to the involution and evolution of all tatvas and tatvikas, the principles of existence and their evolutes (tatva tatvika layodaya) i.e. the Becoming of the Supreme Nature of the Divine. Thus items 3 and 4 make for an underlying initial integral Truth-knowledge of the being and becoming of the self which is one with the Divine Self or the Supreme Divine Being, by integrating suddha atma rupa Jnana (item 3) and tatva tatvika Jnana (item 4). The Gita speaks of the integral knowledge of Purushottama the supreme divine Being in his triple aspect or poise of being—the transcendental, universal and individual and it also refers to Parā Prakriti the supreme Nature as the source of the Jiva. There can be even an initial identification or an exchangeable identification of the Supreme Self or the Divine Being, Purushottama (item 3 suddha atma rupa Jnana) with the Supreme Nature of Becoming, Para Prakriti (item 4—tatva tatvika Jnana). There can be also a first harmony of their co-existence. This knowledge is attained by the realisation of the true individual self i.e. amsa sanatana. Beyond it the Gita does not touch upon the details of the triple plane of the Truth-World which can be entered into and possessed one by one or integrally by the simultaneous possession of the Light of the Supreme Being and the concentrated Light of the Consciousness-Force which is not the set goal of the Gita. The integral possession of Ateeta Jnana Prakasa (Tat Joti) and Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa (Cit Joti) is made possible in the comprehending poise of the Truth-World (item 5) or at its highest in the summit poise (as opening into Ananda loka)—see item 6. The Gita does not also refer to the transformation of the physical body which is the resulting effect of entry into the Supramental world proper, even if it be an entry into its lower end i.e. its tertiary poise.

Now item 5 of the Text specifically says that there is a still farther step of knowledge (Suddha Jnana Ateeta) and it leads to the experience of the "POORANA VYAPAKA VYAPYA" (item 6), the full and whole plenitude of universal self-extension in and of the Infinity of the Divine Being beyond even the Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge and it is obtained by possessing the Light of the Supreme Being (item 6) followed by the equal or integral possession of the concentrated Light of Consciousness-Force (Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa Yoga—item 7) which however is not mentioned to be the goal of the Gita. But the Swami makes the possession of the Light of the Supreme Being, Ateeta Jnana Prakasa (Tat Joti) and the Light of Consciousness-Force, Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa (Cit Joti) as the very goal.

In this background item 5 to 7 taken together may be interpreted as referring to the Comprehending Supermind (item 5) and at its highest the summit poise of Supermind (items 6 and 7). In effect, item 5 refers to the comprehending supermind in the ascent, item 6 to the summit and item 7 to the comprehending supermind again but as in the descent, keeping close contact with the summit. For the sake of convenience we may even refer the three together as one poise i.e., as comprehending or summit supermind or as the comprehending summit supermind. Items 8 to 11 deal with the apprehending and tertiary poises of Supermind. Thus in the Swami's text the three poises of Supermind Proper are given in a descending order; and item 5 to 11 thus form another order of experience though still they proceed and develop from the preceeding experience of "Suddha Jnana" as in items 1 to 4, that is to say, they develop from the basic experience of the emergence of true individual self (items 1 and 2) and its experience of an initial integral Truth-Knowledge of the being of the self and the self-becoming of tatvas and tatvikas (items 3 and 4) in the Vastness of Universal Self-Extension in and of the infinite Divine Being (Vyapaka Vyapya).

These (items 5 to 11) either separately or integrally do not form the subject matter of the Gita. Beyond the triple poise of the Truth-World proper, the Swami's text goes to deal with the worlds of Satcitananda under items 12 to 14 and the one indivisible Satcitananda under item 15 and finally the Absolute, Sivam under item 16.

Thus this interpretation seems to be more fitting in view of the sequence of developing steps of experience. Now this is also supported by the internal evidences from the Swami's other poems in Tamil as also from Sri Aurobindo's passages on the Gita, already quoted above under item 4.

PERUVELI : VYAPAKA VYAPYA AND POORANA VYAPAKA VYAPYA

The term 'Peru Veli' the Vastness of Space, as occurring in the Swami's poems signifies the whole of supramental Vastness—not merely covering the initial range of Vyapaka Vyapya in respect of Suddha Atma Rupa Jnana and Suddha Jnana under items 3 and 4 above, but also covering its greater or purest range constituting the triple plane of supermind proper as signified by "Suddha Jnana Ateeta" (items 5 and 8 to 11) until it is held and possessed at its source (i.e., at the summit poise of Supermind as opening into the Ananda Loka above) by the "Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya" (items 6 and 7).

* In a stanza of the poem "Inba Thiran", Peru Veli is spoken of as held and possessed by the infinity of the Bliss of Grace (i. e., by the spaceless inner infinite of supreme Bliss) which is suggested by will “Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya nirbodha” (item 6 above). Other poems are also quoted herein below.

[a] “O Lord of the world of Truth-Consciousness ! How shall I describe Thy supreme Nature ? Thou hast become the light ; its inner light ; the light within the inner light ; the light within that light ; Thou hast become space ; Space of the space ; higher space of the said space ; Peru Veli the Vast space of the said higher space (i. e., the Supramental Vastness, Vyapaka Vyapya) ; the Spaceless infinity within that Vast Space and become Grace of Bliss. பெரு வெளியாய் பெருவெளிக்குள் ஓர் வெளியாய் அளியாகி அதுவாகி அதுவும் அல்லாதாகி Thou hast become that but exceeds or transcends it beyond ; Thou hast become the all-pervading Light manifesting all and everything and yet transcends ”.—(Inba Thiran Bk. 12—27—8).

[b] The Vast Grace-Light has self-determined by Grace Peru Veli, The Vastness of universal Space in the spaceless Infinity of the Bliss of Grace [i.e. at the summit supermind as opening into Ananda Loka above].

— [Joti Agaval Poem Line 12—1—285].

[c] “O Lord, Thou hast become the colourful space of Bhuta, the physical world ; the phenomenal space ; the space containing all the lower spaces when it becomes the space of Mauna [i.e. spiritual mind space] in which thoughts [i.e. truth-thoughts] arise, and beyond it Thou hast become the harmonious Para Veli [i.e. Para Turya Veli, the overmind space], then the true integral biune infinite [Ubhaya Veli] which is Peru Veli, the infinitely Vast Space of the Truth-World constituted by the universal space of Consciousness-Force, Cit Para Veli, and the spaceless infinity of the divine Being, Tat Para Veli. Thou hast become [in the summit of the Truth-World] the Bliss infinity of Grace which is verily the firm manifest infinity of Sat [இயல் உபய வெளியாய் அண்ணுறு சிற்பர வெளியாய்த் தற்பரமாம் வெளியாய் அமர்ந்த பெருவெளியாகி அருளின்ப வெளியாய்த் திண்ணமுறும் தனி இயற்கை உண்மை வெளியான திருச்சிற்றம்பலம்]. Thou art the one supreme Divine in Tirucittrambalam [i.e. the Supermind].

— Bk 10—II—2—2]

NOTE : In these songs, after Peru Veli is described the Infinity of the Bliss of Grace which holds or contains Peru Veli at its highest source.

Though in the Truth-World of Supermind one generally becomes aware of the biune infinite [Ubhaya Veli] i.e. the spaceless inner infinite within the space infinite [Tat Para Veli within Cit Para Veli], it is only in the summit poise of supermind that one can enter into and possess the spaceless infinite in order to possess the whole of Supermind in its plenitude of Truth-Consciousness of Bliss and Grace. The biune infinite as experienced in the summit Supermind is described here as the Bliss-infinity of Grace which is verily at the same time the Truth-Infinity of Sat [Arul Inba Veli, Iyarkai Unmai Veli]. Peru Veli, the supramental Vastness is contained and held at its source by Arul Inba Veli the supreme spaceless infinity of Bliss and Grace at the summit Supermind. The former corresponds to Cit Para Veli and the latter to Tat Para Veli, and both are inseparable, and each implies the other always. [In terms of light, they are respectively Cit Joti or Arut Perum Joti and Tat Joti]. Tat Para Veli at the summit of the Truth-World or even as exceeding beyond it into the world of Ananda is called Vetta Veli or Veru Veli.

The Tamil word “ Peru Veli ”, the Supramental Vastness, corresponds to “ Vyapaka Vyapya ” referred to in the Swami’s text of Karanateeta Loka above [see items 3, 5 and 11] and, the speceless infinity of the Bliss of Grace containing Peru Veli is suggested by “ Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya nirbodha ” [see item 6].

[d] “ O Father of the Goodness of Law that reigns supreme with grace in the fullness of Cit Sabha [i.e. in the summit of comprehending supermind] beyond Peru Veli the supramental Vastness of Space which manifests all the spaces ”. —[Pillai Peru Vinnappam—Bk—10—II—13—86]

[e] “ Vast Grace-Light of Cit Sabha which is the fulness of spaceless infinite existence (Thani Veli yāy niraivākki) in the supreme state of Jagratā-teeta (i. e. in the Suddha Siva Turyāteeta state which is the summit of Cit Sabha or summit poise of supermind as opening into the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka beyond—also see 12-42-75 and 96). Vast Grace-Light of the highest poise of Cit Sabha which is verily called the indescribable Sukhāteeta Veli, the spaceless infinity of supreme Bliss. Vast Grace-Light of that session of the Truth-world which remains the Timeless Eternity and spaceless infinity of Existence (Samayam Kadantha Thani Porul Veli) ”—“ Joti Agaval stzs 36, 37, 31.

NOTE : There are other stanzas of similar substance. (stz 25). The above stanzas refer to one and the same summit poise of Supermind as opening into Ananda Loka beyond. This summit poise is to be distinguished from Cit Sabha the comprehending supermind [see Joti Agaval stzs 21, 16]. The above said stanzas however describe it as the highest poise of Cit Sabha where the fulness or infinity of Existence and Bliss [Thani Veli, Sukhateeta Veli] is also possessed inseparably with Peru Veli the supramental Vastness.

Thus we find that whereas Peru Veli signifies the supramental Vastness of Space, the terms like Thani Veli, Satcitananda Thani Para Veli, Sukhāteeta Veli, Suddha Siva Veli, Thani Porul Veli, Suddha Veru Veli signify the spaceless inner infinite within Peru Veli ; and both are inseparable. Though in the Truth-world one generally becomes aware of the biune infinite i. e. the spaceless inner infinite within the space infinite [i. e. Tat Para Veli within Cit Para Veli], it is only in the summit poise of Supermind, i. e. in the highest level of comprehending supermind that one enters into and possesses the spaceless infinite in order to possess the whole of supermind in its plenitude of Truth-Consciousness. [see also other stanzas 12-1-35, 25, 36, 14, 31, 476 ; 11-36-37, 57, 93, 36 1-V-3-14 ; 1-V-2-30 ; 11-22-10 ; 1-VI-3-8 ; 1-V-10-95, 99 ; 10-1-2-89].

[f] “ The Vast Grace-Light of the unique and supreme Cittrambalam [i. e. at its summit, the summit supermind as opening into Ananda Loka above] which is rarely attained and which gives the perfect Bliss [Sukha Poorana] by a transcending of the [pure] Transcendence the supermind. [Turyam Kadantha]”—12—1—33.

[g] “ O God of Vast Grace-Light who has become Peru Veli the Vastness of formless space [i. e. supramental Vastness] and the spaceless infinity that has manifested the said Vast space and Thou transcend into the Infinity of Existence Beyond ” [11-12-1]

[h] “ O Light of supreme consciousness [citta sikhmani] of Suddha Sivananda Sabha [i. e. summit Supermind] ! O supreme Truth which cannot be described even by those who have entered into the pure Transcendence, the supermind [Turya].”—[11—12—3.]

[i] “ O Suddha Siva Veli that is within the Turya Veli of pure Transcendence”. i. e. within Peru Veli (BK 10—I—1—5)

[j] “ The one supreme and universal Divine who is all-pervading within and without in the whole and full plenitude of equal universal self-extension of Himself [poorana Podu Veli—cf. Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya item 6] which is verily the integral Truth-consciousness and manifests as the All-Existence bestowing knowledge in all ways by which seekers seek.” (Sabhai Villambaram Letters p. 100)

Again the items 1 to 4 of the last part of the text “Karanateeta Lokas” taken together would also explain the experience of Kumaradeva of Vriddhachalam as explained in his poems “ Vijnana Sara ”, and “ Advaita Truth ”, “ Brahma-nubhuti ” etc., Some of the stanzas of his “ Suddha Sadhakam ” have been rendered into English in Vol. I Chapter XI.

(a) “ Verily I myself have well become the eternal existence everywhere and in all. I myself have manifested well as the eternal manifestation everywhere and in all, I myself enjoy well the eternal Bliss everywhere and in all. I myself play well the eternal game everywhere and in all ”.
(Vijnana Sāra—Stz. 39).

(b) “ By my Sat I exist well as the omnipresent eternal being everywhere and in all; by my Cit I well manifest eternally my becomings in all and everywhere; and it is by my eternal Ananda I well enjoy the bliss of my being and becoming in all and everywhere; and it is by my eternal play I well play within me to enjoy myself everywhere and in all ”.
(Vijnana Sāra—Stz. 39 and 40).

(c) “ By my self-play I have become the many; by my Shakti I have become through self-conception this, that, this man, that man, my thing, and things of others etc. I play myself in and upon myself ”.
(Ibid stz. 42).

(d) “ Thus by this way I ascended by Her Grace as a bird and becoming free I saw and realised “ Para Veli ” the Vastness of Heaven, becoming myself all and everything. I have become the infinite form without beginning, middle and end in a state of liberation and in the being of my self-existence ”.
(Ibid stz. 91).

(e) “ Death shall not occur to the wise who have the Bliss by having the higher and infinite body (Akhandā Para deha possibly referring to Jñāna deha the knowledge-body) without beginning, middle and end ”.
(Ibid stz. 89).

(f) “ I realised myself in me as the triple existence of the transcendental, universal and individual being ”

(g) “I have entered into and become the resident (indweller) in Podu the infinite and whole universal equal self-extension (அகண்ட பரிபூரணமாம் பொது) which does not distinguish between this and that”.

(Brahmānubhūti Stz. 96).

(h) “I have realised by Love, Cidambaram (the Truth-World) and stand liberated from birth”.

(Brahmānubhūti Stz. 91).

(i) “In the presence of my Being I have self-extended myself by the will of self-conception and become the manifold existences and what has become, gets involved or contained in the in-gathered state beyond will or sank alpa”

(Brahma Siddhi Agaval--last lines)..

Now the Swami's Text is continued (translations).

5. “The supreme or a highest state of integral Truth-knowledge [Suddha Jnana Ateeta of the universal self-extension in and of the infinity of the Divine Being [Vyapaka Vyapya] manifesting the involution and evolution of all principles of existence and their evolutes [tatva tatvika layodaya].”

NOTE : Here, the universal self-extension in and of the infinity of divine Being [Vyapaka Vyapya] and the involution and evolution [i. e. dissolution and birth] of all principles of existence [tatva tatvika layodaya] are integrally combined in this exalted experience of a supreme integral Truth-knowledge.

6. The State of experience in or by which the supreme Light of the Divine Being [Ateeta Jnana Prakasa] manifests in that summit poise the fullest universal self-extension of being and becoming in and of the infinity of the supreme divine Being [Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya] and transcends Knowledge itself [i. e. Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge] and which is realised as the goal [lakshya anubhava].”

7. “The state of experience in which the concentration of the integral light of the supreme Consciousness-Force [Pooranateeta Cit Prakasa] is realised as the goal [lakshya anubhava].”

QUOTATIONS FROM SRI AUROBINDO :

All supramental gnosis is a two fold Truth-consciousness, a consciousness of inherent self-knowledge and, by identity of self and world, of intimate world-knowledge ; this knowledge is the criterion, the characteristic power of the gnosis. But this is not purely ideative knowledge, it is not consciousness observing, forming ideas, trying to carry them out ; it is an essential light of consciousness, the self-light of all the realities of being and becoming, the self-truth of being determining, formulating and effectuating itself. To be, not to know, is the object of the manifestation ; knowledge is only the instrumentation of an operative consciousness of being. — Life Divine p. 895

... If we go back to the spiritual basis of things, substance in its utter purity resolves itself into pure conscious being, self-existent, inherently self-aware by identity, but not yet turning its consciousness upon itself as object. Supermind preserves this self awareness by identity as its substance of self-knowledge and its light of self-creation, but for that creation, presents Being to itself as the subject-object one and multiple of its own active consciousness. Being as object is held there in a supreme knowledge which can, by comprehension, see it both as an object of cognition within itself and subjectively as itself but can also and simultaneously, by apprehension, project it as an object (or objects) of cognition within the circumference of its consciousness, not other than itself part of its being, but a part [or parts] put away from itself that is to say, from the centre of vision in which Being concentrates itself as the Knower, Witness or Purusha. We have seen that from this apprehending consciousness arises the movement of Mind, the movement by which the individual knower regards a form of his own universal being as if other than he, but in the divine Mind there is immediately or rather simultaneously another movement or reverse side of the same movement, an act of union in being which heals this phenomenal division and prevents it from becoming even for a moment solely real to the knower. — Life Divine p. 218

“ The Supramental Knowledge is the play of a supreme light....But to command or wholly possess it we must first enter into and become the being of the Supreme Light.”

— Synthesis of Yoga p. 562

“ The gnosis has ... a dense light of essential consciousness [i. e. cidghana] in which the intense fullness of Ananda can be...The gnosis [Supermind] has the infinite and absolute as the conscious source...of all its activities, it possesses it as its base, fount, constituent material, indwelling and inspiring Presence, but in its action it seems to stand out from it as its operation, as the rhythmical working of its activities, as a divine Maya or Wisdom-Formation of the Eternal. Gnosis is the divine Knowledge-Will of the divine Consciousness-Force.”

— Synthesis of Yoga p. 574-575

“ The supreme supracosmic Sachchidananda is above all. Supermind may be described as its power of self-awareness and world-awareness. the world being known as within itself and not outside. So to live consciously in the supreme Sachchidananda one must pass through the supermind. If one lives in the transcendence and the cosmic view at the same time, that can only be by the supramental consciousness in the supreme Sachchidananda.”

— on Yoga—Book Two—Tome one p. 261

QUOTATIONS :

In a sense the four Powers of the Mother (i.e. Maheshwari, Mahakali, Mahalakshmi and Maha Saraswati) may be called, because of their origin, her Emanations, just as the Gods may be called Emanations of the Divine, but they have a more permanent and fixed character ; they are at once independent beings allowed their play by the Adya Shakti and yet portions of the Mother, the Mahashakti, and she can always either manifest through them as separate beings or draw them together as her own various Personalities and hold them in herself, sometimes kept back, sometimes at play, according to her will. In the supramental plane they are always in her and do not act independently but as intimate portions of the supramental Mahashakti and in close union and harmony with each other.

These four Powers are the Mother's cosmic Godheads, permanent in the world-play ; they stand among the greater cosmic Godheads to whom allusion is made when it is said that the Mother as the Mahashakti of this triple world “ Stands there (in the overmind plane) above the Gods ”. The Gods, as has already been said, are in origin and essence permanent Emanations of the Divine put forth from the Supreme by the Transcendent Mother, the Adya Shakti ; in their cosmic action they are Powers and Personalities of the Divine, each with his independent cosmic standing, function and work in the universe. They are not impersonal entities but cosmic Personalities, although they can and do ordinarily veil themselves behind the movement of impersonal forces. But while in the overmind and the triple world they appear as independent beings, they return in the supermind into the One and stand there united in a single harmonious action as multiple personalities of the One Person, the Divine Purushottama.

This is what is termed the Adya Shakti, she is the Supreme Consciousness and Power above the universe and it is by her that all the Gods are manifested, and even the supramental Ishwara comes into manifestation through her—the supramental Purushottama of whom the Gods are Powers and Personalities. (On Yoga—Book Two TOME ONE— p. 388—389)

In regard to the Purushottama the Divine Mother is the supreme divine Consciousness and Power above the worlds, Adya Shakti, she carries the Supreme in herself and manifests the Divine in the worlds through the Akshara and kshara. In regard to the Akshara she is the same Para Shakti holding the Purusha immobile in herself and also herself immobile in him at the back of all creation. In regard to the Kshara she is the mobile cosmic Energy manifesting all beings and forces.

In the Gita, the Purushottama is the Supreme Lord, the Supreme Being who is beyond the Immutable and the Mutable and contains both the One and the Many. Man, says the Gita, can attain the Brahmic consciousness, realise himself as an eternal portion of the Purushottma and live in the Purushottama. The Purushottma consciousness is the consciousness of the Supreme Being and man by loss of ego and realisation of his true essence can live in it.

THE GITA does not speak expressly of the Divine Mother ; it speaks always of surrender to the Purushottama—it mentions her only as the Para Prakriti who becomes the Jiva, that is, who manifests the Divine in the multiplicity and through whom all these worlds are created by the Supreme and he himself descends as the Avatar. The Gita follows the Vedantic tradition which leans entirely on the Ishwara aspect of the Divine and speaks little of the Divine Mother because its object is to draw back from world-nature and arrive at the supreme realisation beyond it ; the Tantric tradition leans on the Shakti or Ishwari aspect and makes all depend on the Divine Mother because its object is to possess and dominate the world-nature and arrive at the supreme realisation through it. This yoga insists on both the aspects ; the surrender to the Divine Mother is essential, for without it there is no fulfilment of the object of the yoga (On yoga-Book Two TOME ONE p. 75—76).

Now we may explain the last above passage of Sri Aurobindo in regard to Purushottama of the Gita. Coming to the text of the Swami we may observe that even item 3 taken by itself may indicate the high goal of the Gita with its predominant or more exclusive leaning on the Purusha side of the Divine i. e. the Purushottama or Parameshwara. So too item 4 taken by itself may indicate the high goal of the traditional Tantra system with its leaning more on the Prakriti side of the Divine i.e. the Parameswari of the Tantra (see also the charts of the Divine Plan in the “ Hour of God ” by Sri Aurobindo). But items 3 and 4 taken together would give an underlying initial integration of the Purusha and Prakriti aspects of the Supreme Divine. As Gita refers, though in short hints, to the Para Prakriti, the Tantra similarly refers to Parameshwari as self-existent and containing within her heart Parameshwara. The Swami's text of Karanateeta lokas indicates the items of experience from 1 to 16 as developing steps of experience. The first full and open integration seems to be reached in item 5 which speaks of the Knowledge as “ Suddha Jnana Ateeta ”.

integrating both the Vyapaka Vyapya (the extension of the Being of the Divine Self) and the tatva tatvika layodaya (the becoming of the Nature). This is the Supermind proper, identifiable with the comprehending Supermind. If so, the earlier steps 1 to 4 taken together would be the fundamental or basic realisation of entry into the threshold of the Supermind i.e. into its Vastness, Vyapaka Vyapya, even with an underlying harmony between the Purusha and Prakriti, the Self and Nature, Purushottama and Para Prakriti or Parameshwari, but at the same time not yet fully developing or bringing out the essential triple poise of Supermind. Item 5 implies and includes the experiences of the preceding steps in items 1 to 4.

Again we may consider the whole matter from another angle or in another light. The shooting ascent from the threshold of the supramental Vastness into the summit supermind by overpassing at first its three planes (the lower or tertiary, apprehending and comprehending planes), then coming back to possess and embrace them in the descent, seem to correspond with what Sri Aurobindo calls the over-passing of the Divine Maya and embracing it later. "The lower present and deluding mental Maya has first to be embraced, then to be overcome... That other Maya (i.e. the Divine Maya of Supermind) concealed by this mental has to be overpassed, then embraced" (Life Divine p. 108). In the case of the Gita it is evident that the soul and self (amsa sanatana) shoots up from the threshold of supramental Vastness into the Absolute Beyond, into the supreme absolute Being of the Purushottama (i.e. into His absolute poise), by overpassing the Supermind proper as in its three planes and without coming back to possess and embrace them.

NOTE ON ITEMS 3 TO 5 (three to five) TAKEN TOGETHER :

Considering the three items 3 to 5 together as we have done in Vol. I—Chapter III—part I, we have taken the position that the emergence of the true individual self develops at first into an initial integral Truth-knowledge by its entry into the transcendental and universal Vastness of Supermind (items 3 and 4), then into the comprehending supermind (item 5) by a leap as it were, by overpassing the lower and greater ranges of supermind (i.e. the lower and apprehending supermind) which are possessed when coming back or descending from the summit poise (item 6) through the highest comprehending poise (item 7) after possessing both the Light of the Supreme Being (Ateeta Jnana Prakasa—item 6) and the concentrated integral Light of Consciousness-Force (Pooranāteeta Cit Prakasa—item 7).

NOTES ON ITEMS 5 TO 7 (five to seven) TAKEN TOGETHER :

But a more proper approach of interpretation can be made if we consider 3 and 4 together, and group item 5 with items 6 and 7. Then item 5 will be taken as comprehending supermind, and items 6 and 7 respectively as summit supermind (which opens into Ananda Loka above) and the highest comprehending supermind but as in close connection with the summit. In such a case the subject matter of 3 and 4 only makes a preliminary step before getting into the supermind proper and would explain better the position of the highest goal of the Gita and that of quite a few great mahans called "yogi-saints" (see chapter XIII in Vol.I) in the over-all pattern of supramental knowledge. Thus there will be a first entry into the threshold of the supermind, that is to say, in to the supramental Vastness and this is a stage before entering into the comprehending supermind (item 5) or in fact the supermind proper with its triple poise as given in a descending order in items 5 to 11 or even into any of its poise starting in an ascending order from the lower end called the tertiary supermind, items 11 to 5). In the above background of interpretation, items 3 and 4 taken together would signify an initial development of the supramental Truth-knowledge characterised by the Gita's goal of experience, though it is not the full-fledged, whole and absolutely integral supramental Truth-knowledge proper covering its triple poise. Thus the Swami's delineation of the successive steps of experience of the realm of "Vyapaka Vyapya" seems to give a clear indication of the true picture at once filling up the gap or connecting, as it were, the missing link between the Gita's experience and that of the mahans called "yogi-siddhars" (as in Ch. XIII) of the order of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother, Tirumoolar and Swami Ramalingam and also connecting the intervening experiences of some of the "yogi-saints" (as in ch. XIII) such as Tiru Kallitru Padiar, Tiru Undiar, Nammalwar, Manickavasagar, Kumaradeva etc. who refer to transformation of the physical body in one form or the other. Such an interpretation distinguishes Suddha Jnana of item 4 from Suddha Jnana Ateeta of item 5; it further distinguishes the levels of "Vyapaka Vyapya" that goes by the common name such as Supramental vastness or Peru Veli. Thus "Vyapaka Vyapya" occurring in items 3, 5 and 11 are distinguished and more particularly from "Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya" of item 6. Thus such an interpretation enables one to understand and distinguish more clearly the preliminary experience at the threshold of the Supramental Vastness or Peru Veli as in item 3 & 4 from the experience of the greater or purest levels of Peru Veli, elsewhere more specifically designated by the name Suddha Siva Veli, the Supermind proper with its triple poise as in items 5 to 11.

We have already observed that in Vol. I of the book under Chapter III, part I we have elaborately explained the subject matter of items 3 to 7, under two groupings, taking items 3 to 5 together as one group and items 6 and 7 together. A more reasonable approach of interpretation by grouping of items properly is given here in this second volume where the Text is translated and presented by considering items 3 and 4 as one group and 5 to 7 or in fact 5 to 11 as the other group.

Now coming to the subject matter of items 5 to 7 as such, and considering them together we arrive at the following position. The supreme light of the supreme Divine Being in the highest poise where there is the full & whole plenitude of universal self-extension in and of the infinity of the Divine Being but transcending Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge (Ateeta Jnana Prakasa Poorana Vyapaka Vyapya Nirobodha—Item 6), and the integral concentrated Light of Consciousness-Force manifesting the fulness of Truth-Conscious integral knowledge (Pooranāteeta Cit Prakasa Yoga) shall both be realised and possessed as the highest goal (lakshya anubhava). The swami speaks of it as his realised experience. It signifies that only if this highest supramental poise at the summit supermind as opening into Ananda Loka above, were attained as the goal then it would be possible to realise the Supermind or Satya Jnana as a whole and hold all its poises integrally i. e. the comprehending, apprehending and tertiary poises simultaneously together. Elsewhere this summit poise is named by the Swami as Samarasa Satya Sabha, Samarasa Ananda (Suddha Sivananda) Sabha, Samarasa Suddha Jnana etc. (Bk. 12—1—777; Bk. 10—II—1—10 and 11; Prose p. 133).

From the experience and transformation of the Swami, it is evident that deathlessness of body, without any limitation or disability such as an inevitable and obligatory dematerialisation, or put in other words, a deathless body with the power to live here on the earth continuously after attaining its deathless state is possible only by an integral realisation of the Samarasa Suddha Jnana. The swami attained such a body; but, after living for about a year, or two he deliberately sacrificed it by a process of dematerialisation evidently in order to bring about the manifestation of the divine Light and for the high purpose of entering into all material physical bodies or at any rate for the said combined divine and world purposes.

Elsewhere, the Light of supreme Being and the Light of Consciousness-Force are respectively referred to by the Swami as Tat Joti and Cit Joti; Tat Param Joti (or Tat Para Tatva Joti) and Cit Param Joti; and they are integrally referred to as Joti yut Joti, the Light within Light, that is to say, “Tat Joti within Cit Joti” (cf. also Tat Param within Cit Param)—see Keertans entitled “Siva Siva Joti” and “Joti Yut Joti” and the poems 11—16, 11—17 and 11—21. They are also referred to by a common name “Cidambara Joti, the supramental Light. The said Tat Joti within Cit Joti or “Joti Yut Joti” is also referred to as the Light within the infinitely Vast Grace-Light (11—16—5 11—21—3).

Now we shall consider items 8 and 9, 10 and 11 (eight and nine, ten and eleven) regarding the apprehending and tertiary poises of Supermind in their descending order.

8. “Standing back or withdrawing from (or dissociating or disengaging or weaning away from) the impression or experience (vasana nivritti) of the poise of concentration of the comprehending integral Truth-Consciousness of Knowledge (Ateeta Jnana Yoga) in order to move into or pass over to the next step of experience (i. e. here by way of descending into the apprehending poise or plane of the Truth-World)".

9. "The experience of the enjoyment of the excelling Truth-Knowledge of the concentrated Light of supreme Consciousness-Force (Ateeta Cit Prakasa Yoga Atisaya Jnana Bhoga)".

NOTE: In the above experiences of the Swami, items 1 to 7 mention the emergence of the true individual self and the first entry into the supramental vastness and Truth-knowledge in and of the Transcendence (items 3 and 4) and the further development of supramental Truth-Knowledge proper beginning with its comprehending poise which leads into its highest summit poise (items 5 to 7). Then follows the experiences of the other planes or poises of the Truth-World in a descending order. Thus items 8 and 9 refer to the movement into the experience of the apprehending poise of Truth-Knowledge. Items 10 and 11 are related to the further descending movement into the tertiary poise of Truth-Knowledge. (See also Vol. 1—Chapter III—Part 1—under the subheading "Karanateeta loka" & explanations thereunder.

10. "Standing back or holding back (more objectively) or withdrawing from (or dissociating or disengaging or weaning away from) the impression or experience (vasana nivritti) of the fore-going poise of an excelling Truth-Knowledge of the concentrated Light of Consciousness-Force (i. e., of the apprehending poise of Truth-knowledge), in order to move into or pass over to the next or succeeding experience (of an excelling enjoyment of the essential form of the Divine, Swarupa Sakshatkara, by concentration in Truth-Knowledge, Jnana Yoga bhogateeta)".

NOTE: Standing back more objectively from the impression or experience of an excelling Truth-knowledge would imply the putting of the object of consciousness away from the more immediate nearness of the original and eternal unity. The "vasana nivritti" refers to what Sri Aurobindo would call the transit or passing from one order of self-formulation to another order of the supreme spiritual consciousness or to bring in another status of it. (Life Divine p. 288 and 488).

11. "The state or poise which gives the most excellent and direct enjoyment of the essential form of the Divine (Swarupa Sakshatkara) in concentration of Truth-knowledge (Jnana yoga bhogateeta) in the field of universal self-extension in and of the infinity of the Divine Being (Vyapaka Vyapya)—the poise which is called Jagratateeta Suddha Avastha".

NOTE : Thus the development of a supreme integral Truth-conscious knowledge (i. e. Supramental Truth-knowledge proper) is expressed in the series of connected items from 5 to 11. Though the word “vyapaka vyapya” also occurs in the last item 11, as in item 3, there seems to be a difference in degree, if not in kind. Item 11 comes under the Supermind proper as its tertiary poise whereas item 3 along with item 4 is concerned with a first initial entry into the supramental vastness and as a first step of integral Truth-knowledge i. e., as the Self-knowledge of the being of the Self (item 3) together with the knowledge of the self-becoming of tatvas & tatvikas (item 4). (See also Vol. I ch. III part I—Sub-head “karanateeta loka” & explanations thereunder).

NOTES ON ITEMS (five to eleven) 5 TO 11 TAKEN TOGETHER :

Again, in the “Synthesis of yoga” under the chapter “Supramental sense” Sri Aurobindo distinguishes four poises of the Supermind, namely (1) a poise of primary self-awareness of self-knowledge and world-knowledge of the one and infinite which can be taken as the summit poise of Supermind, (2) Vijnana the comprehending supermind (3) Prajnana the apprehending supermind and (4) Sajnana the last or lower poise of supermind. These are quoted in Vol. I ch. III—Part I of the book—see items I, J, K & L under the sub-head SA. “World of the Supermind”. These correspond respectively with the above items 6, 7, 9 and 11 of the Swami’s text of Karanateeta loka.

In the above we have considered item 6 as making the primary awareness of the summit poise of supermind and items 7, 9 and 11 as corresponding with the comprehending Vijnana, apprehending Prajnana and the lower poise of Sajnana. If such an interpretation is taken as the basis, then the advantage is, it explains each step of experience from 5 to 11 in a more practical way, and also the preliminary basic experience as developed in items 1 to 4.

WORLDS OF SATCITANANDA :

12. “The Supreme Cit Shakti manifesting the infinite and eternal world of dynamic or creative Ananda [Sukha Swabhava Loka] on the sheer or mere [or bare absolute] basis of the existence of the Divine Being [Sat matra or Sanmatra] and also by drawing on the other principle of Cit-Tapas [Cit Poorana].”

NOTE : This corresponds to Ananda Loka of the three infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda. This is the world of creative Ananda of dynamic Nature [Sukha Swabhava Loka]. Here the supreme Cit Shakti operates or dwells on the principle of the dynamic Nature of Bliss but drawing also on the other principles of cit or cit-tapas and sat [Sanmatra and Cit Poorana] in order to manifest the Ananda Loka.

13. "The Supreme Cit Shakti manifesting Her own infinite and eternal Cit-Tapo Loka proper of the essential Consciousness-Force [Ateeta Cit Poorana Ananya Loka] but drawing on the other two principles also viz. the form of Sat [Sat rupa] and the essential form of Ananda [Sukha Swarupa]."

NOTE : This corresponds to Cit-Tapo Loka of the three infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda. The Supreme Cit Shakti here operates or dwells on her own principle of cit or cit-tapas, but also drawing on the other principles of Sat and Ananda viz. form of Sat [sat rupa] and essential form of Ananda [Sukha Swarupa] in order to manifest cit-tapo loka [Ateeta Cit Poorana Ananya Loka].

14. The Supreme Cit Shakti manifesting the infinite and eternal world of the essential Existence of the Divine Being [Sat Swarupa Loka] along with the other principles viz. form of Bliss [Suka Rupa] and Consciousness-Force [Cit Poorana]

NOTE : This corresponds to Sat Loka of the three infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda. Here the supreme cit shakti operates or dwells on the sat principle of Existence and Being, but drawing also on the other two principles of cit or cit-tapas and ananda.

GENERAL NOTE : Sri Aurobindo has explained the manifestation of these three highest worlds in his commentaries on Isha Upanishad.

"By this Will, Tapas or Cit-Shakti the worlds are created...All organisation of self-conscious being which takes as its basis the unity of pure existence belongs to the world of the highest creation, parārdha, the worlds of the spirit. We can conceive three principal formations.

When Tapas or energy of self-conscience dwells upon Sat or pure existence as its basis, the result is Satyaloka or world of true existence. The soul in Satya loka is one with all its manifestations by oneness of essence and therefore one in self-conscience and in energy of self-conscience and one also in Bliss.

When Tapas dwells upon active power of Cit as its basis, the result is Tapo-loka or world of energy of self-conscience. The soul in Tapo loka is one with all manifestations in the Energy and therefore enjoys oneness also in the totality of their bliss and possesses equally their unity of essence.

When Tapas dwells upon active Delight of being as its basis, the result is Jana loka, world of creative Delight. The soul in Jana loka is one in delight of being with all manifestation and through that bliss one also in conscious energy and in essence of being."

— p. 127 "Isha Upanishad" by Sri Aurobindo.

Sri Aurobindo further distinguishes these worlds of Satcitananda from the world of Surya the Supermind.

“ All these are states of consciousness in which unity and multiplicity have not yet been separated from each other. All is in all, each in all and all in each, inherently, by the nature of conscious being and without effort of conception or travail of perception. There is no night, no obscurity. Neither is there properly speaking, any dominant action of illuminating Surya. For, the whole of consciousness there, is self-luminous and needs no light other than itself. The distinct existence of Surya is lost in the oneness of the Lord or Purusha ; that luminous oneness is Surya’s most blessed form of all.”

— Ibid p. 128

“ The agent of this becoming is always the self-conscience of the Being. The power by which the self-conscience brings out of itself its potential complexities is termed Tapas, Force or Energy of the nature of Will, but Will inherent in the Being, inherent in the becoming, one with the movement of existence—self-conscious Will that becomes what it sees and knows in itself, Will that is expressed as Force of its own work and formulates itself in the result of its work ”—Ibid p. 126.

NOTES ON ITEMS 12 TO 14 (twelve to fourteen) TAKEN TOGETHER :

Another line of interpretation may be given to the subject-matter of items 12 to 14. The three may be treated as the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka or Supreme Ananda itself in its Rupa, Swarupa and Swabhava. Thus we have the infinite and eternal Ananda Loka in its essence—[Sukha Swarupa-item 13] along with its form [Sukha rupa—item 14] and essential nature i. e. dynamic and creative Ananda. [Sukha Swabhava—item 12], but drawing also upon the form, essence and nature of the other principles of Sat and Cit or Cit-tapas in its manifestation.

In an yet another way we may say that the triple world under items 12 to 14 is the manifestation of the supreme Cit Shakti in her infinity and eternality of Being and Bliss. The opening words in each of the said items are “ Ateeta Cit Poorana ”. However the fact remains that these are the infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda, as one or the other of the principles of Sat, Cit and Ananda becomes the dominant essential manifestation in each of the said worlds.

THE ONE INDIVISIBLE SATCITANANDA :

SIVAM, THE ABSOLUTE :

16. “ The state of experience that comes by identification with Sivam the Absolute beyond the supreme Bliss (i.e. beyond the supreme Bliss of the one indivisible Satcitananda) ”.

Notes on items 12 to 16 :

Sri Aurobindo has indicated in a chart, called the Divine Plan (see “ Hour of God ” p. 78), the Supreme self-contained Absolute as having four Absolutes or rather four poises of the Absolute. The first Absolute is called Tat which is indicated as the absolute Transcendent, the Supreme, Paratpara containing all, limited by nothing. The second Absolute is called Sat which is indicated as the supreme self-contained absolute Existence, Sacchidananda (Ananda uniting Sat and Chit), holding in its absolute unity the dual principle (He and She, Sah and Sa) and the four-fold principle, OM with its four status, as one. The third Absolute is called Aditi who is indicated as the indivisible Conscious-Force and Ananda of the Supreme, the Mother, its living dynamis, the supreme Love, Wisdom, Power, Adya Sakti—Parabrahman of the Tantra. The fourth Absolute is called either as Parameshwara of the Gita or Parameshwari of the Tantra (Parameshwara—Parameshwari).

Now, we may correlate and say that the said first and second Absolutes evidently correspond with items 16 and 15 respectively of the Swami's Text of Karanateeta Lokas. The said third Absolute corresponds with items 12 to 14 of the Swami's Karanateeta Lokas, when it is considered together as a triple infinite and eternal world over which the supreme Cit Shakti rules by Her dominating Presence.

The said fourth absolute corresponds with items 3 and 4 of the Swami's Karanateeta Loka, item 3 corresponding more especially with the Purushottama or at any rate leading to the poise of Purushottama or Parameshwara of the Gita in the Absolute beyond the Truth-World of Supermind, and item 4 with the Parameshwari of the Tantra or at any rate leading to Her poise in the Absolute. Or possibly the poises of the Purushottama and Parameshwari may be rooted in the infinity & eternality of the Cit Shakti as manifest in the eternal world of dynamic or creative Ananda (Sukha Swabhava Loka) i.e. in item 12 of the Swami's Karanateeta Loka, that is to say, the poise of the Being of Purushottama or of Parameshwari is indicated by the word “ Sanmatra ” in Swami's item 12 (Ateeta Cit Poorana Sanmatra Sukha Swabhava anubhava Loka). The supreme Cit Shakti called Aditi or Adya Shakti is said to bring out into manifestation even the Supramental Ishwara or Purus-hottama and the Supramental Mahasakti (Vide quotations of Sri Aurobindo in the foregoing pages—Tome I p. 388-389). It seems that here Sri Aurobindo distinguishes the Purushottma of the Gita from the Supramental Purushottama who is integral and one with the Supramental Maha Shakti effecting transformation of body also.

Sri Aurobindo also mentions three further absolutes, but under another classification, “ The Manifestation ”. The first absolute here is indicated as the concealed Avyakta—the Supreme self-involved Sachchidananda (as against the self-contained Satcitananda of the first classification) Parabrahman (Parameshwara-Ishwari). The second Absolute is indicated as Aditi, the Mother containing in herself the Supreme, the Divine Consciousness, Force, Ananda upholding all the universes, Para Shakti, Para Prakriti, Mahamaya (Yayedam dharyate Jagat). The third absolute is indicated as the Eternal manifestation (The supreme Satya loka, Chaitanya loka, Tapoloka, Ananda loka—not those of the mental series).

Correlating the said three Absolutes of manifestation with the Swami’s Text we may observe that the above third absolute in “ The Manifestation ” corresponds with the three infinite and eternal worlds of Satcitananda in items 12 to 14 which are considered here each separately. Chaitanya loka and Tapoloka may be grouped as one loka i.e. Cit-Tapo Loka which is indicated by “ Ateeta Cit Poorana Ananya Loka ”—item 13 of the Swami’s Text. The second Absolute in “ The Manifestation ” is Aditi. She is the self-same Aditi indicated also as an Absolute in the first category. Therefore the items 12 to 14 taken together again may answer the purpose giving an integrality of Her Presence and Dynamism over the triple eternal world of Satcitananda. However in the first category Aditi is the Absolute in her indivisible oneness of Conscious-Force and Ananda of the Supreme. In the second category i.e. in the Manifestation She bears the Supreme within Her and brings out the Consciousness, Force, Ananda of the Supreme by operating on each of these principles and in their combinations. In the former She is poised more predominantly in Her poise of Being with the Supreme and in the latter She is leaned more towards the dynamic Manifestation. The first Absolute in the Manifestation is the Avyakta Parâtpara, self-involved Satcitananda. This is indicated by the Swami as “ Paranada Parityaganta Sahaja Kevala ” the featureless and pure and supreme Void வெட்டவெளி, வெறுவெளி அல்லது சுத்த வெறுவெளி (1—V—3—14 ; 1—VI—3—8 ; 12—1—476 ; 10—II—11—3) from out of which all the highest experiences may result according to the intent of the aspiring soul—the negative absolutes as well as the positive absolutes—or from the supreme Void to the world of Supermind and the worlds of Satcitananda. This is the supreme void beyond Paranadanta and not the mere

Again, combining the two categories of Absolutes, Sri Aurobindo presents another chart (see Hour of God p.81—82) which is reproduce here, as this wholly gets correlated with the Swami's text of Karanateeta loka from items 3 to 16.

SUPERMIND OR DIVINE GNOSIS

(The Self—Determining Infinite Consciousness)

From the point of view of our ascent upwards this is the Truth-Consciousness as distinguished from all below that belongs to the separative Ignorance.

OVERMIND OR MAYA

(Overmind takes all Truth that comes down to it from the Supermind, but sets up each Truth as a separate force and idea capable of conflicting with the others as well as cooperating with them. Each overmental being has his own world, each force has its own play and throws itself out to realise its own fulfilment in the cosmic play. All is possible ; and from this separative seat of conflicting and even mutually negating possibilities comes too, as soon as mind, life and matter are thrown out into play, the possibility of ignorance, unconsciousness, falsehood, death and suffering).

Thus items 16 and 15 of “Karanateeta Lokas” correspond with the supreme and the unmanifest Satcitananda respectively ; Items 14 to 12 with the three supreme planes of infinite consciousness coming under “Satchitananda in manifestation ;”. Items 11 to 3 (Realm of Vyapaka Vyapya) with the Supermind or Divine Gnosis ; the Realm of Parasiva and Parā Shakti (realm of Vyapya Vyapaka) correspond with the overmind or Maya.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Born in 1922 to his noble parents—Padmavathi and T. K. Rama, a well-known public figure and veteran nationalist in the freedom-movements — and educated in Madurai, Tamil Nadu, Thulasiram entered into the profession of chartered Accountants in 1948. In the midst of a successful professional practice, he had the glimpses of inner blissful light and he was attracted to a life of spiritual discipline. He took mantra initiation in 1958 from the great saint, Swami Ramdass of Kanhangad (near Mangalore), an embodiment of divine Love, Light and Compassion. Illumined by the inspired yoga literature of Sri Aurobindo and touched by the graceful Blessings of the Mother on Her Darshan days, he joined Sri Aurobindo Ashram as an inmate in 1968, leaving the profession and care of his family members into the hands of his devoted brother. But all the family members too have become devotees of the Mother who cast Her spell of Love and Grace on them all.

Along with attending to the Mother's appointed work as auditor of the Ashram, he found time for making a comprehensive comparative study of Swami Ramalingam's works with those of Sri Aurobindo and the Mother and Tirumoolar under the benign and graceful and inspiring atmosphere of the Ashram as well as that of Swami Ramalingam's holy place nearby which he visited from time to time. The Mother too had occasion to know of his study as he made reference to Her on Swami Ramalingam. The author has also made his contribution to Yoga by discovering the new Yoga of Magnet, the regular touch of which can open one into the yogic consciousness and even into spiritual experiences.
